

TPI Announces Acquisition of Engineering Team in Berlin, Germany

July 12, 2019

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz., July 12, 2019 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- TPI Composites, Inc., (TPI) (Nasdaq: TPIC), the only independent manufacturer of composite wind blades with a global footprint, announced today that it has acquired a team of engineering resources from the EUROS group, based in Berlin, Germany. EUROS has been owned by Servion since 2016. The Berlin-based team of approximately 20 technical experts focuses on blade design, tooling, materials and process technology development.

William Siwek, TPI's President commented, "TPI is pleased to announce the addition of the experienced and skilled engineering team at EUROS. The EUROS transaction helps strengthen our technical capabilities in support of our global operations and growth."

Ramesh Gopalakrishnan, TPI's COO added, "The experience and skills of this engineering team will enable us to offer complete blade solutions. The technical know-how in blade engineering and mold design can now be applied on a broader scale."
