TPI Composites, Inc.

Company Overview

We are the largest U.S.-based independent manufacturer of composite wind blades. We enable many of the industry's leading wind turbine original equipment manufacturers, or OEMs, who have historically relied on in-house production, to outsource the manufacturing of some of their wind blades through our global footprint of advanced manufacturing facilities strategically located to serve large and growing wind markets in a cost-effective manner. Given the importance of wind energy capture, turbine reliability and cost to power producers, the size, quality and performance of wind blades have become highly strategic to our OEM customers. As a result, we have become a key supplier to our OEM customers in the manufacture of wind blades and related precision molding and assembly systems. We have entered into long-term supply agreements pursuant to which we dedicate capacity at our facilities to our customers in exchange for their commitment to purchase minimum annual volumes of wind blade sets, which consist of three wind blades. As of March 31, 2016, our long-term supply agreements provide for estimated minimum aggregate volume commitments from our customers of $1.5 billion and encourage our customers to purchase additional volume up to, in the aggregate, an estimated total contract value of over $3.0 billion through the end of 2021. This collaborative dedicated supplier model provides us with contracted volumes that generate significant revenue visibility, drive capital efficiency and allow us to produce wind blades at a lower total delivered cost, while ensuring critical dedicated capacity for our customers.

Our OEM customers include General Electric International, Inc. and its affiliates (GE Wind), Vestas Wind Systems A/S (Vestas), Gamesa Wind US LLC (Gamesa) and Nordex SE (or Nordex, which, in April 2016, acquired Acciona Windpower, S.A., or Acciona, for whom we also manufacture wind blades). Prior to 2013, we had one OEM customer that, according to data from MAKE, represented approximately 10% of the global wind energy market based on megawatts, or MWs, of energy capacity installed. Although we do not supply all of their wind blade volume, according to data from MAKE our OEM customers collectively accounted for approximately 32% of the global onshore wind energy market and approximately 56% of that market excluding China over the three years ended December 31, 2015, based on MWs of energy capacity installed. The wind power generation industry is experiencing significant growth in countries belonging to the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development, or OECD, as well as in emerging growth markets. To meet this growth in demand reliably in a capital-efficient and cost-effective manner, many OEMs are shifting from manufacturing wind blades themselves to the outsourced manufacture of their wind blades. Our collaborative approach, advanced composite technology and global manufacturing footprint have allowed us to capitalize on this trend by replacing or augmenting the in-house capabilities of our customers and efficiently delivering wind blades when and where required. Our facilities in the United States, China, Mexico and Turkey create a geographically-diverse, global production platform to meet our customers' needs in key large and growing wind markets. We intend to continue expanding in certain existing markets and in new locations that represent growth opportunities for the wind energy market and our customers. We believe our geographic and customer diversification, together with our long-term agreements, allow us to take advantage of growth trends and help to insulate us from potential short-term fluctuations or legislative changes in any one market.

Our wind blade and precision molding and assembly systems manufacturing businesses accounted for over 99%, over 99%, 99%, and 97% of our total net sales in the three months ended March 31, 2016 and in the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively. We also leverage our advanced composite technology and the expertise gained from our history of innovation to supply high strength, lightweight and durable composite solutions for the transportation market.

Global Wind Energy Market

The wind power generation industry has grown rapidly and expanded worldwide in recent years to meet high global demand for clean electricity. According to BNEF, from 2000 to 2015, the cumulative global power generating capacity in gigawatts, or GWs, grew at an average annual rate of 25%. Cumulative installed capacity is led by China (approximately 139 GWs), the United States (approximately 74 GWs) and Germany (approximately 45 GWs). In addition, from 2008 to 2015, the cumulative global power generating capacity of wind turbine installations in GWs increased by more than three and a half times. Wind energy is now used in over 80 countries, 24 of which have more than 1 GW installed. The rapid growth in the wind power generation industry has been driven by population growth and the associated increase in electricity demand, widespread emphasis on expanded use of renewable energy, the increasing effectiveness and cost-competitiveness of wind energy and accelerated urbanization in developing countries, among other factors. We believe that recent U.S. and global policy initiatives aimed at reducing fossil fuel consumption through the expansion of renewable energy, coupled with corporate commitments to cost-effective environmentally and socially responsible electricity consumption, will drive additional growth. In 2015, U.S. corporate, non-profit and government entities procured an aggregate of 2.4 GWs of wind capacity via power purchase agreements, which represents an increase of 12 times since 2008, according to BNEF. The Paris Agreement achieved at the 21st Conference of Parties, or COP21, of the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's, or EPA's, Clean Power Plan and the long-term extension of the Production Tax Credit for Renewable Energy, or PTC, are all recent examples of policies that promote the growth of renewable energy. Overall, renewable technologies, including hydroelectric, are projected to increase their share of global electricity generation from 24% in 2015 to 45% by 2040 according to BNEF. Additionally, according to BNEF, onshore wind is expected to experience the largest increase in global market share over the same period, growing from 4% to 13% of the market.

In 2015, the wind industry added approximately 62 GWs of generation capacity. According to BNEF, market diversification increased as a result of demand from newer markets in Asia, Latin America and non-EU Europe, which collectively represented 45.2% of capacity in 2015, as compared to 42.7% in 2014. Although Europe and the United States led early wind development, since 2010, the majority of wind turbines have been installed in non-OECD countries, particularly in Asia and Latin America, where wind generation capacity is growing. For example, cumulative wind generation capacity from 2013 to 2015 grew by 75.0% to 2.8 GWs in Mexico and by 64.1% to 4.5 GWs in Turkey, underpinned by strong wind resources, high electricity prices, robust energy demand and key regulatory policies tailored to incentivize usage, among other factors.

Onshore wind LCOE—which reflects the levelized cost of energy per megawatt hour of a generation project over its lifetime—is already on par with new combined cycle gas turbines and substantially below solar photovoltaic, according to Lazard. The advancement of wind turbine technology, including larger rotor diameters and higher hub heights, has increased energy capture, thus reducing LCOE for onshore wind. For a further discussion of LCOE, see “Our Industry—Global Wind Energy Market.” The proliferation of cost-effective wind generation enhances energy resource diversity and mitigates the price volatility associated with fossil fuels, thereby helping to stabilize overall electricity costs in the long term. Wind energy projects do not require any fuel, such as natural gas or coal, during operation, and we believe that they are generally constructed within a substantially shorter period of time relative to conventional generation resources. According to Lazard, the cost of onshore wind has declined by over 61% in the last six years. Costs are expected to continue to decline an additional 15% by 2021 according to MAKE due to progress in reducing the costs of wind turbines, improving capacity factors and lower operating and maintenance costs.

The wind turbine industry, which constitutes our direct customer base, is concentrated among a few established players, with the top ten OEMs accounting for approximately 69% of the total global onshore market for the three years ended December 31, 2015 based on MWs installed, according to data from MAKE. We believe MWs installed is the most widely followed measure of market share in the wind turbine industry and also reflects the OEMs' demand for wind blades. We currently have long-term supply agreements with four of these top ten OEMs and are developing new relationships with additional OEMs to grow our business. In addition, we expect growth in the industry itself – by the end of 2020, cumulative global installed wind capacity is projected to be over 750 GWs, with China accounting for approximately 35% of this capacity, according to BNEF. This represents a five-year compounded annual growth rate of approximately 12% for the global wind market including China, and a similar growth rate of 11% for the global wind market excluding China.

Historically, many wind turbine OEMs manufactured their own wind blades in-house to ensure a high level of quality and dedicated capacity, reflecting the importance of the wind blade supply to turbine production, concerns over protecting their proprietary wind blade designs and the scarcity of independent wind blade suppliers with sufficient manufacturing expertise and capacity. During 2007 and 2008, the U.S. and China markets grew at a rapid pace, which created additional demand in the wind turbine manufacturing supply chain. To balance supply and demand, many leading wind turbine OEMs established a production footprint in high-growth regions.

The current globalization of the wind industry presents a new set of challenges and opportunities for wind turbine OEMs. As opposed to establishing a manufacturing presence in each new core growth market, wind turbine OEMs are now focusing on supply chain efficiencies and their core competencies in the design, marketing and sale of wind turbines. In doing so, wind turbine OEMs are increasingly outsourcing the production of key components, such as wind blades, to select manufacturers to remain competitive and address growth markets. This approach enables wind turbine OEMs to lower their capital costs and shift the production components to manufacturers that possess highly specialized expertise in advanced composite, production and process technology. From a product perspective, wind turbine OEMs have adopted a variety of strategies, including the introduction of new turbine models with improved technology, warranty terms, more stringent performance guarantees, and tailor-made turbines for specific countries or regions. During the past three years, all of the top ten wind turbine suppliers in the world have introduced wind turbines with longer wind blade lengths and taller towers designed to capture more energy at the lower end of the wind speed scale. We believe that installation of wind turbines in regions with lower wind speeds is encouraged due to proximity to energy demand centers, thereby reducing the amount of transmission infrastructure required. We expect this trend of expansion to regions not traditionally classified as high wind resource regions to continue, which we believe will help us continue to expand our global footprint.

According to BNEF, the total wind blade industry generated $11.9 billion in revenues in 2014 and is projected to grow to $19.7 billion by 2040. We believe our addressable market will continue to expand, as outsourced wind blade manufacturing is expected to rise from 52% in 2013 to 59% in 2017, according to data from MAKE. As the wind energy market continues to expand globally and wind turbine OEMs continue to shift towards increased outsourcing of wind blade manufacturing, we believe we are well-positioned to continue the expansion of our global footprint.

Competitive Strengths

- Wind industry leader with cost-effective, global footprint. We are the largest U.S.-based independent manufacturer of composite wind blades and have developed a global footprint to serve the growing wind energy market worldwide. We currently have six advanced wind blade plants in strategic locations in the United States, China, Mexico and Turkey, with an additional plant in each of Mexico and Turkey expected to commence operations in the second half of 2016. We also have facilities in the United States and China that manufacture precision molding and assembly systems for wind blades. This geographically diverse footprint enables us to leverage our global scale and technological capabilities, serve regional markets and export to ports around the world in a cost-effective manner, thereby enabling our customers to capitalize on the benefits of outsourced wind blade manufacturing. We believe our extensive experience with delivering high quality wind blades to diverse, global markets creates a significant barrier to entry and is the foundation of our leadership position in the independent market for wind blade manufacturing. Moreover, the expansion of our manufacturing footprint in coordination with our customers allows us to scale our capacity to meet demand as well as ensure dedicated manufacturing capacity for each of our customers in our existing facilities or in new facilities located to optimize labor and transportation costs.

- Positioned to capitalize on significant growth trends in the wind energy market. We believe that our reputation as a reliable, global wind blade manufacturer and our focus on developing replicable and scalable manufacturing facilities and processes positions us to continue to capture opportunities in large and growing wind energy markets. Our ability to capitalize on recent growth trends in the wind energy market and OEM outsourcing has allowed us to grow our revenue 172% from 2013 to 2015 while expanding our global manufacturing footprint over the same period by opening four additional advanced wind blade manufacturing facilities. We believe this global growth and the emergence of new wind markets will continue to create opportunities for us as our customers focus on supply chain optimization and wind blade outsourcing as a critical component of their strategy.

- Advanced composite technology and production expertise. Our significant expertise in advanced composite technology and production enables us to manufacture lightweight and durable wind blades with near-aerospace grade precision at an industrial cost. We have developed and use high-performance composite materials, precision molding and assembly systems, including modular tooling techniques, and advanced process technology, as well as sophisticated measurement, inspection, testing and quality assurance tools, which have allowed us to produce over 26,000 wind blades since 2001 with an excellent field performance record in a market where reliability is critical to our customers' success. With our culture of continuing innovation and a collaborative "design for manufacturability" approach, we continue to address increasing physical dimensions and the need for rapid model changes, demanding technical specifications and strict quality control requirements for wind blades, which today are generally 50 to 60 meters or more in length. We also invest in ongoing simplification and selective automation of production processes for increased efficiency and precision. We have partnered with the U.S. Department of Energy, government laboratories, universities and our customers to innovate through cost sharing Advanced Manufacturing Innovation Initiative, or AMII programs. In 2015, we received an award of $3.0 million from the U.S. Department of Energy's Office of Energy Efficiency & Renewable Energy to lead a team of industry and academic participants to design, develop and demonstrate an ultra-light composite vehicle door for high volume manufacturing production in conjunction with other industry and university participants. Our primary research and development facilities are in Fall River, Massachusetts and Warren, Rhode Island. We also conduct research and development in our various manufacturing facilities around the world. As of December 31, 2015, our highly experienced engineering and technical workforce includes professionals holding 441 engineering and technical degrees, most of whom have specialized in composites and wind energy for many years and have deep familiarity with the manufacturing of wind blades.

- Collaborative dedicated supplier model. Our deeply collaborative dedicated supplier model engenders stable, long-term relationships with customers, driving capital efficiency and helping to insulate us from potential short-term fluctuations or legislative changes in any one market. Our collaborative approach to manufacturing wind blades to meet our customers' unique specifications, coupled with their investment in model-specific tooling in our facilities, promotes significant customer loyalty and creates higher switching costs. Our focused factory model, in which we contractually dedicate production lines to a specific customer in exchange for their commitment to purchase minimum annual volumes, also serves to protect the confidentiality of our customers' proprietary wind blade and turbine designs. Our ability to manufacture the model-specific tooling for our customers further strengthens our role as a "one stop shop" for our customers, provides an efficient solution to their wind blade supply needs and allows us to produce high-quality wind blades at a lower total delivered cost. We work to continue to drive down the cost of materials and production through innovation and global sourcing, the benefit of which we share with our customers contractually in a manner that reduces LCOE for the customer and improves our margins, further strengthening our deep customer relationships. We manufacture wind blades for four of the largest global wind turbine suppliers: GE Wind, Vestas, Gamesa and Nordex [1] . According to data from MAKE, our customers represented approximately 32% of the global onshore wind energy market and approximately 56% of that market excluding China over the three years ended December 31, 2015, based upon MWs of energy installed. Additionally, our customers represented 82% of the U.S. onshore wind turbine market over the three years ended December 31, 2015, based on MWs of energy capacity installed. GE Wind, in particular, accounted for 54.6%, 53.3%, 73.2% and 91.2% of our total net sales for the three months ended March 31, 2016 and for the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively.

- Long-term supply agreements provide significant revenue visibility. In our collaborative dedicated supplier model, we enter into long-term supply agreements that provide significant incentives for our customers to maximize the volume of wind blades purchased, through increased pricing at lower volumes that contribute to profitability at minimum volume levels. As of March 31, 2016, our existing wind blade supply agreements provide for estimated minimum aggregate volume commitments of $1.5 billion and encourage customers to purchase additional volume up to, in the aggregate, an estimated total contract value of over $3.0 billion through the end of 2021, which we believe provides us with significant future revenue visibility and helps to insulate us from potential short-term fluctuations or legislative changes in any one market due in part to the annual minimum purchase commitments of our customers contained in those agreements. These annual minimum purchase commitments generally require our customers to purchase a negotiated percentage of the manufacturing capacity that we have agreed to dedicate to them. Generally, this percentage begins at 100% and declines after the first few years pursuant to the terms of the supply agreement, but generally remains above 50%. It is our experience that our customers will generally order wind blades from us in a volume that exceeds, sometimes substantially, the annual minimum purchase commitments in our supply agreements. Although some of our long-term supply agreements, including some of those with our majority customer, are subject to termination by our customers on short notice or, in one instance, no advance notice, we believe our strong relationships with leading global turbine OEMs, underpinned by these long-term supply agreements, provide significant stability and visibility into our future performance and growth.

- Compelling Return on Invested Capital. We believe our highly efficient manufacturing processes and customer arrangements are critical to achieving compelling returns on invested capital. We manufacture our customers' unique wind blade models at locations where we invest in the plant facility and equipment, while our customers invest alongside us by purchasing model-specific tooling from us or other sources. This focused factory model allows us to concentrate on efficient manufacturing practices and drives cost saving initiatives throughout our facilities. Moreover, our customer relationships and long-term supply agreements result in relatively low sales and marketing and other similar general expenses. The focused factory model is replicated in each of our wind blade manufacturing facilities and is key to our strategy to expand our footprint in specific markets.

- Experienced management team with a strong track record of delivering growth. Our senior management team has significant experience managing high growth, international operations. Over the course of the past decade, the team has successfully positioned us as the largest independent U.S.-based manufacturer of wind blades and has developed and deepened customer relationships with leading OEMs in the global wind energy market. At the same time, our team has built a global manufacturing network with six wind blade factories and two precision molding and assembly systems facilities across three continents and has demonstrated the ability to enter new markets quickly and efficiently. Our executives are recognized as thought leaders in the wind energy industry and hold leadership positions in industry organizations, such as AWEA.

Business Strategy

Our long-term success will be driven by our competitive strengths and business strategy. The key elements of our strategy are as follows:

- Grow our existing relationships and develop new relationships with leading industry OEMs. We plan to continue growing and expanding our relationships with existing customers who, according to data from MAKE, represented approximately 32% of the global onshore wind energy market, approximately 56% of that market excluding China, and over 82% of the U.S. onshore wind turbine market over the three years ended December 31, 2015, based on MWs of energy capacity installed, as well as developing new relationships with other leading industry OEMs. Over the course of our 15 years in the wind blade market, we have established a reputation as a highly reliable wind blade manufacturer. As a result, we are presented with opportunities to expand our existing relationships and develop new relationships with industry OEMs as they seek to capitalize on the benefits of outsourced wind blade manufacturing while maintaining high quality customization and dedicated capacity. In 2015, we extended the term of our existing Iowa and China supply agreements with GE Wind, and entered into a new supply agreement with Vestas in China, which we subsequently expanded in the fourth quarter of 2015. We also entered into a new supply agreement with Vestas to supply them with wind blades from our second manufacturing facility in Turkey, which we expect will be operational in the second half of 2016. In the first quarter of 2016, we extended the term of our Turkey and Mexico supply agreements with GE Wind, and expanded our relationship with Gamesa. We entered into a new supply agreement with Gamesa whereby we will continue to supply wind blades to them from our existing manufacturing facility in Mexico and will begin to supply wind blades from our second Mexico manufacturing facility, which we expect will be operational in the second half of 2016.

- Expand our footprint in large and growing wind markets, capitalize on the continuing outsourcing trend and evaluate strategic acquisitions. As the wind energy market continues to expand globally and wind turbine OEMs continue to shift towards increased outsourcing of wind blade manufacturing, we believe we are well-positioned to continue the expansion of our global footprint. We utilize our strengths in composites technology and manufacturing, combined with our collaborative dedicated supplier model to provide our customers with an efficient solution for their expansion in large and growing wind markets. Our quality, reliability and total delivered cost reduce sourcing risk for our customers. In addition, our demonstrated ability to expand into new markets and the strength of our manufacturing capabilities afford us the optionality either to build new factories or grow through strategic acquisitions.

- Focus on continuing innovation. We have a history of innovation in advanced composite technologies and production techniques and use several proprietary technologies related to wind blade manufacturing. With this culture of innovation and a collaborative "design for manufacturability" approach, we continue to address increasing physical dimensions, demanding technical specifications and strict quality control requirements for our customers' most advanced wind blades. We also invest in ongoing simplification and selective automation of production processes for increased efficiency and precision. In addition, we plan to leverage our history of composite industry-first innovations to grow our business in the transportation market, in which there is a demand for high precision, structural composites manufacturing.

- Continue to drive down costs of wind energy. We continue to work with our customers on larger size wind blade models that maximize the capture of wind energy and drive down the LCOE. We also continue to utilize our advanced technology, regional manufacturing facilities strategically located to cost effectively serve large and growing wind markets and ability to source materials globally at competitive costs to deliver high-performing, composite wind blades at a lower total delivered cost. Our collaborative engineering approach and our advanced precision molding and assembly systems allow us to integrate our customer's design requirements with cost-efficient, replicable and scalable manufacturing processes. We also continue to collaborate with our customers to drive down the cost of materials and production, the benefit of which we share with our customers contractually in a manner that reduces LCOE for customers, further strengthening our customer relationships and improving our margins.

Risks Related to Our Business

Our business is subject to many risks and uncertainties of which you should be aware before you decide to invest in our common stock. These risks are discussed more fully under "Risk Factors" in this prospectus. Some of these risks include, but are not limited to, the following:

- A significant portion of our business is derived from a small number of customers, and one wind blade customer in particular, therefore any loss of or reduction in purchase orders, failure of these customers to fulfill their obligations or our failure to secure long-term supply agreement renewals from these customers would materially harm our business.

- Defects in materials and workmanship or wind blade failures could harm our reputation, expose us to product warranty or other liability claims, decrease demand for our wind blades, or materially harm existing or prospective customer relationships.
- We have experienced and could in the future experience quality or operational issues in connection with plant construction or expansion, wind blade model transition and wind blade manufacturing, which could result in losses and cause delays in our ability to complete our projects and may therefore materially harm our business, financial condition and results of operations.
- Demand for our wind blades may fluctuate for a variety of reasons, including the growth of the wind industry, and decreases in demand could materially harm our business and may not be sufficient to support our growth strategy.
- We may not be able to manage our future growth effectively, which may materially harm our business, operating results and financial condition.
- We operate a substantial portion of our business in international markets and we may be unable to effectively manage a variety of currency, legal, regulatory, economic, social and political risks associated with our global operations and those in developing markets.
- Our financial position, revenue, operating results and profitability are difficult to predict and may vary from quarter to quarter, which could cause our share price to decline significantly.
- We have a history of net losses and may not achieve or maintain profitability in the future.

Implications of Being an Emerging Growth Company

We qualify as an "emerging growth company" as defined in the Jumpstart Our Business Startups Act of 2012, or the JOBS Act. As an emerging growth company, we may take advantage of specified reduced disclosure and other requirements that are otherwise applicable generally to public companies. These provisions include:

- an exemption from compliance with the auditor attestation requirement on the effectiveness of our internal control over financial reporting;
- an exemption from compliance with any requirement that the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board may adopt regarding mandatory audit firm rotation or a supplement to the auditor's report providing additional information about the audit and the financial statements;
- reduced disclosure about our executive compensation arrangements; and
- exemptions from the requirements to obtain a non-binding advisory vote on executive compensation or a shareholder approval of any golden parachute arrangements.

We may take advantage of these exemptions for up to five years or such earlier time that we are no longer an emerging growth company. We would cease to be an emerging growth company on the date that is the earliest of (i) the last day of the fiscal year in which we have total annual gross revenues of $1.0 billion or more; (ii) the last day of our fiscal year following the fifth anniversary of the date of the completion of this offering; (iii) the date on which we have issued more than $1.0 billion in nonconvertible debt during the previous three years; or (iv) the date on which we are deemed to be a large accelerated filer under the rules of the Securities and Exchange Commission, or the SEC. We may choose to take advantage of some but not all of these exemptions.

We have taken advantage of reduced reporting requirements in this prospectus. Accordingly, the information contained herein may be different from the information you receive from other public companies in which you hold stock. We have irrevocably elected to "opt out" of the exemption for the delayed adoption of certain accounting standards and, therefore, will be subject to the same new or revised accounting standards as other public companies that are not emerging growth companies.

Company and Other Information

We were founded in 1968 and have been providing composite wind blades for 15 years. Our knowledge and experience of composite materials and manufacturing originates with our predecessor company, Tillotson Pearson Inc., a leading manufacturer of high-performance sail and powerboats along with a wide range of composite structures used in other industrial applications. Following the separation from our boat building business in 2004, we reorganized in Delaware as LCSI Holding, Inc. We changed our corporate name to TPI Composites, Inc. in 2008. Today, we are headquartered in Scottsdale, Arizona, and we have expanded our global footprint to include domestic facilities in Newton, Iowa; Fall River, Massachusetts; Warren, Rhode Island; and Santa Teresa, New Mexico and international facilities in Dafeng, China; Taicang Port, China; Taicang City, China; Juarez, Mexico; and Izmir, Turkey. Together, as of May 31, 2016, we have approximately 3.2 million square feet of manufacturing space and over 5,600 employees, including materials and process engineers, manufacturing process engineers, quality assurance personnel and production workers.

Our principal executive offices are located at 8501 North Scottsdale Road, Gainey Center II, Suite 100, Scottsdale, Arizona 85253 and our telephone number is (480) 305-8910. Our website address is www.tpicomposites.com . The information contained on our website or that can be accessed through our website is not part of this prospectus, and investors should not rely on any such information in deciding whether to purchase our common stock.

THE OFFERING

Common stock offered by us	shares (shares in the event the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares in full).
Common stock to be outstanding immediately after this offering	shares (shares in the event the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares in full).
Option to purchase additional shares from us	We have granted the underwriters an option for a period of 30 days to purchase up to an additional shares of our common stock at the public offering price, less underwriting discounts.
Use of proceeds	We estimate that we will receive net proceeds from this offering of approximately $ million, or $ million if the underwriters fully exercise their option to purchase additional shares, assuming an initial public offering price of $ per share, which is the midpoint of the estimated offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus and after deducting estimated underwriting discounts and estimated offering expenses payable by us. We intend to use the net proceeds from this offering for working capital and other general corporate purposes, including financing our existing manufacturing operations, expansion in existing and new geographies and repayment of certain indebtedness. Although we currently have no agreements or commitments for any specific acquisitions, we may also use a portion of the net proceeds to expand our current business through strategic alliances or acquisitions of other businesses, products or technologies. See “Use of Proceeds.”
Concentration of Ownership	Upon the completion of this offering, our executive officers and directors and stockholders holding more than 5% of our capital stock, and their affiliates, will beneficially own, in the aggregate, approximately % of our outstanding shares of common stock.
Dividend Policy	We currently intend to retain earnings, if any, to finance the development and growth of our business and do not anticipate paying cash dividends on the common stock in the future.
Proposed trading symbol	We intend to have our common stock listed on The NASDAQ Global Market under the symbol “TPIC”.
Risk factors	You should read “Risk Factors” beginning on page 18 and other information included in this prospectus for a discussion of factors that you should consider carefully before deciding to invest in our common stock.

The number of shares of common stock to be outstanding after this offering is based on 70,413 shares of common stock outstanding as of March 31, 2016 and excludes:

- shares of common stock issuable upon exercise of outstanding options as of March 31, 2016 at a weighted-average exercise price of $ per share;
- shares of common stock issuable upon the vesting of restricted stock units outstanding as of March 31, 2016;
- shares of our common stock reserved for issuance in connection with the exercise of our outstanding warrants to purchase common stock issued on December 29, 2014, or the Common Warrants, which we issued in connection with our subordinated convertible promissory notes issued in December 2014, or the Subordinated Convertible Promissory Notes;
- 884 shares of common stock issuable upon the exercise of outstanding warrants, other than our Common Warrants, to purchase common stock; and
- shares of our common stock reserved for future issuance under our Amended and Restated 2015 Stock Option and Incentive Plan, or the 2015 Plan, and which contains provisions that automatically increase its share reserve each year.

Except as otherwise indicated, all information in this prospectus:

- gives effect to a -for- stock split of our common stock to be effected pursuant to our amended and restated certificate of incorporation prior to the completion of this offering;
- gives effect to the automatic conversion of all outstanding shares of our convertible preferred stock into an aggregate of 58,639 shares of our common stock upon the completion of this offering;
- assumes no exercise by the underwriters of their option to purchase up to an additional shares of our common stock in this offering; and
- assumes no exercise of the outstanding options described above.

SUMMARY CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL AND OTHER DATA

We have derived the summary consolidated statements of operations data for the three months ended March 31, 2016 and 2015 and the consolidated balance sheet data as of March 31, 2016 from our unaudited interim condensed consolidated financial statements included elsewhere in this prospectus. The unaudited interim condensed consolidated financial statements were prepared on a basis consistent with our audited financial statements and include, in the opinion of management, all adjustments, consisting only of a normal recurring nature, that are necessary for a fair presentation of the financial information set forth in those statements. We have derived the summary consolidated statements of operations data for the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013 from our audited consolidated financial statements included elsewhere in this prospectus. Our historical results are not necessarily indicative of the results that may be expected in the future and the results in the three months ended March 31, 2016 are not necessarily indicative of the results that may be expected for the full year or any other period. The following summary consolidated financial and other data should be read in conjunction with "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations" and our consolidated financial statements and related notes included elsewhere in this prospectus.

(1) We commenced operations in Turkey as a 75% owner in TPI Kompozit Kanat San. Ve Tic. A.S., or TPI Turkey, in 2012 and in 2013, we became the sole owner of TPI Turkey with the acquisition of the remaining 25% interest.

(2) Represents the annual accrual of dividends on our convertible and senior redeemable preferred shares, the accretion to redemption amounts on our convertible preferred shares and warrant fair value adjustments.

(3) Since all the periods are net losses, the weighted-average common shares outstanding are the same under the basic and diluted per share calculations.

(4) See “Non-GAAP Financial Measures” below for more information.

(5) Number of wind blade sets (which consist of three wind blades) invoiced worldwide. See “Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations—Key Metrics Used By Management to Measure Performance” for more information.

(6) Estimated megawatts of energy capacity to be generated by wind blade sets invoiced in the period. See “Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations—Key Metrics Used By Management to Measure Performance” for more information.

(7) Number of manufacturing lines our facilities can accommodate. See “Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations—Key Metrics Used By Management to Measure Performance” for more information.

(8) Number of manufacturing lines dedicated to our customers under long-term supply agreements. See “Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations—Key Metrics Used By Management to Measure Performance” for more information. Dedicated manufacturing lines may be greater than total manufacturing line capacity in instances where we have signed new supply agreements for manufacturing facilities that are under construction or have not yet been built.

(9) Number of manufacturing lines in a startup phase during the period. See “Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations—Key Metrics Used By Management to Measure Performance” for more information.

(1) Reflects the automatic conversion or redemption of all outstanding shares of our convertible preferred stock into 58,639 shares of our common stock and a -for- stock split of shares of our common stock immediately prior to the closing of this offering, which will occur upon closing of this offering, as if the conversion had occurred and our amended and restated certificate of incorporation had become effective on March 31, 2016.

(2) Gives effect to (i) the pro forma adjustments set forth in footnote 1 above, (ii) the sale and issuance by us of shares of our common stock in this offering, based on an assumed initial public offering price of $ per share, the midpoint of the estimated offering price range reflected on the cover page of this prospectus, after deducting the estimated underwriting discounts and commissions and estimated offering expenses payable by us. The pro forma as adjusted information set forth in the above table is illustrative only and will be adjusted based on the actual initial public offering price and other terms of this offering determined at pricing.

(3) Each $1.00 increase or decrease in the assumed initial public offering price of $ per share, which is the midpoint of the estimated offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus, would increase or decrease, as applicable, the cash and cash equivalents, total assets and total shareholders' equity (deficit) by $ million, assuming that the number of shares offered by us, as set forth on the cover page of this prospectus, remains the same, and after deducting estimated underwriting discounts and commissions and estimated offering expenses payable by us. An increase or decrease of 1.0 million shares in the number of shares offered by us would increase or decrease, as applicable, the cash and cash equivalents, total assets and total shareholders' equity (deficit) by $ million assuming an initial public offering price of $ per share, which is the midpoint of the estimated offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus, and after deducting estimated underwriting discounts and commissions and estimated offering expenses payable by us.

Non-GAAP Financial Measures

In addition to providing results that are determined in accordance with GAAP, we have provided certain financial measures that are not in accordance with GAAP. Total billings, EBITDA, adjusted EBITDA and net debt are non-GAAP financial measures. We define total billings as the total amounts we have invoiced our customers for products and services for which we are entitled to payment under the terms of our long-term supply agreements or other contractual agreements. Under GAAP, we do not recognize revenue on our wind blade sales until the wind blades have been delivered to our customers. In many cases, customers request us to store their wind blades for a period of time after we have invoiced them. The revenues associated with these transactions are deferred and recognized upon delivery but we are contractually entitled to payment for those wind blades and, accordingly, invoice them when the blades are placed in storage.

We define EBITDA as net income (loss) plus interest expense (net of interest income), income taxes and depreciation and amortization. We define adjusted EBITDA as EBITDA plus any share-based compensation expense, plus or minus any realized gains or losses from foreign currency remeasurement plus any loss on extinguishment of debt. EBITDA and adjusted EBITDA are calculated differently from EBITDA as used in our Credit Facility (as defined below).

We define net debt as the total principal amount of debt outstanding less unrestricted cash and cash equivalents. The total principal amount of debt outstanding is comprised of the long-term debt and current maturities of long-term debt as presented in our consolidated balance sheets adjusting for any debt issuance costs and discount.

Our use of total billings, EBITDA, adjusted EBITDA and net debt have limitations, and you should not consider total billings, EBITDA, adjusted EBITDA or net debt in isolation from or as a substitute for measures such as net sales, net income (loss) or total debt, net of debt issuance costs and discount reported under GAAP. See the "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations—Key Metrics Used by Management to Measure Performance" for the related reconciliations of total billings, EBITDA, adjusted EBITDA and net debt.

RISK FACTORS

An investment in our common stock involves a high degree of risk. You should consider carefully the following risks and other information contained in this prospectus, including our consolidated financial statements and related notes, before you decide whether to buy our common stock. If any of the events contemplated by the following discussion of risks should occur, our business, results of operations, financial condition and growth prospects could suffer significantly. As a result, the market price of our common stock could decline, and you may lose all or part of the money you paid to buy our common stock. The risks below are not the only ones we face. Additional risks that we currently do not know about or that we currently believe to be immaterial may also impair our business. Certain statements below are forward-looking statements. See "Special Note Regarding Forward-Looking Statements" in this prospectus.

Risks Related to Our Wind Blade Business

A significant portion of our business is derived from a small number of customers, and one wind blade customer in particular, therefore any loss of or reduction in purchase orders, failure of these customers to fulfill their obligations or our failure to secure long-term supply agreement renewals from these customers would materially harm our business.

Substantially all of our revenues are derived from four wind blade customers. One customer, GE Wind, accounted for 54.6%, 53.3%, 73.2% and 91.2% of our total net sales for the three months ended March 31, 2016 and for the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively. In addition, three customers, Vestas, Nordex, and Gamesa accounted for 17.0%, 11.1% and 10.3% of our net sales for the three months ended March 31, 2016, respectively, and three customers, Nordex, Acciona (which was acquired by Nordex in April 2016) and Gamesa accounted for 15.7%, 10.8% and 10.3% of our net sales for the year ended December 31, 2015, respectively. Accordingly, we are substantially dependent on continued business from our current wind blade customers, and GE Wind in particular. GE Wind and other customers may not continue to purchase wind blades from us at similar volumes or on as favorable terms in the future. For example, GE Wind has in the past informed us of their intention to terminate a supply agreement. However, in that case, the agreement was not terminated but was instead renegotiated. If GE Wind or one or more of our other wind blade customers were to reduce or delay wind blade orders, fail to pay amounts due or satisfactorily perform their respective contractual obligations with us or otherwise terminate or fail to renew their long-term supply agreements with us, our business, financial condition and results of operations could be materially harmed.

Defects in materials and workmanship or blade failures could harm our reputation, expose us to product warranty or other liability claims, decrease demand for our wind blades, or materially harm existing or prospective customer relationships.

Defects in our wind blades, whether caused by a design, engineering, materials, manufacturing or component failure or deficiencies in our manufacturing processes, are unpredictable and an inherent risk in manufacturing technically advanced products. We have in the past experienced wind blade testing failures and defects at some of our facilities during the startup manufacturing phase of new products, and we may experience failures or defects in the future. For instance, customer qualification of our Iowa facility was delayed due to some wind blade testing failures in 2010, resulting in corresponding delays in our wind blade production at that facility. We have also experienced wind blade failures in the field. For example, in April 2015, a wind blade we manufactured failed in Finland. Any such customer qualification and wind blade testing failures or other product defects in the future could materially harm our existing and prospective customer relationships. Specifically, negative publicity about the quality of our wind blades or defects in the wind blades supplied to our customers could result in a reduction in wind blade orders, increased warranty claims, product liability claims and other damages or termination of our long-term supply agreements or business relationships with current or new customers. We may determine that resolving potential warranty claims through a negotiated settlement may be in the best interest of the business and long-term customer relationships. For example, in June 2016, we entered into a settlement agreement and release with one of our customers, Nordex, relating to the April 2015 wind blade failure referenced above. See "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations—Other Contingencies" for more information. Wind blades may also fail due to lightning strikes and other extreme weather, which could also result in negative publicity regarding our wind blades and wind energy in general. In addition, product defects may require costly repairs or replacement components, a change in our manufacturing processes or recall of previously manufactured wind blades, which could result in significant expense and materially harm our existing or prospective customer relationships. Further, defects or product liability claims, with or without merit, may result in negative publicity that could harm our future sales and our reputation in the industry. Any of the foregoing could materially harm our business, operating results and financial condition.

We have experienced and could in the future experience quality or operational issues in connection with plant construction or expansion, wind blade model transitions and wind blade manufacturing, which could result in losses and cause delays in our ability to complete our projects and may therefore materially harm our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We dedicate most of the capacity of our current wind blade manufacturing facilities to existing customers and, as a result, we may need to build additional manufacturing capacity or facilities to serve the needs of new customers or expanded needs of existing customers. We have entered into lease agreements with third parties to lease new manufacturing facilities in Mexico and Turkey, and we expect to commence operations at these new facilities in the second half of 2016. The construction of new plants and expansion of existing plants involves significant time, cost and other risks. We expect our plants to generate losses in their first 12 to 24 months of operations related to production startup expenses. Additionally, numerous factors can contribute, and have in the past contributed, to delays or difficulties in the startup of, or the adoption of our manufacturing lines to produce larger wind blade models, which we refer to as model transitions, in our manufacturing facilities, including permitting, construction or renovation delays, the engineering and fabrication of specialized equipment, the modification of our general production know-how and customer-specific manufacturing processes to address the specific wind blades to be tested and built, changing and evolving customer specifications and expectations and the hiring and training of plant personnel. If our production or the delivery by any third-party suppliers of any custom equipment is delayed, the construction or renovation of the facility, or the addition of the production line would be delayed. Any delays or difficulties in plant startup or expansion may result in cost overruns, production delays, contractual penalties, loss of revenues and impairment of customer relationships, which could materially harm our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our long-term supply agreements with our customers are subject to termination on short notice and our failure to perform our obligations under these agreements or the termination of agreements would materially harm our business.

Our current long-term supply agreements expire between the end of 2017 and the end of 2021. Some of our long-term supply agreements contain provisions that allow for the termination of those agreements upon the customer providing us with 92 to 365 days' advance written notice or, in one instance, upon no advance notice, or upon a material breach that goes uncured for up to 15 to 30 days. Additionally, our long-term supply agreements contain provisions allowing our customers to terminate these agreements upon our failure to deliver the contracted wind blade volumes or our failure to meet certain mutually agreed upon cost reductions. Our customers may not continue to maintain long-term supply agreements with us in the future. If one or more of our customers terminate or fail to renew their long-term supply agreements with us, it would materially harm our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We operate in an industry characterized by changing customer demands and associated transition costs, which could materially harm our business.

The wind energy industry is competitive and is characterized by evolving customer demands. As a result, we must adapt quickly to customer requests for changes to wind blade specifications, which increases our costs and can provide periods of reduced revenue and margins. For instance, to satisfy GE Wind's need for bigger wind turbines with larger wind blades, we recently agreed, at GE Wind's request, to implement model transitions at our U.S., China, Mexico and Turkey facilities, resulting in unplanned delays in wind blade production and associated transition costs at each of these facilities. We are generally able to share transition costs with the customer in connection with these changing customer demands, but any sharing is the subject of negotiation and the amount is not always contractually defined. If we do not receive transition payments from our customers sufficient to cover our transition costs or lost margins, our business, financial condition and results of operations could be materially harmed.

The concentration of customers in our wind business could enable one or more of our customers to attempt to substantially influence our policies, business and affairs going forward.

Our dependence on four wind blade customers, and GE Wind in particular, for substantially all of our revenues could encourage GE Wind or these customers to attempt to impose new or additional requirements on us that reduce the profitability of our long-term supply agreements with them or otherwise influence our policies, choice of and arrangements with raw material suppliers and other aspects of our business. Our customers could also attempt to influence the outcome of a corporate transaction if the transaction benefits a customer's competitor or is otherwise perceived as not advantageous to a customer, which could have the effect of delaying, deterring, or preventing a transaction that could benefit us. In addition, consolidation of some of our customers may result in increased customer concentration and the potential loss of customers. For example, GE Wind acquired Alstom S.A.'s power business in 2015 and Nordex recently completed its acquisition of Acciona. Although we are not constrained by any exclusivity agreements with any of our existing wind blade customers, they may resist our development of new customer relationships, which could affect our relationships with them or our ability to secure new customers.

Demand for our wind blades may fluctuate for a variety of reasons, including the growth of the wind industry, and decreases in demand could materially harm our business and may not be sufficient to support our growth strategy.

Our revenues, business prospects and growth strategy heavily depend on the continued growth of the wind industry and our customers' continuing demand for our wind blades. Customer demand could decrease from anticipated levels due to numerous factors outside of our control that may affect the development of the wind energy market generally, portions of the market or individual wind project developments, including:

- general economic conditions;
- the general availability and demand for electricity;
- wind energy market volatility;
- cost-effectiveness, availability and reliability of alternative sources of energy and competing methods of producing electricity, including non-renewable sources such as natural gas;
- foreign, federal and state governmental subsidies and tax or regulatory policies;
- the availability of financing for wind development projects;
- the development of electrical transmission infrastructure and the ability to implement a proper grid connection for wind development projects;
- foreign, federal and state laws and regulations regarding avian protection plans, noise or turbine setback requirements and other environmental laws and regulations;
- administrative and legal challenges to proposed wind development projects; and
- public perception and localized community responses to wind energy projects.

In addition to factors affecting the wind energy market generally, our customers' demand may also fluctuate based on other factors beyond our control. Any decline in customer demand below anticipated levels could materially harm our revenues and operating results and could delay or impede our growth strategy.

Changes in customers' business focus could materially harm our business and results of operations.

Changes in our customers' business focus could significantly reduce their demand for wind blades. For instance, General Electric, the parent corporation of GE Wind, is a highly diversified company that operates in a number of different industries and could decide to devote more resources to operations outside of wind energy or cease selling wind turbines altogether. If any of our customers change their business focus, it could materially harm our business and results of operations.

We have experienced in the past, and our future wind blade production could be affected by, operating problems at our facilities, which may materially harm our operating results and financial condition.

Our wind blade manufacturing processes and production capacity have in the past been, and could in the future be, disrupted by a variety of issues, including:

- production outages to conduct maintenance activities that cannot be performed safely during operations;
- prolonged power failures or reductions;
- breakdowns, failures or substandard performance of machinery and equipment;
- our inability to comply with material environmental requirements or permits;
- inadequate transportation infrastructure, including problems with railroad tracks, bridges, tunnels or roads;
- damage or production delays caused by earthquakes, fires, floods, tornadoes, hurricanes, extreme weather conditions such as windstorms, hailstorms, drought, temperature extremes, typhoons or other natural disasters or terrorism; and
- labor unrest.

The cost of repeated or prolonged interruptions, reductions in production capacity, or the repair or replacement of complex and sophisticated tooling and equipment may be considerable and could result in damages under or the termination of our long-term supply agreements or penalties for regulatory non-compliance, any of which could materially harm our business, operating results and financial condition.

We operate a substantial portion of our business in international markets and we may be unable to effectively manage a variety of currency, legal, regulatory, economic, social and political risks associated with our global operations and those in developing markets.

We currently operate manufacturing facilities in the United States, China, Mexico and Turkey, and we intend to further expand our operations worldwide to meet customer demand. We have entered into lease agreements with third parties to lease new manufacturing facilities in Mexico and Turkey, and we expect to commence operations at these new facilities in the second half of 2016. For the three months ended March 31, 2016 and for the years ended December 31, 2015 and 2014, 71%, 74% and 55%, respectively, of our net sales were derived from our international operations and we expect that a substantial portion of our projected revenue growth will be derived from those operations. Our overall success depends, in part, upon our ability to succeed in differing legal, regulatory, economic, social and political conditions. The global nature of our operations is subject to a variety of risks, including:

- difficulties in staffing and managing multiple international locations;

- increased exposure to foreign currency exchange rate risk or currency exchange controls imposed by foreign countries;
- the risk of import, export and transportation regulations and tariffs on foreign trade and investment, including boycotts and embargoes;
- taxation and revenue policies or other restrictions, including royalty and tax increases, retroactive tax claims and the imposition of unexpected taxes;
- the imposition of, or rapid or unexpected adverse changes in, foreign laws, regulatory requirements or trade policies;
- restrictions on repatriation of earnings or capital or transfers of funds into or out of foreign countries;
- limited protection for intellectual property rights in some jurisdictions;
- inability to obtain adequate insurance;
- difficulty administering internal controls and legal and compliance practices in countries with different cultural norms and business practices; See "—In mid-2015, our Audit Committee conducted an internal investigation into allegations of improper business dealings in China. While the investigation did not substantiate the allegations, we ultimately terminated our former Senior Vice President-Asia, then serving as a consultant to the Company, in January 2016 for material violations of his agreements with us and of Company policies, which came to light subsequent to the completion of the internal investigation. Any misconduct that the initial investigation or our subsequent review of the activities of our former Senior Vice President-Asia failed to uncover could have a material adverse effect on our operations generally."
- the possibility of being subjected to the jurisdiction of foreign courts in connection with legal disputes and the possible inability to subject foreign persons to the jurisdiction of courts in the United States;
- the misinterpretation of local contractual terms, renegotiation or modification of existing long-term supply agreements and enforcement of contractual terms in disputes before local courts;
- the inability to maintain or enforce legal rights and remedies at a reasonable cost or at all; and
- the potential for political unrest, expropriation, nationalization, revolution, war or acts of terrorism in countries in which we operate.

In particular, our operations in China are subject to a variety of specific risks which may adversely affect our business, including:

- the promotion by the Chinese government of indigenous businesses, through the implementation of favorable tax, lending, purchasing and other programs and through local content requirements (which require that wind turbine equipment purchased for wind farm projects in China contain at least a majority of locally-made components) and the uncertainty and inconsistency in the promotion of foreign investment and enterprise in China;
- the deterioration of the diplomatic and political relationships between the United States and China resulting from such factors as the opposition of the United States to censorship and other policies of the Chinese government, China's growing trade surpluses with the United States and the potential introduction by the United States of trade restrictions that would impact Chinese imports and any retaliatory measures that could ensue;
- the uncertainty of the Chinese legal regime generally, and in particular in protecting intellectual property and contractual rights, in securing future land use rights, and the recent adoption of new labor, environmental and tax laws, the impacts of which are not yet fully understood; and

- various restrictions on our ability to repatriate profits from China to other jurisdictions. See "Risks Related to our Business as a Whole—We may have difficulty making distributions and repatriating earnings from our Chinese manufacturing operations, which may also occur in some of our other locations."

We also operate in developing markets, which have in the past experienced, and may in the future experience, social and political unrest. For example, Turkey has experienced problems with domestic terrorist and ethnic separatist groups. The issue of civil rights for Kurdish citizens remains a potential source of political instability, which may be exacerbated by continuing instability in the Middle East.

In addition, Juarez, Mexico, the location of our Mexico manufacturing facility, has been subject to violence related to drug trafficking, including kidnappings and killings. This could negatively impact our ability to hire and retain personnel, especially senior U.S. managers, to continue to work at the facility, or disrupt our operation in other ways, which could materially harm our business.

As we continue to operate our business globally, our success will depend, in part, on our ability to anticipate and effectively manage these and other related risks. We may be unsuccessful in developing and implementing policies and strategies that will be effective in managing these risks in each country where we do business or conduct operations. Our failure to manage these risks successfully could materially harm our business, operating results and financial condition.

Although a majority of our manufacturing facilities are located outside the United States, our business is still heavily dependent upon the demand for wind energy in the United States and any downturn in demand for wind energy in the United States could materially harm our business.

We have developed a global footprint to serve the growing wind energy market worldwide and have wind blade manufacturing facilities in the United States, China, Mexico and Turkey. Although a majority of our manufacturing facilities are located outside of the United States, we believe that historically more than half of the wind blades that we produced were deployed in wind farms located within the United States. Our Iowa and Mexico manufacturing facilities manufacture wind blades that are generally deployed within the United States. In addition, we export wind blades from our China manufacturing facility to the United States. Demand for wind energy and our wind blades in the United States could be adversely affected by a variety of reasons and factors, and any downturn in demand for wind energy and our wind blades in the United States could materially harm our business.

Our focus on wind energy markets in a limited number of geographic areas could result in a material harm to our business, financial condition and results of operations.

The wind energy industry continues to be dependent on developments within a relatively small number of markets and we have developed our global manufacturing footprint and long-term growth strategy to serve these markets. We cannot assure you that these wind energy markets will continue to demand increasing amounts of wind energy going forward. For example, the connection or access of wind turbines to a power grid is very important when locating wind turbines. In each of these markets, there are various laws, rules or regulations that govern the connection or access of wind turbines to the power grid. If the customers of our customers fail to obtain a connection or access to power grids on a timely basis and on economically reasonable terms and enter agreements to sell the electrical energy generated or the number of MW hours that any of these markets consumes declines, our business, financial condition and results of operations could be materially harmed. In addition, if one of those markets does not develop in line with our expectations, our business, financial condition and results of operations could be materially harmed.

We may not achieve the long-term growth we anticipate if wind turbine OEMs do not continue to shift from in-house production of wind blades to outsourced wind blade suppliers and if we do not expand our customer relationships and add new customers.

Many wind turbine OEMs rely on in-house production of wind blades for some or all of their wind turbines. Our growth strategy depends in large part on the continued expansion of our relationships with our current wind blade customers, and the addition of new key customers. Some of our customers possess the financial, engineering and technical capabilities to produce their own wind blades and many source wind blades from multiple suppliers. Our existing customers may not expand their wind energy operations or, if they do, they may not choose us to supply them with new or additional quantities of wind blades. Our collaborative dedicated supplier model for the manufacture of wind blades is a significant departure from traditional vertically integrated methods. As is typical for rapidly evolving industries, customer demand for new business models is highly uncertain. For instance, although we have entered into long-term supply agreements with three customers, Vestas, Gamesa and Nordex (which acquired Acciona in April 2016), that also produce wind blades for their wind turbines in-house, we may not be able to maintain these customer relationships or enter into similar arrangements with new customers that produce wind blades in-house in the future. Our business and growth strategies depend in large part on the continuation of a current trend toward outsourcing manufacturing. If that trend does not continue or we are unsuccessful in persuading wind turbine OEMs to shift from in-house production to the outsourcing of their wind blade manufacturing, we may not achieve the long-term growth we anticipate and our market share could be limited.

A drop in the price of energy sources other than wind energy, or our inability to deliver wind blades that compete with the price of other energy sources, may materially harm our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We believe that a customer's decision to purchase wind blades is to a significant degree driven by the relative cost of electricity generated by wind turbines compared to the applicable price of electricity from the utility grid and the cost of traditional and other renewable energy sources. Decreases in the prices of electricity from the relevant utility grid or from renewable energy sources other than wind energy would harm the market for wind blades. In particular, a drop in natural gas prices could lessen the appeal of wind-generated electricity. Technological advancements or the construction of a significant number of power generation plants, including nuclear, coal, natural gas or power plants utilizing other renewable energy technologies, government support for other forms of renewable energy or construction of additional electric transmission and distribution lines could reduce the price of electricity produced by competing methods, thereby making the purchase of wind blades less attractive to customers economically. The ability of energy conservation technologies, public initiatives and government incentives to reduce electricity consumption or support other forms of renewable energy could also lead to a reduction in the price of electricity, which would undermine the attractiveness of wind turbines, and, in turn, our wind blades. If prices for electricity generated by wind turbines are not competitive, our business, financial condition and results of operations may be materially harmed.

If any precision molding and assembly systems needed for our manufacturing process contains a defect or is not fabricated and delivered in a timely manner, our ongoing manufacturing operations, business, financial condition and results of operation may be materially harmed.

We custom fabricate many of the precision molding and assembly systems used in our facilities. Our customers also have the option of using third-party manufacturers to produce their custom tooling. If any piece of equipment fails, is determined to produce nonconforming or defective products or is not fabricated and delivered in a timely manner, whether produced by us or a third party, our wind blade production could be interrupted and we could be subject to contractual penalties, warranty claims, loss of revenues and damage to our customer relationships, among other consequences.

Our long-term supply agreements and our backlog are subject to reduction within contractual parameters and we may not realize all of the expected revenue.

Our current long-term wind blade supply agreements generally establish annual purchase requirements on which we rely for our future production and financial forecasts. However, the timing and volume of purchases, within certain parameters, may be subject to change by our customers. In some instances, our customers have the contractual right to require us to reduce the number of manufacturing lines committed to them and correspondingly reduce their minimum annual purchase requirements. Additionally, our minimum annual purchase commitments could potentially understate the actual net sales that we are likely to generate in a given period or periods if all of our long-term supply agreements remain in place and pricing remains materially unchanged. Such minimum annual purchase requirements could also potentially overstate the actual net sales that we are likely to generate in a given period or periods if one or more of our long-term supply agreements were to be terminated by our customers for any reason. As a result, we may not realize the revenue we expect under our long-term supply agreements or pursuant to our backlog, which we define as the value of purchase orders received less the revenue recognized to date on those purchase orders. In addition, fulfillment of our backlog may not result in profits.

The long sales cycle involved in attracting new customers may make the timing of our revenue difficult to predict and may cause our operating results to fluctuate.

The complexity, expense and long-term nature of our supply agreements generally require a lengthy customer education, evaluation and approval process. It can take us from several months to years to identify and attract new customers, if we are successful at all. This long sales cycle for attracting and retaining new customers subjects us to a number of significant risks that may materially harm our business, results of operation and financial condition over which we have limited control, including fluctuations in our quarterly operating results. In addition, we may incur substantial expenses and devote significant management effort to develop potential relationships that do not result in agreements or revenue and may prevent us from pursuing other opportunities.

We encounter intense competition for limited customers from other wind blade manufacturers, as well as in-house production by wind turbine OEMs, which may make it difficult to enter into long-term supply agreements, keep existing customers and potentially get new customers.

We face significant competition from other wind blade manufacturers, and this competition may intensify in the future. The wind turbine market is characterized by a relatively small number of large OEMs. In addition, a significant percentage of wind turbine OEMs, including four of our current customers, produce their own wind blades in-house. As a result, we compete for business from a limited number of customers that outsource the production of wind blades. We also compete with a number of wind blade manufacturers in China, who are growing in terms of their technical capability and aspire to expand outside of China. Many of our competitors have more experience in the wind energy industry, as well as much greater financial, technical or human resources than we do, which may limit our ability to compete effectively with them and maintain or improve our market share. Additionally, our long-term supply agreements dedicate capacity at our facilities to our customers, which may also limit our ability to compete if our facilities cannot accommodate additional capacity. If we are unable to compete effectively for the limited number of customers that outsource production of wind blades, our ability to enter into long-term supply agreements with potential new and existing customers may be materially harmed.

We could be affected by increasing competition from new and existing industry participants and industry consolidation.

The markets in which we operate are increasingly competitive and any failure on our part to compete effectively on an ongoing basis could materially harm our business, results of operations or financial condition. The key factors affecting competition in the wind energy industry are the capacity and quality of products, technology, price, the ability to fulfill local market requirements and the scope, cost and quality of maintenance services, training and support.

Competition in the wind energy industry has intensified in recent years as a result of a number of factors, including international expansion by existing industry participants exploiting new markets, particularly as political will around the issues of global warming and the environment become more prominent to the political agenda in those new markets. There has also been increasing pressure from Asian manufacturers rapidly improving the quality and reliability of their technologies, and considering moving out of their local markets and into international cross border transactions. Market entry by certain large industrial groups, including those previously unconnected to the wind energy market, through acquisitions and license agreements and numerous greenfield establishments in certain markets, also poses a competition risk.

The competitive environment in the wind energy industry may become more challenging in the years ahead, particularly in the event of greater consolidation in the industry, leading to greater market power and "economies of scale" by such market players which translate into being able to offer greater "cost of energy" savings to wind power plant customers. For example, GE Wind acquired Alstom S.A.'s power business in 2015 and Nordex recently completed its acquisition of Acciona. These transactions or further consolidation in the wind energy industry may have an adverse impact on our business in the future, including, without limitation, reduced demand for our products and services, product innovation, changes in pricing and similar factors, including any competitor's attempt to duplicate our collaborative dedicated supplier model. Such events could materially harm our business, results of operations, financial condition or prospects.

Significant increases in the prices of raw materials or components that cannot be reflected in the price of our products could negatively affect our operating margins.

The prices of our raw materials and components are subject to price fluctuations resulting from volatility of supply and demand in world markets. Under our long-term supply agreements, our customers generally commit to purchase minimum annual volumes and prices for wind blades are generally set as of the date of our supply agreements and adjusted annually, or in some cases more frequently, for the cost of raw material and our operating expenses in certain cases. As a result, the competitive nature of the wind blade market and our long-term supply agreements with our customers may delay or prevent us from passing cost increases in raw materials and components on to our customers. Significant increases in the price of raw materials or components used in our manufactured wind blades that cannot be reflected in the price of our products, could negatively affect our operating margins and materially harm our business, operating results or financial condition.

We could experience shortages of raw materials or components critical to our manufacturing needs, which may hinder our ability to perform under our supply agreements.

We rely upon third parties for raw materials, such as fiberglass, carbon, resins, foam core and balsa wood, and various components for the manufacture of our wind blades. Some of these raw materials and components may only be purchased from a limited number of suppliers. For example, balsa wood is only grown and produced in a limited number of geographies and is only available from a limited number of suppliers. Additionally, our ability to purchase the appropriate quantities of raw materials is constrained by our customers' transitioning wind blade designs and specifications. As a result, we maintain relatively low inventory and acquire raw materials and components as needed. Due to significant international demand for these raw materials from many industries, we may be unable to acquire sufficient quantities or secure a stable supply for our manufacturing needs. If shortages or delays occur, we may be unable to provide our products to our customers on time, or at all. In addition, a disruption in any aspect of our global supply chain caused by transportation delays, customs delays, cost issues or other factors could result in a shortage of raw materials or components critical to our manufacturing needs. Any supply shortages, delays in the shipment of materials or components from third party suppliers, or changes in the terms on which they are available could disrupt or materially harm our business, operating results and financial condition.

Certain of our long-term supply agreements are highly dependent upon a limited number of suppliers of raw materials.

Our ability to perform under certain of our long-term supply agreements is currently, and may continue to be in the future, highly dependent on a limited number of suppliers of raw materials. For instance, our agreements with certain customers require us or our customers to purchase raw materials from a single supplier unless additional suppliers are evaluated and found to satisfy the requirements set out in those agreements. In 2015, for example, our ability to supply wind blades to one of our customers was constrained because our customer, who under our agreement was required to procure a sufficient supply of a specific type of material, was unable to procure the material from a single source supplier. Should any of these suppliers of raw materials experience production delays or shortages, have their operations interrupted or otherwise cease or curtail their operations, this may disrupt or materially harm our business, operating results and financial condition.

Significant increases in the cost of transporting our wind blades could negatively affect the demand for our products.

A significant portion of our customers' costs are transportation costs related to the transport of our manufactured wind blades to their customers' wind farms. Demand for our products could be negatively affected if the costs our customers bear to transport our wind blades increase.

The nature of our manufacturing processes and unanticipated changes to those processes could significantly reduce our manufacturing yields and product reliability, which could materially harm our business, operating results and financial condition.

The manufacture of our wind blades involves highly complex and precise processes which may be dictated by our customers' requests requiring production in highly controlled environments. Changes in our manufacturing processes or that are required by our customers could affect product reliability. Furthermore, many of our processes are manual to facilitate production flexibility and compliance with customer requirements. A manually dependent manufacturing process can limit capacity and increase production costs. In some cases, existing manufacturing techniques may be insufficient to achieve the volume or cost targets of our customers. For example, our manufacturing processes may at times require a quantity of raw materials greater than the quantity for which we have contracted, making it difficult for us to achieve the targeted cost levels negotiated with our customers. In order to achieve targeted volume and cost levels, we may need to increase the quantity of raw materials for which we contract or develop new manufacturing processes and techniques. While we continue to devote substantial efforts to the improvement of our manufacturing techniques and processes, we may not achieve manufacturing volumes and cost levels in our manufacturing activities that will fully satisfy customer demands, which could materially harm our business, operating results and financial condition.

Our reserves for warranty expenses might not be sufficient to cover all future costs.

We provide warranties for all of our products, including parts and labor, for periods that range from two to five years depending on the product sold. If a wind blade is found to be defective during the warranty period as a result of a defect in workmanship or materials, or if we are required to cover remediation expenses or other potential remedies, in addition to our regular warranty coverage we may need to repair or replace the wind blade (which could include significant transportation, installation and erection costs) at our sole expense. Our estimate of warranty expense requires us to make assumptions about matters that are highly uncertain, including future rates of product failure, repair costs, shipping and handling and de-installation and re-installation costs at customers' sites. Our assumptions could be materially different from the actual performance of our products and these remediation expenses in the future. The expenses associated with wind blade repair and remediation activities can be substantial and may include changes to our manufacturing processes. If our estimates prove materially incorrect, we could incur warranty expenses that exceed our reserves and be required to make material unplanned cash expenditures, which could materially harm our business, operating results and financial condition.

We may not be able to meet our customers' future wind blade supply demands, which may hinder our customer relationships and reputation.

Historically, our existing customers' demand and MW capacity goals have mirrored the anticipated growth of the wind energy industry. Given the importance of wind energy capture, turbine reliability and cost to power producers, the size, quality and performance of wind blades have become highly strategic to our OEM customers. If we are unable to maintain future manufacturing capacity at levels that meet our customers' increasing demands, including with respect to volume, technical specifications, or commercial terms, our existing customers may seek relationships with, or give priority to, other wind blade manufacturers or may use or develop their own internal manufacturing capabilities to meet their increased demand, which could materially harm our business, operating results and financial condition. In addition, our reputation could be materially harmed if we are unable to satisfy the requirements of our customers.

We rely on our research and development efforts to remain competitive, and we may fail to develop on a timely basis new wind blade manufacturing technologies that are commercially attractive or permit us to keep up with customer demands.

The market for wind blades is subject to evolving customer needs and expectations. Our research and development is invested in developing faster and more efficient manufacturing processes in order to build the new wind blades designed by our customers that more effectively capture wind energy and are adaptable to new growth segments of the wind energy market. Research and development activities are inherently uncertain and the results of our in-house research and development may not be successful. In addition, our competition may adopt more advanced technologies or develop wind blades that are more effective or commercially attractive. We believe that our future success will depend in large part upon our ability to be at the forefront of technological innovation in the wind energy industry and to rapidly and cost-effectively adapt our wind blade manufacturing processes to keep pace with changing technologies, new wind blade design and changing customer needs. If we are unable to do so, our business, operating results, financial condition and reputation could be materially harmed.

Many of our long-term supply agreements contain liquidated damages provisions, which may require us to make unanticipated payments to our customers.

Many of our long-term supply agreements contain liquidated damages provisions in the event that we fail to perform our obligations thereunder in a timely manner or in accordance with the agreed terms, conditions and standards. Our liquidated damages provisions generally require us to make a payment to the customer if we fail to deliver a product or service on time. We generally try to limit our exposure under any individual long-term supply agreement to a maximum penalty. Nevertheless, if we incur liquidated damages, they may materially harm our business, operating results and financial condition. For example, the supply agreements with respect to our China, Mexico and Iowa facilities provide that each party will bear its own costs except that the prevailing party in a legal action arising thereunder is entitled to its reasonable costs and expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees.

We depend on third parties for certain construction, maintenance, engineering, transportation, warehousing and logistics services, and failures of those third parties to perform their obligations may in turn impede our ability to perform our obligations.

We contract with third parties for certain services relating to the design, construction and maintenance of various components of our production facilities and other systems. If these third parties fail to comply with their obligations:

- we may experience delays in the completion of new facilities or expansion of existing facilities;
- the facilities may not operate as intended;
- we may be required to recognize impairment charges; or

- we could experience production delays, which could cause us to miss our production capacity targets and breach our long-term supply agreements, which could damage our relationships with our customers and subject us to contractual penalties and contract termination.

Any of these events could have a material adverse effect on our business, operating results or financial condition. Our customers also contract with third parties for the transportation of the products we manufacture. In particular, a significant portion of the goods we manufacture are transported to different countries, which requires sophisticated warehousing, logistics and other resources. If our customers fail to contract with third parties for certain construction, maintenance, engineering, transportation, warehousing and logistics services, or there are any disruptions, delays or failures in these services, this could have a material adverse effect on our business, operating results or financial condition.

Various legislation, regulations and incentives that are expected to support the growth of wind energy in the United States and around the world may not be extended or may be discontinued, phased out or changed, or may not be successfully implemented, which could materially harm wind energy programs and materially decrease demand for our wind blades.

The U.S. wind energy industry is dependent in part upon governmental support through certain incentives including federal tax incentives and renewable portfolio standard, or RPS, programs and may not be economically viable absent such incentives. Government-sponsored tax incentive programs including the Production Tax Credit for Renewable Energy, or PTC, and to a lesser extent, the Investment Tax Credit, or ITC, are expected to support the U.S. growth of wind energy. The PTC provided the owner of a wind turbine placed in operation before January 1, 2015 with a ten year credit against its U.S. federal income tax obligations based on the amount of electricity generated by the wind turbine.

Although the PTC was extended in December 2015 for wind power projects through December 31, 2019, as currently contemplated, the PTC rate is being phased out over the term of the PTC extension. Specifically, as currently contemplated, the PTC will remain at the same rate in effect at the end of 2014 for wind power projects that commence construction by the end of 2016, and thereafter will be reduced by 20% per year in 2017, 2018 and 2019, respectively.

The EPA recently enacted the Clean Power Plan, which is also intended to promote the growth of renewable energy. However, in February 2016, the United States Supreme Court issued a stay of the EPA's implementation of the Clean Power Plan until the D.C. Circuit of the United States Court of Appeals reviews the merits of multiple lawsuits challenging the legality of the Clean Power Plan. If the Clean Power Plan is not successfully implemented, demand for our wind blades may be materially decreased.

In addition, many state governments have adopted measures designed to promote wind energy. For example, according to AWEA, 29 states, as well as the District of Columbia, have implemented RPS programs that mandate that a specific percentage of electricity sales in a state come from renewable energy within a specified period. However, RPS programs have been challenged lately and they may not continue going forward. These programs have spurred significant growth in the wind energy industry in the United States and a corresponding increase in the demand for our manufactured wind blades. However, although the U.S. government and several state governments have adopted these various programs that are expected to drive the growth of wind energy, they may approve new or additional programs that might hinder the wind energy industry and therefore negatively impact our business, operating results or financial condition.

China is currently implementing a five-year plan with a goal of 15% energy from non-fossil fuel sources and targeting 250 GWs of grid-connected wind capacity by 2020, according to its National Development and Reform Commission, and employs preferential feed-in tariff schemes, in addition to local tax-based incentives. Mexico has established strict targets, aiming for 35% renewable energy by 2024 and 50% by 2050, according to MAKE, which it is facilitating through tax incentives. Large European Union members have renewable energy targets for 2020 of between 13% and 49% of all energy use derived from renewable energy sources, according to MAKE. Turkey enacted Law No. 5346 in 2005 to promote renewable-based electricity generation within its domestic electricity market by introducing tariffs and purchase obligations for distribution companies requiring purchases from certified renewable energy producers. The World Bank also provided to Turkey an aggregate of $600 million of loan proceeds to encourage investors to construct generation plants with renewable energy resources. These programs have spurred significant growth in the wind energy industry internationally and a corresponding increase in the demand for our manufactured wind blades. However, although foreign governments have adopted various programs that are expected to drive the growth of wind energy, they may approve new or additional programs going forward that might hinder the wind energy industry and therefore negatively impact our business as a result. For example, foreign governments may decide to reduce or eliminate these economic incentives for political, financial or other reasons. They may also favor other forms of energy, including current and new sources of energy such as solar, nuclear and hydropower.

Because of the long lead times necessary to develop wind energy projects, any uncertainty or delay in adopting, extending or renewing these incentives beyond their current or future expiration dates could negatively impact potential wind energy installations and result in industry volatility. There can be no assurance that the PTC, the Clean Power Plan or other governmental programs or subsidies for renewable energy will remain in effect in their present form or at all, and the elimination, reduction, or modification of these programs or subsidies could materially harm wind energy programs in the United States and international markets and materially decrease demand for our wind blades and, in turn, materially harm our business, operating results and financial condition.

We may not be able to obtain, or agree on acceptable terms and conditions for, government tax credits, grants, loans and other incentives for which we have in the past applied or may in the future apply, which may materially harm our business, operating results and financial condition.

We have in the past and may in the future rely, in part, on tax credits, grants, loans and other incentives under U.S. and foreign governmental programs to support the construction of new plants and expansion of existing manufacturing facilities. We may not be successful in obtaining these tax credits, grants, loans and other incentives, and the tax and other incentives that have already been approved may not be continued in the future. Our ability to obtain funds or incentives from government sources is subject to the availability of funds under applicable governmental programs and approval of our applications to participate in these programs. The application process for these funds and other incentives is and will be highly competitive. We may not be able to satisfy the requirements and milestones imposed by the granting authority as conditions to receipt of the funds or other incentives, the timing of the receipt of the funds may not meet our needs, and, even if obtained, we may be unable to successfully execute on our business plan. Moreover, not all of the terms and conditions associated with these incentive funds have been disclosed to us, and once disclosed, there may be terms and conditions with which we are unable to comply or that are commercially unacceptable to us. Further, participation in certain programs may require us to notify the federal government of certain intellectual property we develop and comply with applicable regulations in order to protect our interests in that intellectual property. In addition, these federal governmental programs may require us to spend a portion of our own funds for every incentive dollar we receive or are permitted to borrow from the government and may impose time limits during which we must use the funds awarded to us that we may be unable to achieve. If we are unable to obtain or comply with the terms of these tax credits, grants, loans or other incentives, our business, operating results and financial condition may be harmed.

Adverse weather conditions could impact the wind energy industry in some regions and could materially harm our business, operating results and financial condition.

Our business may be subject to fluctuations in sales volumes due to adverse weather conditions that could delay the erection of wind turbines, the installation of wind blades and the ability of wind turbines to generate electricity efficiently. Moreover, any remediation efforts we could be required to undertake pursuant to wind blade warranties could be delayed or otherwise adversely impacted by poor weather. Although our customer base and geographical footprint is geographically diversified, enduring weather patterns or seasonal variations may impact the expansion of the wind energy industry in certain regions. A resulting reduction or delay in demand for the wind blades we manufacture for our customers could materially harm our business, operating results and financial condition.

In mid-2015, our Audit Committee conducted an internal investigation into allegations of improper business dealings in China. While the investigation did not substantiate the allegations, we ultimately terminated our former Senior Vice President—Asia, then serving as a consultant to the Company, in January 2016 for material violations of his agreements with us and of Company policies, which came to light subsequent to the completion of the internal investigation. Any misconduct that the initial investigation or our subsequent review of the activities of our former Senior Vice President—Asia failed to uncover could have a material adverse effect on our operations generally.

In June 2015, our Audit Committee was notified of allegations that, among other things, our former Senior Vice President—Asia requested personal compensation from suppliers in return for doing business with the Company in China and made excessive payments for capital expenditures. The Audit Committee directed a U.S.-based law firm, assisted by a forensic accounting firm and a law firm with local resources in China, to initiate an investigation into the conduct of the former Senior Vice President—Asia. Although the investigation did not uncover any illegal conduct, the investigation did not disprove the allegations. We subsequently accelerated the implementation of enhanced operational procedures, processes and controls relating to our China operations pursuant to recommendations arising out of the internal investigation and our review of our China operations. This process is currently ongoing.

Although the results of the internal investigation were inconclusive regarding the allegations relating to our former Senior Vice President—Asia, in early August 2015, we entered into a transition agreement with our former Senior Vice President—Asia pursuant to which he transitioned out of his role as Senior Vice President—Asia at the end of 2015. Pursuant to the transition agreement, he was to serve in a consulting capacity to facilitate an orderly transition of operations in China through 2016 and 2017. In January 2016, we subsequently determined that our former Senior Vice President—Asia, then serving as a consultant to the Company, had materially violated the terms of the transition agreement, including the non-compete provisions, and had materially violated Company policies. Following our discovery of these violations, we terminated his consultancy for cause in January 2016 pursuant to the terms of the transition agreement and he is no longer associated with the Company. Subsequent to his termination, we found further evidence that our former Senior Vice President—Asia and three of his subordinates in China, who we also terminated in January 2016, likely engaged in improper conduct involving the misuse of funds in violation of Company policies.

Additional facts or allegations may exist that the internal investigation or our subsequent review did not uncover. The persons that our investigative teams interviewed may have omitted facts or may have been untruthful, and the investigative teams may not have had access to all relevant documents or persons relating to the subject of the investigation. If new evidence concerning the allegations is found in the future, or if new allegations are made or other similar issues arise or are uncovered, our Chinese operations could be materially disrupted, our suppliers and customers may cease to do business with us, our reputation in the marketplace may be materially harmed, we may be required to terminate additional key employees, and we may need to incur substantial legal and accounting costs in investigating and resolving these matters. If any of these risks materialize, we could be subject to fines, penalties, prosecution or other impacts, which could result in a decline in our stock price or materially and adversely affect our business, operating results, liquidity and financial condition.

Our long-term growth and success is dependent upon retaining our senior management and attracting and retaining qualified personnel, and we may be negatively impacted by the transition and subsequent termination of our former Senior Vice President—Asia.

Our growth and success depends to a significant extent on our ability to attract and retain highly qualified research and development, management, manufacturing, marketing and other key personnel including engineers in our various locations. In addition, we rely heavily on our management team, including Steven C. Lockard, our Chief Executive Officer, Mark R. McFeely, our Chief Operating Officer, Wayne G. Monie, our Chief Manufacturing Technology Officer, William E. Siwek, our Chief Financial Officer, and other senior management. The inability to recruit and retain key personnel or the unexpected loss of key personnel may materially harm our business, operating results and financial condition. Hiring those persons may be especially difficult because of the specialized nature of our business and our international operations. If we cannot attract and retain qualified personnel, or if we lose the services of Messrs. Lockard, McFeely, Monie or Siwek, other key members of senior management or other key personnel, our ability to successfully execute our business plan, market and develop our products and serve our customers could be materially and adversely affected. In addition, because of our reliance on our management team, our future success depends, in part, on its ability to identify and develop talent to succeed its senior management. The retention of key personnel and appropriate senior management succession planning will continue to be critical to the successful implementation of our future strategies.

In addition, in August 2015, we entered into a transition agreement with our former Senior Vice President—Asia pursuant to which he transitioned out of this role at the end of 2015. Although our former Senior Vice President—Asia was to serve in a consulting capacity with the Company in 2016 and 2017, following our discovery that he had materially violated the terms of the transition agreement, including the non-compete provisions, and materially violated Company policies, we terminated his consultancy for cause in January 2016 pursuant to the terms of the transition agreement and he is no longer associated with the Company. We have also terminated three other senior managers in China, who were his subordinates, for related offenses. Some of our key management, technical and engineering personnel in China may decide to leave the Company following our recent management transition in China, and the transition may be disruptive to our China operations generally. Our former Senior Vice President – Asia has filed an arbitration claim challenging our termination of the transition agreement for cause and the three subordinates may also challenge our termination of their employment. See “Business—Legal Proceedings” for more information. We may need to incur material legal and other costs in resolving these matters under Chinese labor and employment laws and regulations, which are complex, and the ultimate outcome is difficult to predict in China. We have incurred and may incur substantial additional costs in managing our Chinese business in the future, and our U.S.-based management team may continue to be required to dedicate a significant amount of time and attention to managing the Chinese operations until China-based management can operate independently. For example, Mr. Monie functioned as our Asia CEO from August 2015 through March 2016. If any of these risks materialize, it could have a material adverse effect on our business, operating results or financial condition.

Risks Related to Our Business as a Whole

We may not be able to manage our future growth effectively, which may materially harm our business, operating results and financial condition.

We expect to continue to expand our business significantly to meet our current and expected future contractual obligations and to satisfy anticipated increased demand for our products. To manage our anticipated expansion, we believe we must scale our internal infrastructure, including establishing additional facilities, improve our operational systems and procedures and manufacturing capabilities, continue to enhance our compliance and quality assurance systems, train and manage our growing employee base, and retain and add to our current executives and management personnel. Rapid expansion of our operations could place a significant strain on our senior management team, support teams, manufacturing lines, information technology platforms and other resources. Difficulties in effectively managing the budgeting, forecasting and other process control issues presented by any rapid expansion could materially harm our business, prospects, results of operations or financial condition. Our inability to implement operational improvements, generate and sustain increased revenue and manage and control our cost of goods sold and operating expenses could impede our future growth and materially harm our business, operating results and financial condition.

We have a history of net losses and may not achieve or maintain profitability in the future.

We have a history of significant net operating losses, including a net loss of $6.6 million for the year ended December 31, 2014. In the three months ended March 31, 2016 and in the years ended December 31, 2015 and 2013, we had net income of $1.7 million, $7.7 million and $1.3 million, respectively. As a result of these operating losses and the effect of redeemable preferred share cumulative dividends earned and the accretion to redemption amounts, we had an accumulated deficit of $191.9 million as of March 31, 2016. Although we were profitable for the three months ended March 31, 2016, we may not be able to achieve profitability for the current or any future fiscal year. In addition, we expect our operating expenses to increase as we continue to seek new customer relationships and expand our operations. Our ability to achieve and maintain profitability depends on a number of factors, including the growth rate of the wind energy industry, the competitiveness of our wind blades and our ability to successfully build new and expand existing manufacturing facilities and increase production capacity at existing plants. We may incur significant losses in the future for a number of reasons, including due to the other risks described in this prospectus, and we may encounter unforeseen expenses, difficulties, complications and delays and other unknown events. In addition, as a public company, we will incur additional significant legal, accounting and other expenses that we did not incur as a private company. As a result, our operations may not achieve profitability in the future and, even if we do achieve profitability, we may not be able to maintain or increase it.

Our financial position, revenue, operating results and profitability are difficult to predict and may vary from quarter to quarter, which could cause our share price to decline significantly.

Our quarterly revenue, operating results and profitability have varied in the past and are likely to vary significantly from quarter to quarter in the future. For example, our quarterly results have ranged from an operating profit of $16.6 million for the three months ended December 31, 2015 to an operating loss of $2.7 million for the three months ended March 31, 2015. The factors that are likely to cause these variations include:

- operating and startup costs of new manufacturing facilities;
- wind blade model transitions;
- differing quantities of wind blade production, including the amount subject to storage arrangements;
- unanticipated contract or project delays or terminations;
- changes in the costs of raw materials or disruptions in raw material supply;
- scrap of defective products;
- warranty expense;
- availability of qualified personnel;
- employee wage levels;
- costs incurred in the expansion of our existing manufacturing capacity;
- volume reduction requests from our customers pursuant to our customer agreements; and
- general economic conditions.

As a result, our revenue, operating results and profitability for a particular period are difficult to predict and may decline in comparison to corresponding prior periods regardless of the strength of our business. It is also possible that in some future periods our revenue, operating results and profitability may not meet the expectations of securities analysts or investors. If this occurs, the trading price of our common stock could fall substantially, either suddenly or over time, and our business, operating results and financial condition would be materially harmed.

The fluctuation of foreign currency exchange rates could materially harm our financial results.

Since we conduct a significant portion of our operations internationally, our business is subject to foreign currency risks, including currency exchange rate fluctuations. The exchange rates are affected by, among other things, changes in political and economic conditions. For example, an increase in our Turkey sales and operations will result in a larger portion of our net sales and expenditures being denominated in the Euro and Turkish Lira, or TRY. Significant fluctuations in the exchange rate between TRY and the U.S. dollar, TRY and the Euro or the Euro and the U.S. dollar may adversely affect our revenue, expenses, as well as the value of our assets and liabilities. Similarly, an increase in our China sales and operations will result in a larger portion of our net sales and expenditures being denominated in Chinese Renminbi, or RMB. The Chinese government controls the procedures by which RMB is converted into other currencies, and conversion of RMB generally requires government consent. As a result, RMB may not be freely convertible into other currencies at all times. If the Chinese government institutes changes in currency conversion procedures, or imposes restrictions on currency conversion, those actions may materially harm our business, liquidity, financial condition and operating results. In addition, significant fluctuations in the exchange rate between RMB and U.S. dollars may adversely affect our expenses as well as the value of our assets and liabilities. To the extent our future revenues are generated outside of the United States in currencies other than the U.S. dollar, including the Euro, TRY, RMB or Mexican Peso, among others, we will be subject to increased risks relating to foreign currency exchange rate fluctuations which could materially harm our business, financial condition and operating results.

Our manufacturing operations and future growth are dependent upon the availability of capital, which may be insufficient to support our capital expenditures.

Our current wind blade manufacturing activities and future growth will require substantial capital investment. For the years ended December 31, 2015 and 2014, our capital expenditures were $31.4 million and $26.3 million, respectively, including assets acquired under capital lease in 2015 and 2014 of $5.0 million and $7.4 million, respectively. We have entered into lease agreements with third parties to lease new manufacturing facilities in China, Mexico and Turkey, and we expect to commence operations at these new facilities in the second half of 2016. Major projects expected to be undertaken include purchasing equipment for and the expansion of our Dafeng, China; Mexico and Turkey facilities and new facilities in Mexico and Turkey. Our ability to grow our business is predicated upon us making significant additional capital investments to expand our existing manufacturing facilities and build and operate new manufacturing facilities in existing and new markets. We generally estimate that the startup of a new six line manufacturing facility requires cash for net operating expenses and working capital of between $15 million to $25 million and additional capital expenditures for machinery and equipment of between $15 million to $25 million. In addition, we estimate our annual maintenance capital expenditures to be $500,000 to $1 million per facility. We may not have the capital to undertake these capital investments. In addition, our capital expenditures may be significantly higher if our estimates of future capital investments are incorrect and may increase substantially if we are required to undertake actions to comply with new regulatory requirements or compete with new technologies. The cost of some projects may also be affected by foreign exchange rates if any raw materials or other goods must be paid for in foreign currency. We cannot assure you that we will be able to raise funds on favorable terms, if at all, or that future financings would not be dilutive to holders of our capital stock. We also cannot assure you that completed capital expenditures will yield the anticipated results. If we raise additional funds by obtaining loans from third parties, the terms of those financing arrangements may include negative covenants, or other restrictions on our business that could impair our operational flexibility, and would require us to fund additional interest expense. If we are unable to obtain sufficient capital at a reasonable cost or at all, we may not be able to expand production sufficiently to take advantage of changes in the marketplace or may be required to delay, reduce or eliminate some or all of our current operations, which could materially harm our business, operating results and financial condition.

As a U.S. corporation with international operations, we are subject to the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act, which could impact our ability to compete in certain jurisdictions.

As a U.S. corporation, we and our subsidiaries are subject to the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act, or FCPA, which generally prohibits U.S. companies and their intermediaries from making improper payments to foreign officials for the purpose of obtaining or keeping business. We have manufacturing facilities in China, Mexico and Turkey, countries with a fairly high risk of corruption. Those facilities are subject to routine government oversight. In addition, a small number of our raw materials and components suppliers are state-owned in China. Moreover, due to our need to import raw materials across international borders, we also routinely have interactions, directly or indirectly, with customs officials. In many foreign countries, under local custom, businesses engage in practices that may be prohibited by the FCPA or other similar laws and regulations. Additionally, we continue to hire employees around the world as we continue to expand. Although we have recently implemented certain procedures designed to ensure compliance with the FCPA and similar laws, there can be no guarantee that all of our employees and agents, as well as those companies to which we outsource certain of our business operations, have not taken and will not take actions that violate our policies and the FCPA, which could subject us to fines, penalties, disgorgement, and loss of business, harm our reputation and impact our ability to compete in certain jurisdictions. In addition, these laws are complex and far-reaching in nature, and, as a result, we may be required in the future to alter one or more of our practices to be in compliance with these laws or any changes in these laws or the interpretation thereof. Moreover, our competitors may not be subject to the FCPA or comparable legislation, which could provide them with a competitive advantage in some jurisdictions.

We may have difficulty making distributions and repatriating earnings from our Chinese manufacturing operations, which may also occur in some of our other locations.

A material portion of our business is conducted in China. As of March 31, 2016, our China operations had unrestricted cash of $7.9 million, most of which is used to fund our operations in China. Our ability to repatriate funds from China to the United States is subject to a number of restrictions imposed by the Chinese government. We repatriate funds through a Technology License Contract, a Services Agreement and dividends. Under the Technology License Contract, TPI Composites (Taicang) Co, Ltd., or TPI Taicang, is required to pay TPI Technology, Inc., our wholly-owned subsidiary, 4.9% of its net sales for the use of an exclusive and non-transferable license to use Technical Information, as defined in the Technology License Contract, to produce products at its facilities. Under the Services Agreement, we provide (i) accounting and financial advisory services, (ii) environmental and EHS programs, (iii) information technology and data services, (iv) global sourcing and procurement services and (v) engineering and development services to TPI Taicang. We are compensated quarterly based on agreed upon hourly rates for those services. Certain of our subsidiaries are limited in their ability to declare dividends without first meeting statutory restrictions of the People's Republic of China, including retained earnings as determined under Chinese-statutory accounting requirements. Additionally, under the terms of our credit agreement with one of our Chinese lenders, we are required to obtain its approval to pay dividends and have a current ratio of not less than one. Until 50% ($5.2 million) of registered capital is contributed to a surplus reserve, our Chinese operations can only pay dividends equal to 90% of after-tax profits (10% must be contributed to the surplus reserve). Once the surplus reserve fund requirement is met, we can pay dividends equal to 100% of after-tax profit assuming other conditions are met. At December 31, 2015, the amount of the surplus reserve fund was $2.9 million. Any inability to make distributions, repatriate earnings or otherwise access funds from our manufacturing operations in China, if and when needed for use outside of China, could materially harm our liquidity and our business.

Effective internal controls are necessary for us to provide reliable financial reports and effectively prevent fraud.

We maintain a system of internal controls to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with GAAP. The process of designing and implementing effective internal controls is a continuous effort that requires us to anticipate and react to changes in our business and the economic and regulatory environments and to expend significant resources to establish and maintain a system of internal controls that will be adequate to satisfy the reporting obligations of a public company. The effectiveness of our internal controls depends in part on the cooperation of senior managers worldwide. See "Risks Related to Our Wind Blade Business—In mid-2015, our Audit Committee conducted an internal investigation into allegations of improper business dealings in China. While the investigation did not substantiate the allegations, we ultimately terminated our former Senior Vice President—Asia, then serving as a consultant to the Company, in January 2016 for material violations of his agreements with us and with Company policies that came to light subsequent to the completion of the internal investigation. Any misconduct that the investigation or our subsequent review of the activities of our former Senior Vice President—Asia failed to uncover could have a material adverse effect on our operations generally."

Any system of controls, however well designed and operated, can provide only reasonable, and not absolute, assurance that the objectives of the system are met. Any failure to maintain that system, or consequent inability to produce accurate financial statements on a timely basis, could increase our operating costs and harm our business, and lead to our becoming subject to litigation, sanctions or investigations by The NASDAQ Global Market, the SEC or other regulatory governmental agencies and bodies. Furthermore, investors' perceptions that our internal controls are inadequate or that we are unable to produce accurate financial statements on a timely basis may harm our stock price.

We have in the past experienced material weaknesses. While we have successfully remediated those material weaknesses, we could experience control deficiencies in the future or identify areas requiring improvement in our internal control over financial reporting.

The state of financial markets and the economy may materially harm our sources of liquidity and capital.

There has been significant recent turmoil and volatility in worldwide financial markets. These conditions have resulted in a disruption in the liquidity of financial markets, and could directly impact us to the extent we need to access capital markets to raise funds to support our business and overall liquidity position. This situation could affect the cost of such funds or our ability to raise such funds. If we were unable to access any of these funding sources when needed, it could materially harm our business, operating results and financial condition.

Our ability to use our net operating loss carry forwards may be subject to limitation and may result in increased future tax liability.

Sections 382 and 383 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, or the Code, contain rules that limit the ability of a company that undergoes an "ownership change" to utilize its net operating loss and tax credit carry forwards and certain built-in losses recognized in years after the ownership change. An "ownership change" is generally defined as any change in ownership of more than 50% of a corporation's stock over a rolling three-year period by stockholders that own (directly or indirectly) 5% or more of the stock of a corporation, or arising from a new issuance of stock by a corporation. If an ownership change occurs, Section 382 generally imposes an annual limitation on the use of pre-ownership change net operating losses, or NOLs, credits and certain other tax attributes to offset taxable income earned after the ownership change. The annual limitation is equal to the product of the applicable long-term tax exempt rate and the value of the company's stock immediately before the ownership change. This annual limitation may be adjusted to reflect any unused annual limitation for prior years and certain recognized built-in gains and losses for the year. In addition, Section 383 generally limits the amount of tax liability in any post-ownership change year that can be reduced by pre-ownership change tax credit carryforwards. This could result in increased U.S. federal income tax liability for us if we generate taxable income in a future period. Limitations on the use of NOLs and other tax attributes could also increase our state tax liability. The use of our tax attributes will also be limited to the extent that we do not generate positive taxable income in future tax periods. As a result of these limitations, we may be unable to offset future taxable income (if any) with losses, or our tax liability with credits, before such losses and credits expire. Accordingly, these limitations may increase our federal income tax liability.

Although we do not expect to incur an ownership change as a result of the transactions described in this offering, it is possible that the transactions described in this offering, when combined with past and future transactions, will cause us to undergo one or more ownership changes. As of December 31, 2015, we have U.S. federal NOLs of approximately $78.1 million, state NOLs of approximately $61.1 million, foreign NOLs of approximately $3.2 million and foreign tax credits of approximately $0.3 million available to offset future taxable income. At the end of 2008, we had an "ownership change" and the pre-ownership change NOLs existing at the date of change of $25.6 million are subject to an annual limitation of $4.3 million. As of December 31, 2015, the remaining pre-ownership change net operating losses of approximately $20.5 million are no longer limited. Certain of these NOLs may be at risk of limitation in the event of a future ownership change.

We have U.S. federal, U.S. state, and foreign NOLs. In general, NOLs in one country cannot be used to offset income in any other country and NOLs in one state cannot be used to offset income in any other state. Accordingly, we may be subject to tax in certain jurisdictions even if we have unused NOLs in other jurisdictions. Also, each jurisdiction in which we operate may have its own limitations on our ability to utilize NOLs or tax credit carryovers generated in that jurisdiction. These limitations may increase our federal, state, and/or foreign income tax liability.

Our current credit facility with Highbridge Principal Strategies contains, and any future loan agreements we may enter into may contain, operating and financial covenants that may restrict our business and financing activities.

We have a $100.0 million credit facility, or the Credit Facility, with Highbridge Principal Strategies, LLC, or Highbridge, $74.4 million of which was outstanding as of March 31, 2016. The Credit Facility is secured by substantially all of our assets. In addition, from time to time, we enter into various loan, working capital and accounts receivable financing facilities to finance the construction and ongoing operations of our advanced manufacturing facilities and other capital expenditures. The Credit Facility contains various financial covenants and restrictions on our and our operating subsidiaries' excess cash flows and ability to make capital expenditures, incur additional indebtedness and pay dividends or make distributions on, or repurchase, our stock. The operating and financial restrictions and covenants of the Credit Facility, as well as our other existing and any future financing agreements that we may enter into, may restrict our ability to finance our operations, engage in business activities or expand or fully pursue our business strategies. Our ability to comply with these covenants may be affected by events beyond our control, and we may not be able to maintain appropriate minimum EBITDA (as defined in the Credit Facility), leverage ratio and fixed charge coverage ratio requirements in the future. A breach of any of these covenants could result in a default under the applicable loan facility, which could cause all of the outstanding indebtedness under such facility to become immediately due and payable by us and/or enable the lender to terminate all commitments to extend further credit. In addition, if we were unable to repay the outstanding indebtedness upon a default, the lender could proceed against the assets pledged as collateral to secure that indebtedness.

Our indebtedness may adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Our substantial indebtedness could adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition by, among other things:

- requiring us to dedicate a substantial portion of our cash flow from operations to pay principal and interest on our debt, which would reduce the availability of our cash flow to fund working capital, capital expenditures, acquisitions, execution of our growth strategy and other general corporate purposes;

- limiting our ability to borrow additional amounts to fund debt service requirements, working capital, capital expenditures, acquisitions, execution of our growth strategy and other general corporate purposes;

- making us more vulnerable to adverse changes in general economic, industry and regulatory conditions and in our business by limiting our flexibility in planning for, and making it more difficult to react quickly to, changing conditions;
- placing us at a competitive disadvantage compared with those of our competitors that have less debt and lower debt service requirements;
- making us more vulnerable to increases in interest rates since some of our indebtedness is subject to variable rates of interest; and
- making it more difficult for us to satisfy our financial obligations.

In addition, we may not be able to generate sufficient cash flow from our operations to repay our outstanding indebtedness when it becomes due and to meet our other cash needs or to comply with the financial covenants set forth therein. If we are not able to pay our debts as they become due, we could be in default under our loan agreement with Highbridge or other indebtedness. We might also be required to pursue one or more alternative strategies to repay indebtedness, such as selling assets, refinancing or restructuring our indebtedness or selling additional debt or equity securities. We may not be able to refinance our debt or sell additional debt or equity securities or our assets on favorable terms, if at all, and if we must sell assets, it may negatively affect our ability to generate revenues.

Much of our intellectual property consists of trade secrets and know-how that is very difficult to protect. If we experience loss of protection for our trade secrets or know-how, our business would be substantially harmed.

We have a variety of intellectual property rights, including patents, trademarks and copyrights, but much of our most important intellectual property rights consists of trade secrets and know-how and effective intellectual property protection may be unavailable, limited or outside the scope of the intellectual property rights we pursue in the United States and in foreign countries such as China where we operate. Although we strive to protect our intellectual property rights, there is always a risk that our trade secrets or know-how will be compromised or that a competitor could lawfully reverse-engineer our technology or independently develop similar or more efficient technology. We have confidentiality agreements with each of our customers, suppliers, key employees and independent contractors in place to protect our intellectual property rights, but it is possible that a customer, supplier, employee or contractor might breach the agreement, intentionally or unintentionally. For example, we believe a key former employee may have shared some of our intellectual property with a competitor in China and this former employee or the competitor may use this intellectual property to compete with us in the future. It is also possible that our confidentiality agreements with customers, suppliers, employees and contractors will not be effective in preserving the confidential nature of our intellectual property rights. The patents we own could be challenged, invalidated, narrowed or circumvented by others and may not be of sufficient scope or strength to provide us with any meaningful protection or commercial advantage. Once our patents expire, or if they are invalidated, narrowed or circumvented, our competitors may be able to utilize the inventions protected by our patents. Additionally, the existence of our intellectual property rights does not guarantee that we will be successful in any attempt to enforce these rights against third parties in the event of infringement, misappropriation or other misuse, which may materially and adversely affect our business. Because our ability to effectively compete in our industry depends upon our ability to protect our proprietary technology, we might lose business to competitors and our business, revenue, operating results and prospects could be materially harmed if we suffer loss of trade secret and know-how protection or breach of our confidentiality agreements.

If the transfer pricing arrangements we have among our subsidiaries are determined to be inappropriate in one or more jurisdictions, our tax liability may increase.

In many countries, including the United States, we are subject to transfer pricing and other tax regulations designed to ensure that appropriate levels of income are reported as earned in each jurisdiction in which we operate. These regulations require that any international transaction involving associated enterprises be on substantially the same basis as a transaction between unrelated companies dealing at arms' length and that contemporaneous documentation be maintained to support the transfer prices. We have transfer pricing arrangements among our subsidiaries in relation to various aspects of our business. We consider the transactions among our subsidiaries to be substantially on arm's-length terms. If, however, a tax authority in any jurisdiction reviews any of our tax returns and determines that the transfer prices and terms we have applied are not appropriate, or that other income of our affiliates should be taxed in that jurisdiction, we may incur increased tax liability, including accrued interest and penalties, which would cause our tax provision to increase, possibly materially. In addition, if the country from which the income is reallocated does not agree with the reallocation, both countries could tax the same income, resulting in double taxation. If tax authorities were to allocate income to a higher tax jurisdiction, subject our income to double taxation, or assess interest and penalties, it would increase our consolidated tax liability, which could materially harm our business, operating results and financial condition.

Our insurance coverage may not cover all risks we face and insurance premiums may increase, which may hinder our ability to maintain sufficient coverage to cover losses we may incur.

We are exposed to risks inherent in the manufacturing of wind blades and other composite structures as well as the construction of our facilities, such as natural disasters, breakdowns and manufacturing defects that could harm persons and damage property. We maintain insurance coverage with licensed insurance carriers that limits our aggregate exposure to certain types of catastrophic losses. In addition, we self-insure for a portion of our claims exposure resulting from workers' compensation and certain events of general liability. We accrue currently for estimated incurred losses and expenses, and periodically evaluate and adjust our claims accrued liability amount to reflect our experience. However, our insurance coverage may not be sufficient to cover the full amount of potential losses. In addition, there are some types of losses such as from warranty, hurricanes, terrorism, wars, or earthquakes where insurance is limited and/or not economically justifiable. If we were to sustain a serious uninsured loss or a loss exceeding the limits of our insurance policies, the resulting costs could have a material adverse effect on our business prospects, results of operations and financial condition. Further, our insurance policies provide for our premiums to be adjusted annually. If the premiums we pay for our policies increase significantly, we may be unable to maintain the same level of coverage we currently carry, or we will incur significantly greater costs to maintain the same level of coverage, including through higher deductibles.

We may be subject to significant liabilities and costs relating to environmental and health and safety requirements.

We are subject to various environmental, health and safety laws, regulations and permit requirements in the jurisdictions in which we operate governing, among other things, health, safety, pollution and protection of the environment and natural resources, the handling and use of hazardous substances, the generation, storage, treatment and disposal of wastes, and the cleanup of any contaminated sites. We have incurred, and expect to continue to incur, capital and operating expenditures to comply with such laws, regulations and permit requirements. While we believe that we currently are in material compliance with all such laws, regulations and permit requirements, any noncompliance may subject us to a range of enforcement measures, including the imposition of monetary fines and penalties, other civil or criminal sanctions, remedial obligations, and the issuance of compliance requirements restricting our operations. In addition, the future adoption of more stringent laws, regulations and permit requirements may require us to make additional capital and operating expenditures. Under certain environmental laws and regulations, liabilities also can be imposed for cleanup of currently and formerly owned, leased or operated properties, or properties to which we sent hazardous substances or wastes, regardless of whether we directly caused the contamination or violated any law. For example, we could have future liability relating to any contamination that remains from historic industrial operations by others at our properties. Additionally, some of our facilities have a long history of industrial operations and, in the past, contaminants have been detected and remediated at our Turkey facility.

There can be no assurance that we will not in the future become subject to compliance requirements, obligations to undertake cleanup or related activities, or claims or proceedings relating to environmental, health or safety matters, hazardous substances or wastes, contaminated sites, or other environmental or natural resource damages, that could impose significant liabilities and costs on us and materially harm our business, operating results or financial condition.

Claims that we infringe, misappropriate or otherwise misuse the intellectual property rights of others could subject us to significant liability and disrupt our business.

Our competitors and third party suppliers of components and raw materials used in our products protect their intellectual property rights by means such as trade secrets and patents. In the future we may be sued for violations of other parties' intellectual property rights, and the risk of this type of lawsuit will likely increase as our size, geographic presence and market share expand and as the number of competitors in our market increases. Any such claims or litigation, whether meritorious or not, could:

- be time-consuming and expensive to defend;
- divert the attention of our technical and managerial resources;
- adversely affect our relationships with current or future customers;
- require us to enter into royalty or licensing agreements with third parties, which may not be available on terms that we deem acceptable;
- prevent us from operating all or a portion of our business or force us to redesign our manufacturing processes or products, which could be difficult, time-consuming and expensive;
- limit the supply or increase the cost of key raw materials and components used in our products;
- subject us to significant liability for damages or result in significant settlement payments; and
- require us to indemnify our customers or suppliers.

Any of the foregoing could disrupt our business and materially harm our operating results and financial condition. In addition, intellectual property disputes have in the past arisen between our customers which negatively affected such customers' demand for wind blades manufactured by us. If such intellectual property disputes involving, or between, one or more of our customers should arise in the future, our business could be materially harmed.

We may form joint ventures, or acquire businesses or assets, in the future, and we may not realize the benefits of those transactions.

We have in the past entered into joint ventures with third parties for the manufacture of wind blades. For example, we entered into joint ventures with third parties in both our Mexico and Turkey locations. We may create new or additional joint ventures with third parties, or acquire businesses or assets, in the future that we believe will complement or augment our existing business. We cannot assure you that, following any such joint venture or acquisition, we will achieve the expected synergies to justify the transaction. We may encounter numerous difficulties in manufacturing any new products resulting from a joint venture or acquisition that delay or prevent us from realizing their expected benefits or enhancing our business. If we enter into joint ventures or acquire businesses or assets with respect to promising markets, we may not be able to realize the benefit of those joint ventures or acquired businesses assets if we are unable to successfully integrate them with our existing operations and company culture.

Work disruptions resulting from our collective bargaining agreements could result in increased operating costs and materially harm our business, operating results and financial condition.

Our employees in Turkey, which represented approximately 23% of our workforce as of May 31, 2016, are covered by collective bargaining arrangements, which expired on December 31, 2015. In May 2016, we entered into a new three-year collective bargaining agreement with our Turkish employees. We expect that the new agreement will result in an average increase in pay of approximately 20% for employees covered by the agreement. Additionally, our other employees working at other manufacturing facilities may vote to be represented by a labor union in the future. For example, our employees in Iowa attempted unsuccessfully to unionize in December 2013. There can be no assurance that we will not experience labor disruptions such as work stoppages or other slowdowns by workers at any of our facilities. Should significant industrial action, threats of strikes or related disturbances occur, we could experience a disruption of operations and increased labor costs in Turkey or other locations, which could materially harm our business, operating results or financial condition. Any such work stoppage or slow-down at any of our facilities could also result in additional expenses and possible loss of revenue for us.

Our information technology infrastructure could experience serious failures or disruptions, the failure of which could materially harm our business, operating results and financial condition.

Information technology is part of our business strategy and operations. It enables us to streamline operation processes, facilitating the collection and reporting of business data, in addition to internal and external communications. There are risks that information technology system failures, network disruptions and breaches of data security could disrupt our operations. Any significant disruption or breach may materially harm our business, operating results or financial condition.

We will incur significant increased costs as a result of operating as a public company, and our management will be required to devote substantial time to compliance initiatives.

As a public company, we will incur significant legal, accounting and other expenses that we did not incur as a private company. In addition, the Sarbanes-Oxley Act, as well as rules subsequently implemented by the SEC and The NASDAQ Global Market, impose various requirements on public companies, including requiring establishment and maintenance of effective disclosure controls and internal control over financial reporting and changes in corporate governance practices. Our management and other personnel will need to devote a substantial amount of time to these compliance initiatives. Moreover, these rules and regulations will increase our legal and financial compliance costs and will make some activities more time-consuming and costly. For example, we expect these rules and regulations to make it more difficult and more expensive for us to obtain director and officer liability insurance. We estimate that we will incur approximately $2.5 million to $3.0 million in expenses annually in response to these requirements.

Section 404(a) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act requires annual management assessments of the effectiveness of our internal control over financial reporting, starting with the second annual report that we file with the SEC. However, as long as we remain an “emerging growth company,” as defined in the JOBS Act, we intend to take advantage of certain exemptions from various reporting requirements that are applicable to other public companies that are not “emerging growth companies” including, but not limited to, not being required to comply with the auditor attestation requirements of Section 404(b) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act. We will take advantage of these reporting exemptions until we are no longer an “emerging growth company,” and will incur additional expense and time related to these efforts at that time. We will remain an “emerging growth company” until the earliest of (i) the last day of the fiscal year in which we have total annual gross revenues of $1.0 billion or more; (ii) the last day of our fiscal year following the fifth anniversary of the date of the completion of this offering; (iii) the date on which we have issued more than $1.0 billion in nonconvertible debt during the previous three years; or (iv) the date on which we are deemed to be a large accelerated filer under SEC rules.

Our testing, or the subsequent testing by our independent registered public accounting firm, may reveal deficiencies in our internal control over financial reporting that are deemed to be material weaknesses. Our management and other personnel will need to devote a substantial amount of time to these compliance initiatives, diverting their attention away from the day-to-day management of our business, and we may not successfully or efficiently manage our transition into a public company. We will also need to upgrade our systems, implement additional financial and management controls, reporting systems and procedures, hire an internal audit group and additional accounting, auditing and financial staff with appropriate public company experience and technical accounting knowledge. We have significant operations in China, Mexico and Turkey and may have difficulty hiring and retaining employees in these countries who have the experience necessary to implement the kind of management and financial controls that are expected of a U.S. public company. In this regard, for example, China has only recently begun to adopt management and financial reporting concepts and practices like those in the United States. If we are not able to comply with these requirements in a timely manner or if we or our independent registered public accounting firm identify deficiencies in our internal control over financial reporting that are deemed to be material weaknesses, the market price of our stock could decline, and we could be subject to sanctions or investigations by The NASDAQ Global Market, the SEC or other regulatory authorities, which would require additional financial and management resources.

We are faced with increasingly complex tax issues in many jurisdictions, and we could be obligated to pay additional taxes in various jurisdictions.

We may be subject to taxation in many jurisdictions in the United States and around the world with increasingly complex tax laws, the application of which can be uncertain. The amount of taxes we pay in these jurisdictions could increase substantially as a result of changes in the applicable tax laws, including increased tax rates or revised interpretations of existing tax laws and precedents, which could harm our liquidity and operating results. In addition, the taxing authorities in these jurisdictions could review our tax returns, or authorities in jurisdictions in which we do not file tax returns could assert that we are subject to tax in those jurisdictions, and in either case could impose additional tax, interest and penalties. Further, the authorities could claim that various withholding requirements apply to us or our subsidiaries or assert that benefits of tax treaties are not available to us or our subsidiaries, any of which could have a material adverse impact on us and the results of our operations.

The current U.S. presidential administration has made public statements indicating that it has made international tax reform a priority, and key members of the U.S. Congress have conducted hearings and proposed a wide variety of potential changes. Certain changes to U.S. tax laws, including limitations on the ability to defer U.S. taxation on earnings outside of the United States until those earnings are repatriated to the United States, could affect the tax treatment of our foreign earnings, as well as cash and cash equivalent balances we currently maintain outside of the United States.

Risks Related to this Offering and Ownership of Our Common Stock

There has been no public market for our common stock, and an active, liquid trading market may not develop.

Before this offering, there was no public market for shares of our common stock. An active and liquid trading market may not develop following this offering or, if developed, may not be sustained. The lack of an active and liquid market may impair your ability to sell your shares of common stock at the time you wish to sell them or at a price that you consider reasonable. The lack of an active and liquid market may also reduce the market value and increase the volatility of your shares of common stock. In addition, an inactive and illiquid market may impair our ability to raise capital by selling shares of common stock and may impair our ability to acquire other business or assets by using shares of our common stock as consideration.

The price of our common stock may fluctuate substantially and your investment may decline in value.

The initial public offering price for the shares of our common stock to be sold in this offering was determined by negotiation between the representatives of the underwriters and us based upon a number of factors, including the history of, and the prospects for, our company and our industry, and may not be indicative of prices that will prevail following this offering. In addition, the market price of our common stock is likely to be highly volatile and may fluctuate substantially due to many factors, including:

- actual or anticipated fluctuations in our results of operations;
- our ability to provide products due to shipments subject to delayed delivery and deferred revenue arrangements;
- loss of or changes in our relationship with one or more of our customers;
- failure to meet our earnings estimates;
- conditions and trends in the energy and manufacturing markets in which we operate and changes in estimates of the size and growth rate of these markets;
- announcements by us or our competitors of significant contracts, developments, acquisitions, strategic partnerships or divestitures;
- availability of equipment, labor and other items required for the manufacture of wind blades;
- changes in governmental policies;
- additions or departures of members of our senior management or other key personnel;
- changes in market valuation or earnings of our competitors;
- sales of our common stock, including sales of our common stock by our directors and officers or by our other principal stockholders;
- the trading volume of our common stock; and
- general market and economic conditions.

In addition, the stock market in general, and The NASDAQ Global Market, as well as the market for broader energy and renewable energy companies in particular, have experienced extreme price and volume fluctuations that have often been unrelated or disproportionate to the operating performance of particular companies affected. These broad market and industry factors may materially harm the market price of our common stock, regardless of our operating performance. In the past, securities class-action litigation has often been instituted against a company following periods of volatility in the market price of that company's securities. Securities class-action litigation, if instituted against us, could result in substantial costs or damages and a diversion of management's attention and resources, which could materially harm our business and operating results.

A significant portion of our total outstanding shares may be sold into the public market in future sales, which could cause the market price of our common stock to drop significantly, even if our business is doing well.

Sales of a substantial number of shares of our common stock in the public market could occur at any time after the expiration of the lock-up agreements described in the section entitled "Underwriting." These sales, or the market perception that the holders of a large number of shares intend to sell shares, could reduce the market price of our common stock. After the close of this offering, we will have shares of common stock outstanding. This includes the shares that we are selling in this offering, which may be resold in the public market immediately. The remaining shares will be able to be sold, subject to any applicable volume limitations under federal securities laws, upon expiration of the lock-up agreements with the underwriters of this offering.

In addition, as of March 31, 2016, there are 1,055 shares subject to outstanding warrants, or % of our outstanding shares after this offering, 9,302 shares subject to outstanding options, or % of our outstanding shares after this offering, 1,817 restricted stock units, or % of our outstanding shares after this offering and shares, or % of our outstanding shares after this offering, reserved for future issuance under our stock option plans that will become eligible for sale in the public market to the extent permitted by any applicable vesting requirements, the lock-up agreements and Rules 144 and 701 under the Securities Act. Moreover, after this offering, holders of an aggregate of approximately shares of our common stock, will have rights, subject to some conditions, to require us to file registration statements covering their shares or to include their shares in registration statements that we may file for ourselves or other stockholders. We also intend to register all shares of common stock that we may issue under our employee equity incentive plans. Once we register these shares, they can be freely sold in the public market upon issuance, subject to the lock-up agreements and the restrictions imposed on our affiliates under Rule 144.

In the future, we may also issue our securities in connection with investments or acquisitions. The amount of shares of our common stock issued in connection with an investment or acquisition could constitute a material portion of our then-outstanding shares of our common stock. Any issuance of additional securities in connection with investments or acquisitions may result in additional dilution to you and may cause the market price of our common stock to drop significantly.

The exercise of options and warrants and other issuances of shares of common stock or securities convertible into common stock under our equity compensation plans will dilute your interest.

Under our existing equity compensation plans, as of March 31, 2016, we have outstanding options to purchase 9,302 shares of our common stock and 1,817 restricted stock units to our employees and non-employee directors. From time to time, we expect to grant additional options and other stock awards in accordance with the 2015 Plan. The exercise of options and warrants at prices below the market price of our common stock could adversely affect the price of shares of our common stock. Additionally, any issuance of our common stock that is not made solely to then-existing stockholders proportionate to their interests, such as in the case of a stock dividend or stock split, will result in dilution to each stockholder by reducing their percentage ownership of the total outstanding shares. If we issue options or warrants to purchase our common stock in the future and those options or warrants are exercised or we issue stock, stockholders may experience further dilution.

Our executive officers, directors and their affiliated entities will continue to have substantial control over us and could limit the ability of other stockholders to influence the outcome of key transactions, including changes of control.

Our executive officers, directors and their affiliated entities will, in the aggregate, beneficially own % of the outstanding common stock after this offering, based on shares of common stock outstanding after this offering. Our executive officers, directors and their affiliated entities, if acting together, will be able to control or significantly influence all matters requiring approval by our stockholders, including the election of directors and the approval of mergers or other significant corporate transactions. In addition, certain of our stockholders are affiliated with certain of our customers. These stockholders might have interests that differ from yours, and they might vote in a way with which you disagree and that could be adverse to your interests. The concentration of common stock ownership could have the effect of delaying, preventing, or deterring a change of control of our company, could deprive our stockholders of an opportunity to receive a premium for their common stock as part of a sale of our company, and could negatively affect the market price of the common stock.

As a new investor, you will experience immediate and substantial dilution in net tangible book value of your shares of common stock.

If you purchase common stock in this offering, you will pay more for your shares than the amounts paid by existing stockholders for their shares. As a result, you will experience immediate and substantial dilution of approximately $ per share, representing the difference between the initial public offering price for our shares in this offering and our pro forma net tangible book value per share after giving effect to this offering at an assumed public offering price of $, the mid-point of the range on the cover page of this prospectus. If the holders of outstanding options to purchase our common stock exercise these options in the future pursuant to our current or future stock option plans, you will incur further dilution. If we raise additional equity by issuing equity securities or convertible debt, or if we acquire other companies or technologies by issuing equity, the newly issued shares will further dilute your percentage ownership and may reduce the value of your investment.

If equity research analysts do not publish research or reports about our business or if they issue unfavorable commentary or downgrade our common stock, the price of our common stock could decline.

The trading market for our common stock will rely in part on the research and reports that equity research analysts publish about us and our business. We do not control the work performed by these analysts. If no securities or industry analysts commence coverage of our company, the trading price of our common stock would suffer. In the event we obtain securities or industry analyst coverage, demand for our common stock could decline if one or more equity analysts downgrade our stock or if those analysts issue unfavorable or inaccurate commentary. If such analysts cease publishing reports about us or our business, we could lose visibility in the market, which in turn could cause our share price and trading volume to decline.

We do not currently intend to pay dividends on the common stock, which may hinder your ability to achieve a return on your investment.

We have never declared or paid any cash dividends on our common stock. The continued operation and expansion of our business will require substantial funding and thus we currently intend to retain any future earnings and do not expect to pay any dividends in the foreseeable future. Accordingly, you are not likely to receive any dividends on common stock in the foreseeable future, and your ability to achieve a return on your investment will therefore depend on appreciation in the price of the common stock.

Our management will have broad discretion over the use of the proceeds we receive in this offering and might not apply the proceeds in ways that increase the value of your investment.

Currently, we anticipate using the net proceeds to us from this offering for general corporate purposes, including funding the costs of our corporate, operating and expansion activities. Accordingly, our management will have broad discretion over the use of our net proceeds of this offering. You will be relying on their judgment regarding the application of those net proceeds. While our management intends to use our net proceeds in a manner that is in the best interests of our company and our stockholders, they might not apply the net proceeds in ways that increase the value of your investment. The market price of the common stock could fall if the market does not view our use of our net proceeds favorably.

Provisions of Delaware law or our charter documents could delay or prevent an acquisition of our company, even if the acquisition would be beneficial to our stockholders, and could make it more difficult for you to change management.

Provisions of Delaware law and our amended and restated certificate of incorporation and amended and restated by-laws, which will be effective upon the completion of this offering, may discourage, delay or prevent a merger, acquisition or other change in control that stockholders may consider favorable, including transactions in which stockholders might otherwise receive a premium for their shares. These provisions may also prevent or delay attempts by stockholders to replace or remove our current management or members of our board of directors. These provisions include:

- a classified board of directors;
- limitations on the removal of directors;

- advance notice requirements for stockholder proposals and nominations;
- the inability of stockholders to act by written consent or to call special meetings;
- the ability of our board of directors to make, alter or repeal our amended and restated by-laws; and
- the authority of our board of directors to issue preferred stock with such terms as our board of directors may determine.

The affirmative vote of the holders of at least 75% of our shares of capital stock entitled to vote, and not less than 75% of the outstanding shares of each class entitled to vote thereon as a class, is necessary to amend or repeal the above provisions that are contained in our amended and restated certificate of incorporation. In addition, absent approval of our board of directors, our amended and restated by-laws may only be amended or repealed by the affirmative vote of the holders of at least 75% of our shares of capital stock entitled to vote.

In addition, upon the closing of this offering, we will be subject to the provisions of Section 203 of the Delaware General Corporation Law, which limits business combination transactions with stockholders of 15% or more of our outstanding voting stock that our board of directors has not approved. These provisions and other similar provisions make it more difficult for stockholders or potential acquirers to acquire us without negotiation. These provisions may apply even if some stockholders may consider the transaction beneficial to them.

As a result, these provisions could limit the price that investors are willing to pay in the future for shares of our common stock. These provisions might also discourage a potential acquisition proposal or tender offer, even if the acquisition proposal or tender offer is at a premium over the then current market price for our common stock.

We are an "emerging growth company" and will be able to avail ourselves of reduced disclosure requirements applicable to emerging growth companies, which could make our common stock less attractive to investors.

We are an "emerging growth company," as defined in the JOBS Act, and we intend to take advantage of certain exemptions from various reporting requirements that are applicable to other public companies that are not "emerging growth companies" including not being required to comply with the auditor attestation requirements of Section 404(b) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act, reduced disclosure obligations regarding executive compensation in our periodic reports and proxy statements, and exemptions from the requirements of holding a nonbinding advisory vote on executive compensation and shareholder approval of any golden parachute payments not previously approved. We cannot predict whether investors will find our common stock less attractive because we may rely on these exemptions. If they do, there may be a less active trading market for our common stock and our stock price may be more volatile. We may take advantage of these reporting exemptions until we are no longer an "emerging growth company." We will remain an "emerging growth company" until the earliest of (i) the last day of the fiscal year in which we have total annual gross revenues of $1.0 billion or more; (ii) the last day of our fiscal year following the fifth anniversary of the date of the completion of this offering; (iii) the date on which we have issued more than $1.0 billion in nonconvertible debt during the previous three years; or (iv) the date on which we are deemed to be a large accelerated filer under the rules of the SEC.

Under the JOBS Act, emerging growth companies can also delay adopting new or revised accounting standards until such time as those standards apply to private companies. We have irrevocably elected not to avail ourselves of this exemption from new or revised accounting standards and, therefore, will be subject to the same new or revised accounting standards as other public companies that are not emerging growth companies.

SPECIAL NOTE REGARDING FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

This prospectus contains forward-looking statements. All statements other than statements of historical facts contained in this prospectus, including statements regarding our future results of operations and financial position, business strategy and plans and objectives of management for future operations, are forward-looking statements. In many cases, you can identify forward-looking statements by terms such as "may," "should," "expects," "plans," "anticipates," "could," "intends," "target," "projects," "contemplates," "believes," "estimates," "predicts," "potential" or "continue" or the negative of these terms or other similar words. Forward-looking statements contained in this prospectus include, but are not limited to, statements about:

- growth of the wind energy market and our addressable market;
- our future financial performance, including our net sales, cost of goods sold, gross profit or gross margin, operating expenses, ability to generate positive cash flow, and ability to achieve or maintain profitability;
- the sufficiency of our cash and cash equivalents to meet our liquidity needs;
- our ability to attract and retain customers for our products, and to optimize product pricing;
- competition from other wind blade manufacturers;
- the discovery of defects in our products;
- our ability to successfully expand in our existing markets and into new international markets;
- worldwide economic conditions and their impact on customer demand;
- our ability to effectively manage our growth strategy and future expenses;
- our ability to maintain, protect and enhance our intellectual property;
- our ability to comply with existing, modified or new laws and regulations applying to our business; and
- the attraction and retention of qualified employees and key personnel.

These forward-looking statements are only predictions. These statements relate to future events or our future financial performance and involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other important factors that may cause our actual results, levels of activity, performance or achievements to materially differ from any future results, levels of activity, performance or achievements expressed or implied by these forward-looking statements. We have described in the "Risk Factors" section and elsewhere in this prospectus the principal risks and uncertainties that we believe could cause actual results to differ from these forward-looking statements. Because forward-looking statements are inherently subject to risks and uncertainties, some of which cannot be predicted or quantified, you should not rely on these forward-looking statements as guarantees of future events.

The forward-looking statements in this prospectus represent our views as of the date of this prospectus. We anticipate that subsequent events and developments will cause our views to change. However, while we may elect to update these forward-looking statements at some point in the future, we undertake no obligation to update any forward-looking statement to reflect events or developments after the date on which the statement is made or to reflect the occurrence of unanticipated events except to the extent required by applicable law. You should, therefore, not rely on these forward-looking statements as representing our views as of any date after the date of this prospectus. Our forward-looking statements do not reflect the potential impact of any future acquisitions, mergers, dispositions, joint ventures, or investments we may make.

USE OF PROCEEDS

We estimate that the net proceeds from our sale of shares of common stock in this offering will be $ million, assuming an initial public offering price of $ per share, which is the midpoint of the estimated offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus, and after deducting estimated underwriting discounts and commissions and estimated offering expenses payable by us. If the underwriters' option to purchase additional shares from us is exercised in full, we estimate that our net proceeds would be approximately $ million, after deducting estimated underwriting discounts and commissions and estimated offering expenses payable by us.

A $1.00 increase or decrease in the assumed initial public offering price would increase or decrease the net proceeds to us from this offering by approximately $ million, assuming the number of shares offered, as set forth on the cover page of this prospectus, remains the same and after deducting estimated underwriting discounts and commissions and estimated offering expenses payable by us. Similarly, each increase or decrease of one million in the number of shares of common stock offered by us would increase or decrease the net proceeds that we receive from this offering by approximately $ million, assuming the assumed initial public offering price remains the same and after deducting the estimated underwriting discounts and commissions and estimated offering expenses payable by us.

We intend to use the net proceeds to us from this offering for working capital and other general corporate purposes, including approximately $ million to finance our existing manufacturing operations, approximately $ million to finance our expansion in existing and new geographies and approximately $ million to finance the repayment of certain indebtedness. However, these potential alternatives for the use of proceeds could change significantly depending upon the amount of cash generated by our operations, competitive and industry developments, market opportunities, the rate of growth, if any, of our business, and a variety of other factors. Although we currently have no agreements or commitments for any specific acquisitions, we may also use a portion of the net proceeds to us to expand our current business through strategic alliances or acquisitions of other businesses, products or technologies.

We intend to use the net proceeds from this offering to pay off approximately $ million of indebtedness issued pursuant to our outstanding Subordinated Convertible Promissory Notes. The Subordinated Convertible Promissory Notes bear interest at a rate of 12% per annum and will automatically mature and be due and payable on the earlier of the completion of any change of control or qualified initial public offering, or at the election of the holders of the notes at any time after the occurrence of an event of default. We have previously used the proceeds from this indebtedness for working capital purposes. We also intend to use the net proceeds from this offering to repay a $2.0 million advance from GE Wind. See "Certain Relationships and Related Party Transactions—GE Wind Customer Advance" for additional information. In addition, we have agreed to repay all but $2.1 million of the outstanding indebtedness incurred in connection with our working capital financing agreements with our lenders in China by June 30, 2016 and any remaining amount by September 30, 2016, or sooner if we are not in compliance with the financial covenants of the Credit Facility. See "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations—Description of Our Indebtedness" for additional information.

Although we currently anticipate that we will use the net proceeds from this offering as described above, there may be circumstances where a reallocation of funds is necessary. The amounts and timing of our actual expenditures will depend upon numerous factors, including our sales and marketing efforts, demand for our products, our operating costs and the other factors described under "Risk Factors" in this prospectus. Accordingly, our management will have flexibility in applying the net proceeds from this offering. An investor will not have the opportunity to evaluate the economic, financial or other information on which we base our decisions on how to use the proceeds. Pending the application of our net proceeds, we intend to invest our net proceeds in U.S. government securities and other short-term, investment-grade, interest-bearing instruments.

DIVIDEND POLICY

We have never declared or paid any cash dividends on shares of our capital stock. We currently intend to retain earnings, if any, to finance the development and growth of our business and do not anticipate paying cash dividends on the common stock in the future. Any payment of any future dividends will be at the discretion of the board of directors, subject to compliance with certain covenants in our loan agreements, after taking into account various factors, including our financial condition, operating results, capital requirements, restrictions contained in any future financing instruments, growth plans and other factors the board deems relevant.

CAPITALIZATION

The following table describes our cash and cash equivalents, as well as our capitalization, as of March 31, 2016 on:

- an actual basis;
- a pro forma basis to reflect the automatic conversion or redemption of all outstanding shares of our convertible and redeemable preferred stock (which will be triggered by this offering as provided in our certificate of incorporation) into an aggregate of 58,639 shares of common stock upon the closing of this offering, as if such conversion or redemption had occurred on March 31, 2016; and
- a pro forma basis as adjusted further to reflect (1) a -for- stock split of shares of common stock upon completion of this offering and (2) the sale and issuance by us of shares of common stock in this offering, based on an assumed initial public offering price of $ per share, which is the midpoint of the estimated offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus, and after deducting the estimated underwriting discounts and commissions and estimated offering expenses payable by us.

The pro forma as adjusted information set forth in the table below is illustrative only and will be adjusted based on the actual initial public offering price and other final terms of this offering. You should read this table together with the consolidated financial statements and related notes included elsewhere in this prospectus, as well as the sections titled "Selected Consolidated Financial and Other Data" and "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations" that are included elsewhere in this prospectus.

(1) A $1.00 increase (decrease) in the assumed initial public offering price of $ per share, the midpoint of the estimated offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus, would increase (decrease) cash and cash equivalents, paid-in capital, total shareholders' equity (deficit) and total capitalization by $ million, assuming that the number of shares offered by us, as set forth on the cover page of this prospectus, remains the same, and after deducting estimated underwriting discounts and commissions and estimated offering expenses payable by us. Each increase of 1.0 million shares in the number of shares offered by us, assuming that the assumed initial public offering price remains the same, would increase cash and cash equivalents, paid-in capital, total shareholders' equity (deficit) and total capitalization by $ million. Similarly, each decrease of 1.0 million shares in the number of shares offered by us, assuming that the assumed initial public offering price remains the same, would decrease cash and cash equivalents, paid-in-capital, total shareholders' equity (deficit) and total capitalization by $ million.

If the underwriters' option to purchase additional shares from us were exercised in full, pro forma as adjusted cash and cash equivalents, paid-in capital, total shareholders' equity (deficit) and shares issued and outstanding as of March 31, 2016 would be $ million, $ million, $ million and shares, respectively.

The pro forma and pro forma as adjusted columns in the table above exclude the following:

- shares of common stock issuable upon exercise of outstanding options as of March 31, 2016 at a weighted-average exercise price of $ per share;
- shares of common stock issuable upon the vesting of restricted stock units outstanding as of March 31, 2016;
- shares of our common stock reserved for issuance in connection with the exercise of our Common Warrants;
- 884 shares of common stock issuable upon the exercise of outstanding warrants, other than our Common Warrants, to purchase common stock; and
- shares of our common stock reserved for future issuance under our 2015 Plan, and which contains provisions that automatically increase its share reserve each year.

DILUTION

If you invest in our common stock in this offering, your ownership interest will be diluted to the extent of the difference between the initial public offering price per share of our common stock and the pro forma as adjusted net tangible book value per share of our common stock immediately after this offering. Net tangible book value dilution per share to new investors represents the difference between the amount per share paid by purchasers of shares of common stock in this offering and the pro forma as adjusted net tangible book value per share of common stock immediately after completion of this offering.

Net tangible book value per share is determined by dividing our total tangible assets less our total liabilities by the number of shares of common stock outstanding. Our historical net tangible book value as of March 31, 2016 was $6.6 million, or $563 per share. Our pro forma net tangible book value as of March 31, 2016 was $ million, or $ per share, based on the total number of shares of our common stock outstanding as of March 31, 2016, after giving effect to the automatic conversion of all outstanding shares of our convertible preferred stock as of March 31, 2016 into an aggregate of 58,639 shares of common stock, which conversion will occur immediately prior to the completion of this offering.

After giving effect to the sale by us of shares of common stock in this offering at the assumed initial public offering price of $ per share, which is the midpoint of the estimated offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus, and after deducting estimated underwriting discounts and commissions and estimated offering expenses payable by us, our pro forma as adjusted net tangible book value as of March 31, 2016 would have been $ million, or $ per share. This represents an immediate increase in pro forma net tangible book value of $ per share to our existing stockholders and an immediate dilution in pro forma net tangible book value of $ per share to investors purchasing shares of common stock in this offering at the assumed initial public offering price. The following table illustrates this dilution:

Assumed initial public offering price per share		$
Pro forma net tangible book value per share as of March 31, 2016	$
Increase in pro forma net tangible book value per share attributable to new investors in this offering Pro forma as adjusted net tangible book value per share immediately after this offering
Dilution in pro forma net tangible book value per share to new investors in this offering		$

Each $1.00 increase or decrease in the assumed initial public offering price of $ per share, which is the midpoint of the estimated offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus, would increase or decrease, as applicable, our pro forma as adjusted net tangible book value per share to new investors by $, and would increase or decrease, as applicable, dilution per share to new investors in this offering by $, assuming that the number of shares offered by us, as set forth on the cover page of this prospectus, remains the same and after deducting estimated underwriting discounts and commissions and estimated offering expenses payable by us. An increase or decrease of 1.0 million shares in the number of shares offered by us would increase or decrease, as applicable, our pro forma as adjusted net tangible book value per share to new investors by $, and would increase or decrease, as applicable, dilution per share to new investors in this offering by $, assuming that the number of shares offered by us, as set forth on the cover page of this prospectus, remains the same and after deducting estimated underwriting discounts and commissions and estimated offering expenses payable by us. In addition, to the extent any outstanding options to purchase common stock are exercised, new investors would experience further dilution. If the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares from us in full, the pro forma as adjusted net tangible book value per share of our common stock immediately after this offering would be $ per share, and the dilution in pro forma net tangible book value per share to new investors in this offering would be $ per share.

The following table presents, on a pro forma as adjusted basis as of March 31, 2016, after giving effect to the conversion of all outstanding shares of convertible preferred stock into common stock immediately prior to the completion of this offering, the differences between the existing stockholders and the new investors purchasing shares of our common stock in this offering with respect to the number of shares purchased from us, the total consideration paid or to be paid to us, which includes net proceeds received from the issuance of common stock and convertible preferred stock, cash received from the exercise of stock options, and the average price per share paid or to be paid to us at an assumed offering price of $ per share, which is the midpoint of the estimated offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus, before deducting estimated underwriting discounts and commissions and estimated offering expenses payable by us:

	Shares Purchased		Total Consideration		Average Price per Share
	Number	Percent	Amount	Percent
Existing stockholders		%	$	%	$
New investors
Totals		100%	$	100%	$

Each $1.00 increase or decrease in the assumed initial public offering price of $ per share, which is the midpoint of the estimated offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus, would increase or decrease, as applicable, the total consideration paid by new investors and total consideration paid by all stockholders by approximately $ million, assuming that the number of shares offered by us, as set forth on the cover page of this prospectus, remains the same and after deducting estimated underwriting discounts and commissions payable by us. An increase or decrease of 1.0 million shares in the number of shares offered by us would increase or decrease, as applicable, the total consideration paid by new investors and total consideration paid by all stockholders by approximately $ million, assuming that the number of shares offered by us, as set forth on the cover page of this prospectus, remains the same and after deducting estimated underwriting discounts and commissions payable by us. In addition, to the extent any outstanding options to purchase common stock are exercised, new investors will experience further dilution.

Except as otherwise indicated, the above discussion and tables assume no exercise of the underwriters' option to purchase additional shares. If the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares from us in full, the total consideration paid by new investors and total consideration paid by all stockholders would increase or decrease, as applicable, by approximately $ million, and our existing stockholders would own % and our new investors would own % of the total number of shares of our common stock outstanding upon the completion of this offering.

The number of shares of our common stock to be outstanding after this offering is based on the number of shares of our common stock outstanding as of March 31, 2016 and excludes:

- shares of common stock issuable upon exercise of outstanding options as of March 31, 2016 at a weighted-average exercise price of $ per share;
- shares of common stock issuable upon the vesting of restricted stock units outstanding as of March 31, 2016;
- shares of our common stock reserved for issuance in connection with the exercise of our Common Warrants;
- 884 shares of our common stock issuable upon the exercise of outstanding warrants, other than our Common Warrants, to purchase common stock; and
- shares of our common stock reserved for future issuance under our 2015 Plan, and which contains provisions that automatically increase its share reserve each year.

SELECTED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL AND OTHER DATA

The following selected consolidated statements of operations data for the three months ended March 31, 2016 and 2015 and the consolidated balance sheet data as of March 31, 2016 have been derived from our unaudited interim condensed consolidated financial statements included elsewhere in this prospectus. In our opinion, these unaudited interim condensed consolidated financial statements have been prepared on a basis consistent with our audited financial statements and contain all adjustments, consisting only of a normal recurring nature, that are necessary for a fair presentation of such consolidated financial data. The consolidated statements of operations data for the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013 and the consolidated balance sheet data as of December 31, 2015 and 2014 have been derived from our audited consolidated financial statements included elsewhere in this prospectus. Our historical results are not necessarily indicative of the results that may be expected in the future and the results in the three months ended March 31, 2016 are not necessarily indicative of results to be expected for the full year or any other period. The selected consolidated financial and other data in this section are not intended to replace the consolidated financial statements are qualified in their entirety by the consolidated financial statements and related notes included elsewhere in this prospectus and should be read in conjunction with "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations" and the consolidated financial statements, related notes and other financial information included elsewhere in this prospectus.

MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

You should read the following discussion and analysis of our financial condition and results of operations together with our consolidated financial statements and the related notes and other financial information appearing elsewhere in this prospectus. Some of the information contained in this discussion and analysis or set forth elsewhere in this prospectus, including information with respect to plans and strategy for our business and related financing, includes forward-looking statements that involve risks and uncertainties. Our actual results could differ materially from those described in or implied by these forward-looking statements as a result of various factors, including those discussed below and elsewhere in this prospectus, particularly those under "Risk Factors." Dollars in tabular format are presented in thousands, except as otherwise indicated.

OVERVIEW

Our Company

We are the largest U.S.-based independent manufacturer of composite wind blades. We enable many of the industry's leading wind turbine OEMs, who have historically relied on in-house production, to outsource the manufacturing of some of their wind blades through our global footprint of advanced manufacturing facilities strategically located to serve large and growing wind markets in a cost-effective manner. Given the importance of wind energy capture, turbine reliability and cost to power producers, the size, quality and performance of wind blades have become highly strategic to our OEM customers. As a result, we have become a key supplier to our OEM customers in the manufacture of wind blades and related precision molding and assembly systems. We have entered into long-term supply agreements pursuant to which we dedicate capacity at our facilities to our customers in exchange for their commitment to purchase minimum annual volumes of wind blade sets, which consist of three wind blades. As of March 31, 2016, our long-term supply agreements provide for minimum aggregate volume commitments from our customers of $1.5 billion and encourage our customers to purchase additional volume up to, in the aggregate, a total contract value of over $3.0 billion through the end of 2021. This collaborative dedicated supplier model provides us with contracted volumes that generate significant revenue visibility, drive capital efficiency and allow us to produce wind blades at a lower total delivered cost, while ensuring critical dedicated capacity for our customers. Our wind blade and precision molding and assembly systems manufacturing businesses accounted for over 99%, over 99%, 99% and 97% of our total net sales in the three months ended March 31, 2016 and in the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively. In recent years, we have experienced significant growth in our OEM customer base, as according to data from MAKE, our OEM customers collectively accounted for approximately 32% of the global onshore wind energy market and approximately 56% of that market excluding China over the three years ended December 31, 2015, based on MWs of energy capacity installed. Additionally, our customers represented 82% of the U.S. onshore wind turbine market over the three years ended December 31, 2015, based on MWs of energy capacity installed. We believe this figure demonstrates the leading position of our existing OEM customers, as well as our opportunity to develop relationships with new OEM customers as additional OEMs seek to capitalize on the benefits of outsourced wind blade manufacturing while maintaining high quality customization and dedicated capacity. We believe that these trends will help us to strengthen our current customer base, grow our business worldwide, increase our revenue and improve our business prospects.

We divide our business operations into four geographic operating segments—the United States, Asia, Mexico and Europe, the Middle East and Africa, or EMEA, as follows:

- Our U.S. segment includes (1) the manufacturing of wind blades at our Newton, Iowa plant, (2) the manufacturing of precision molding and assembly systems used for the manufacture of wind blades in our Warren, Rhode Island facility, (3) the manufacturing of composite solutions for the transportation industry, which we also conduct in our Rhode Island and Massachusetts facilities and (4) our corporate headquarters, the costs of which are included in general and administrative expenses.

- Our Asia segment includes (1) the manufacturing of wind blades in facilities in Taicang Port, China and two in Dafeng, China (including one that commenced operations in February 2015), (2) the manufacturing of precision molding and assembly systems in our Taicang City, China facility, (3) the manufacture of components in our second Taicang Port, China facility and (4) wind blade inspection and repair services.

- Our Mexico segment manufactures wind blades from a facility in Juárez, Mexico that we opened in late 2013 and where we began production in January 2014. We have entered into a new lease agreement with a third party for a new manufacturing facility in Juárez, Mexico, and we expect to commence operations at this new facility in the second half of 2016.

- Our EMEA segment manufactures wind blades from a facility in Izmir, Turkey. We entered into a joint venture with ALKE Insaat Sanayive Ticaret A.S. (ALKE) in March 2012 to begin producing wind blades in Turkey and in December 2013, we became the sole owner of the Turkey operation by acquiring the remaining 25% interest previously owned by ALKE. We have entered into a new lease agreement with a third party for a new manufacturing facility in Izmir, Turkey, and we expect to commence operations at this new facility in the second half of 2016.

Key Trends Affecting our Business

We have identified the following material trends affecting our business:

- The wind power generation industry has grown rapidly and expanded worldwide over the last five years to meet high global demand for electricity and the expanded use of renewable energy. Our sales of wind blades to our wind turbine customers have grown rapidly over the last several years in response to these trends. In that time, we have entered into long-term supply agreements with customers in the United States, China, Mexico and Turkey with terms that range from three to five years. We expect these growth trends to continue for the foreseeable future.

- We believe that recent U.S. and global policy initiatives aimed at reducing fossil fuel consumption through the expansion of renewable energy, coupled with corporate commitments to cost-effective environmentally and socially responsible electricity consumption, will drive additional growth in the wind power generation industry. In 2015, U.S. corporate, non-profit and government entities procured an aggregate of 2.4 GWs of wind capacity via power purchase agreements, which represents an increase of 12 times since 2008, according to BNEF. The Paris Agreement, the EPA's Clean Power Plan and the long-term extension of the PTC are all recent examples of policies that promote the growth of renewable energy.

- Wind turbine OEMs are increasingly outsourcing the production of wind blades and other key components to specialized manufacturers to meet this increasing global demand for wind energy in a cost-effective manner in new and growing markets. That shift, together with the overall expansion of the wind power generation industry, has increased our addressable market. As a result, we have hired more than 3,400 additional new employees since the beginning of 2014 and have expanded our customer base from one OEM customer to four OEM customers over the last two years in response to the growth and expansion of the wind energy generation industry generally as well as the specific trend of wind turbine OEMs increasing the outsourcing of the manufacturing of wind blades.

- We expect that a substantial portion of our future revenue growth will be derived from our international operations. We have expanded our manufacturing facilities internationally over the last several years, including opening facilities in China, Mexico and Turkey, to meet the needs of our customers. We have entered into lease agreements with third parties to lease new manufacturing facilities in Mexico and Turkey, and we expect to commence operations at these new facilities in the second half of 2016. The portion of our net sales that were derived from our international operations decreased to 71% for the three months ended March 31, 2016 from 74% for the year ended December 31, 2015, 55% for the year ended December 31, 2014 and 25% for the year ended December 31, 2013. We believe we will continue to derive a substantial and growing portion of our future revenue growth from our international operations.

- Our long-term supply agreements with our customers generally encourage our customers to maximize the volume of wind blades they purchase from us, since purchasing less than a specified amount triggers higher pricing, as well as provide downside protection for us through minimum annual volume commitments. Some of our long-term supply agreements also provide for annual sales price reductions reflecting assumptions regarding increases in our manufacturing productivity. We work to continue to drive down the cost of materials and production through innovation and global sourcing, the benefit of which we share with our customers contractually, further strengthening our deep customer relationships. Wind blade pricing is based on annual commitments of volume as established in the customer's contract, with orders less than committed volume resulting in additional costs per wind blade to customers. Orders in excess of annual commitments may but generally do not result in discounts to customers from the contracted price for the committed volume. Customers may utilize early payment discounts, which are reported as a reduction of revenue at the time the discount is taken.

- The long-term supply agreements we sign with our customers provide us with significant visibility of future production demands due in part to the annual minimum purchase commitments of our customers contained in those agreements. These annual minimum purchase commitments generally require our customers to purchase a negotiated percentage of the manufacturing capacity that we have agreed to dedicate to them. Generally, this percentage begins at 100% of the manufacturing capacity that we have dedicated to a particular customer for the first few years of the supply agreement, and the percentage declines over time in subsequent years according to the terms of the agreement, but generally remains above 50%. It is our experience that our customers will generally order wind blades from us in a volume that exceeds (sometimes substantially) the annual minimum purchase commitments contained in our supply agreements, particularly in the later years of a supply agreement when the annual minimum purchase commitment percentage declines. As of March 31, 2016, our long-term supply agreements provide for estimated minimum aggregate purchase commitments from our customers of $1.5 billion and encourage our customers to purchase additional volume up to, in the aggregate, an estimated total contract value of over $3.0 billion through the end of 2021. As noted elsewhere in this prospectus, some of our long-term supply agreements, including some of those with our majority customer, are subject to termination by our customers on short notice or, in one instance, no advance notice. We caution investors that the annual minimum purchase commitments in our long-term supply agreements can understate the actual net sales that we are likely to generate in a given period or periods if all of our long-term supply agreements remain in place and pricing remains materially unchanged, and they could potentially overstate the actual net sales that we are likely to generate in a given period or periods if one or more of our agreements were to be terminated by our customers for any reason. See "Business —Wind Blade Long-Term Supply Agreements" for additional information.

- We expect our new manufacturing facilities to generate operating losses in their first 12 to 24 months of operations due to startup costs and expenses as they initially operate far below capacity during the pre-production and production ramp up periods. As a result, this generally has a negative impact on our results of operations during these ramp-up periods. These losses include initial operating losses and pre-production expenses such as the selection of the plant site, infrastructure investment, build-out cost, customer qualification and associated legal, regulatory and personnel costs. In addition, construction of new facilities and expansion of existing facilities, including the fabrication of precision molding and assembly systems to outfit those facilities, is complex and involves inherent risks. For planning purposes, we generally estimate that the startup of a new six-line manufacturing facility requires cash for net operating expenses and working capital of between $15 million to $25 million. We also estimate that additional capital expenditures primarily related to machinery and equipment for new facilities or facility expansions of between $15 million and $25 million will be required.

- We recently extended our long-term supply agreements with GE Wind and entered into new or amended supply agreements with several other customers that increase the number of manufacturing lines dedicated to these customers as well as the aggregate minimum volume purchase commitments of our customers. We are in the process of establishing new manufacturing facilities in Turkey and Mexico and expanding certain of our existing manufacturing facilities to meet this demand. For the reasons described in the preceding bullet, we believe that over the first 12 to 24 months of operations of these new manufacturing facilities in Turkey and Mexico, these facilities are likely to generate operating losses during pre-production and production ramp-up periods, which are likely to have a negative overall effect on our consolidated net income (loss) and adjusted EBITDA. However, over the longer term, and once these new manufacturing facilities and new manufacturing lines are operating at capacity, we expect this expansion in lines, facilities and purchase commitments to have a positive overall effect on our consolidated net income (loss) and adjusted EBITDA in future periods.

- Changing customer demands, including shifts to bigger wind turbines with larger wind blades, have driven some of our customers to require us to transition to new wind blade models one or two times during the term of a long-term supply agreement. Although we do receive transition payments to compensate us for the costs of the impact of reduced volumes during these transitions, these payments may not always fully cover the transition costs and lost margin. As a result, these transitions have and may continue to have a short-term, negative impact on our consolidated operating results and cash flows. However, our precision molding and assembly manufacturing business increases as we transition to larger wind blade models and larger wind blades generally have a higher average selling price, so that the transition to larger wind blades may increase our net sales over time. As we transition to new wind blade models, we also often extend our existing supply agreements.

- As a public company, we will incur significant legal, accounting and other expenses that we did not incur as a private company. In addition, the Sarbanes-Oxley Act, as well as rules subsequently implemented by the SEC and The NASDAQ Global Market, impose various requirements on public companies, including requiring establishment and maintenance of effective disclosure controls and internal control over financial reporting and changes in corporate governance practices. We estimate that we will incur approximately $2.5 million to $3.0 million in expenses annually in response to these requirements.

COMPONENTS OF RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

Net Sales

Net sales reflect sales of our products, including wind blades, precision molding and assembly systems and transportation products, as well as transition revenue received. Several factors affect net sales in any period, including customer demand, wind blade model transitions, general economic conditions and weather conditions. We currently derive an immaterial amount of net sales from our transportation business. Under GAAP, we do not recognize revenue on our wind blade sales until the wind blades have been delivered to our customers. Under our long-term supply agreements with our customers, we invoice our customers for wind blades once the blades pass certain acceptance procedures and title passes to our customers. Our customers generally pay us for the wind blades between 15 to 65 days after receipt of the invoice based on negotiated payment terms. However, in many cases, our customers request that we store their wind blades until they are ready to assemble wind turbines at a particular wind farm project. We have no control over when our customers decide to ship wind blades from our storage sites, and in some cases, our customers have stored large numbers of their wind blades at our sites for six months or more. Even if the customer has paid us for the wind blades and title has passed to the customer, we do not recognize revenue for these wind blades until the wind blades are delivered. Instead, these transactions are recorded as deferred revenue in our consolidated financial statements.

Cost of Goods Sold

Cost of goods sold includes the costs associated with products invoiced during the period as well as unallocated manufacturing overhead costs associated with startup and transition costs. Cost of sales includes all costs incurred at our production facilities to make products saleable, such as raw materials, direct labor and indirect labor and facilities costs, including purchasing and receiving costs, plant management, inspection costs, product engineering and internal transfer costs. In addition, all depreciation associated with assets used to produce composite products and make them saleable is included in cost of sales. Direct labor costs consist of salaries, benefits and other personnel related costs for employees engaged in the manufacture of our products.

Startup costs represent the unallocated overhead related to both new manufacturing facilities as well as new lines in existing manufacturing facilities. Transition costs represent the unallocated overhead related to the transition of wind blade models at the request of our customers. The startup and transition costs are primarily fixed overhead costs incurred during the period production facilities are under-utilized while transitioning wind blade models and ramping up manufacturing, that are not allocated to products and are expensed as incurred. The cost of sales for the initial wind blades from a new model manufacturing line is generally higher than when the line is operating at optimal production volume levels due to inefficiencies during ramp-up related to labor hours per blade, cycle times per blade and raw material usage. Additionally, manufacturing overhead as a percentage of net sales is generally higher during the period in which a facility is ramping up to full production capacity due to underutilization of the facility. Manufacturing overhead at each of our facilities includes virtually all indirect costs (including share-based compensation costs) incurred at the plants, including engineering, finance, information technology, human resources and plant management.

General and Administrative Expenses

General and administrative expenses are primarily incurred at our corporate headquarters and our research facilities and include salaries, benefits and other personnel related costs for employees engaged in research and development, engineering, finance, information technology, human resources, marketing and executive management. Other costs include outside legal and accounting fees, risk management (insurance), global operational excellence, global supply chain, in-house legal, share-based compensation and certain other administrative and global resources costs.

For the three months ended March 31, 2016 and 2015 and for the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, our research and development expenses (included in general and administrative expenses) totaled $0.3 million, $0.2 million, $0.9 million, $0.8 million and $0.6 million, respectively.

Other Income (Expense)

Other income (expense) consists primarily of interest expense on our credit facilities and the amortization of deferred financing costs and beneficial conversion features related to debt borrowings. Other income (expense) also includes realized gains and losses on foreign currency remeasurement, interest income and miscellaneous income and expense. During the year ended December 31, 2014, we incurred a $2.9 million loss on the extinguishment of our senior term loan. This loss included prepayment penalties, an end of term fee and the write off of the remaining debt issuance costs under our senior term loan.

Income Tax Benefit (Provision)

Income tax benefit (provision) consists of federal, state, provincial, local and foreign taxes based on income in jurisdictions in which we operate, including in the United States, China, Mexico and Turkey. The composite income tax rate, tax provisions, deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities vary according to the jurisdiction in which the income (loss) arises. Tax laws are complex and subject to different interpretations by management and the respective governmental taxing authorities, and require us to exercise judgment in determining our income tax provision, our deferred tax assets and liabilities and the valuation allowance recorded against our net deferred tax assets.

Net Loss Attributable to Noncontrolling Interest

From the time we began operations in Turkey in March 2012 through December 2013, we had minority shareholders who owned 25% of TPI Turkey. We purchased that 25% ownership interest in December 2013 and now own 100% of TPI Turkey. Net loss attributable to noncontrolling interest reflects the portion of our overall net income or loss that is attributable to this noncontrolling interest through the date we acquired 100% of the Turkey operation. The remaining balance equates to the net income or loss.

Net Income Attributable to Preferred Shareholders

Net income attributable to preferred shareholders relates to the annual accrual of dividends on our convertible and senior redeemable preferred shares and the accretion to redemption amounts on our convertible preferred shares and warrant fair value adjustment. Effective upon the closing of this offering, our preferred shares will be converted into shares of our common stock and as a result, the accrual of dividends on our preferred shares will cease.

KEY METRICS USED BY MANAGEMENT TO MEASURE PERFORMANCE

In addition to measures of financial performance presented in our consolidated financial statements in accordance with GAAP, we use certain other financial measures and operating metrics to analyze the performance of our company. The "non-GAAP" financial measures consist of total billings, EBITDA, adjusted EBITDA and net debt, which help us evaluate growth trends, establish budgets, assess operational efficiencies, oversee our overall liquidity, and evaluate our overall financial performance. The key operating metrics consist of wind blade sets invoiced, estimated MWs of energy capacity for wind blades invoiced, total manufacturing line capacity, manufacturing lines dedicated to customers under long-term supply agreements, manufacturing lines in startup and manufacturing lines in transition, which help us evaluate our operational performance. We believe that these measures are useful to investors in evaluating our performance.

(2) Number of wind blade sets (which consist of three wind blades) invoiced worldwide.

(3) Estimated megawatts of energy capacity to be generated by wind blade sets invoiced in the period.

(4) Number of manufacturing lines our facilities can accommodate.

(5) Number of manufacturing lines that are dedicated to our customers under long-term supply agreements. Dedicated manufacturing lines may be greater than total manufacturing line capacity in instances where we have signed new supply agreements for manufacturing facilities that are under construction or have not yet been built.

(6) Number of manufacturing lines in a startup phase during the period.

(7) Number of manufacturing lines that were being transitioned to a new wind blade model during the period.

Net sales and total billings

We define total billings, a non-GAAP financial measure, as the total amounts we have invoiced our customers for products and services for which we are entitled to payment under the terms of our long-term supply agreements or other contractual agreements. We monitor total billings, and believe it is useful to present to investors as a supplement to our GAAP measures, because we believe it more directly correlates to sales activity and operations based on the timing of actual transactions with our customers, which facilitates comparison of our performance between periods and provides a more timely indication of trends in sales. Under GAAP, we do not recognize revenue on our wind blade sales until the wind blades have been delivered to our customers. Under our long-term supply agreements with our customers, we invoice our customers for wind blades once the blades pass certain acceptance procedures and title passes to our customers. Our customers generally pay us for the wind blades between 15 to 65 days after receipt of the invoice based on negotiated payment terms. However, in many cases, our customers request that we store their wind blades until they are ready to assemble wind turbines at a particular wind farm project. We have no control over when our customers decide to ship wind blades from our storage sites, and in some cases, our customers have stored large numbers of their wind blades on our sites for six months or more. Even if the customer has paid us for the wind blades and title has passed to the customer, we do not recognize revenue for these wind blades until the wind blades are delivered. Instead, these transactions are recorded as deferred revenue in our consolidated financial statements. However, we are contractually entitled to payment for those wind blades and, accordingly, invoice them when the blades are placed in storage.

Our use of total billings has limitations as an analytical tool, and you should not consider it in isolation or as a substitute for analysis of our results as reported under GAAP. Some of these limitations are:

- Total billings includes wind blades that have not been delivered and for which we are responsible if damage occurs to them while we hold them; and
- Other companies, including companies in our industry, may define total billings differently, which reduces its usefulness as a comparative measure.

EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA

We define EBITDA, a non-GAAP financial measure, as net income or loss plus interest expense (net of interest income), income taxes and depreciation and amortization. We define adjusted EBITDA as EBITDA plus any share-based compensation expense, plus or minus any realized gains or losses from foreign currency remeasurement plus any losses on extinguishment of debt. Adjusted EBITDA is the primary metric used by our management and our board of directors to establish budgets and operational goals for managing our business and evaluating our performance. In addition, our Credit Facility contains minimum EBITDA (as defined in the Credit Facility) covenants with which we must comply. We monitor adjusted EBITDA as a supplement to our GAAP measures, and believe it is useful to present to investors, because we believe that it facilitates evaluation of our period-to-period operating performance by eliminating items that are not operational in nature, allowing comparison of our recurring core business operating results over multiple periods unaffected by differences in capital structure, capital investment cycles and fixed asset base. In addition, we believe adjusted EBITDA and similar measures are widely used by investors, securities analysts, ratings agencies, and other parties in evaluating companies in our industry as a measure of financial performance and debt-service capabilities.

Our use of adjusted EBITDA has limitations as an analytical tool, and you should not consider it in isolation or as a substitute for analysis of our results as reported under GAAP. Some of these limitations are:

- adjusted EBITDA does not reflect changes in, or cash requirements for, our working capital needs;
- adjusted EBITDA does not reflect our cash expenditures for capital equipment or other contractual commitments;
- adjusted EBITDA does not reflect the interest expense or the cash requirements necessary to service interest or principal payments on our indebtedness;
- adjusted EBITDA does not reflect tax payments that may represent a reduction in cash available to us;
- although depreciation and amortization are non-cash charges, the assets being depreciated and amortized may have to be replaced in the future, and adjusted EBITDA does not reflect capital expenditure requirements relating to the future need to augment or replace those assets;
- adjusted EBITDA does not reflect the realized gains or losses from foreign currency remeasurement in our international operations;
- adjusted EBITDA does not reflect share-based compensation expense on equity-based incentive awards to our officers, employees, directors and consultants;
- adjusted EBITDA does not reflect losses on extinguishment of debt relating to prepayment penalties, termination fees and the write off of the remaining debt discount and debt issuance costs upon the repayment or refinancing of our debt; and
- other companies, including companies in our industry, may calculate EBITDA and adjusted EBITDA differently, which reduces its usefulness as a comparative measure.

In evaluating EBITDA and adjusted EBITDA, you should be aware that in the future, we will incur expenses similar to the adjustments in this presentation. Our presentations of EBITDA and adjusted EBITDA should not be construed as suggesting that our future results will be unaffected by these expenses or any unusual or non-recurring items. When evaluating our performance, you should consider EBITDA and adjusted EBITDA alongside other financial performance measures, including our net income (loss) and other GAAP measures.

Net debt

We define net debt as the total principal amount of debt outstanding less unrestricted cash and cash equivalents. The total principal amount of debt outstanding is comprised of the long-term debt and current maturities of long-term debt as presented in our consolidated balance sheets adjusting for any debt issuance costs and discount. We believe that the presentation of net debt provides useful information to investors because our management reviews net debt as part of our oversight of overall liquidity, financial flexibility and leverage. Net debt is important when we consider opening new plants and expanding existing plants, as well as for capital expenditure requirements.

The following table reconciles our non-GAAP key financial measures to the most directly comparable GAAP measures:

Key Operating Metrics

Key operating metrics consist of sets invoiced, estimated megawatts of energy capacity for wind blade sets invoiced, total manufacturing line capacity, dedicated manufacturing lines, manufacturing lines in startup and manufacturing lines in transition. Sets represents the number of wind blade sets, consisting of three wind blades each, that we invoiced worldwide during the period. We monitor sets and believe that presenting sets to investors is helpful because we believe that it is the most direct measurement of our manufacturing output during the period. Sets primarily impact net sales and total billings. Estimated megawatts are the energy capacity to be generated by wind blade sets sold in the period. Our estimate is based solely on name-plate capacity of the wind turbine on which our wind blades are expected to be installed. We monitor estimated megawatts and believe that presenting estimated megawatts to investors is helpful because we believe that it is a commonly followed measurement of energy capacity across our industry and provides an indication of our share of the overall wind blade market. Total manufacturing line capacity is the number of manufacturing lines our facilities can accommodate (but that may not yet have been installed). Dedicated manufacturing lines are the number of manufacturing lines that we have dedicated to our customers pursuant to our long-term supply agreements. We monitor total manufacturing line capacity and dedicated manufacturing lines and believe that presenting both of these metrics to investors is helpful because we believe that the number of dedicated manufacturing lines is the best indicator of demand for our wind blades from customers under our long-term supply agreements in any given period. Dedicated manufacturing lines primarily impacts our net sales and total billings. We also believe that total manufacturing line capacity together with dedicated manufacturing lines provide an understanding of additional capacity within an existing facility. Manufacturing lines in startup is the number of dedicated manufacturing lines that were in a startup phase during the pre-production and production ramp up period, pursuant to the opening of a new manufacturing facility, the expansion of an existing manufacturing facility or the addition of new manufacturing lines in an existing manufacturing facility. We monitor and present this metric because we believe it helps investors to better understand the impact of the startup phase of our new manufacturing facilities on our gross profit (loss) and net income (loss). Manufacturing lines in transition is the number of dedicated manufacturing lines that were being transitioned to a new wind blade model during the period. We monitor and present this metric because we believe it helps investors to better understand the impact of these transitions on our gross profit (loss) and net income (loss).

RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

Three Months Ended March 31, 2016 Compared to Three Months Ended March 31, 2015

The following table summarizes certain information relating to our operating results for the three months ended March 31, 2016 and 2015 that has been derived from our unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements.

	Three Months Ended March 31,
(in thousands)	2016	2015
Net sales	$176,110	$95,589
Cost of sales	159,866	90,884

Net income attributable to preferred shareholders	2,437	2,356
Net loss attributable to common shareholders	$ (691)	$ (8,093)

The following table summarizes certain information relating to our operating results as a percentage of total net sales.

	Three Months Ended March 31,
	2016	2015
Net sales	100.0%	100.0%
Cost of sales	90.8%	95.1%
Startup and transition costs	1.9%	4.3%
Total cost of goods sold	92.7%	99.4%

Net income attributable to preferred shareholders	1.4%	2.5%
Net loss attributable to common shareholders	-0.4%	-8.5%

Net sales for the three months ended March 31, 2016 increased by $80.5 million or 84% to $176.1 million compared to $95.6 million in the same period in 2015. This was primarily driven by a 141% increase in the number of wind blades delivered in the three months ended March 31, 2016 compared to the same period in 2015. Net sales of wind blades were $164.7 million for the three months ended March 31, 2016 as compared to $78.6 million in the same period in 2015. These increases were primarily the result of additional wind blade volume in our plants in Mexico, China, Turkey and the U.S. Net sales from the manufacturing of precision molding and assembly systems during the three months ended March 31, 2016 decreased to $9.9 million from $17.0 million in the same period in 2015. This decrease was primarily the result of our customers not requiring precision molding and assembly systems from our China facility during the three months ended March 31, 2016. Total billings for the three months ended March 31, 2016 increased by $57.4 million or 49% to $174.5 million compared to $117.1 million in the same period in 2015. The impact of the strengthening of the U.S. dollar against the Euro at our Turkey operation on consolidated net sales and total billings for the three months ended March 31, 2016 was not significant compared to reductions of 4.2% and 4.4%, respectively, for the same period in 2015.

Total cost of goods sold for the three months ended March 31, 2016 was $163.2 million and included aggregate costs of $3.3 million related to startup costs in our new plants in Mexico and Turkey as well as the transition of wind blade models in our original plant in Mexico. This compares to total cost of goods sold for the three months ended March 31, 2015 of $95.0 million, including aggregate costs of $4.2 million related to the transition of wind blades in our U.S. plant and startup costs in Mexico and Dafeng, China. Cost of goods sold as a percentage of net sales of wind blades decreased by 9.9% in the three months ended March 31, 2016 as compared to the same period in 2015, driven by improved operating efficiency in China, Mexico and the U.S., which was partially offset by higher operating costs in our Turkey plant due to increased warranty costs. Cost of goods sold as a percentage of net sales from the manufacturing of precision molding and assembly systems increased by 6.5% during the three months ended March 31, 2016 as compared to the same period in 2015. The impact of the strengthening of the U.S. dollar against the Euro at our Turkey operation reduced consolidated cost of goods sold by 1.9% for three months ended March 31, 2016, compared to a 3.1% reduction for the same period in 2015.

General and administrative expenses for the three months ended March 31, 2016 totaled $4.7 million as compared to $3.2 million for the same period in 2015. As a percentage of net sales, general and administrative expenses were 2.7% for the three months ended March 31, 2016, down from 3.4% in the same period in 2015. The increased expenditures for general and administrative expenses were driven by the costs of enhancing our corporate support functions during this period of growth.

Other expense increased to $4.1 million for the three months ended March 31, 2016 from $3.2 million for the same period in 2015. This was driven by higher interest expense from additional borrowings under our credit facilities to fund our growth initiatives, most notably our expansions and ramp-ups in Dafeng, China, Mexico and Turkey.

Income tax provision increased to $2.3 million for the three months ended March 31, 2016 from a benefit of $0.1 million for the same period in 2015. The increase was primarily due to the operating results in China and Mexico.

Net income for the three months ended March 31, 2016 was $1.7 million, as compared to a net loss of $5.7 million in the same period in 2015. The increase was primarily due to the reasons set forth above.

Net income attributable to preferred shareholders was $2.4 million during both the three months ended March 31, 2016 and 2015.

Net loss attributable to common shareholders was $0.7 million during the three months ended March 31, 2016, versus a loss of $8.1 million in the same period in 2015. This was primarily due to the increase in net income (loss) discussed above.

Segment Discussion

The following table summarizes our net sales and income (loss) from operations by our four geographic operating segments:

Net Sales (in thousands)	Three Months Ended March 31, 2016	2015
U.S.	$ 51,761	$37,376

U.S. Segment

Net sales in the three months ended March 31, 2016 were $51.8 million, up from $37.4 million in the same period in 2015. Net sales of wind blades were $40.3 million during the three months ended March 31, 2016 as compared to $29.0 million in the same period of 2015. The increase was driven by an increase in the number of wind blades delivered in the three months ended March 31, 2016 compared to the same period in 2015 due to the transition in 2015 to the production of larger wind blade models at our customer's request. Net sales from the manufacturing of precision molding and assembly systems during the three months ended March 31, 2016 were $9.9 million compared to $8.4 million during the same period in 2015. This increase was primarily the result of model-specific tooling equipment manufactured in our Rhode Island facility as required by our customers due to the transition to larger wind blade models for use in our Mexico plant as well as for use at the plants of another U.S. wind blade manufacturer.

The loss from operations for the three months ended March 31, 2016 was $0.7 million as compared to a loss of $2.2 million in the same period in 2015, primarily driven by increased wind blade and precision molding volume discussed above.

Asia Segment

Net sales in the three months ended March 31, 2016 were $64.4 million, up from $28.0 million in the same period in 2015. Net sales of wind blades were $64.4 million in the three months ended March 31, 2016 as compared to $19.4 million in the same period in 2015. The increase was the result of a 328% increase in the number of wind blades delivered during the three months ended March 31, 2016 compared to the same period in 2015, along with a change in the mix of wind blade models sold. This was primarily the result of the start of production for a new customer in our Dafeng facility during the latter half of 2015 as well as the addition of one manufacturing line for an existing customer. There were no net sales from the manufacturing of precision molding and assembly systems during the three months ended March 31, 2016 compared to $8.6 million in the same period in 2015. The 2015 sales were driven by demand from our customers for precision molding in the United States, China and Turkey that we manufactured in our Taicang City facility.

Income from operations in the Asia segment for the three months ended March 31, 2016 was $15.5 million as compared to $2.5 million in the same period in 2015. In addition to the factors noted above, this increase reflected continued increasing operational efficiencies and other improvements in our Taicang Port and Dafeng wind blade facilities relative to the same period in 2015.

Mexico Segment

The Mexico segment had net sales of $25.5 million in the three months ended March 31, 2016 as compared to $12.7 million in the same period in 2015, reflecting a 123% increase in wind blade volume, notwithstanding the transition to the production of a larger wind blade model at our customer's request during the period. Net sales of wind blades represents the entirety of net sales in the Mexico segment in the 2016 and 2015 periods.

Income from operations in the Mexico segment for the three months ended March 31, 2016 was $1.0 million as compared to a loss of $1.3 million in the same period in 2015. The improvement was due to the increase in wind blade volume in 2016 compared to the same period in 2015, partially offset by costs to transition to a larger wind blade model as described above.

EMEA Segment

Net sales during the three months ended March 31, 2016 were $34.5 million, up from $17.5 million in the same period in 2015. The increase was driven by a 121% increase in wind blade volume and changes in our wind blade mix. Net sales of wind blades represents the entirety of net sales in the EMEA segment in 2016 and 2015.

The loss from operations in the EMEA segment for the three months ended March 31, 2016 was $7.7 million as compared to a loss of $1.6 million in the same period in 2015. The decline was driven by an increase in the warranty reserve. This was partially offset by the higher wind blade volume noted above and improved operating performance. The impact of the strengthening U.S. dollar against the Euro and Turkish Lira reduced net sales and costs of goods sold in the three months ended March 31, 2016 by 1.7% and 10.8%, respectively. This compares to a 23.6% and 15.5% impact on net sales and cost of goods sold, respectively, for the comparable 2015 period.

The following table summarizes certain information relating to our operating results for the years ended December 31, 2015 and 2014 that has been derived from our consolidated financial statements.

(in thousands)	Year Ended December 31, 2015	2014
Net sales	$ 585,852	$ 320,747
Cost of sales	528,247	289,528

The following table summarizes certain information relating to our operating results as a percentage of total net sales.

	Year Ended December 31, 2015	2014
Net sales	100.0%	100.0%
Cost of sales	90.2%	90.2%
Startup and transition costs	2.7%	5.2%
Total cost of goods sold	92.9%	95.4%

Net income (loss)	1.3%	-2.1%
Net income attributable to preferred shareholders	1.6%	4.3%
Net loss attributable to common shareholders	-0.3%	-6.4%

Net sales for the year ended December 31, 2015 increased by $265.2 million or 83% to $585.9 million compared to $320.7 million in the same period in 2014. This was primarily driven by a 74% increase in the number of wind blades delivered in the year ended December 31, 2015 compared to the same period in 2014. Net sales of wind blades were $535.2 million for the year ended December 31, 2015 as compared to $293.0 million in the same period in 2014. These increases were primarily the result of additional wind blade volume in our plants in Mexico, China and Turkey, partially offset by lower volume in the U.S. Net sales from the manufacturing of precision molding and assembly systems during the year ended December 31, 2015 increased to $47.3 million from $25.8 million in the same period in 2014. This increase was a result of precision molding and assembly systems manufactured in the United States and Asia for use in our U.S., China and Mexico facilities. Total billings for the year ended December 31, 2015 increased by $237.3 million or 65% to $600.1 million compared to total billings of $362.8 million in the same period in 2014. The impact of the strengthening of the U.S. dollar against the Euro at our Turkey operation on consolidated net sales and total billings were reductions of 4.8% and 4.1%, respectively, for the year ended December 31, 2015, with no material impact in the same period in 2014.

Total cost of goods sold for the year ended December 31, 2015 was $544.1 million and included aggregate costs of $15.9 million related to startup costs in our Mexico and Dafeng, China plants as well as the transition of wind blade models across all of our plants. This compares to total cost of goods sold for the year ended December 31, 2014 of $306.1 million, including aggregate costs of $16.6 million related to the transition of wind blades in our U.S. plant and startup costs in Mexico, Turkey and Dafeng, China. Cost of goods sold as a percentage of net sales of wind blades decreased by 3% in the year ended December 31, 2015 as compared to the same period in 2014 driven by improved operating efficiency in Mexico and Turkey, which was partially offset by higher operating costs in our U.S. and China plants due to the transition to the production of larger wind blade models at our customer's request. Cost of goods sold as a percentage of net sales from the manufacturing of precision molding and assembly systems decreased by 1% during the year ended December 31, 2015 as compared to the same period in 2014. Similar to the impact to net sales above, the impact of the strengthening of the U.S. dollar against the Euro reduced consolidated cost of goods sold at our Turkey operation by 4.7% for year ended December 31, 2015, compared to 1.8% in the same period in 2014.

General and administrative expenses for the year ended December 31, 2015 totaled $14.1 million as compared to $9.2 million for the same period in 2014. As a percentage of net sales, general and administrative expenses were 2.4% for the year ended December 31, 2015, down from 2.9% in the same period in 2014. The increased expenditures for general and administrative expenses were driven by the costs of enhancing our corporate support functions during this period of growth.

Other expense increased to $16.0 million for the year ended December 31, 2015 from $11.2 million for the same period in 2014. This was driven by higher interest expense from additional borrowings under our credit facilities to fund our growth initiatives, most notably our expansions and ramp-ups in Dafeng, China and Turkey. The increase also related to the amortization of the beneficial conversion feature on our Subordinated Convertible Promissory Notes during 2015.

Income tax provision increased to $4.0 million for the year ended December 31, 2015 from $0.9 million for the same period in 2014. The increase was primarily due to the operating results in China and Mexico.

Net income for the year ended December 31, 2015 was $7.7 million, as compared to a net loss of $6.6 million in the same period in 2014. The increase was primarily due to the reasons set forth above.

Net income attributable to preferred shareholders decreased to $9.4 million during the year ended December 31, 2015 from $13.9 million during the same period in 2014. This decrease was primarily due to the Series B, B-1 and C convertible preferred shares being fully accreted to their respective redemption amounts in 2014, partially offset by the normal period-over-period increase in the ongoing accrual of dividends.

Net loss attributable to common shareholders decreased to $1.7 million during the year ended December 31, 2015 from a loss of $20.6 million in the same period in 2014. This decrease was primarily due to the decrease in the net income attributable to preferred shareholders and net income (loss) discussed above.

Segment Discussion

The following table summarizes our net sales and income from operations by our four geographic operating segments:

Net Sales (in thousands)	Year Ended December 31, 2015	2014
U.S.	$ 149,614	$ 145,691
Asia	206,779	79,325
Mexico	97,912	28,725
EMEA	131,547	67,006
Total net sales	$ 585,852	$ 320,747

Income (Loss) from Operations (in thousands)	Year Ended December 31, 2015	2014
U.S.	$ (13,405)	$ (1,199)
Asia	34,998	14,771
Mexico	7,531	(6,567)
EMEA	(1,505)	(1,528)
Income from operations	$ 27,619	$ 5,477

U.S. Segment

Net sales in the year ended December 31, 2015 were $149.6 million, up from $145.7 million in the same period in 2014. Net sales of wind blades were $122.4 million during the year ended December 31, 2015 as compared to $128.5 million in the same period of 2014. The decrease was driven by a reduction in the number of wind blades delivered in the year ended December 31, 2015 compared to the same period in 2014 due to the transition to the production of larger wind blade models at our customer's request. Net sales from the manufacturing of precision molding and assembly systems during the year ended December 31, 2015 were $23.9 million compared to $15.3 million during the same period in 2014. This increase was primarily the result of model-specific tooling equipment manufactured in our Rhode Island facility as required by our customers due to the transition to larger wind blade models for use in the U.S. and Mexico facilities.

The loss from operations for the year ended December 31, 2015 was $13.4 million as compared to the loss from operations of $1.2 million in the same period in 2014, primarily driven by reduced wind blade volume discussed above as well as higher general and administrative expenses in the U.S., including at our headquarters, required to facilitate our growth worldwide.

Asia Segment

Net sales in the year ended December 31, 2015 were $206.8 million, up from $79.3 million in the same period in 2014. Net sales of wind blades were $183.4 million in the year ended December 31, 2015 as compared to $68.8 million in the same period in 2014. The increase was the result of a 160% increase in the number of wind blades delivered during the year ended December 31, 2015 compared to the same period in 2014, along with a change in the mix of wind blade models sold. This was primarily the result of the start of production for a new customer in our Dafeng facility during 2015 as well as the addition of one manufacturing line for an existing customer for a portion of the year. Net sales from the manufacturing of precision molding and assembly systems were $23.4 million during the year ended December 31, 2015 compared to $10.5 million in the same period in 2014. These sales were driven by demand from our customers for precision molding and assembly systems in the United States, China and Turkey that we manufactured in our Taicang City facility.

Income from operations in the Asia segment for the year ended December 31, 2015 was $35.0 million as compared to $14.8 million in the same period in 2014. In addition to the factors noted above, this increase reflected continued increasing operational efficiencies and other improvements in our Taicang Port and Dafeng facilities relative to the prior period and the start of production for a new customer in our Dafeng facility.

Mexico Segment

The Mexico segment had net sales of $97.9 million in the year ended December 31, 2015 as compared to $28.7 million in the same period in 2014. This increase reflects the ramp-up of production in Mexico. Net sales of wind blades represents the entirety of net sales in the Mexico segment in 2015 and 2014.

Income from operations in the Mexico segment for the year ended December 31, 2015 was $7.5 million as compared to a loss of $6.6 million in the same period in 2014. The improvement was due to the increased production levels during the year ended December 31, 2015 approaching a normalized capacity, compared to the ramp up of production in the same period in 2014.

EMEA Segment

Net sales during the year ended December 31, 2015 were $131.5 million, up from $67.0 million in the same period in 2014. The increase was driven by a 104% increase in wind blade volume and changes in our wind blade mix, which resulted in a higher average sale price. Net sales of wind blades represents the entirety of net sales in the EMEA segment in 2015 and 2014.

The loss from operations in the EMEA segment for the years ended December 31, 2015 and 2014 were each $1.5 million. The higher wind blade volume and improved operating performance was more than offset by the impact of the strengthening of the U.S. dollar against the Euro and Turkish Lira in 2015. The impact of the strengthening U.S. dollar reduced net sales by 21.4% and cost of goods sold by 19.7%. The impact of the U.S. dollar against the Euro and Turkish Lira reduced net sales and cost of goods sold by 2.2% and 8.2%, respectively, in the comparable year ended December 31, 2014.

The following table summarizes certain information relating to our operating results for the year ended December 31, 2014 and 2013 that has been derived from our consolidated financial statements.

	Year Ended December 31,

Net sales for the year ended December 31, 2014 increased by $105.7 million or 49% to $320.8 million compared to $215.1 million in 2013. This was primarily a result of a 31% increase in the number of wind blades delivered in 2014 compared to 2013. Net sales of wind blades were $293.0 million for the year ended December 31, 2014 as compared to $195.2 million in 2013. These increases were primarily the result of additional wind blade volume in our plants in China, Mexico and Turkey. Net sales from the manufacturing of precision molding and assembly systems during the year ended December 31, 2014 increased to $25.8 million from $14.1 million in the same period in 2013. This increase was a result of precision molding and assembly systems manufactured in the United States and Asia for use in our Iowa, Dafeng, China, Mexico and Turkey facilities. Total billings for the year ended December 31, 2014 increased by $141.7 million or 64% to $362.8 million compared to total billings of $221.1 million in 2013. The impact of the strengthening of the U.S. dollar against the Euro in our Turkey facility on net sales and total billings did not have a material impact in the 2014 or 2013 period.

Total cost of goods sold in 2014 was $306.1 million and included aggregate costs of $16.6 million related to the transition of wind blade models in our Iowa, Mexico and Turkey plants and startup costs related to our manufacturing facilities in Turkey, Mexico and Dafeng, China for the manufacturing of wind blades. This compares to total cost of goods sold in 2013 of $206.8 million including the transition of wind blades in Taicang Port, China and startup costs in Mexico and Turkey of $6.6 million. Cost of goods sold as a percentage of net sales of wind blades decreased by less than 1% in the year ended December 31, 2014 as compared to the same period in 2013 driven by improved operating efficiency in Turkey and Taicang Port, China, which was offset by the transition to the production of larger wind blade models at our customer's request as well as from the startup costs related to our new plants in Dafeng, China and Mexico and our plant expansion in Turkey. Cost of goods sold as a percentage of net sales from the manufacturing of precision molding and assembly systems increased by 3% during the year ended December 31, 2014 as compared to the 2013 period. The impact of the strengthening of the U.S. dollar against the Euro on cost of goods sold was a reduction of 1.8% for the year ended December 31, 2014 with no material impact in the 2013 period.

General and administrative expenses for the year ended December 31, 2014 totaled $9.2 million as compared to $7.6 million for the same period in 2013. As a percentage of net sales, general and administrative expenses were 2.9% in 2014, down from 3.5% in the same period in 2013. The increased general and administrative expenses in absolute dollars were driven by the costs of enhancing our corporate support functions during this period of growth.

Other expense increased to $11.2 million in 2014 from $5.1 million in 2013. This increase was largely the result of the refinancing of a significant portion of our debt in the third quarter of 2014, for which we incurred prepayment penalties and an end of term fee and wrote off the remaining debt issuance costs that had been capitalized in connection with the refinanced debt. These amounts aggregated to $2.9 million. In addition, we incurred higher interest expense from additional borrowings under our credit facilities to fund our growth initiatives, most notably our expansions and ramp-ups in Dafeng, China, Mexico and Turkey.

Income tax provision for the year ended December 31, 2014 was $0.9 million compared to an income tax benefit of $3.3 million for the same period in 2013. These amounts reflect substantial net operating losses, resulting in relatively low income tax provisions in the United States.

Net loss attributable to noncontrolling interest for the year ended December 31, 2013 was $2.3 million with no comparable amount in 2014 as we purchased the minority interest in our Turkey operation in December 2013.

Net loss for 2014 was $6.6 million, as compared to net income of $1.3 million in the comparable period of 2013. The decrease was primarily due to the reasons set forth above.

Net income attributable to preferred shareholders decreased to $13.9 million during the year ended December 31, 2014 from $14.1 million during 2013. This decrease was primarily due to the Series B, B-1 and C convertible preferred shares being fully accreted to their respective redemption amounts in 2014, mostly offset by the normal period-over-period increase in the accrual of ongoing dividends.

Net loss attributable to common shareholders increased to $20.6 million during the year ended December 31, 2014 from $12.9 million in 2013. This increase was due to the increase in the net loss discussed above.

Segment Discussion

The following table summarizes our net sales and income from operations by our four geographic operating segments:

Net Sales (in thousands)	Year Ended December 31, 2014	2013
U.S.	$ 145,691	$ 160,600
Asia	79,325	37,045
Mexico	28,725	—
EMEA	67,006	17,409
Total net sales	$ 320,747	$ 215,054

Income (Loss) from Operations (in thousands)	Year Ended December 31, 2014	2013
U.S.	$ (1,199)	$ 8,381
Asia	14,771	3,807
Mexico	(6,567)	(2,870)
EMEA	(1,528)	(8,619)
Income from operations	$ 5,477	$ 699

U.S. Segment

Net sales in the year ended December 31, 2014 were $145.7 million, down from $160.6 million in the same period in 2013. Net sales of wind blades were $128.5 million during the year ended December 31, 2014 as compared to $143.4 million in the same period of 2013. The decrease was driven by a reduction in the number of blades delivered in 2014 compared to 2013 due to the transition to the production of larger wind blade models at our customer's request. Net sales from the manufacturing of precision molding and assembly systems during the year ended December 31, 2014 was $15.3 million compared to $11.4 million during the same period of 2013. This increase was primarily the result of model-specific tooling equipment required by our customers for use in EMEA and Mexico that was manufactured in our Rhode Island facility.

The loss from operations for the year ended December 31, 2014 was $1.2 million as compared to income of $8.4 million in the 2013 period. The decrease was primarily the result of the reduced production volume mentioned above as well as higher consulting costs and increased general and administrative expenses required to facilitate our growth worldwide.

Asia Segment

Net sales in the year ended December 31, 2014 were $79.3 million, up from $37.0 million in the same period in 2013. Net sales of wind blades were $68.8 million in 2014 as compared to $34.3 million in 2013. The increase was the result of a 61% increase in the number of wind blades delivered during 2014 compared to 2013, along with a change in the mix of wind blade models sold. The increase was primarily the result of the start of production for a new customer in our Dafeng facility in December 2013, which led to a larger volume of wind blades being delivered in 2014. Net sales from the manufacturing of precision molding and assembly systems were $10.5 million during the year ended December 31, 2014 as compared to $2.7 million in 2013. These sales were driven by demand from our customers for precision molding and assembly systems in the United States, China, Mexico and Turkey that we manufactured in our Taicang City facility.

Income from operations in the Asia segment for the year ended December 31, 2014 was $14.8 million as compared to $3.8 million in the 2013 period. In addition to the factors noted above, this increase reflected the continued operational efficiencies and improvements in our Taicang Port facility and an efficient start of production of our Dafeng facility.

Mexico Segment

The Mexico segment had net sales of $28.7 million in the year ended December 31, 2014 with no comparable net sales in the 2013 period as the Juárez, Mexico facility opened in late 2013. Net sales of wind blades represented the entirety of net sales in the Mexico segment in 2014.

The loss from operations for the year ended December 31, 2014 was $6.6 million as compared to a loss of $2.9 million in the 2013 period. The increase was primarily the result of higher year-over-year personnel and training costs, raw material usage during the startup of operations along with higher manufacturing overhead as a percentage of net sales due to the underutilization of the facility while the manufacturing lines operate at less than full volume production levels.

EMEA Segment

Net sales during the year ended December 31, 2014 were $67.0 million, up from $17.4 million in the same period in 2013. The increase was driven by a 109% increase in wind blade volume and changes in our wind blade mix, whereby we produced a greater proportion of wind blades at a higher average sale price.

The EMEA segment incurred a loss from operations of $1.5 million in the year ended December 31, 2014 compared to a loss of $8.6 million in the same period in 2013. This was a result of improved operating performance on our manufacturing lines offset by the additional costs related to the start of production for one customer and the startup of new production lines for our other customer in Turkey. The impact of the strengthening of the U.S. dollar against the Euro and Turkish Lira on net sales and operating results was a reduction of 3.0% and 0.7%, respectively, for the year ended December 31, 2014. The impact for the comparable period in 2013 was not material.

LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCES

Our primary needs for liquidity have been, and in the future will continue to be, capital expenditures, new facility startup costs, working capital and debt service costs. Our capital expenditures have been primarily related to machinery and equipment for new facilities or facility expansions. Historically, we have funded our working capital needs through cash flows from operations and proceeds received from our credit facilities and our preferred stock offerings, including $6.8 million of net proceeds from preferred stock offerings in the year ended December 31, 2014 (no preferred stock was offered during the years ended December 31, 2015 or 2013). We received net proceeds from financing arrangements and customer advances of $2.7 million for the three months ended March 31, 2016 as well as $1.6 million, $81.7 million and $15.4 million during the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively. During the three months ended March 31, 2015, we had net repayments of debt of $5.9 million. As of March 31, 2016 and December 31, 2015, we had $137.2 million and $136.6 million in outstanding indebtedness, respectively, excluding debt issuance costs and debt discount. Additionally, as of March 31, 2016, we had a customer advance of $2.0 million outstanding, none of which was outstanding as of December 31, 2015. As of March 31, 2016, we had an aggregate of $30.5 million of remaining capacity and $27.3 million of availability under our various credit facilities. Working capital requirements have increased as a result of our overall growth and the need to fund higher accounts receivable and inventory levels as our business volumes have increased. Based upon current and anticipated levels of operations, we believe that cash on hand, available credit facilities and cash flow from operations will be adequate to fund our working capital and capital expenditure requirements and to make required payments of principal and interest on our indebtedness over the next twelve months. We anticipate that any new facilities and future facility expansions will be funded through the proceeds of this offering, the incurrence of other indebtedness and other potential sources of liquidity.

At March 31, 2016 and December 31, 2015, we had unrestricted cash, cash equivalents and short-term investments totaling $35.8 million and $45.9 million, respectively. The March 31, 2016 balances included $9.1 million of cash located outside of the United States, including $7.9 million in China, $0.8 million in Turkey and $0.4 million in Mexico. The December 31, 2015 balances included $12.7 million of cash located outside of the United States, including $5.3 million in China, $7.2 million in Turkey and $0.2 million in Mexico. Our ability to repatriate funds from China to the United States is subject to a number of restrictions imposed by the Chinese government. We repatriate funds through a Technology License Contract, a Services Agreement and dividends. Under the Technology License Contract, TPI Composites (Taicang) Co, Ltd., or TPI Taicang, is required to pay TPI Technology, Inc., our wholly-owned subsidiary, 4.9% of its net sales for the use of an exclusive and non-transferable license to use Technical Information, as defined in the Technology License Contract, to produce products at its facilities. Under the Services Agreement, we provide (i) accounting and financial advisory services, (ii) environmental and EHS programs, (iii) information technology and data services, (iv) global sourcing and procurement services and (v) engineering and development services to TPI Taicang. We are compensated quarterly based on agreed upon hourly rates for those services. Certain of our subsidiaries are limited in their ability to declare dividends without first meeting statutory restrictions of the People's Republic of China, including retained earnings as determined under Chinese-statutory accounting requirements. Additionally, under the terms of our credit agreement with the Bank of China, we are required to obtain its approval to pay dividends and have a current ratio of not less than one. Until 50% ($5.2 million) of registered capital is contributed to a surplus reserve, our Chinese operations can only pay dividends equal to 90% of after-tax profits (10% must be contributed to the surplus reserve). Once the surplus reserve fund requirement is met, we can pay dividends equal to 100% of after-tax profit assuming other conditions are met. At December 31, 2015, the amount of surplus reserve fund was $2.9 million.

Operating Cash Flows

Net cash provided by (used in) operating activities	$ (1,139)	$ 829	$31,293	$(33,217)	$ 1,627

Net cash used in operating activities totaled $1.1 million for the three months ended March 31, 2016 and was primarily the result of net changes in working capital, mostly offset by net income for the period of $1.7 million and non-cash depreciation and amortization of $3.0 million. The key components of the $7.1 million decrease in working capital include a $14.1 million increase in accounts receivable, an $8.3 million increase in prepaid expenses and other current assets, a $5.3 million increase in inventory and a $3.0 million increase in other noncurrent assets. This was partially offset by a $14.3 million increase in accrued warranty, a $6.8 million increase in accounts payable and accrued expenses, and a $2.5 million increase in customer deposits. The working capital changes in accounts receivable, inventory, accounts payable and accrued expenses and deferred revenue are primarily the result of the material increase in and the timing of sales in the three months ended March 31, 2016.

Net cash provided by operating activities totaled $0.8 million for the three months ended March 31, 2015 and was primarily the result of net changes in working capital and the net loss for the period of $5.7 million, partly offset by non-cash depreciation and amortization charges totaling $2.4 million. The key components of the $3.2 million increase in working capital include a $20.4 million increase in deferred revenue and a $10.2 million increase in accounts payable and accrued expenses, offset by a $13.5 million increase in inventory, a $5.3 million increase in prepaid expenses and other current assets, a $4.1 million decrease in customer deposits and a $3.8 million increase in accounts receivable. The working capital changes in accounts receivable, inventory, accounts payable and accrued expenses and deferred revenue are primarily the result of the material increase in and the timing of sales in the three months ended March 31, 2015.

Net cash provided by operating activities totaled $31.3 million for the year ended December 31, 2015 and was primarily the result of non-cash depreciation and amortization charges totaling $11.4 million and other non-cash items of $3.7 million, as well as net income of $7.7 million and net changes in working capital. The key components of the $8.5 million increase in working capital includes a $34.4 million increase in accounts payable and accrued expenses, a $7.7 million increase in accrued warranty, a $6.0 million increase in deferred revenue and a $4.2 million decrease in other noncurrent assets. This was partially offset by a $29.7 million increase in accounts receivable, an $11.0 million increase in prepaid expenses and other current assets and a $3.2 million decrease in customer deposits. The working capital changes in accounts receivable, inventory, accounts payable and accrued expenses and deferred revenue are primarily the result of the material increase in and the timing of sales in the year ended December 31, 2015.

Net cash used in operating activities totaled $33.2 million for the year ended December 31, 2014. This cash usage was primarily the result of net changes in working capital and the net loss for the year ended December 31, 2014 of $6.6 million, partly offset by non-cash depreciation and amortization of $7.4 million. The key components of the working capital changes include a $60.3 million increase in inventory, a $31.7 million increase in accounts receivable and a $9.2 million increase in prepaid expenses and other current assets, partially reduced by $38.3 million increase in deferred revenue and a $26.1 million increase in accounts payable and accrued expenses. The working capital changes in accounts receivable, inventory, accounts payable and accrued expenses and deferred revenue are primarily the result of the material increase in and the timing of sales in the year ended December 31, 2014.

Net cash provided by operating activities totaled $1.6 million in the year ended December 31, 2013. This cash inflow was primarily the result of non-cash depreciation and amortization charges of $5.3 million, mostly offset by net unfavorable changes in working capital and a net loss for the year ended December 31, 2013 of $1.0 million. The key components of the working capital change included a $9.8 million increase in inventory, a $6.4 million increase in accounts receivable and a $6.1 million increase in prepaid expenses and other current assets, partially offset by a $10.8 million increase in accounts payable and accrued expenses and a $9.3 million increase in customer deposits. The working capital changes in accounts receivable, inventory and accounts payable and accrued expenses are primarily the result of the material increase in and the timing of sales in the year ended December 31, 2013.

Net cash flows used in investing activities totaled $10.9 million and $10.6 million for the three months ended March 31, 2016 and 2015, respectively, as well as $26.2 million, $18.9 million and $7.1 million in the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively, driven primarily by capital expenditures for new facilities and expansion or improvements at existing facilities. The capital expenditures for the three months ended March 31, 2016 primarily related to the construction of our second wind blade plants in Mexico and Turkey as well as the expansion of our original wind blade facilities in Mexico and Turkey. The capital expenditures for the three months ended March 31, 2015 primarily related to the expansion of our China and Iowa wind blade facilities. The capital expenditures for the year ended December 31, 2015 primarily related to the expansion of our China and Iowa wind blade facilities. For the years ended December 31, 2014 and 2013, the capital expenditures were primarily for the Turkey, Mexico and China plant build outs.

We anticipate fiscal year 2016 capital expenditures of approximately $60 million. We estimate that the cost after March 31, 2016 that we will incur to complete our current projects in process is approximately $9.1 million. We have used and will continue to use proceeds obtained prior to this offering for major projects currently being undertaken, which include new manufacturing facilities in Mexico and Turkey as well as continued investment in existing China and Turkey wind blade facilities.

The net cash flows provided by financing activities totaled $2.0 million for the three months ended March 31, 2016 and $84.0 million and $12.9 million for the years ended December 31, 2014 and 2013, respectively. Net cash flows used in financing activities for the year ended December 31, 2015 and three months ended March 31, 2015 totaled $2.4 million and $7.2 million, respectively. The net cash flows provided by financing activities of $2.0 million for the three months ended March 31, 2016 primarily related to the proceeds of a customer advance. The net cash flows used in financing activities of $7.2 million for the three months ended March 31, 2015 was primarily the result of the repayment of accounts receivable loans. Net cash flows used in financing activities for the year ended December 31, 2015 primarily reflects the net repayments of working capital loans and accounts receivable loans as well as payments related to the acquisition of noncontrolling interest of our Turkey operation in 2013 and additions to restricted cash. This was partially offset by additional net proceeds from term loans. The net cash flows from financing activities for the years ended December 31, 2014 and 2013 were primarily comprised of additional indebtedness provided by our senior lenders, accounts receivable financings, working capital loans and subordinated debt. During 2014, we also received $6.8 million from preferred stock offerings. The net cash provided by financing activities in the years ended December 31, 2014 and 2013 was primarily used for capital expenditures for the Dafeng, China, Mexico and Turkey facility startups and production ramp-ups, working capital and operating loss funding for Dafeng, China, Mexico and Turkey and the startup costs of manufacturing for a new customer in Turkey.

Description of Our Indebtedness

Senior Term Loan: We entered into a senior term loan in 2013 to fund working capital and our continued startup of manufacturing lines in Turkey and new startup of manufacturing lines in Mexico. In February 2014, we drew an additional $5.0 million under this facility. The loan bore interest at 11.25%. In connection with our credit facility described below, the senior term loan was repaid in full in August 2014.

Subordinated Convertible Promissory Notes: In February 2014, we entered into a note purchase agreement with two of our investors for the purchase of $5.0 million of subordinated convertible promissory notes. These notes bore interest at a rate of 12.0%, payable quarterly, starting April 1, 2014. We had the right to prepayment without the consent of the note holders. The note holders held conversion rights upon our future financing into new equity financing, convertible note financing or senior redeemable preferred stock. In connection with our credit facility described below, these notes were paid in full in August 2014.

Senior Financing Agreement: In August 2014, we entered into an agreement to borrow up to $75.0 million through a credit facility, or the Credit Facility, in order to refinance existing indebtedness as well as to fund current operations and future growth opportunities. The initial amount drawn on the closing date was $50.0 million and an additional $5.0 million was drawn in December 2014. In December 2014, in connection with the additional $5.0 million draw on our Credit Facility, we amended the Credit Facility with the lender. In December 2015, we further amended the Credit Facility to increase the total available principal amount under the Credit Facility from $75.0 million to $100.0 million. The borrowing has an initial term of four years and matures in 2018, provides for various financial covenants and bears interest at the London Interbank Offered Rate, or LIBOR, with a 1.0% floor, plus 8.0%. The Credit Facility contains various affirmative and negative covenants that are customary for facilities of this type, including EBITDA (as defined in the Credit Facility) minimum covenants, a leverage ratio and a fixed-charge coverage ratio. The Credit Facility limits annual capital expenditures based on budgets submitted to and agreed to with the lender and there is also an annual excess cash flow sweep requirement. In connection with the December 2015 amendment, all financial covenants were revised and the measurement period changed from monthly to quarterly. Concurrent with the December 2015 amendment, we borrowed an additional $20.0 million under the Credit Facility to fund our future growth and expansion. As of both March 31, 2016 and December 31, 2015, the outstanding balance under the Credit Facility was $74.4 million. We cannot assure you that we will be able to maintain appropriate minimum EBITDA (as defined in the Credit Facility), leverage or fixed-charge coverage ratio requirements in the future.

The Credit Facility, as amended, requires us to make principal payments in the amount of 1.25% of the then outstanding principal loan balance each quarter and deferred any further principal payments until September 2016. If we prepay any of the outstanding principal loan balance prior to December 8, 2016, we are required to pay Highbridge a premium in an amount equal to the amount of interest that otherwise would have been payable from the date of prepayment until December 8, 2016 plus 3.0% of the amount of the principal loan balance that was prepaid. We are not required to pay such a premium if we prepay the outstanding principal loan balance under the Credit Facility with proceeds from this offering and we refinance the Credit Facility with the lender or its affiliates. If we prepay any of the outstanding principal loan balance after December 8, 2016 through December 8, 2017, we are required to pay the lender 3.0% of the principal loan balance that was prepaid, and if we prepay any of the outstanding loan balance after December 8, 2017 through August 18, 2018, we are required to pay a premium of 1.5% of the amount of the principal loan balance that was prepaid.

In conjunction with the additional $5.0 million borrowing under the Credit Facility in December 2014 discussed above, we entered into a note purchase agreement with five current investors for the purchase of $10.0 million of Subordinated Convertible Promissory Notes, or the Subordinated Convertible Promissory Notes. The Subordinated Convertible Promissory Notes bear interest at a rate of 12.0% per annum and will automatically mature and be due and payable on the earlier of the completion of any change of control, a qualified initial public offering or at the election of the note holders at any time after the occurrence of an event of default. Any amount outstanding on the Subordinated Convertible Promissory Notes on December 31, 2016 will automatically convert into shares of Super Senior Redeemable preferred stock. We have the right to prepay the Subordinated Convertible Promissory Notes without the consent of the note holders and the note holders hold conversion rights that would be triggered in connection with a new equity or convertible note financing, other than a qualified IPO (as defined in the Subordinated Convertible Promissory Notes). The amount outstanding under the Subordinated Convertible Promissory Notes was $10.0 million at both March 31, 2016 and December 31, 2015. The note purchase agreement contains a beneficial conversion feature that was originally valued at $5.2 million and was accounted for as a debt discount and an increase in shareholders' equity. The debt discount is being accreted to interest expense ratably over the term of the Subordinated Convertible Promissory Notes. The amount of the unamortized debt discount at March 31, 2016 and December 31, 2015 was $2.3 million and $3.0 million, respectively.

Working Capital Agreements: The Asia segment has entered into several working capital financing agreements with Chinese financial institutions and as of March 31, 2016 and December 31, 2015, we had $5.4 million and $9.5 million outstanding, respectively, under the agreements. These loans bear interest at rates ranging from 5.6% to 6.9% annually, and interest is payable monthly. The principal on these loans is scheduled to be paid from between 3 to 12 months from each loan origination date but have been, and we anticipate will continue to be, renewed at their maturities. Under certain of these agreements, we are required to obtain lender consent in order to repatriate dividends.

In connection with the December 2015 amendment to the Credit Facility noted above, we have agreed to repay all but $2.1 million of the outstanding indebtedness incurred in connection with our working capital financing agreements with our lenders in China by June 30, 2016 and any remaining amount by September 30, 2016, or sooner if we are not in compliance with the financial covenants in the Credit Facility.

In June 2013, our EMEA segment entered into a loan in the amount of $3.0 million, which accrued interest annually at a rate of LIBOR plus 2.2%, with a financial institution in Poland. The loan was collateralized by a $3.5 million deposit made by our Asia segment. This facility was used to fund machinery, equipment and building improvements at the facility in Turkey. As of December 31, 2014, there was $3.0 million outstanding. The loan was paid off upon maturity in June 2015 and the related $3.5 million deposit was returned.

Accounts Receivable and Unsecured Financing: In March 2014, our EMEA segment entered into a general credit agreement with a Turkish financial institution to provide up to $12.0 million, which was increased to $20.0 million in August 2014, of short-term collateralized financing secured by invoiced accounts receivable of one of the EMEA segment's customers. Interest accrues annually at the Euro Interbank Offered Rate, or EURIBOR, plus 0.2% (currently 5.75%) for Euro denominated debt and is paid quarterly. The credit agreement does not have a maturity date, however the limits are reviewed in September of each year. In December 2014, our EMEA segment obtained an additional $7.0 million of unsecured financing under a general credit agreement with the same Turkish financial institution. This increased the facility total to $27.0 million. All credit agreement terms remained the same. As of March 31, 2016 and December 31, 2015, there was $24.1 million and $22.8 million outstanding under this agreement, respectively.

In December 2014, our EMEA segment entered into a credit agreement with a Turkish financial institution to provide up to $16.0 million short-term financing of which $10.0 million is collateralized financing secured by accounts receivable of one of the EMEA segment's customers and the remaining $6.0 million is unsecured. Interest accrues at an average rate of 6.25%. The credit agreement does not have a maturity date, however the limits are reviewed in September of each year. The amounts outstanding under this agreement were $11.4 million and $6.3 million as of March 31, 2016 and December 31, 2015, respectively. This credit agreement replaced the credit agreement described below.

During 2013, our EMEA segment entered into a credit agreement with a Turkish financial institution to provide up to $10.0 million of short-term collateralized financing secured by invoiced accounts receivable of one of the EMEA segment's customers. This credit agreement was replaced in 2014 by the $16.0 million agreement noted above and had a revolving 12 month term and was renewed on the anniversary date in January each year. Interest accrued at an average rate of 5.35% annually and was paid monthly.

During 2014, our Asia segment entered into several accounts receivable financing agreements with a Chinese financial institution secured by invoiced accounts receivable of certain of the Asia segment's customers. Interest accrues at 6.6% annually and is payable monthly. The principal on these loans is scheduled to be paid from between one to six months from each loan origination date but have been, and we anticipate will continue to be, renewed at their maturities. As of March 31, 2016 and December 31, 2015, there was $6.2 million and $6.6 million outstanding under these agreements, respectively.

As noted above, we have agreed to repay all but $2.1 million of the outstanding indebtedness incurred in connection with our working capital financing agreements with our lenders in China by June 30, 2016 and any remaining amount by September 30, 2016, or sooner if we are not in compliance with the financial covenants of the Credit Facility.

Equipment Lease and Other Arrangements: We have entered into certain capital lease and construction loan arrangements in the United States, Mexico and EMEA for equipment used in our operations as well as for office use. These leases bear interest at rates ranging from 4.0% to 9.0% annually, and principal and interest are payable monthly. As of March 31, 2016 and December 31, 2015, there was $5.8 million and $7.0 million outstanding under these arrangements, respectively.

Customer Advances : As of December 31, 2014, we had an outstanding non-interest bearing customer advance totaling $1.2 million, which was discounted using an imputed interest rate of 7.0%, which approximated the rate that we would have received on this financing in the open market. These customer advances were paid back in full during the year ended December 31, 2015. In January 2016, we entered into an agreement with GE Wind and received an advance of $2.0 million, all of which was outstanding as of March 31, 2016. These funds will be used to expand the existing Mexico manufacturing facility to accommodate larger wind blade models. We are obligated to repay the advance, without interest, by providing future credits against a specified number of wind blade sets sold to GE Wind. If the Mexico operation fails to supply those wind blade sets by December 31, 2016, the then outstanding balance of the advance will be immediately due and payable. The advance will also be immediately due in full upon a change of control of the Company or within 30 days after the effective date of an initial public offering of our common stock.

Operating Leases : We lease various facilities and equipment under non-cancelable operating lease agreements. As of May 31, 2016, we leased a total of approximately 3.4 million square feet in Dafeng, China; Izmir, Turkey; Newton, Iowa; Juárez, Mexico; Santa Teresa, New Mexico; Taicang City, China; Warren, Rhode Island; and Fall River, Massachusetts, as well as our corporate office in Scottsdale, Arizona. The terms of these leases range from 12 months to 120 months with annual payments approximating $10.6 million for the full year 2016.

Other Contingencies

Other than as noted in "Business—Legal Proceedings" as of March 31, 2016, December 31, 2015 and 2014, we were not involved in any material litigation. In the future, however, we may become involved in various claims and legal actions arising in the ordinary course of business which may have a material adverse effect on our consolidated financial position, results of operations or liquidity.

Our wind blades and other composite structures are subject to warranties against defects in workmanship and materials, generally for a period of two to five years. We are not responsible for the fitness for use of the wind blade or the overall wind turbine system. If a wind blade is found to be defective during the warranty period as a result of a defect in workmanship or materials, among other potential remedies, we may need to repair or replace the wind blade (which could include significant transportation and installation costs) at our sole expense.

In June 2016, we entered into a settlement agreement and release with one of our customers, Nordex, providing for the full and final settlement of any potential claims arising from a wind blade failure that occurred in April 2015 and certain alleged defects with respect to that blade and certain other wind blades that were primarily manufactured in 2014 according to Nordex's specifications. We expressly stated in the settlement agreement and release that we deny any and all liability related to such potential claims and Nordex acknowledged our denial of liability in the settlement agreement and release. Notwithstanding our denial of liability, we concluded that reaching an agreement with Nordex to resolve the matter was in our best interest. The settlement agreement and release provides that Nordex will release us from any and all possible claims arising out of or relating to the identified issues with the wind blades in question and any and all liabilities associated therewith. Nordex has also agreed to indemnify us against any third party claims relating to the identified issues with the wind blades in question, including without limitation, from Nordex's customers or insurance carriers. In consideration for these releases and indemnification, we have agreed to make a one-time cash payment to Nordex equal to Euro 8.0 million no later than November 30, 2016. If we fail to make the payment by the deadline, the settlement agreement and release will no longer be effective. Pursuant to the settlement agreement and release, we will replace four sets of wind blades, make certain field repairs to 42 wind blades and retrofit an additional 70 wind blades at our Turkey facility. In addition, the parties have agreed to use commercially reasonable best efforts to (1) extend the term of our existing long-term supply agreement from 2018 through 2020, increase the dedicated manufacturing capacity for each year of the agreement, increase the minimum annual volume commitments of Nordex under the agreement, provide for margin concessions on the incremental volume in 2016 and 2017, and make certain cost adjustments and (2) enter into long-term supply agreements relating to four additional wind blade manufacturing lines. We have agreed that we will grant Nordex a one-time margin concession on new wind blade molds relating to these four additional wind blade manufacturing lines. The expected aggregate cost to us of fulfilling our obligations under the settlement agreement and release is estimated to be approximately $15.0 million, all of which has been accrued by us as of March 31, 2016. We caution you that the foregoing discussion describes our settlement agreement and release with Nordex, and the described changes to our supply relationships with Nordex are subject to the negotiation and execution of an amendment to our existing supply agreement and the execution of new supply agreements with Nordex. There can be no assurance that we will be able to enter into an amendment to our existing supply agreement or new supply agreements with Nordex, or if we do, that the final definitive agreements will contain terms as described above.

At March 31, 2016 and December 31, 2015, we had accrued warranty reserves totaling $27.9 million and $13.6 million, respectively.

We had no material operating expenditures for environmental matters, including government imposed remedial or corrective actions, during the three months ended March 31, 2016 or the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013.

Off-Balance Sheet Transactions

We are not presently involved in any off-balance sheet arrangements, including transactions with unconsolidated special-purpose or other entities that would materially affect our financial position, results of operations, liquidity or capital resources, other than operating lease arrangements and the accounts receivable assignment agreement described below. Furthermore, we do not have any relationships with special-purpose or other entities that provide off-balance sheet financing; liquidity, market risk or credit risk support; or engage in leasing or other services that may expose us to liability or risks of loss that are not reflected in consolidated financial statements and related notes.

In July 2014, our Mexico segment entered into an accounts receivable assignment agreement with a financial institution. Under this agreement, the financial institution buys, on a non-recourse basis, the accounts receivable amounts related to one of our Mexico segment's customers at a discount calculated based on an effective annual rate of LIBOR plus 2.75%. As these receivables are purchased by the financial institution, they are removed from the Mexico segment's balance sheet. During the three months ended March 31, 2016, $18.1 million of receivables were sold to the financial institution.

Contractual Obligations as of December 31, 2015:

	Payments Due by Period
(in thousands)	Less than 1 year	1-3 years	3-5 years	More than 5 years	Total
Long-term debt obligations (1)	$ 52,065	$ 84,519	$ —	$ —	$136,584
Operating lease obligations (2)	10,622	25,781	18,808	36,492	91,703
Purchase obligations	616	1,343	—	—	1,959
Estimated interest payments	4,190	6,801	—	—	10,991
Total contractual obligations	$ 67,493	$118,444	$18,808	$ 36,492	$241,237

(1) See "—Description of Our Indebtedness" above.

(2) Our operating lease obligations represent the contractual payments due for the lease of our corporate office in Scottsdale, Arizona in addition to facilities in Iowa, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Mexico, China, Mexico and Turkey.

CRITICAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES AND ESTIMATES

Our discussion and analysis of our financial condition and results of operations are based upon our consolidated financial statements, which have been prepared in accordance with GAAP. The preparation of these consolidated financial statements requires us to make estimates and judgments that affect the reported amount of our assets, liabilities, revenue and expenses and related disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities. We evaluate our estimates on an ongoing basis, including those related to revenue recognition, income taxes, share-based compensation, warranty expense and goodwill and intangibles. We base our estimates on our historical experience and on various other assumptions that we believe to be reasonable under the circumstances, the results of which form the basis for making the judgments we make about the carrying values of our assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources. Because these estimates can vary depending on the situation, actual results may differ from the estimates.

We believe the following critical accounting policies affect our more significant judgments used in the preparation of our consolidated financial statements.

Revenue Recognition. We record all sales of goods when a firm sales agreement is in place, when delivery has occurred (as defined by the sales contract), and collectability of the fixed or determinable sales price is reasonably assured. The basic criteria necessary for revenue recognition are: (1) evidence that a sales arrangement exists, (2) title and risk of loss have passed to the customer, (3) delivery of goods has occurred, (4) the seller's price to the buyer is fixed or determinable and (5) collectability is reasonably assured. We recognize revenue at the time of delivery to customers.

For multiple deliverable revenue arrangements, we allocate revenue to each element based on a selling price hierarchy. The selling price for a deliverable is based on its vendor specific objective evidence (VSOE) if available, third party evidence (TPE) if VSOE is not available, or best estimated selling price (BESP) if neither VSOE nor TPE is available. We generally allocate revenue for each of the deliverables within multiple element arrangements through BESP using cost plus margin estimates prepared during contract negotiations, agreed upon sales price or VSOE for sales of similar items outside of multiple element arrangements. The precision molding and assembly systems provided for in each customer's contract are based upon the specific engineering requirements and design of the customer relative to the wind blade design and function desired. From the customer's engineering specifications, a job cost estimate is developed along with a production plan, and margin is applied based on the customer and complexity of the work to be performed. Precision molding and assembly systems are built to produce wind blades which are manufactured in production runs specified in the customer contract. To determine the appropriate accounting for recognition of revenue, we consider whether the deliverables specified in the multiple element arrangement should be treated as separate units of accounting, and, if so, how the price should be allocated among the elements, when to recognize revenue for each element, and the period over which revenue should be recognized. We also evaluate whether a delivered item has value on a stand-alone basis prior to delivery of the remaining items by determining whether we have made separate sales of such items or whether the undelivered items are essential to the functionality of the delivered items. Further, we assess whether we know the fair value of the undelivered items, determined by reference to stand-alone sales of such items, if available, or BESP. As each of these items has stand-alone value to the customer, revenue from sales of wind blades and precision molding and assembly systems used in the production of composite products are recognized when those specific items are accepted by the customer as meeting the contractual technical specifications and delivered to the customer. Delivery of wind blades and precision molding and assembly systems generally takes place as defined in the contract at the facility where the precision molding and assembly systems are produced at which point the precision molding and assembly systems become exclusive property of the customer. The customer is generally then responsible for transportation to their own or our wind blade production sites where the precision molding and assembly systems are placed into service. Revenue related to engineering and freight services provided under customer contracts is recognized upon completion of the services being provided. Customers usually pay directly to the carrier the cost of shipping associated with items produced, but if paid by us, that cost is included in cost of goods sold and amounts invoiced for shipping and handling are included in revenue.

Our customers may request, in situations where they do not have space available to receive products or do not want to immediately take possession of products for other reasons, that their finished composite products be stored by us in one of our facilities. We will bill for the components as allowed by the contract; however, revenue is deferred for financial reporting purposes until we deliver the finished composite product and all of the other requirements for revenue recognition have been met. Composite products that have been billed by us and continue to be stored by us at one of our facilities are included at net realizable value in inventory held for customer orders included on the consolidated balance sheets. Inventory held for customer orders is physically segregated from finished goods and is accounted for separately within our accounting records.

Wind blade pricing is based on annual commitments of volume as established in the customer's contract with orders less than committed volume resulting in additional costs per wind blade to customers; however, orders in excess of annual commitments do not result in discounts to customers from the contracted price for the committed volume. Customers may utilize early payment discounts which are reported as a reduction of revenue at the time the discount is taken.

Income Taxes. In connection with preparing our consolidated financial statements, we are required to estimate our income taxes in each of the jurisdictions in which we operate. This process involves our assessment of any net operating loss carryforwards, as well as estimating our actual current tax liability together with assessing temporary differences resulting from differing treatment of items, such as reserves and accrued liabilities, for tax and accounting purposes. We also have to assess whether any portion of our earnings generated in one taxing jurisdiction might be claimed as earned by income tax authorities in a differing tax jurisdiction. Significant judgment is required in determining our annual tax rate, the allocation of earnings to various jurisdictions and in the evaluation of our tax positions.

Additionally, we record the estimated future tax effects of temporary differences between the tax basis of assets and liabilities and amounts reported in the accompanying consolidated balance sheets, as well as operating loss and tax credit carryforwards. We then assess the likelihood that our deferred income tax assets will be realized or recovered from our future taxable income. To the extent we believe that recoverability of our deferred tax assets is not likely, we are required to establish a valuation allowance. GAAP requires us to weigh both positive and negative evidence in determining the need for a valuation allowance for deferred tax assets. In doing so we considered our recent operating history, taxpaying history and future reversals of deferred tax liabilities based upon future operating projections. As a result of cumulative net operating losses in the United States, we have determined that a valuation allowance for all of our U.S. deferred tax assets was appropriate. We periodically evaluate all available positive and negative evidence regarding the future recoverability of our deferred tax assets and, when we determine that the recoverability of deferred tax assets meets the criteria of more-likely-than-not, we reduce the valuation allowance against our deferred tax assets. The effect of a change in judgment concerning the realizability of deferred tax assets would be included in provision for income taxes. As of December 31, 2015, we have U.S. federal net operating losses of approximately $78.1 million, state net operating losses of approximately $61.1 million, foreign net operating losses of approximately $3.2 million and foreign tax credits of approximately $0.3 million available to offset future taxable income.

Income taxes have not been provided on $22.3 million of undistributed earnings at December 31, 2015 of foreign subsidiaries over which we have sufficient influence to control the distribution of such earnings, and we have determined that such earnings have been reinvested indefinitely. Should we elect in the future to repatriate a portion of the foreign earnings so invested, we could incur income tax expense on such repatriation, net of any available deductions and foreign tax credits. This would result in additional income tax expense beyond the computed expected provision in such periods. The amount of unrecognized deferred tax liability for temporary differences related to investments in foreign subsidiaries and foreign corporate joint ventures that are essentially permanent in duration is not easily determinable.

Sections 382 and 383 of the Code, contain rules that limit the ability of a company that undergoes an “ownership change” to utilize its net operating loss and tax credit carry forwards and certain built-in losses recognized in years after the ownership change. An “ownership change” is generally defined as any change in ownership of more than 50% of a corporation’s stock over a rolling three-year period by stockholders that own (directly or indirectly) 5% or more of the stock of a corporation, or arising from a new issuance of stock by a corporation. If an ownership change occurs, Section 382 generally imposes an annual limitation on the use of pre-ownership change net operating losses to offset taxable income earned after the ownership change. The annual limitation is equal to the product of the applicable long-term tax exempt rate and the value of the company’s stock immediately before the ownership change. This annual limitation may be adjusted to reflect any unused annual limitation for prior years and certain recognized built-in gains and losses for the year. In addition, Section 383 generally limits the amount of tax liability in any post-ownership change year that can be reduced by pre-ownership change tax credit carryforwards. At the end of 2008, we had an “ownership change” and the pre-ownership change net operating losses existing at the date of change of $25.6 million are subject to an annual limitation of $4.3 million. As of December 31, 2015, the remaining pre-ownership change net operating losses of approximately $20.5 million are no longer limited. Certain of these net operating losses may be at risk of limitation in the event of a future ownership change.

Share-Based Compensation. We have granted to our directors and senior management a combination of stock options, restricted stock units (RSUs), stock appreciation rights (SARs) and unit appreciation rights. We intend to continue to make share-based compensation awards from time to time to our directors and senior management. Historically, our equity awards, as well as any equity awards we may make in the future, will carry a compensation charge. We measure the fair value of stock options and SARs at grant date using the Black-Scholes valuation model. Share-based compensation expense is recognized over the related service period of the options or SARs. The Black-Scholes model requires the input of subjective assumptions including the expected volatility based on comparable companies, the period of time the stock option is expected to remain outstanding and the fair value of the underlying common stock on the date of grant, the expected dividend yield (if any) and the risk-free interest rate. The use of different assumptions in the Black-Scholes pricing model would result in different amounts of share-based compensation expense. Furthermore, if different assumptions are used in future periods, share-based compensation expense could be materially impacted in the future.

Due to the absence of an active market for our common stock, our board of directors, with the assistance and upon the recommendation of management, has periodically determined the fair market value of our common stock at various dates after considering numerous factors, including our operating and financial performance, our estimates of future revenues and earnings, and risks to our business that could affect our estimates; industry information such as market growth and volume and the performance of similarly situated companies in our industry, the lack of an active public market for our common and preferred stock, the likelihood of and potential timing for a liquidity event for the shares of our common stock underlying the stock options and RSUs, such as an initial public offering, and the effect such a liquidity event would have on the rights and preferences of our preferred stock, given that the liquidation preferences disappear upon an initial public offering, the prices at which we have sold our convertible preferred stock to outside investors in arms-length transactions, a comparison of the rights, preferences and privileges of our convertible preferred stock to those of our common stock and contemporaneous independent third-party valuations consistent with the AICPA Practice Aid on "Valuation of Privately-Held Company Equity Securities Issued as Compensation." These valuations used the income approach method, which involves applying appropriate risk-adjusted discount rates to estimated debt-free cash flows, based on forecasted revenues and costs and the market approach method to determine the enterprise value, as well as the options pricing model to value the common stock that took into account the significant liquidation preferences of our preferred stock.

We granted awards of stock options and RSUs during 2015 and the three months ended March 31, 2016 to certain employees and non-employee directors. These awards include a performance condition requiring the completion of our initial public offering (IPO) and have a required service period of one to four years commencing upon achievement of the performance condition. We will begin recording compensation expense associated with these awards when the IPO is considered probable. The performance requirement is not deemed to be probable of achievement until the consummation of the IPO, and therefore no compensation cost will be recognized until the IPO occurs. If we can consummate the IPO, compensation expense will be recorded at the time of the IPO for the period of the requisite service period from the grant date through the IPO date with the balance of the share-based compensation expense for the awards recorded over the remaining service period.

There were no share-based compensation equity awards granted during fiscal 2014 or 2013. We recognized share-based compensation expense of $36,000 in 2013, all related to awards granted in prior years. We did not recognize any share-based compensation expense during the three months ended March 31, 2016 or 2015, or the years ended December 31, 2015 and 2014.

Warranty Expense. As discussed above, our wind blades are subject to warranties against defects in workmanship and materials, generally for a period of two to five years. We are not responsible for the fitness for use of the wind blade in the overall wind turbine system. If a wind blade is found to be defective during the warranty period as a result of a defect in workmanship or materials, among other potential remedies, we may need to repair or replace the wind blade at our sole expense. We provide warranties for all of our products with terms and conditions that vary depending on the product sold. We record warranty expense based upon our estimate of future repairs using a probability-based methodology.

Our estimate of warranty expense requires us to make assumptions about matters that are highly uncertain, including future rates of product failure, repair costs, including availability of materials, shipping and handling, and de-installation and re-installation costs at customers' sites, among others. When a potential or actual warranty claim arises, we will accrue additional warranty reserves for the estimated cost of remediation or proposed settlement. From 2010 through 2012, our U.S. wind blade plant incurred cumulative warranty costs of $3.5 million to inspect and when required, correct wind blades that may not have met the customer's specifications. See the additional discussion of warranty matters under "Other Contingencies." Except for these costs, we have experienced no other material warranty expenses beyond the provision described above in the three months ended March 31, 2016 and in the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013. However, changes in warranty reserves could have a material effect on our consolidated financial statements.

Inventory. Inventories are stated at the lower of cost or net realizable value. Net realizable value is estimated sales price less estimated completion and transportation costs, if applicable and is compared to the carrying cost of the inventory to determine if a write-down is necessary. Cost is determined using the first-in, first-out method for raw materials and specific identification for work in process and finished goods inventories. Actual cost includes the cost of materials, direct labor, and applied manufacturing overhead. Write-downs to reduce the carrying cost of obsolete, slow-moving, and unusable inventory to market value are recognized in cost of goods sold. The effect of these write-downs is to establish a new cost basis in the related inventory, which is not subsequently written up. Inventory designated for customer orders under storage arrangements is physically segregated from finished goods and is accounted for separately.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

For a discussion of recent accounting pronouncements, see Note 1 to our consolidated financial statements.

Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures About Market Risk

We are exposed to market risk in the ordinary course of our business. These market risks are principally limited to changes in foreign currency exchange rates and commodity prices. We currently do not hedge our exposure to these risks.

Foreign Currency Risk . We conduct operations in China, Mexico and Turkey. Our results of operations are subject to both currency transaction risk and currency translation risk. We incur currency transaction risk whenever we enter into either a purchase or sale transaction using a currency other than the local currency of the transacting entity. With respect to currency translation risk, our financial condition and results of operations are measured and recorded in the relevant domestic currency and then translated into U.S. dollars for inclusion in our historical consolidated financial statements. In recent years, exchange rates between these currencies and U.S. dollars have fluctuated significantly and may do so in the future. A hypothetical change of 10% in the exchange rates for the countries above would have resulted in a change to income from operations of approximately $2.4 million and $6.2 million for the three months ended March 31, 2016 and the year ended December 31, 2015, respectively.

Commodity Price Risk . We are subject to commodity price risk under agreements for the supply of our raw materials. We have not hedged, nor do we intend to hedge, our commodity price exposure. We generally lock in pricing for our key raw materials for 12 months which protects us from price increases within that period. Additionally, the arrangements we have with our customers limit the impact of any price or cost increases. Finally, since many of our raw material supply agreements have meet or release clauses, if raw materials prices go down, we can also benefit from the reductions in price. We believe that this adequately protects us from increases in raw material prices but also enables us to take full advantage of decreases. We believe that a 10% change in the price of resin and resin systems, the commodities for which we do not have fixed pricing, would have had an impact to income from operations of approximately $3.0 million and $10.0 million for the three months ended March 31, 2016 and the year ended December 31, 2015, respectively.

Interest Rate Risk. During 2015 and 2014, we borrowed an aggregate $75.0 million under a term loan that is tied to LIBOR to refinance existing indebtedness, fund future growth opportunities and current operations. During 2014, our Turkey operation entered into a general credit agreement with a Turkish financial institution to provide up to $12.0 million, which was increased to $20.0 million, of short-term collateralized financing on invoiced accounts receivable of one of its customers and unsecured financing that is tied to EURIBOR. During 2013, our Turkey operation had entered into a $3.0 million loan with a financial institution in Poland to fund machinery, equipment and building improvements at the facility in Turkey that is also tied to LIBOR. This loan was repaid during June 2015. The $74.4 million outstanding term loan and the Turkey short-term collateralized financing on invoiced accounts receivable and unsecured financings are the only variable rate debt that we held as of March 31, 2016 and December 31, 2015 as all remaining working capital loans, accounts receivable financing and capital lease obligations are fixed rate instruments and are not subject to fluctuations in interest rates. Due to the relatively low LIBOR and EURIBOR rates in effect as of March 31, 2016, a 10% change in the LIBOR or EURIBOR rate would not have a material impact on our future earnings, fair values or cash flows.

Jumpstart Our Business Startups Act of 2012

On April 5, 2012, the JOBS Act was enacted. Section 107 of the JOBS Act provides that an "emerging growth company" can take advantage of the extended transition period provided in Section 7(a)(2)(B) of the Securities Act for complying with new or revised accounting standards. We intend to take advantage of certain exemptions from various reporting requirements that are applicable to other public companies that are not "emerging growth companies" including not being required to comply with the auditor attestation requirements of Section 404(b) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act, reduced disclosure obligations regarding executive compensation in our periodic reports and proxy statements, and exemptions from the requirements of holding a nonbinding advisory vote on executive compensation and shareholder approval of any golden parachute payments not previously approved. We may take advantage of these reporting exemptions until we are no longer an "emerging growth company." We will remain an "emerging growth company" until the earliest of (i) the last day of the fiscal year in which we have total annual gross revenues of $1.0 billion or more; (ii) the last day of our fiscal year following the fifth anniversary of the date of the completion of this offering; (iii) the date on which we have issued more than $1.0 billion in nonconvertible debt during the previous three years; or (iv) the date on which we are deemed to be a large accelerated filer under the rules of the SEC.

Under the JOBS Act, emerging growth companies can also delay adopting new or revised accounting standards until such time as those standards apply to private companies. We have irrevocably elected not to avail ourselves of this exemption from new or revised accounting standards and, therefore, will be subject to the same new or revised accounting standards as other public companies that are not emerging growth companies.

OUR INDUSTRY

Global Wind Energy Market

The wind power generation industry has grown rapidly and expanded worldwide in recent years to meet high global demand for clean electricity. According to BNEF, from 2000 to 2015, the cumulative global power generating capacity in GWs grew at an average annual rate of 25%. Cumulative installed capacity is led by China (approximately 139 GWs), the United States (approximately 74 GWs) and Germany (approximately 45 GWs). In addition, from 2008 to 2015, the cumulative global power generating capacity of wind turbine installations in GWs increased by more than three and a half times. Wind energy is now used in over 80 countries, 24 of which have more than 1 GW installed. The rapid growth in the wind power generation industry has been driven by population growth and the associated increase in electricity demand, widespread emphasis on the expanded use of renewable energy, the increasing effectiveness and cost-competitiveness of wind energy and accelerated urbanization in developing countries, among other factors. We believe that recent U.S. and global policy initiatives aimed at reducing fossil fuel consumption through the expansion of renewable energy, coupled with corporate commitments to cost-effective environmentally and socially responsible electricity consumption, will drive additional growth. In 2015, U.S. corporate, non-profit and government entities procured an aggregate of 2.4 GWs of wind capacity via power purchase agreements, which represents an increase of 12 times since 2008, according to BNEF. The Paris Agreement achieved at COP21 of the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change, the EPA's Clean Power Plan and the long-term extension of the PTC are all recent examples of policies that promote the growth of renewable energy. Overall, renewable technologies, including hydroelectric, are projected to increase their share of global electricity generation from 24% in 2015 to 45% by 2040 according to BNEF. Additionally, according to BNEF, onshore wind is expected to experience the largest increase in global market share over the same period, growing from 4% to 13% of the market.

In 2015, the wind industry added approximately 62 GWs of generation capacity. According to BNEF, market diversification increased as a result of demand from newer markets in Asia, Latin America and non-EU Europe, which collectively represented 45.2% of capacity in 2015, as compared to 42.7% in 2014. Although Europe and the United States led early wind development, since 2010, the majority of wind turbines have been installed in non-OECD countries, particularly in Asia and Latin America, where wind generation capacity is growing. For example, cumulative wind generation capacity from 2013 to 2015 grew by 75.0% to 2.8 GWs in Mexico and by 64.1% to 4.5 GWs in Turkey, underpinned by strong wind resources, high electricity prices, robust energy demand and key regulatory policies tailored to incentivize usage, among other factors.

According to BNEF, cumulative global installed wind capacity is projected to be approximately 754 GWs by the end of 2020, representing a 2015-2020 compounded annual growth rate of approximately 12%. Greater growth over the same period is expected in China (14%), Mexico (21%) and Turkey (13%) according to BNEF. Approximately 46 GWs of new installations are expected in the United States between 2016 and 2020 due to the long-term extension of wind energy tax credits, state-mandated renewable energy portfolio requirements, the cost competiveness of wind energy, fuel diversification strategies and "green" credentials sought by corporations and utilities.

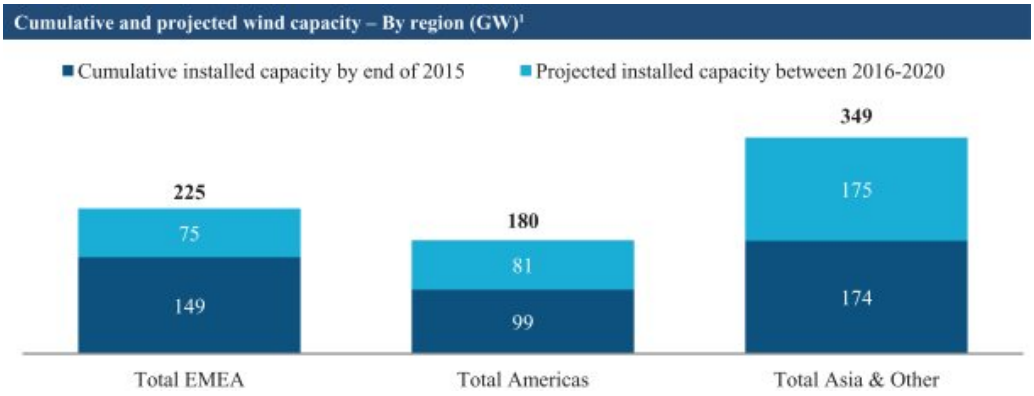
As a result of the strong demand from non-OECD markets in Asia and Latin America, the geographical distribution of wind energy deployment is rapidly changing. The adoption of wind energy across the globe relative to other power generation technologies is expected to be driven by its cost-competitiveness; broad resource availability; non-reliance on water; clean, mature and efficient technology; energy security concerns; and ancillary societal benefits, such as job creation and energy security. According to BNEF, EMEA, the Americas and Asia and other countries are projected to represent 27.7%, 25.2% and 47.1%, respectively, of global installed onshore wind power capacity by 2020. The chart below is a breakdown of the growth forecast in GW by region for the worldwide wind energy market from 2016 through 2020.



Source: Bloomberg New Energy Finance.

1 Figures are rounded to the nearest whole number.

While the majority of the intermediate-term increase in cumulative global wind generation capacity is expected to be driven by demand in non-OECD countries, the United States has adopted new legislation that is expected to support continued domestic wind capacity installation. For example, on December 22, 2015, President Obama signed into law the Military Construction and Veterans Affairs and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, which included an extension of the wind PTC through 2019, with a phase-down beginning for projects that commence construction after December 31, 2016. Specifically, the PTC will remain at the same rate in effect at the end of 2014 for wind power projects that commence construction by the end of 2016, and thereafter will be reduced by 20% per year in 2017, 2018 and 2019, respectively. On May 5, 2016, the IRS issued clarifications that expand PTC eligibility. The clarification gives developers more time to build projects that will qualify for the full value of the PTC and provides more lenient commissioning deadlines for delayed projects. Following this clarification, BNEF increased its U.S. cumulative wind capacity installation projections from 44 GW under the initial PTC framework to 51 GW for the 2016 to 2021 period, with a peak in 2020 rather than 2018. In addition, the legislation provides for increased long-term policy certainty to developers, manufacturers and investors.

Additionally, the EPA recently enacted the Clean Power Plan, which is also expected to promote renewable energy generation capacity installation over the course of the next 15 years. The Clean Power Plan mandates the reduction of carbon dioxide emissions from electrical power generation by 32% relative to 2005 benchmark levels by 2030. The EPA estimates the Clean Power Plan will help drive renewable energy sources to comprise 20% of the United States' total power generation capacity by 2030, up from approximately 13% in 2014. The Supreme Court's decision on February 9, 2016 to grant a stay on the roll-out of the Clean Power Plan is not expected to jeopardize the long-term decarbonization of the U.S. power sector. According to BNEF, the PTC extension and state-mandated renewable energy portfolio standards will be stronger drivers of short-term renewable development.

The international community also recently made continued commitments to further reduce fossil fuel consumption when 195 nations participating in the COP21 climate talks in Paris, France adopted a new global agreement, the Paris Agreement, on the reduction of climate change. The Paris Agreement consists of two elements: (1) a legally binding commitment by each participating country to set an emissions reduction target, referred to as "nationally determined contributions" or NDCs, with a review of the NDCs that could lead to updates and enhancements every five years beginning in 2023, and (2) a transparency commitment requiring participating countries to disclose their progress. The Paris Agreement will become effective in 2020, once it has been ratified by 55 countries representing at least 55% of global greenhouse gas emissions. Although the Paris Agreement does not impose penalties on countries that fail to comply with the agreement, once ratified, the terms of the Paris Agreement and individual countries' NDCs will encourage the further curtailment of the market share of fossil fuel generation over the long term and promote clean energy resources such as wind energy.

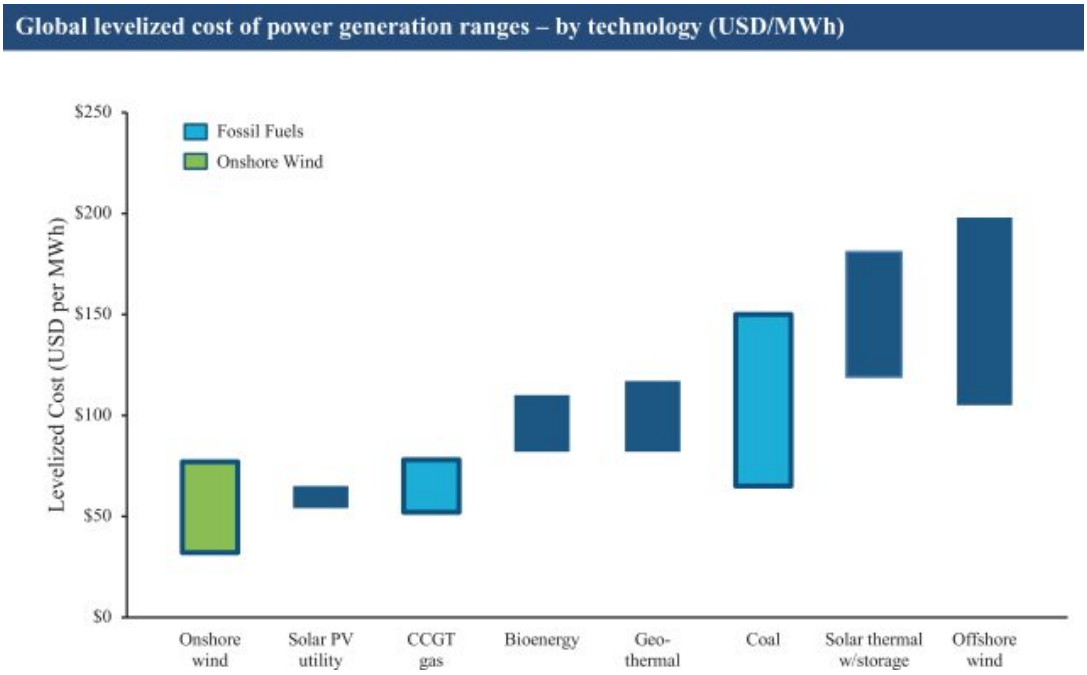
Onshore wind LCOE—which reflects the levelized cost of energy per megawatt hour of a generation project over its lifetime—is already on par with new combined cycle gas turbines and substantially below solar photovoltaic, according to Lazard. The advancement of wind turbine technology, including larger rotor diameters and higher hub heights, has increased energy capture, thus reducing LCOE for onshore wind. The proliferation of cost-effective wind generation enhances energy resource diversity and mitigates the price volatility associated with fossil fuels, thereby helping to stabilize overall electricity costs in the long term. Wind energy projects do not require any fuel, such as natural gas or coal, during operation, and we believe that they are generally constructed within a substantially shorter period of time relative to conventional generation resources. According to Lazard, the cost of onshore wind has declined by over 61% in the last six years. Costs are expected to continue to decline an additional 15% by 2021 according to MAKE due to progress in reducing the costs of wind turbines, improving capacity factors and lower operating and maintenance costs.



Source: Lazard Levelized Cost of Energy Analysis (version 9.0). Costs are on an unsubsidized basis. Ranges reflect differences in resources, geography, fuel costs and cost of capital, among other factors.

The data presented above involves a number of assumptions, including but not limited to construction time, the economic lifetime of power generation projects and typical system costs associated with construction, maintenance and operations. The results are subject to country-specific market conditions such as state and local incentive programs. Additionally, measuring renewable energy may present challenges due to inconsistent government reporting of generated energy and difficulties both identifying the renewable portion from multi-fuel applications and tracking energy generation in less transparent markets. However, we believe that LCOE comparisons of renewable energy sources remain a useful metric for analyzing technology cost movements over time.

As a result of the global commitment to reduce fossil fuel consumption and the increased cost competitiveness of renewable technologies, BNEF projects that renewable technologies will increase their share of the world power generation mix from 24% in 2015 to 45% in 2040, with onshore wind expected to experience the largest increase over the same period from 4% to 13%. By 2040, overall global power generation is also forecasted to expand by 53% to 35,651 terawatt hours, or TWh. This growth is expected to be driven by an estimated $11.4 trillion investment in power generating capacity, approximately 70% of which is expected to flow to renewable technologies, which are forecasted to realize an average annual investment of $311 billion. China is forecast to lead onshore wind investments with an expected $1 trillion in investments from 2016 to 2040. Strong growth in the renewables sector is expected to cause the market share of fossil fuel generation to fall from 65% to 44% from 2015 to 2040, and increasingly strict regulations across the globe, including in China, the United States and Europe, is expected to cut coal's share of the power generation market from 39% to 27% over the same period. Oil will remain a very small piece of the generation mix and thus is unlikely to have a material influence on average power prices or the competitiveness of renewable technologies. The chart below shows the global power generation outlook by fuel type through 2040, which demonstrates growth in renewable sources such as onshore wind.

Wind Turbine and Wind Blade Fundamentals

Wind turbines function by turning kinetic energy from the rotation of the wind blades into electricity. Typical wind turbines consist of many components, the most important being the wind blades, gear box, electric generator and towers. When the wind blows, the combination of the lift and drag of the air pressure on the blades rotate the wind blades and rotor, which drives the gear box and generator to create electricity.

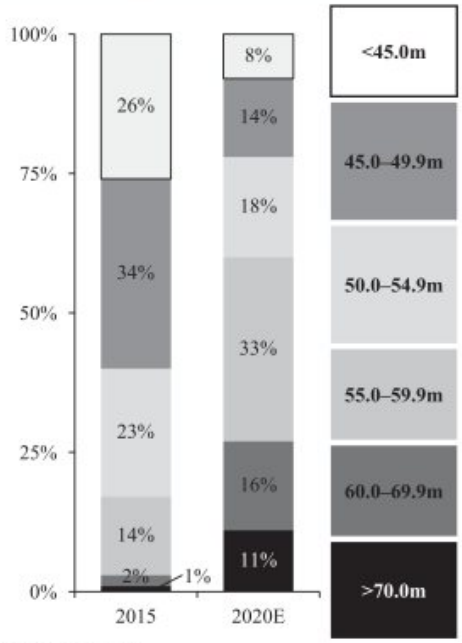
Wind turbines are often grouped together in wind farms. The connection or access of wind turbines to a power grid is of the utmost importance when locating wind turbines. Electricity from each wind turbine travels down a cable inside its tower to a collection point in the wind farm and is transmitted to a substation for voltage step-up and delivery into the electric utility transmission network, or grid. Electricity generation is most commonly measured in kWh. According to the Energy Information Administration the average U.S. household uses over 10,800 kWh of electricity each year. According to NREL, a 1.5 MW wind turbine can generate over 3 million kWh of wind energy annually, representing about as much electricity as 275-300 U.S. households use in one year.

The configuration of a wind turbine, including its wind blade design, is intended to optimize electricity generation and minimize down time in specific wind conditions, or “wind classes.” Key characteristics of wind blades include:

- wind blade length and air foil shape, which contribute to the efficiency of the wind blade in turning kinetic energy from the rotation of the wind blades into electricity;
- strength and weight, which contribute to efficiency and impact of the wind blade on the rest of the turbine; and
- structural integrity, which affects the long-term reliability of the wind blade.

Wind blade length is expected to increase globally as wind turbine OEMs develop increased rotor diameters and wind blades as a primary driver for market differentiation and cost competitiveness. While the global mainstream wind blade length has been 40-45 meters, according to MAKE, by 2020 wind blades greater than 50 meters in length are expected to become the global norm. The trend toward larger wind blades indicates the potential phase out of smaller wind blades, as larger blades have the greatest impact on energy efficiency and LCOE reduction across all global regions. The below schematic identifies projected trends in relative blade lengths through 2020.

Global blade length breakdown – current vs. 2020E



- Phasing out due to lower energy production
  - Minimal demand for sub–MW turbines and older 1.5MW technology
- Today's mainstream product will face significant drop
  - Decline in the use of <100m rotors on 1.5MW class turbines
- Low–wind speed variants of <2MW turbines
  - Diameters of 100m–110m will continue to flourish in India and Americas on 2MW turbines
- Significant growth in the MMW onshore segment
  - Adoption of 2.0–3.0MW turbines will continue in Europe and US, with diameters of over 110m
- European offshore technology moves eastward
  - Logistics limit adoption of long blades onshore. Offshore growth in Europe and China
- Next generation offshore technology
  - 70m blades from Siemens, LM Wind Power, Vestas, Samsung and ArevaX

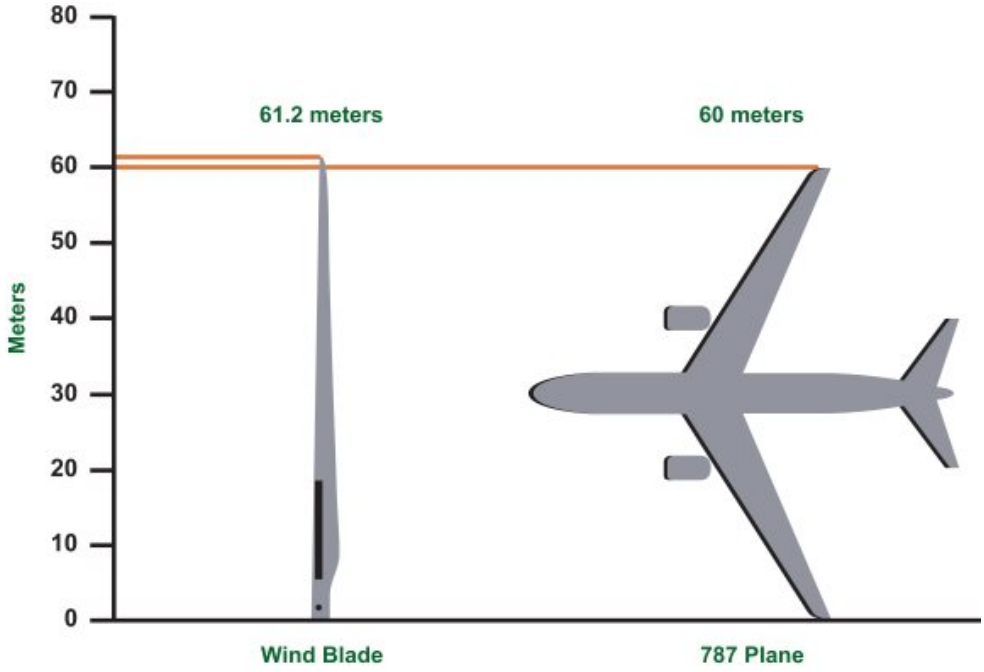
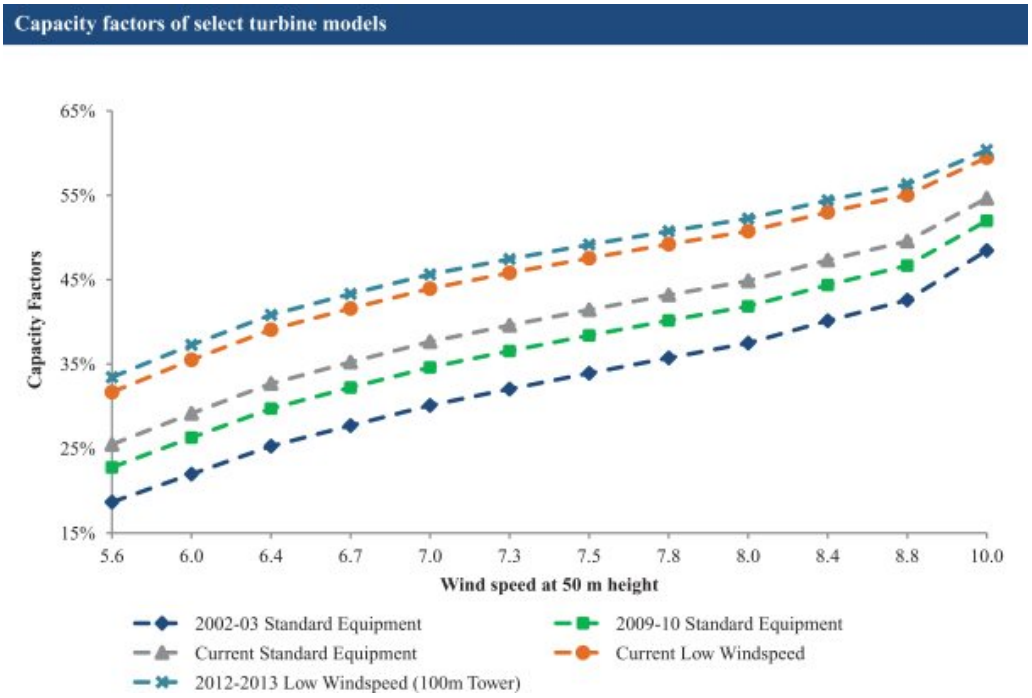
To put the scale of wind blades in perspective, a single wind blade can be as long or longer than the 60-meter wing span of a 787 aircraft, as depicted below.



The development of larger wind turbines and recent improvements in wind blade design, materials and manufacturing technology have significantly increased the power generating capacity of wind turbines. Today, wind blades are generally composed of advanced, high-strength, lightweight and durable composite materials. In addition, longer wind blades, which allow for a larger area of wind to be swept by the wind blades, coupled with taller towers, results in greater energy capture and reduces the overall cost of wind energy. The evolution of the wind turbine has resulted in improved energy output, including in areas of low wind speed. The capacity factor of a wind turbine—which measures actual energy output as a percentage of potential capacity—has increased considerably under more recent designs for the same wind speed. These improvements in wind blade design have made wind energy a highly cost-competitive source of electricity.



Source: International Energy Agency (2015).

A growing trend is the emergence of wind turbines designed specifically for regions with lower wind speeds. These regions have not traditionally been regarded as cost-effective locations for wind generation. However, during the past three years, all of the top ten wind turbine suppliers in the world have introduced wind turbines with longer wind blade lengths and taller towers designed to capture more energy at the lower end of the wind speed scale. Most single wind turbine platforms can now support multiple wind blade lengths, and today's wind turbines can efficiently generate electricity when the wind speed is anywhere between 7 and 56 mph, speeds that are in abundance around the globe. We believe that installation of wind turbines in regions with lower wind speeds is encouraged due to proximity to energy demand centers, thereby reducing the amount of transmission infrastructure required. We expect this trend of expansion to regions not traditionally classified as high wind resource regions to continue.

As the location of wind turbine installations diversify to areas with varying wind classes, emphasis in the wind blade production process has shifted towards demonstrating the flexibility to supply a broader range of wind blade models designed for varying wind conditions. The trend towards multiple wind blade models requires advanced composite and production expertise, sophisticated process technologies and modular megawatt-size precision molding and assembly systems. Given this required level of sophistication, wind blades now represent approximately 15% of the cost of a wind turbine, the second largest cost component, as depicted below. We believe that OEMs that keep pace with these technological advancements while controlling costs will enjoy a significant competitive advantage. Wind blades and pitch systems remain the most important elements to reduce LCOE, driven by ongoing improvement in aerodynamic efficiency, load controls and cost reduction.

Wind Turbine and Wind Blade Supply Markets

The wind turbine industry, which constitutes our direct customer base, is concentrated among a few established players, with the top ten OEMs accounting for approximately 69% of the total global onshore market for the three years ended December 31, 2015 based on MWs installed, according to data from MAKE. We believe MWs installed is the most widely followed measure of market share in the wind turbine industry and also reflects the OEMs' demand for wind blades. We currently have long-term supply agreements with four of these top ten OEMs and are developing new relationships with additional OEMs to grow our business. In addition, we expect growth in the industry itself – by the end of 2020, cumulative global installed wind capacity is projected to be over 750 GWs with China accounting for approximately 35% of this capacity, according to BNEF. This represents a five-year compounded annual growth rate of approximately 12% for the global wind market including China, and a similar growth rate of 11% for the global wind market excluding China.

Historically, many wind turbine OEMs manufactured their own wind blades in-house to ensure a high level of quality and dedicated capacity, reflecting the importance of the wind blade supply to turbine production, concerns over protecting their proprietary wind blade designs and the scarcity of independent wind blade suppliers with sufficient manufacturing expertise and capacity. During 2007 and 2008, the U.S. and China markets grew at a rapid pace, which created additional demand in the wind turbine manufacturing supply chain. To balance supply and demand, many leading wind turbine OEMs established a production footprint in high-growth regions.

The current globalization of the wind industry presents a new set of challenges and opportunities for wind turbine OEMs. As opposed to establishing a manufacturing presence in each new core growth market, wind turbine OEMs are now focusing on supply chain efficiencies and their core competencies in the design, marketing and sale of wind turbines. In doing so, wind turbine OEMs are increasingly outsourcing the production of key components, such as wind blades, to select manufacturers to remain competitive and address growth markets. This approach enables wind turbine OEMs to lower their capital costs and shift the production components to manufacturers that possess highly specialized expertise in advanced composite, production and process technology.

From a product perspective, wind turbine OEMs have adopted a variety of strategies, including the introduction of new turbine models with improved technology, warranty terms, more stringent performance guarantees, and tailor-made turbines for specific countries or regions. During the past three years, all of the top ten wind turbine suppliers in the world have introduced wind turbines with longer wind blade lengths and taller towers designed to capture more energy at the lower end of the wind speed scale. We believe that installation of wind turbines in regions with lower wind speeds is encouraged due to proximity to energy demand centers, thereby reducing the amount of transmission infrastructure required. We expect this trend of expansion to regions not traditionally classified as high wind resource regions to continue, which we believe will help us continue to expand our global footprint.

According to BNEF, the total wind blade industry generated $11.9 billion in revenues in 2014 and is projected to grow to $19.7 billion by 2040. We believe our addressable market will continue to expand, as outsourced wind blade manufacturing is expected to rise from 52% in 2013 to 59% in 2017, according to data from MAKE. As the wind energy market continues to expand globally and wind turbine OEMs continue to shift towards increased outsourcing of wind blade manufacturing, we believe we are well-positioned to continue the expansion of our global footprint.

BUSINESS

Overview

We are the largest U.S.-based independent manufacturer of composite wind blades. We enable many of the industry's leading wind turbine OEMs, who have historically relied on in-house production, to outsource the manufacturing of some of their wind blades through our global footprint of advanced manufacturing facilities strategically located to serve large and growing wind markets in a cost-effective manner. Given the importance of wind energy capture, turbine reliability and cost to power producers, the size, quality and performance of wind blades have become highly strategic to our OEM customers. As a result, we have become a key supplier to our OEM customers in the manufacture of wind blades and related precision molding and assembly systems. We have entered into long-term supply agreements pursuant to which we dedicate capacity at our facilities to our customers in exchange for their commitment to purchase minimum annual volumes of wind blade sets, which consist of three wind blades. As of March 31, 2016, our long-term supply agreements provide for estimated minimum aggregate volume commitments from our customers of $1.5 billion and encourage our customers to purchase additional volume up to, in the aggregate, an estimated total contract value of over $3.0 billion through the end of 2021. This collaborative dedicated supplier model provides us with contracted volumes that generate significant revenue visibility, drive capital efficiency and allow us to produce wind blades at a lower total delivered cost, while ensuring critical dedicated capacity for our customers.

Our OEM customers include GE Wind, Vestas, Gamesa and Nordex (which acquired Acciona in April 2016). Prior to 2013, we had one OEM customer that, according to data from MAKE, represented approximately 10% of the global wind energy market based on MWs of energy capacity installed. Although we do not supply all of their wind blade volume, according to data from MAKE, our OEM customers collectively accounted for approximately 32% of the global onshore wind energy market and approximately 56% of that market excluding China over the three years ended December 31, 2015, based on MWs of energy capacity installed. Additionally, our customers represented 82% of the U.S. onshore wind turbine market over the three years ended December 31, 2015, based on MWs of energy capacity installed. The wind power generation industry is experiencing significant growth in countries belonging to the OECD, as well as in emerging growth markets. To meet this growth in demand reliably in a capital-efficient and cost-effective manner, many OEMs are shifting from manufacturing wind blades themselves to the outsourced manufacture of their wind blades. Our collaborative approach, advanced composite technology and global manufacturing footprint have allowed us to capitalize on this trend by replacing or augmenting the in-house capabilities of our customers and efficiently delivering wind blades when and where required. Our facilities in the United States, China, Mexico and Turkey create a geographically-diverse, global production platform to meet our customers' needs in key large and growing wind markets. We intend to continue expanding in certain existing markets and in new locations that represent growth opportunities for the wind energy market and our customers. We believe our geographic and customer diversification, together with our long-term agreements, allow us to take advantage of growth trends and help to insulate us from potential short-term fluctuations or legislative changes in any one market.

Our wind blade and precision molding and assembly systems manufacturing businesses accounted for over 99%, over 99%, 99%, and 97% of our total net sales in the three months ended March 31, 2016 and in the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively. We also leverage our advanced composite technology and history of innovation to supply high strength, lightweight and durable composite products to the transportation market. In the three months ended March 31, 2016 and 2015 and in the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, we generated, $176.1 million, $95.6 million, $585.9 million, $320.7 million and $215.1 million of net sales and $174.5 million, $117.1 million, $600.1 million, $362.7 million and $221.1 million of total billings, respectively. We generated net income of $1.7 million, a net loss of $5.7 million, net income of $7.7 million, a net loss of $6.6 million and net income of $1.3 million in the three months ended March 31, 2016 and 2015 and in the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively. We also generated $11.0 million, $36,000, $37.5 million, $8.8 million and $6.5 million of EBITDA in the three months ended March 31, 2016 and 2015 and in the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively. Adjusted

EBITDA in the three months ended March 31, 2016 and 2015 and in the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013 was $11.4 million, a loss of $0.1 million, $39.3 million, $13.5 million and $8.4 million, respectively. For an explanation of the components of total billings, EBITDA and adjusted EBITDA, refer to the discussion in "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations—Key Metrics Used by Management to Measure Performance."

We were founded in 1968 and have been providing composite wind blades for 15 years. Our knowledge and experience of composite materials and manufacturing originates with our predecessor company, Tillotson Pearson Inc., a leading manufacturer of high-performance sail and powerboats along with a wide range of composite structures used in other industrial applications. Following the separation from our boat building business in 2004, we reorganized in Delaware as LCSI Holding, Inc. We changed our corporate name to TPI Composites, Inc. in 2008. Today, we are headquartered in Scottsdale, Arizona, and we have expanded our global footprint to include domestic facilities in Newton, Iowa; Fall River, Massachusetts; Warren, Rhode Island; and Santa Teresa, New Mexico and international facilities in Dafeng, China; Taicang Port, China; Taicang City, China; Juarez, Mexico and Izmir, Turkey. Together, as of May 31, 2016, we have approximately 3.2 million square feet of manufacturing space and over 5,600 employees, including materials and process engineers, manufacturing process engineers, quality assurance personnel and production workers.

We divide our business operations into four geographic operating segments—the United States, Asia, Mexico and EMEA, as follows:

- Our U.S. segment includes (1) the manufacturing of wind blades at our Newton, Iowa plant, (2) the manufacturing of precision molding and assembly systems used for the manufacture of wind blades in our Warren, Rhode Island facility, (3) the manufacturing of composite solutions for the transportation industry, which we also conduct in our Rhode Island and Massachusetts facilities and (4) our corporate headquarters, the costs of which are included in general and administrative expenses.

- Our Asia segment includes (1) the manufacturing of wind blades in facilities in Taicang Port, China and two in Dafeng, China (including one that commenced operations in February 2015), (2) the manufacturing of precision molding and assembly systems in our Taicang City, China facility, (3) the manufacture of components in our second Taicang Port, China facility and (4) wind blade inspection and repair services.

- Our Mexico segment manufactures wind blades from a facility in Juárez, Mexico that we opened in late 2013 and where we began production in January 2014. We have entered into a new lease agreement with a third party for a new manufacturing facility in Juárez, Mexico and we expect to commence operations at this new facility in the second half of 2016.

- Our EMEA segment manufactures wind blades from a facility in Izmir, Turkey. We entered into a joint venture with ALKE Insaat Sanayive Ticaret A.S. (ALKE) in March 2012 to begin producing wind blades in Turkey and in December 2013 we became the sole owner of the Turkey operation with the acquisition of the remaining 25% interest owned primarily by ALKE. We have entered into a new lease agreement with a third party for a new manufacturing facility in Izmir, Turkey and we expect to commence operations at this new facility in the second half of 2016.

For additional information regarding our operating segments, see Note 20 to our consolidated financial statements.

Competitive Strengths

- Wind industry leader with cost-effective, global footprint. We are the largest U.S.-based independent manufacturer of composite wind blades and have developed a global footprint to serve the growing wind energy market worldwide. We currently have six advanced wind blade plants in strategic locations in the United States, China, Mexico and Turkey, with an additional plant in each of Mexico and Turkey expected to commence operations in the second half of 2016. We also have facilities in the United States and China that manufacture precision molding and assembly systems for wind blades. This geographically diverse footprint enables us to leverage our global scale and technological capabilities, serve regional markets and export to ports around the world in a cost-effective manner, thereby enabling our customers to capitalize on the benefits of outsourced wind blade manufacturing. We believe our extensive experience with delivering high quality wind blades to diverse, global markets creates a significant barrier to entry and is the foundation of our leadership position in the independent market for wind blade manufacturing. Moreover, the expansion of our manufacturing footprint in coordination with our customers allows us to scale our capacity to meet demand as well as ensure dedicated manufacturing capacity for each of our customers in our existing facilities or in new facilities located to optimize labor and transportation costs.

- Positioned to capitalize on significant growth trends in the wind energy market. We believe that our reputation as a reliable, global wind blade manufacturer and our focus on developing replicable and scalable manufacturing facilities and processes positions us to continue to capture opportunities in large and growing wind energy markets. Our ability to capitalize on recent growth trends in the wind energy market and OEM outsourcing has allowed us to grow our revenue 172% from 2013 to 2015 while expanding our global manufacturing footprint over the same period by opening four additional advanced wind blade manufacturing facilities. We believe this global growth and the emergence of new wind markets will continue to create opportunities for us as our customers focus on supply chain optimization and wind blade outsourcing as a critical component of their strategy.

- Advanced composite technology and production expertise. Our significant expertise in advanced composite technology and production enables us to manufacture lightweight and durable wind blades with near-aerospace grade precision at an industrial cost. We have developed and use high-performance composite materials, precision molding and assembly systems, including modular tooling techniques, and advanced process technology, as well as sophisticated measurement, inspection, testing and quality assurance tools, which have allowed us to produce over 26,000 wind blades since 2001 with an excellent field performance record in a market where reliability is critical to our customers' success. With our culture of continuing innovation and a collaborative "design for manufacturability" approach, we continue to address increasing physical dimensions and the need for rapid model changes, demanding technical specifications and strict quality control requirements for wind blades, which today are generally 50 to 60 meters or more in length. We also invest in ongoing simplification and selective automation of production processes for increased efficiency and precision. We have partnered with the U.S. Department of Energy, government laboratories, universities and our customers to innovate through cost sharing AMII programs. In 2015, we received an award of $3.0 million from the U.S. Department of Energy's Office of Energy Efficiency & Renewable Energy to lead a team of industry and academic participants to design, develop and demonstrate an ultra-light composite vehicle door for high volume manufacturing production in conjunction with other industry and university participants. Our primary research and development facilities are in Fall River, Massachusetts and Warren, Rhode Island. We also conduct research and development in our various manufacturing facilities around the world. As of December 31, 2015, our highly experienced engineering and technical workforce includes professionals holding 441 engineering and technical degrees, most of whom have specialized in composites and wind energy for many years and have deep familiarity with the manufacturing of wind blades.

- Collaborative dedicated supplier model. Our deeply collaborative dedicated supplier model engenders stable, long-term relationships with customers, driving capital efficiency and helping to insulate us from potential short-term fluctuations or legislative changes in any one market. Our collaborative approach to manufacturing wind blades to meet our customers' unique specifications, coupled with their investment in model-specific tooling in our facilities, promotes significant customer loyalty and creates higher switching costs. Our focused factory model, in which we contractually dedicate production lines to a specific customer in exchange for their commitment to purchase minimum annual volumes, also serves to protect the confidentiality of our customers' proprietary wind blade and turbine designs. Our ability to manufacture the model-specific tooling for our customers further strengthens our role as a "one stop shop" for our customers, provides an efficient solution to their wind blade supply needs and allows us to produce high-quality wind blades at a lower total delivered cost. We work to continue to drive down the cost of materials and production through innovation and global sourcing, the benefit of which we share with our customers contractually in a manner that reduces LCOE for the customer and improves our margins, further strengthening our deep customer relationships. We manufacture wind blades for four of the largest global wind turbine suppliers: GE Wind, Vestas, Gamesa and Nordex [1] . According to data from MAKE, our customers represented approximately 32% of the global onshore wind energy market, approximately 56% of that market excluding China, and over 82% of the U.S. onshore wind turbine market over the three years ended December 31, 2015, based on MWs of energy capacity installed. GE Wind, in particular, accounted for 54.6%, 53.3%, 73.2% and 91.2% of our total net sales for the three months ended March 31, 2016 and for the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively.

- Long-term supply agreements provide significant revenue visibility. In our collaborative dedicated supplier model, we enter into long-term supply agreements that provide significant incentives for our customers to maximize the volume of wind blades purchased, through increased pricing at lower volumes that contribute to profitability at minimum volume levels. As of March 31, 2016, our existing wind blade supply agreements provide for estimated minimum aggregate volume commitments of $1.5 billion and encourage customers to purchase additional volume up to, in the aggregate, an estimated total contract value of over $3.0 billion through the end of 2021, which we believe provides us with significant future revenue visibility and helps to insulate us from potential short-term fluctuations or legislative changes in any one market due in part to the annual minimum purchase commitments of our customers contained in those agreements. These annual minimum purchase commitments generally require our customers to purchase a negotiated percentage of the manufacturing capacity that we have agreed to dedicate to them. Generally, this percentage begins at 100% and declines after the first few years pursuant to the terms of the supply agreement, but generally remains above 50%. It is our experience that our customers will generally order wind blades from us in a volume that exceeds, sometimes substantially, the annual minimum purchase commitments in our supply agreements. Although some of our long-term supply agreements, including some of those with our majority customer, are subject to termination by our customers on short notice or, in one instance, no advance notice, we believe our strong relationships with leading global turbine OEMs, underpinned by these long-term supply agreements, provide significant stability and visibility into our future performance and growth.

- Compelling Return on Invested Capital. We believe our highly efficient manufacturing processes and customer arrangements are critical to achieving compelling returns on invested capital. We manufacture our customers' unique wind blade models at locations where we invest in the plant facility and equipment, while our customers invest alongside us by purchasing model-specific tooling from us or other sources. This focused factory model allows us to concentrate on efficient manufacturing practices and drives cost saving initiatives throughout our facilities. Moreover, our customer relationships and long-term supply agreements result in relatively low sales and marketing and other similar general expenses. The focused factory model is replicated in each of our wind blade manufacturing facilities and is key to our strategy to expand our footprint in specific markets.

- Experienced management team with a strong track record of delivering growth. Our senior management team has significant experience managing high growth, international operations. Over the course of the past decade, the team has successfully positioned us as the largest independent U.S.-based manufacturer of wind blades and has developed and deepened customer relationships with leading OEMs in the global wind energy market. At the same time, our team has built a global manufacturing network with six wind blade factories and two precision molding and assembly systems facilities across three continents and has demonstrated the ability to enter new markets quickly and efficiently. Our executives are recognized as thought leaders in the wind energy industry and hold leadership positions in industry organizations, such as AWEA.

Business Strategy

Our long-term success will be driven by our competitive strengths and business strategy. The key elements of our strategy are as follows:

- Grow our existing relationships and develop new relationships with leading industry OEMs. We plan to continue growing and expanding our relationships with existing customers who, according to data from MAKE, represented approximately 32% of the global onshore wind energy market, approximately 56% of that market excluding China, and over 82% of the U.S. onshore wind turbine market over the three years ended December 31, 2015, based on MWs of energy capacity installed, as well as developing new relationships with other leading industry OEMs. Over the course of our 15 years in the wind blade market, we have established a reputation as a highly reliable wind blade manufacturer. As a result, we are presented with opportunities to expand our existing relationships and develop new relationships with industry OEMs as they seek to capitalize on the benefits of outsourced wind blade manufacturing while maintaining high quality customization and dedicated capacity. In 2015, we extended the term of our existing Iowa and China supply agreements with GE Wind, and entered into a new supply agreement with Vestas in China, which we subsequently expanded in the fourth quarter of 2015. We also entered into a new supply agreement with Vestas to supply them with wind blades from our second manufacturing facility in Turkey, which we expect will be operational in the second half of 2016. In 2016, we extended the term of our Turkey and Mexico supply agreements with GE Wind, and expanded our relationship with Gamesa. We entered into a new supply agreement with Gamesa whereby we will continue to supply wind blades to them from our existing manufacturing facility in Mexico and will begin to supply wind blades from our second Mexico manufacturing facility, which we expect will be operational in the second half of 2016.

- Expand our footprint in large and growing wind markets, capitalize on the continuing outsourcing trend and evaluate strategic acquisitions. As the wind energy market continues to expand globally and wind turbine OEMs continue to shift towards increased outsourcing of wind blade manufacturing, we believe we are well-positioned to continue the expansion of our global footprint. We utilize our strengths in composites technology and manufacturing, combined with our collaborative dedicated supplier model to provide our customers with an efficient solution for their expansion in large and growing wind markets. Our quality, reliability and total delivered cost reduce sourcing risk for our customers. In addition, our demonstrated ability to expand into new markets and the strength of our manufacturing capabilities afford us the optionality either to build new factories or grow through strategic acquisitions.

- Focus on continuing innovation. We have a history of innovation in advanced composite technologies and production techniques and use several proprietary technologies related to wind blade manufacturing. With this culture of innovation and a collaborative “design for manufacturability” approach, we continue to address increasing physical dimensions, demanding technical specifications and strict quality control requirements for our customers’ most advanced wind blades. We also invest in ongoing simplification and selective automation of production processes for increased efficiency and precision. In addition, we plan to leverage our history of composite industry-first innovations to grow our business in the transportation market, in which there is a demand for high precision, structural composites manufacturing.

- Continue to drive down costs of wind energy. We continue to work with our customers on larger size wind blade models that maximize the capture of wind energy and drive down the LCOE. We also continue to utilize our advanced technology, regional manufacturing facilities strategically located to cost effectively serve large and growing wind markets and ability to source materials globally at competitive costs to deliver high-performing, composite wind blades at a lower total delivered cost. Our collaborative engineering approach and our advanced precision molding and assembly systems allow us to integrate our customer's design requirements with cost-efficient, replicable and scalable manufacturing processes. We also continue to collaborate with our customers to drive down the cost of materials and production, the benefit of which we share with our customers contractually in a manner that reduces LCOE for customers, further strengthening our customer relationships and improving our margins.

Manufacturing Facilities

We have developed a global footprint to serve the high-growth wind energy market worldwide. We have six advanced wind blade manufacturing facilities: one in the United States, three in China, one in Mexico, and one in Turkey. We have entered into lease agreements with third parties to lease new manufacturing facilities in Mexico and Turkey, and we expect to commence operations at these new facilities in the second half of 2016. Our manufacturing facilities are strategically located in geographic regions that enable us to cost-effectively serve large and growing wind markets around the world. To provide a complete end-to-end manufacturing solution for our customers, we also manufacture precision molding and assembly systems at our production facilities in Warren, Rhode Island and in Taicang City, China. All of our advanced wind blade manufacturing facilities are outfitted with precision molding and assembly systems to manufacture wind blades for our customers' unique design specifications and demanding standards. In addition, we implement and integrate our rigorous quality assurance systems with those of our customers, and all of our manufacturing facilities operate under strict quality control standards and have received or applied for International Organization for Standardization, or ISO, certification. We believe that our manufacturing facilities employ some of the most advanced manufacturing processes in the wind blade industry.

Our manufacturing operations are currently organized around four geographic regions in the United States, China, Mexico and Turkey. We believe our expertise in developing and managing manufacturing facilities worldwide positions us well to continue to capture opportunities in large and growing wind markets.

United States. Included in our U.S. operations is the manufacturing of wind blades at our Newton, Iowa plant, the manufacturing of precision molding and assembly systems used for the manufacture of wind blades in our facilities in Warren, Rhode Island and Fall River, Massachusetts and the manufacturing of composite solutions for the transportation industry, which we also conduct in our Rhode Island and Massachusetts facilities. Since 2007, our Iowa facility has been dedicated to manufacturing wind blades exclusively for GE Wind pursuant to a supply agreement that expires in 2018. While capable of cost-effectively delivering precision molding and assembly systems across all of our facilities, our U.S. production facilities primarily serve the North American market. Virtually all of the wind blades that we manufacture in our Iowa facility are deployed in wind farms located within the United States, with a substantial majority being deployed in the Midwest region of the United States.

Asia. In 2013, our operations in China expanded from a single location in Taicang Port, China dedicated to manufacturing wind blades for GE Wind to a three plant operation with the opening of a new facility in Dafeng, China for advanced wind blade manufacturing for Vestas and Acciona (which was acquired by Nordex in April 2016) and the addition of a facility in Taicang City, China that manufactures precision molding and assembly systems for the production of wind blades across all of our facilities. In 2014, we opened a second facility in Taicang Port, China that manufactures components. In addition, in 2015 we opened a second facility in Dafeng, China for wind blade manufacturing. Our China facilities are capable of cost-effectively delivering wind blades across the Asia Pacific region and anywhere in the world that is in close proximity to a significant port, including Europe and the United States. We export a majority of the wind blades that we manufacture in our China manufacturing facilities to countries outside of China.

Mexico. Since January 2014, we have manufactured wind blades for GE Wind in our Juárez, Mexico facility. Prior to this, the Juarez, Mexico facility was operated as a joint venture where we manufactured wind blades for Mitsubishi Heavy Industries until 2012. In March 2014, we also began manufacturing wind blades for Gamesa at this facility. Our Mexico facility is capable of cost-effectively delivering wind blades primarily to the U.S. and Mexican markets. In addition, we have entered into a new lease agreement with a third party for a second manufacturing facility in Juárez, Mexico and we expect to commence operations at this new facility in the second half of 2016. We export a majority of the wind blades that we manufacture in our Mexico manufacturing facility to the United States.

EMEA. We commenced operations as a 75% owner in TPI Turkey in Turkey in October 2012 by way of a joint venture with ALKE to produce wind blades for GE Wind. We obtained sole control of TPI Turkey in December 2013 and also expanded our Turkey manufacturing capacity to produce wind blades for an additional customer, Nordex. Our Turkey operations are capable of cost-effectively delivering wind blades primarily to the European, Middle Eastern and African markets. In addition, we have entered into a new lease agreement with a third party for a second manufacturing facility in Izmir, Turkey and we expect to commence operations at this new facility in the second half of 2016. We export a majority of the wind blades that we manufacture in our Turkey manufacturing facility to Europe.

Wind Blade Manufacturing Operations and Process

We have developed significant expertise in advanced composite technology and use high performance composite materials, precision molding and assembly systems including modular tooling, and advanced process technology, as well as sophisticated measurement, inspection, testing and quality assurance tools, allowing us to produce over 26,000 wind blades since 2001 with an excellent field performance record in a market where reliability is critical to our customers' success. We manufacture or have manufactured wind blades ranging from 30 meters to over 60 meters across our global facilities, and have the capability to manufacture wind blades of greater lengths at all of our advanced manufacturing facilities as required by existing or new customers. In combination with our state-of-the-art technologies, we seek to create manufacturing processes that are replicable and scalable in our advanced manufacturing facilities located worldwide, regardless of cultural or language barriers. Our integrated manufacturing process allows us to customize each manufacturing step, from raw materials to finished products. It also allows us to systematically design for the entire manufacturing process so that we can achieve better quality control and increase production efficiencies. We believe that our focus on simplifying and, where feasible, automating production processes is critical to manufacturing high-precision, lightweight and durable products at a reasonable cost to our customers. We produce high unit volumes of near-aerospace grade products at industrial costs.

Raw Materials

The key raw materials for our wind blades include highly advanced fiberglass fabrics, select carbon reinforcements, foam, balsa wood, resin, adhesives for assembly of molded components, gel coat or paint for preparation of cosmetic surfaces and attachment hardware including steel components. Most of these materials are available in multiple geographic regions and in reasonably close proximity to our manufacturing facilities. Our agreements for the supply of raw materials are designed to guarantee volumes that we believe will be required to fulfill our customers' wind blade commitments. A portion of our raw materials are subject to price volatility, such as the resins used in our manufacturing processes. Although the majority of materials incorporated into our products are available from a number of sources, certain materials are available only from a relatively limited number of suppliers. We seek multiple suppliers for our raw materials and continually evaluate potential new supplier relationships.

Precision Molding and Assembly Systems

Over the last decade, we have produced hundreds of precision molding and assembly systems, ranging from 30 to over 60 meters in length, to support our global operations. We began these operations in our tooling technology center in Warren, Rhode Island. In 2013, we expanded our precision molding and assembly system production capabilities to a facility in Taicang City, China, which serves customers around the globe. While capable of cost-effectively delivering precision molding and assembly systems across all of our facilities, our Rhode Island tooling technology center primarily serves the North American market. Our precision molding and assembly systems have been used to build tens of thousands of wind blades worldwide.

Our tooling solutions include precision wind blade patterns, precision molding and assembly systems, including modular tooling techniques. We believe that our technological and production expertise are key factors in our continued competitiveness, as we address continually increasing physical dimensions, demanding technical specifications, and strict quality control requirements for wind blades.

Wind Blade Production Process

Production of our wind blades requires adherence to the unique specifications of our customers, who design their wind turbines and wind blades to optimize performance, reliability and total delivered cost. With our culture of innovation and a collaborative "design for manufacturability" approach, we have the capability and expertise to manufacture wind blades of any design, utilizing fiberglass, carbon or other advanced composite materials to meet unique customer specifications. We also have the flexibility to quickly transition our manufacturing capabilities to produce different wind blade models and sizes using our precision molding and assembly systems, including modular tooling techniques.

We have developed a highly dependable method for making high-quality wind blades. We design our proprietary manufacturing processes to be replicable, scalable and transferable to each of our advanced manufacturing facilities worldwide. As a result, we can repeatedly move a product from its design phase to volume production while maintaining quality, even in developing regions of the world. Similarly, we have developed the manual portions of our manufacturing processes based on proven technologies and production methods that can be learned and implemented rapidly by line personnel. We focus on consistency and quality control across our facilities, using hands-on training methods and employing repeatable manufacturing processes.

We use an advanced form of vacuum-assisted resin transfer tooling process to pull liquid resin into a dry lay-up, resulting in light, strong, and reliable composite structures. In our manufacturing process, fiber reinforcements and core materials are laid up in a tool while dry, followed by a vacuum bag that is placed over the layup and sealed to the mold. The wind blade component is then placed under vacuum. The resin is introduced into the wind blade component via resin inlet ports and then distributed through the reinforcement and core materials via a flow medium and a series of channels, saturating the wind blade component. The vacuum removes air and gasses during processing, thereby eliminating voids. Pressure differentials drive resin uniformly throughout the wind blade component, providing consistent laminate. By using a variety of reinforcement and core materials, the structural characteristics of the wind blade can be highly engineered to suit the custom specifications of our customers. Although only occasionally required by our customers, we are also capable of employing additional composite fabrication processes, such as pre-impregnated laminates, in addition to our vacuum infusion process.

Quality Control

We employ a range of measurement, inspection and testing technologies to ensure adherence to precise tolerances and strict quality standards throughout our production process. These technologies include three dimensional laser scanning and thermographic imaging of our precision molding and assembly systems. We apply advanced ultrasonic inspection technologies to ensure quality of critical adhesive joints. We conduct static and fatigue load tests on full wind blades to ensure their strength and quality. These technologies are particularly important to maintain tight dimensional tolerances within millimeters over 50 to 60 meters, to provide maximum product integrity and performance, and to contribute to our ongoing process improvement efforts.

Product Warranties

Our wind blades are subject to warranties against defects in workmanship and materials, generally for a period of two to five years. We are not responsible for the fitness for use of the wind blade in the overall wind turbine system. We also are not responsible for failure of wind blades due to acts of god, including lightning strikes and other extreme weather. From time to time, we receive notice from our customers that one of our wind blades has failed in the field or otherwise may need service. When this occurs, we work with our customer to determine the root cause of the failure before determining if we are responsible for any remediation. If a wind blade is found to be defective during the warranty period as a result of a defect in workmanship or materials, we may need to repair or replace the wind blade (which could include significant transportation and installation costs) at our sole expense, among other potential remedies. We are also generally responsible for any claim of infringement arising out of any manufacturing process technology that we own and use to produce wind blades, wind blade tooling and other products. We are not responsible for any third party intellectual property infringement claims based on the wind blade designs specified by our customers.

Wind Blade Long-Term Supply Agreements

Our current wind blade customers are some of the world's largest wind turbine manufacturers. According to data from MAKE, our customers represented approximately 32% of the global onshore wind energy market, approximately 56% of that market excluding China, and over 82% of the U.S. onshore wind turbine market over the three years ended December 31, 2015, based on MWs of energy capacity installed. In our collaborative dedicated supplier model, our customers are incentivized to maximize the volume of wind blades purchased through increased pricing at lower volumes. As of March 31, 2016, our existing wind blade supply agreements provide for estimated minimum aggregate volume commitments of $1.5 billion and encourages customers to, in the aggregate, purchase additional volume up to an estimated total contract value of over $3.0 billion through the end of 2021, which we believe provides us with significant future revenue visibility and helps to insulate us from potential short-term fluctuations or legislative changes in any one market. Although in some instances our supply agreements contain liquidated damages provisions in the event of late delivery, we generally do not bear the responsibility for transportation and delivery costs in connection with the delivery of our wind blades.

GE Wind

In January 2007, we entered into a supply agreement to build a facility and manufacture wind blades for GE Wind in Taicang Port, China. Shortly thereafter in September 2007, we entered into a similar agreement to build a facility and manufacture wind blades for GE Wind in Newton, Iowa. Based on the success of these manufacturing arrangements, we were able to expand our customer relationship with GE Wind through additional supply agreements for manufacturing facilities in Turkey and Mexico in December 2011 and October 2013, respectively. Subject to certain exceptions on a plant-by-plant basis, each of our supply agreements with GE Wind provide for a minimum number of wind blade sets to be purchased by GE Wind each year during the term, the schedule for which is established at the outset of the agreement. In return, we commit to dedicate a specific number of manufacturing lines to GE Wind for each of the years 2015 through 2018. Additionally, we create model-specific tooling for GE Wind. For the three months ended March 31, 2016 and for the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, we recorded related-party sales under these supply agreements with GE Wind of $96.2 million, $312.5 million, $234.8 million and $196.1 million, respectively. Unless otherwise terminated or renewed, our supply agreements with GE Wind are in effect until the end of 2017 for our Turkey and China facilities and the end of 2018 for our Mexico and Iowa facilities. In some cases, GE Wind may terminate its supply agreements early upon providing us with 123 to 360 days' advance written notice and in one instance, no advance notice, and paying us termination fees as set forth in the applicable agreement. In addition, either party may terminate these supply agreements upon a material breach of the other party which goes uncured for 30 days after written notice has been provided. The supply agreements with respect to our China, Mexico and Iowa facilities provide that each party will bear its own costs except that the prevailing party in a legal action arising thereunder is entitled to its reasonable costs and expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees.

Our Iowa supply agreement with GE Wind provides that GE Wind may request that we manufacture certain wind blade models in a country where we currently do not have manufacturing capabilities. If we elect not to manufacture these wind blade models for GE Wind in such country, we have agreed to license our work instructions for our manufacturing processes to GE Wind for these wind blade models in such country for a license fee that will be negotiated on a case-by-case basis. This license also includes the right to sublicense our work instructions to a third party manufacturer in such country except for certain designated, third party wind blade manufacturers.

In January 2016, we entered into an agreement with GE Wind and received an advance of $2.0 million. These funds will be used to expand the existing Mexico manufacturing facility to accommodate larger wind blade models. We are obligated to repay the advance, without interest, by providing future credits against a specified number of wind blade sets sold to GE Wind. If the Mexico operation fails to supply those wind blade sets by December 31, 2016, the then outstanding balance of the advance will be immediately due and payable. The advance will also be immediately due in full upon a change of control of the Company or within 30 days after the effective date of an initial public offering of our common stock. See “Certain Relationships and Related Party Transactions” for additional information regarding our supply agreement with GE Wind.

Other Long-Term Supply Agreements

We have entered into other long-term supply agreements in China, Mexico and Turkey. Under each of these agreements, we agree to dedicate capacity for a set number of wind blades for each calendar year during the term of the agreement in exchange for commitments to purchase minimum annual volumes of wind blade sets. Unless otherwise terminated, these supply agreements generally remain in effect for a period of five years and either party may terminate their respective supply agreements upon a material breach of the other party which goes uncured. Some of these supply agreements contain provisions that allow for termination by the customer upon notice for reasons such as our failure to deliver the contracted wind blade volumes or our failure to meet certain mutually agreed upon cost reduction targets. See “Risk Factors—Risks Related to Our Wind Blade Business—Our long-term supply agreements with our customers are subject to termination on short notice and our failure to perform our obligations under such agreements, and termination of a significant number of these agreements would materially harm our business.”

Research and Development

We have a long history of what we believe are first-of-its-kind innovations in composite products as well as the development of new and advanced materials, tooling, manufacturing processes and inspection methods. Our knowledge and experience of composite materials and manufacturing originates with our predecessor company, Tillotson Pearson Inc., a leading manufacturer of high-performance recreational sail and powerboats along with a wide range of composite structures used in other industrial applications. Leveraging our knowledge and experience, we realized the opportunity to specialize in other industrial end-markets where there was a demand for high precision composite manufacturing capabilities.

We conduct extensive research and development in close collaboration with our customers on the design, development and deployment of innovative manufacturing processes, including automation, advanced materials and sophisticated product quality inspection tools. We partnered with the U.S. Department of Energy, government laboratories, universities and our customers to innovate through cost sharing AMII programs. In 2015, we received an award of $3.0 million from the U.S. Department of Energy’s Office of Energy Efficiency & Renewable Energy to lead a team of industry and academic participants to design, develop and demonstrate an ultra-light composite vehicle door for high volume manufacturing production in conjunction with other industry and university participants. We employ a highly experienced workforce of engineers in various facets of our business, from discrete research and development projects, to the ongoing, real-time development and implementation of incremental manufacturing and material improvements. Our research and development effort places a priority on improving quality through process and procedure improvement, in addition to reducing cost through specification changes and sourcing of more cost-effective suppliers. Other areas of emphasis include composite design, in-house fabrication of precision molding and assembly systems, prototyping, testing, optimization and volume production capabilities. We also encourage our employees to invent and develop new technologies to maintain our competitiveness in the marketplace. We operate a Wind Blade Innovation Center in Fall River, Massachusetts, which enhances our development activities and enables designated plant personnel to build prototypes and pilot production volumes of the wind blades scheduled to be manufactured at planned new facilities. Our Wind Blade Innovation Center can also be used to facilitate plant expansions, as well as to provide research and development on advanced composite technology. In addition to our internal research and development activities, from time to time we also conduct research and development activities pursuant to funded development arrangements with our customers and other third parties, and intend to continue to seek opportunities for product development programs that could create recurring revenue and increase our overall profitability over the long term.

For financial statement purposes, research and development is reflected in general and administrative expenses. For the three months ended March 31, 2016 and 2015 and for the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, our research and development expenses were $0.3 million, $0.2 million, $0.9 million, $0.8 million and $0.6 million, respectively.

Competition

The wind blade market is highly concentrated, competitive and subject to evolving customer needs and expectations. We compete primarily with other independent wind blade manufacturers, such as LM Wind Power, Tecsis, Sinoma Science & Technology Co. and ZhongFu Lianzhong Composites Group, as well as regional wind blade suppliers in geographic areas where our current or prospective manufacturing facilities are located. We also compete with, and in a number of cases supplement, vertically integrated wind turbine OEMs that manufacture their wind blades. We believe that a number of other established companies are manufacturing wind blades that will compete directly with our offerings, and some of our competitors, including LM Wind Power, Tecsis, and Sinoma Science & Technology Co., may have significant financial and institutional resources.

The principal competitive factors in the wind blade market include reliability, total delivered cost, manufacturing capability, product quality, engineering capability and timely completion of wind blades. We believe we compete favorably with our competitors on the basis of the foregoing factors. Our ability to remain competitive will depend to a great extent upon our ongoing performance in the areas of manufacturing capability, timely completion and product quality.

Transportation Products

We seek to create additional recurring revenue opportunities through the supply of other composite structures outside the wind energy market. We believe larger scale and higher volume transportation products, including buses, trucks, and high performance automotive products, are ideally suited for our advanced composite technology because of the benefits derived from weight reduction, corrosion resistance, strength and durability. These benefits should allow us to develop structural composite solutions to assist our customers in developing buses with clean propulsion systems or in meeting new and developing fuel economy standards including the 2025 U.S. Government CAFÉ standards that are pushing automakers to develop lighter more fuel efficient vehicles with lower emissions. In 2015, we received an award of $3.0 million from the U.S. Department of Energy's Office of Energy Efficiency & Renewable Energy to design, develop and demonstrate an ultra-light composite vehicle door for high volume manufacturing production in conjunction with various other industry and university participants.

In addition, by producing a range of composite structures, we are able to leverage the materials and manufacturing process technology and expertise developed through one project to maximize production quality, improve performance and minimize costs across our other manufacturing efforts, including our wind blade business. Our projects for customers in the transportation market have historically generated project-related revenues for a specific duration. We intend to seek collaborations with additional customers in these markets that will provide recurring project revenue and business opportunities for us, in addition to the opportunities provided by our existing customers and relationships, and increase our overall profitability over the long term.

Our facility in Warren, Rhode Island manufactures products for customers in the transportation market using the same proprietary and replicable manufacturing processes that we use to produce our wind blades. Our projects for customers in the transportation market have included the supply of all-composite bodies for electric buses and automated people mover systems for airports. We have also developed a number of first-of-its-kind innovations in the transportation space including an all-composite bodied HUMVEE, an all-composite HEMMT military truck cab and an all-composite transit bus body that demonstrated that such full vehicle bodies can be made with structural composites in a manner that meets the U.S. transit authority's and U.S. Army's reliability and durability standards, while also saving hundreds to thousands of pounds compared to steel and aluminum.

Our current principal competitors in the transportation market include suppliers of conventional steel and aluminum products and non-structural automotive fiberglass and other advanced composites-based manufacturers for transportation applications.

Intellectual Property

We have a variety of intellectual property rights, including patents (filed and applied-for in a number of jurisdictions, including the United States, the European Union, and more recently, China), trademarks and copyrights, but we believe that our continued success and competitive position depend in large part on our proprietary materials, tooling, process and inspection technologies and our ability to innovate. Accordingly, we take measures to protect the confidentiality and control the disclosure of our proprietary technology. We rely primarily on a combination of know-how and trade secrets to establish and protect our proprietary rights and preserve our competitive position. Trade secrets, however, are difficult to protect. We also seek to protect our proprietary technology, in part, by confidentiality agreements with our customers, employees, consultants and other contractors. These agreements may be breached, and we may not have adequate remedies for any breach. In addition, our trade secrets may otherwise become known or be independently discovered by competitors. To the extent that our customers, employees, consultants or contractors use intellectual property owned by others in their work for us, disputes may arise as to the rights in related or resulting know-how and inventions.

Backlog

As of March 31, 2016 and 2015, the backlog for our wind blades and related products totaled $464.0 million and $365.8 million, respectively. Our backlog includes purchase orders signed in connection with our long-term supply agreements. We generally record a purchase order into backlog when the following requirements have been met: a signed long-term supply agreement has been executed with our customer, a purchase order has been made by our customer and we expect to ship wind blades to such customer in satisfaction of any purchase order within 12 months. Backlog as of any particular date should not be relied upon as indicative of our revenue for any future period. Although in certain circumstances projects may be delayed, in these circumstances the long-term supply agreement generally rolls forward and the revenue remains on the backlog until the project commences.

Regulation

Our operations are subject to various foreign, federal, state and local regulations related to environmental protection, health and safety, labor relationships, general business practices and other matters. These regulations are administered by various foreign, federal, state and local environmental agencies and authorities, including the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, the Occupational Safety and Health Administration of the U.S. Department of Labor and comparable agencies in China, Mexico and Turkey. In addition, our manufacturing operations in China, Mexico and Turkey are subject to those countries' wage and price controls, currency exchange control regulations, investment and tax laws, laws restricting our ability to repatriate profits, trade restrictions and laws that may restrict foreign investment in certain industries. Some of these laws have only been recently adopted or are subject to further rulemaking or interpretation, and their impact on our operations, including the cost of complying with these laws, is uncertain. We maintain a policy of adhering to the laws of the United States or the country in which our manufacturing facility is located, whichever is stricter, and believe that our operations currently comply, in all material respects, with applicable laws and regulations. Further, as a U.S. corporation, we and our subsidiaries are subject to the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act, which generally prohibits U.S. companies and their intermediaries from making improper payments to foreign officials for the purpose of obtaining or keeping business.

In addition, our business has been and will continue to be affected by subsidization of the wind turbine industry with its influence declining over time as wind energy reaches grid parity with traditional sources of energy. In the United States, the federal government has encouraged capital investment in renewable energy primarily through tax incentives. PTCs for new renewable energy projects were first established in 1992. The Production Tax Credit for Renewable Energy, or PTC, provided the owner of a wind turbine placed in operation before January 1, 2015 with a ten year credit against its U.S. federal income tax obligations based on the amount of electricity generated by the wind turbine.

The PTC was extended in December 2015 for wind power projects through December 31, 2019, and is currently contemplated to be phased down over the term of the PTC extension. Specifically, the PTC will be kept at the same rate in effect at the end of 2014 for wind power projects that commence construction by the end of 2016, and thereafter will be reduced by 20% per year in 2017, 2018 and 2019, respectively.

In August 2015, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency announced a final rule adopted pursuant to the Clean Air Act, known as the Clean Power Plan, which establishes national standards for states to reduce carbon emissions from power plants. Specifically, the Clean Power Plan requires states to reduce carbon emissions from power plants 32% below 2005 levels by 2030. The Clean Power Plan also provides for interim state-level compliance reduction targets beginning in 2022 through 2030 based on individualized targets for each states utilizing 2012 historical carbon emissions data and three building blocks for emissions reduction including: increasing generation from new zero-emitting renewable energy sources such as wind. In February 2016, the United States Supreme Court issued a stay of the EPA's implementation of the Clean Power Plan until the D.C. Circuit of the United States Court of Appeals reviews the merits of multiple lawsuits challenging the legality of the Clean Power Plan.

At the state level, 29 states and the District of Columbia have implemented RPS that generally require that, by a specified date, a certain percentage of a utility's electricity supplied to consumers within such state is to be from renewable sources (generally between 15% and 25% by 2020 or 2025).

In addition, there are also increasing regulatory efforts to promote renewable power. China is currently implementing a 5-year plan with a goal of 15% total primary energy from non-fossil fuel sources and targeting 250 GWs of grid-connected wind capacity by 2020 according to its National Development and Reform Commission, and employs preferential feed-in tariff schemes, in addition to local tax-based incentives. Mexico has established strict targets, aiming for 35% renewable energy by 2024 and 50% by 2050, according to MAKE, which it is facilitating through tax incentives. Large European Union members have renewable energy targets for 2020 of between 13% and 49% of all energy use derived from renewable energy sources, according to MAKE. Turkey enacted Law No. 5346 in 2005 to promote renewable-based electricity generation within their domestic electricity market by introducing tariffs and purchase obligations for distribution companies requiring purchases from certified renewable energy producers. The World Bank also provided to Turkey an aggregate of $600 million of loan proceeds to encourage investors to construct generation plants with renewable energy resources. To incentivize target compliance, most member states adhere to a tariff scheme, which accelerates investment in renewable energy technologies by offering long-term supply agreements to renewable energy producers, or a cap and trade program. Wind power producers are generally awarded a higher per MW price under this policy mechanism.

Properties

Our headquarters is located in Scottsdale, Arizona, and we own or lease various other facilities in the United States, China, Mexico and Turkey. We believe that our properties are generally in good condition, are well maintained and are generally suitable and adequate to carry out our business at expected capacity for the foreseeable future. The table below lists the locations and square footage for our facilities as of May 31, 2016:

Location	Year Commenced	Leased or Owned	Approximate Square Footage	Description of Use
Newton, IA, United States	2008	Leased	337,922	Wind Blade Manufacturing Facility
Dafeng, China	2013	Leased	392,000	Wind Blade Manufacturing Facility
Dafeng, China (1)	2015	Leased	446,034	Wind Blade Manufacturing Facility
Taicang Port, China	2007	Owned	226,542	Wind Blade Manufacturing Facility
Juarez, Mexico	2013	Leased	345,984	Wind Blade Manufacturing Facility
Juarez, Mexico (2)	2016	Leased	358,796	Wind Blade Manufacturing Facility
Izmir, Turkey	2012	Leased	343,000	Wind Blade Manufacturing Facility
Izmir, Turkey (2)	2015	Leased	397,931	Wind Blade Manufacturing Facility

Employees

As of May 31, 2016, we employed over 5,600 full-time employees, of whom approximately 1,100 are located in the United States, 1,830 in China, 1,400 in Mexico and 1,320 in Turkey. Our employees in Turkey are represented by a labor union. We believe that our relations with employees are good.

Legal Proceedings

From time to time, we may be involved in disputes or litigation relating to claims arising out of our operations.

In March 2015, a complaint was filed against the Company in the Superior Court of the State of Arizona (Maricopa County) by a former employee of the Company, alleging that the Company had agreed to make certain cash payments to such employee upon any future sale of the Company. We filed a motion to dismiss the complaint in April 2015, which was denied. We subsequently filed an answer to the complaint in July 2015 denying the substantive allegations of the complaint. We filed a motion for summary judgment to dismiss the complaint in April 2016 and our motion remains pending. The parties completed court-ordered mediation in December 2015 but were not able to reach a settlement. We continue to deny the substantive allegations of the complaint and we intend to vigorously defend this lawsuit; however, we are currently unable to determine the ultimate outcome of this case.

In August 2015, we entered into a transition agreement with our former Senior Vice President – Asia, pursuant to which he transitioned out of this role at the end of 2015 and was to serve in a consulting capacity in 2016 and 2017. In January 2016, following our discovery that he had materially violated the terms of his transition agreement, we terminated his consultancy for cause. In April 2016, he filed an arbitration claim in China with the Taicang Labor and Personnel Dispute Arbitration Committee alleging that we improperly terminated his transition agreement. He is demanding that we continue to honor the terms of the transition agreement and pay him compensation and fees owed to him under the transition agreement, which in the aggregate total approximately $2.6 million. In addition, he is also challenging the validity of our termination of his option to purchase 458 shares of our common stock and 216 restricted stock units, which were canceled in January 2016 when we terminated his consultancy. We believe that our termination of his transition agreement was valid and we intend to vigorously defend this matter.

MANAGEMENT

Executive Officers and Directors

The following table sets forth information regarding our executive officers and directors including their ages as of May 31, 2016:

Name	Age	Position
Steven C. Lockard	54	President, Chief Executive Officer and Director
Mark R. McFeely	43	Chief Operating Officer
Wayne G. Monie	67	Chief Manufacturing Technology Officer and Director

Steven C. Lockard. Mr. Lockard became our President and Chief Executive Officer in 2004 and has served as a member of our board of directors since 2004. Prior to joining us in 1999, Mr. Lockard was Vice President of Satloc, Inc., a supplier of precision GPS equipment, from 1997 to 1999. Prior to that, Mr. Lockard was Vice President of marketing and business development and a founding officer of ADFlex Solutions, Inc., a NASDAQ-listed international manufacturer of interconnect products for the electronics industry, from 1993 to 1997. Prior to that, Mr. Lockard held several marketing and management positions including Business Unit Manager, Corporate Market Development Manager and Marketing/Applications Engineer at Rogers Corporation from 1982 to 1993. Mr. Lockard serves on the board of and is co-chair of the policy committee for the American Wind Energy Association and also serves on the board of Fluidic Energy. Mr. Lockard holds a B.S. degree in Electrical Engineering from Arizona State University.

We believe that Mr. Lockard is qualified to serve as a member of our board of directors based on his deep knowledge of our company gained from his positions as our President and Chief Executive Officer, as well as his experience in the wind energy industry and in high-growth global manufacturing companies.

Mark R. McFeely. Mr. McFeely joined us in November 2015 as our Chief Operating Officer. Prior to joining us, Mr. McFeely served as Senior Vice President and Chief Operations Officer of Remy International, Inc., an OEM and aftermarket supplier of heavy duty and light duty automotive components, from 2012 to 2015. Prior to that, Mr. McFeely was Vice President, Operations of Meggitt Safety Systems Inc. from 2011 to 2012. From 2005 to 2011, Mr. McFeely held several operations and leadership positions within divisions of Danaher Corporation, including General Manager/Plant Manager of Pacific Scientific, General Manager and Vice President, Global Operations of Kollmorgen Vehicle Systems, and General Manager/Director Operations of Jacobs Vehicle System Asia. Prior to 2005, Mr. McFeely held several operations and business development leadership positions at Honeywell International Inc. and the Federal Emergency Management Agency. He received a bachelor's degree from Colorado State University and an M.B.A. from Pennsylvania State University.

Wayne G. Monie . Mr. Monie has served as our Chief Manufacturing Technology Officer since December 2015, our Asia CEO from August 2015 through March 31, 2016, and has served as a member of our board of directors since 2004. Mr. Monie previously served as our Chief Operating Officer from 2004 to 2015 and as our Vice President—Operations from 2002 to 2004. Prior to joining us, Mr. Monie was Vice President, Manufacturing for First Solar, Inc., a solar company, from 2001 to 2002. Prior to that, Mr. Monie was Vice President and General Manager of Satloc, Inc., a supplier of precision GPS equipment, from 1998 to 2001. Prior to that, Mr. Monie was with Rogers Corporation from 1983 to 1998 reaching the position of General Manager of the Power Distribution Division, a manufacturer of power distribution systems for mainframe computers and large telecom switches. Prior to that, Mr. Monie was Executive Vice President of Glen-Mar Door Manufacturing Company, a manufacturer of residential and architectural doors from 1980 to 1983. Prior to that, Mr. Monie was Production Manager for Sperry Flight Systems from 1978 to 1980. Prior to that, Mr. Monie started his career with the Delco Moraine Division of General Motors in various process and industrial engineering positions, holding several supervisory engineering positions and General Foreman over a three shift manufacturing department. He was with General Motors from 1970 to 1978. Mr. Monie holds a B.S. degree in Industrial Engineering from Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University and an M.S. degree in Engineering Management from the University of Dayton.

We believe that Mr. Monie is qualified to serve as a member of our board of directors based on his deep knowledge of our company gained from his positions as our Chief Operating Officer and Asia CEO, as well as his experience in the wind energy industry.

We currently expect that Mr. Monie will resign from our board of directors prior to the effectiveness of the registration statement of which this prospectus is a part.

William E. Siwek. Mr. Siwek joined us as our Chief Financial Officer in 2013. Prior to joining us, Mr. Siwek previously served as the Chief Financial Officer for T.W. Lewis Company, an Arizona-based real estate investment company, from September 2012 to September 2013. From May 2010 until September 2012, he was an independent consultant assisting companies in the real estate, construction, insurance and renewable energy industries. Prior to that, Mr. Siwek was Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer of Talisker Mountain, Inc., from January 2009 to April 2010. Prior to that, he was President and Chief Financial Officer of the Lyle Anderson Company from December 2002 to December 2008. Prior to that, Mr. Siwek spent 18 years, from September 1984 to May 2002, with Arthur Andersen where he became a Partner in both Audit and Business Consulting Divisions. Mr. Siwek holds B.S. degrees in Accounting and Economics from University of Redlands and is a Certified Public Accountant.

Lars Moller. Mr. Moller has served as our Executive Vice President—Business Development and Strategy since April 2016. Prior to that he served as our Senior Vice President—EMEA and Global Supply Chain since September 2015 and prior to that he was our Senior Vice President—EMEA since July 2014. Before joining us, Mr. Moller served as CEO of North American Operations for Global Energy Services, from 2013 to 2014. From 2010 to 2012, Mr. Moller served as Group Senior Vice President for Vestas Wind Systems. From 2007 to 2010, Mr. Moller served as Executive Vice President and COO for Broadwind Energy and from 2003 to 2007, Mr. Moller served as President of DMI Industries.

Thomas J. Castle . Mr. Castle joined us in November 2015 as our Senior Vice President—North American Wind Operations and Global Operational Excellence. Prior to joining us, Mr. Castle was with Honeywell Aerospace from 2007 to 2015. Mr. Castle served as the Vice President of Integrated Supply Chain, Americas Electronics Operations Center from 2014 to 2015. From 2012 to 2014, he was the Global Vice President of the Honeywell Operating System for Aerospace. Prior to that, Mr. Castle held various positions at the Americas Services Organization from 2007 to 2012. From 1996 to 2007, Mr. Castle was with GE Aviation in roles of increasing responsibility, most recently as the Managing Director of a manufacturing facility in Thailand from 2005 to 2007. Mr. Castle holds a B.S. degree in Aeronautics from St. Louis University.

Steven G. Fishbach . Mr. Fishbach has served as our General Counsel since January 2015. Prior to joining us, Mr. Fishbach served as Deputy General Counsel of Global Cash Access Holdings, Inc. from 2011 to 2015 and Associate General Counsel from 2009 to 2011. Prior to that, Mr. Fishbach served in various senior roles in the legal department of Fidelity National Information Services, Inc./eFunds Corporation from 2005 to 2008. Mr. Fishbach also practiced corporate and securities law at Squire Sanders (now Squire Patton Boggs) from 2000 to 2005. Mr. Fishbach holds a B.A. degree in American Studies from Georgetown University and a juris doctor degree from William & Mary Law School.

Stephen B. Bransfield . Mr. Bransfield has served as a member of our board of directors since 2010. From 1993 to 2005, Mr. Bransfield was Vice President—GE Energy Global Supply Chain at General Electric. Prior to that, from 1988 to 1993, Mr. Bransfield held various General Manager positions at General Electric, where he began working in 1967. Mr. Bransfield currently serves on the board of directors of Package One Industries. Mr. Bransfield holds a B.S. in Operations from Boston College and an M.B.A. from Suffolk University.

We believe that Mr. Bransfield is qualified to serve as a member of our board of directors because of his substantial experience in the wind energy industry, global supply chain, quality and operations leadership.

Michael L. DeRosa . Mr. DeRosa has served as a member of our board of directors since 2009. Since 2006, Mr. DeRosa has been Managing Director at Element Partners, a private equity firm focused on energy and industrial technology. Prior to that, Mr. DeRosa was a Partner at Cordova Ventures from 2004 to 2006. From 2000 to 2004, Mr. DeRosa served as a Principal of EnerTech Capital, a venture capital firm that invests in energy technology. Mr. DeRosa currently serves on the board of directors of Agility Fuel Systems, AMP Electrical Distribution Services, Inc., Detechtion Technologies, Ecore International and TAS Energy. Mr. DeRosa previously served as a director of Advantage IQ, Arbinet-thexchange, Inc., Aspex Corporation, Axonn, EcoSMART, Energex and International Fiber. Mr. DeRosa holds a Bachelors degree in Electrical Engineering from Georgia Tech and an M.B.A. from the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania.

We believe that Mr. DeRosa is qualified to serve as a member of our board of directors because of his substantial experience in the clean technology industry and his long history of investing in renewable and alternate energy, energy technology, the industrial internet, materials and chemicals, and recycling technology.

Philip J. Deutch . Mr. Deutch has served as a member of our board of directors since 2007. Since 2005, Mr. Deutch has been the Managing Partner of NGP Energy Technology Partners, L.P. (NGP ETP), a private equity fund that invests in companies that provide products and services to the oil and gas, power, environmental, energy efficiency and alternative energy sectors. Prior to joining NGP ETP, from 1997-2005, Mr. Deutch served as a Managing Director and Member of the Executive Committee of Perseus, LLC, a private equity fund management firm, where he co-led the Firm's investments in energy. Prior to joining Perseus, Mr. Deutch was an attorney at Williams & Connolly LLP from 1991 to 1997 and worked in the Mergers and Acquisitions Department of Morgan Stanley & Co. from 1986 to 1988. Mr. Deutch currently serves on the board of directors of Catapult Energy Services, LLC, Oilfield Water Logistics, LLC, groSolar, Inc. and LED Engin, Inc. and previously served on the board of directors of American Wind Capital Company, Satcon Technology Corporation, Evergreen Solar and Beacon Power. Mr. Deutch holds a B.A. in Economics from Amherst College where he was elected a member of Phi Beta Kappa and a J.D. with distinction from Stanford Law School. Mr. Deutch currently serves on the External Advisory Committee of the MIT Solar Study and previously served on the Advisory Committee for the 2005 and 2006 Energy Venture Fairs and the Selection Committees for the 2005 Cleantech Venture Forum and 2006 NREL Industry Growth Forums.

We believe that Mr. Deutch is qualified to serve as a member of our board of directors because of his substantial experience investing in energy companies in the areas of renewable and alternative energy, energy efficiency, power and oil & gas and serving on the board of directors of both public and private companies.

Paul G. Giovacchini. Mr. Giovacchini has served as Chairman of our board of directors since 2006. Mr. Giovacchini is currently an independent consulting advisor to Landmark Partners, Inc. Prior to 2014 he had been a Principal of Landmark Partners, Inc. since 2005. Mr. Giovacchini has been investing in privately held companies on behalf of institutional limited partnerships since 1987. Mr. Giovacchini holds an A.B. in Economics from Stanford University and an M.B.A. from Harvard University.

We believe that Mr. Giovacchini is qualified to serve as a member of our board of directors because of his experience investing in growth companies and serving on their boards of directors, and his experience with debt securities. His long history with us serves as an asset to us as we transition from a private company to a public company.

Jack A. Henry. Mr. Henry has served as a member of our board of directors since 2008. Since 2000, Mr. Henry has served as the Managing Director of Sierra Blanca Ventures, LLC, a private investment and advisory firm. From 1966 to 2000, Mr. Henry worked as a certified public accountant for Arthur Andersen, a national accounting firm, retiring in 2000 as the Managing Partner of the Phoenix, Arizona office. Mr. Henry currently serves on the board of directors and chairs the audit committee of Grand Canyon Education and the boards of directors and audit committees of several private companies and is President of the Arizona Chapter of the National Association of Corporate Directors. Mr. Henry received a Bachelor of Business Administration degree and a Master of Business Administration degree from the University of Michigan.

We believe that Mr. Henry is qualified to serve as a member of our board of directors because his substantial experience in serving as a director of numerous private and public companies, as well as his prior employment as an accountant, make him well suited to assist us as a director and in our transition from a private company to a public company.

James A. Hughes . Mr. Hughes has served on our board of directors since October 2015. Since 2012, Mr. Hughes has served as the Chief Executive Officer of First Solar, Inc. and as a member of First Solar's Board of Directors. Mr. Hughes recently announced that he would be stepping down from his role as Chief Executive Officer effective June 30, 2016, but will continue to serve as a member of First Solar's board of directors. Prior to that, he served as its Chief Commercial Officer from March 2012 to May 2012. Prior to joining First Solar, Mr. Hughes served as Chief Executive Officer and Director of AEI Services LLC from October 2007 until April 2011. From 2004 to 2007, Mr. Hughes engaged in principal investing with a privately-held company based in Houston, Texas that focused on micro-cap investing in North American distressed manufacturing assets. Prior to that, he served as President and Chief Operating Officer of Prisma Energy International from 2002 to 2004. Mr. Hughes is a Non-Executive Director of APR Energy plc, a London Stock Exchange-listed energy company participating in the global market for gas and diesel fired temporary power plants. He is Chairman of the board of directors of the Los Angeles branch of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco. Mr. Hughes holds a juris doctor degree from the University of Texas at Austin School of Law, a Certificate of Completion in international business law from Queen Mary's College, University of London and a bachelor's degree in business administration from Southern Methodist University.

We believe that Mr. Hughes is qualified to serve as a member of our board of directors because of his many years of experience in various sectors of the energy industry, including renewable energy, as well as his experience serving as the CEO and in other high level executive roles at publicly-traded energy companies.

Scott N. Humber. Mr. Humber has served as a member of our board of directors since 2004. Mr. Humber has served as a Managing Director of Landmark Partners, Inc. since 2003. Prior to joining Landmark Partners, Mr. Humber was a principal at Boston Capital Private Equity Partners from 2000 to 2002. From 1998 to 2000, Mr. Humber was an associate at Triumph Capital Group and an Investment Banking Analyst at Salomon Smith Barney from 1996 to 1998. Mr. Humber holds a B.A. in International Commerce and Organizational Behavior and Management from Brown University.

We believe that Mr. Humber is qualified to serve as a member of our board of directors because his extensive experience as an investor in a variety of industries, as well as his long history of serving on our board of directors make him a valuable addition to the board of directors, especially as we transition from a private company to a public company.

We currently expect that Mr. Humber will resign from our board of directors prior to the effectiveness of the registration statement of which this prospectus is a part.

Daniel G. Weiss . Mr. Weiss has served as a member of our board of directors since 2009. Mr. Weiss is a co-founder and Managing Partner of Angeleno Group, a Los Angeles-based private equity firm with a global platform focused on high growth investments in alternative energy and natural resource-related companies. Founded in 2001, Angeleno Group invests broadly across the energy and natural resource industry to support innovative, well managed, rapidly growing businesses. Mr. Weiss has been with the Angeleno Group since 2001. In addition to his firm management responsibilities, Mr. Weiss leads investments and serves on boards of multiple Angeleno Group private portfolio companies. Prior to joining Angeleno Group, Mr. Weiss was an attorney at O'Melveny & Myers from 1998-1999. Mr. Weiss currently and previously has served on boards or public commissions for a number of non-profit and government organizations including the World Resources Institute, the Stanford Law School Board of Visitors, the City of Los Angeles Redistricting Commission and the UCLA Institute on the Environment and Sustainability. Mr. Weiss holds a B.A. in History with High Honors from the University of California, Berkeley, an M.A. in Latin American Studies from Stanford University and a J.D. from Stanford Law School.

We believe that Mr. Weiss is qualified to serve as a member of our board of directors because he has substantial experience as an investor and director for energy and energy related technology companies.

Board Composition

Our board of directors is currently composed of ten members. Our certificate of incorporation and bylaws to be effective upon the closing of this offering provide that the number of our directors shall be fixed from time to time by a resolution of the majority of our board of directors. Upon completion of this offering, our board of directors will be divided into three staggered classes of directors. At each annual meeting of stockholders, a class of directors will be elected for a three-year term to succeed the same class of directors whose terms are then expiring. The terms of the directors will expire upon the election and qualification of successor directors at the annual meeting of stockholders to be held during 2017 for the Class I directors, 2018 for the Class II directors and 2019 for the Class III directors.

- Our Class I directors will be Steven Lockard, Stephen Bransfield and Philip Deutch.
- Our Class II directors will be Paul Giovacchini and Michael DeRosa.
- Our Class III directors will be Jack Henry, Daniel Weiss and James Hughes.

Any increase or decrease in the number of directors will be distributed among the three classes so that, as nearly as possible, each class will consist of one-third of the directors.

The division of our board of directors into three classes with staggered three-year terms may delay or prevent a change of our management or a change of control. See the section of this prospectus captioned "Description of Capital Stock—Anti-Takeover Effects of Delaware Law and Provisions of Our Certificate of Incorporation and Bylaws" for a discussion of other anti-takeover provisions found in our certificate of incorporation and bylaws to be effective upon the closing of this offering.

Director Independence

Under the rules of The NASDAQ Global Market, independent directors must comprise a majority of a listed company's board of directors within a specified period of the completion of its offering. In addition, the rules of The NASDAQ Global Market require that, subject to specified exceptions, each member of a listed company's audit, compensation and nominating and corporate governance committees be independent. Under the rules of The NASDAQ Global Market, a director will only qualify as an "independent director" if, in the opinion of that company's board of directors, that person does not have a relationship that would interfere with the exercise of independent judgment in carrying out the responsibilities of a director.

Audit committee members must also satisfy the independence criteria set forth in Rule 10A-3 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. In order to be considered independent for purposes of Rule 10A-3, a member of an audit committee of a listed company may not, other than in his or her capacity as a member of the audit committee, the board of directors or any other board committee: (1) accept, directly or indirectly, any consulting, advisory or other compensatory fee from the listed company or any of its subsidiaries or (2) be an affiliated person of the listed company or any of its subsidiaries.

In April 2016, our board of directors undertook a review of its composition, the composition of its committees and the independence of each director. Based upon information requested from and provided by each director concerning his background, employment and affiliations, our board of directors has determined that, none of the members of the board of directors, except for Messrs. Lockard and Monie, has a relationship that would interfere with the exercise of independent judgment in carrying out the responsibilities of a director and that each of these directors is "independent" as that term is defined under the rules of The NASDAQ Global Market. Our board of directors also determined that Messrs. Jack Henry, Stephen Bransfield and James Hughes, who will comprise our audit committee upon completion of this offering; Messrs. Paul Giovacchini, Michael DeRosa, Jack Henry and Philip Deutch, who will comprise our compensation committee upon completion of this offering; and Messrs. Philip Deutch, Stephen Bransfield and Daniel Weiss, who will comprise our nominating and corporate governance committee upon completion of this offering, satisfy the independence standards for those committees established by applicable SEC rules and the rules of The NASDAQ Global Market. In making this determination, our board of directors considered the relationships that each non-employee director has with our company and all other facts and circumstances our board of directors deemed relevant in determining their independence, including the beneficial ownership of our capital stock by each non-employee director.

Board Leadership Structure and Role of the Board in Risk Oversight

The positions of chairman of the board and chief executive officer are presently separated and have historically been separated at TPI. Separating these positions allows our Chief Executive Officer to focus on our day-to-day business, while allowing the Chairman of the Board to lead the board of directors in its fundamental role of providing advice to and independent oversight of management. Our board of directors recognizes the time, effort, and energy that the Chief Executive Officer is required to devote to his position in the current business environment, as well as the commitment required to serve as our Chairman, particularly as the board of directors' oversight responsibilities continue to grow. Our board of directors also believes that this structure ensures a greater role for the independent directors in the oversight of our company and active participation of the independent directors in setting agendas and establishing priorities and procedures for the work of our board of directors. This leadership structure also is preferred by a significant number of our stockholders. Our board of directors believes its administration of its risk oversight function has not affected its leadership structure.

While our bylaws and corporate governance guidelines do not require that our Chairman and Chief Executive Officer positions be separate, our board of directors believes that having separate positions and having an independent outside director serve as chairman is the appropriate leadership structure for us at this time and demonstrates our commitment to good corporate governance.

One of the key functions of our board of directors is informed oversight of our risk management process. Our board of directors does not have a standing risk management committee, but rather administers this oversight function directly through the board of directors as a whole, as well as through its standing committees that address risks inherent in their respective areas of oversight. In particular, our board of directors is responsible for monitoring and assessing strategic risk exposure. Our audit committee is responsible for reviewing and discussing our major financial risk exposures and the steps our management has taken to monitor and control these exposures, including guidelines and policies with respect to risk assessment and risk management. Our audit committee also monitors compliance with legal and regulatory requirements, in addition to oversight of the performance of our external audit function. Our nominating and corporate governance committee monitors the effectiveness of our corporate governance guidelines. Our compensation committee reviews and discusses the risks arising from our compensation philosophy and practices applicable to all employees that are reasonably likely to have a materially adverse effect on us.

Board Committees

Our board of directors has an audit committee, a compensation committee and a nominating and corporate governance committee, each of which has the composition and responsibilities described below. The audit committee, compensation committee and nominating and corporate governance committee all operate under charters approved by our board of directors, which will be available on our website upon the closing of this offering.

Audit Committee

Our audit committee oversees our corporate accounting and financial reporting process and assists the board of directors in monitoring our financial systems and our legal and regulatory compliance. Our audit committee will also:

- oversee the work of our independent registered public accounting firm;
- approve the hiring, discharging and compensation of our independent registered public accounting firm;
- approve engagements of the independent registered public accounting firm to render any audit or permissible non-audit services;
- review the qualifications and independence of the independent registered public accounting firm;
- monitor the rotation of partners of the independent registered public accounting firm on our engagement team as required by law;
- review our consolidated financial statements and review our critical accounting policies and estimates;
- review the adequacy and effectiveness of our internal controls; and
- review and discuss with management and the independent registered public accounting firm the results of our annual audit and our interim consolidated financial statements.

The members of our audit committee upon completion of this offering will be Messrs. Jack Henry, Stephen Bransfield and James Hughes. Mr. Henry is our audit committee chairman. Our board of directors has concluded that the composition of our audit committee meets the requirements for independence under, and the functioning of our audit committee complies with, the current requirements of and SEC rules and regulations, and is an audit committee financial expert as defined under SEC rules and regulations.

Compensation Committee

Our compensation committee oversees our corporate compensation programs. The compensation committee also:

- reviews and approves corporate goals and objectives relevant to the compensation of our chief executive officer and other executive officers;
- evaluates the performance of our executive officers in light of established goals and objectives;
- reviews and recommends compensation for our executive officers based on its evaluations;
- reviews and recommends compensation for our directors; and
- administers the issuance of stock options and other equity awards under our equity incentive plans.

The members of our compensation committee upon completion of this offering will be Messrs. Paul Giovacchini, Michael DeRosa, Jack Henry and Philip Deutch. Mr. Giovacchini is the chairman of our compensation committee. Our board of directors has determined that each of the four members noted above is "independent" for compensation committee purposes as that term is defined under the applicable rules, and before the expiration of the phase-in period applicable to initial public offerings under the applicable rules, all members of our compensation committee will be "independent" for compensation committee purposes.

Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee

Our nominating and corporate governance committee oversees and assists our board of directors in reviewing and recommending corporate governance policies and nominees for election to our board of directors. The nominating and corporate governance committee will also:

- evaluate and make recommendations regarding the organization and governance of the board of directors and its committees;
- assess the performance of members of the board of directors and make recommendations regarding committee and chair assignments;
- review and make recommendations with regard to our corporate succession plans for our chief executive officer and other executive officers;
- recommend desired qualifications for board of directors membership and conduct searches for potential members of the board of directors; and
- review and make recommendations with regard to our corporate governance guidelines.

The members of our nominating and corporate governance committee upon completion of this offering will be Messrs. Philip Deutch, Stephen Bransfield and Daniel Weiss. Mr. Deutch will be the chairman of our nominating and corporate governance committee upon completion of this offering. Our board of directors has determined that each member of our nominating and corporate governance committee is independent under the applicable rules of The NASDAQ Global Market.

Our board of directors may from time to time establish other committees.

Compensation Committee Interlocks and Insider Participation

During the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, our compensation committee was comprised of Messrs. Philip Deutch, Daniel Weiss, Michael DeRosa and Paul Giovacchini. None of the members of our compensation committee is an officer or employee of our company. None of our executive officers currently serves, or in the past year has served, as a member of the board of directors or compensation committee of any entity that has one or more executive officers serving on our board of directors or compensation committee.

In March 2012, we sold an aggregate of 240 shares of our Senior Redeemable preferred stock at a purchase price of $25,000 per share. As part of this offering, we sold an aggregate of 6 shares of our Senior Redeemable preferred stock for an aggregate purchase price of $0.15 million to an entity affiliated with Energy Technology Partners, L.L.C., of which Mr. Deutch is the manager. We also sold an aggregate of 60 shares of our Senior Redeemable preferred stock for an aggregate purchase price of $1.5 million to an entity affiliated with Angeleno Group, of which Mr. Weiss is a co-founder and managing partner. We also sold an aggregate of 174 shares of our Senior Redeemable preferred stock for an aggregate purchase price of $4.35 million to entities affiliated with Element Partners, of which Mr. DeRosa is a managing director.

In May 2014, we sold an aggregate of 120 shares of our Super Senior Redeemable preferred stock at a purchase price of $25,000 per share. As part of this offering, we sold an aggregate of 10 shares of our Super Senior Redeemable preferred stock for an aggregate purchase price of $0.25 million to an entity affiliated with Angeleno Group, of which Mr. Weiss is a co-founder and managing partner. For more information regarding sales of our preferred stock, see “Certain Relationships and Related Party Transactions—Private Placements of Securities.”

Code of Business Conduct and Ethics

We have adopted a code of business conduct and ethics that is applicable to all of our employees, officers and directors including our chief executive officer and senior financial officers, which will be available on our website upon the closing of this offering.

Director Compensation

Based on the recommendations of our compensation committee, we have adopted a non-employee director compensation policy to provide compensation that enables us to attract and retain high caliber directors who are not our employees or officers and who are not affiliated with holders of our preferred stock. Because directors that are affiliated with our investors have historically declined to receive board meeting compensation, our non-employee director compensation policy does not apply to these individuals. Under the non-employee director compensation policy, unaffiliated non-employee directors are entitled to cash compensation which consists of a quarterly retainer of $13,750. During the year ended December 31, 2015, we also granted restricted stock units and stock options to our non-employee directors.

We also reimburse all non-employee directors for their reasonable out-of-pocket expenses incurred in attending meetings of our board of directors or any committees thereof.

We do not pay any compensation to any employee directors for serving on our board of directors. Accordingly, Messrs. Lockard and Monie did not receive additional compensation for their services as members of our board of directors. See the section titled “Executive Compensation—Summary Compensation Table” below for additional information regarding the compensation paid to Messrs. Lockard and Monie for the year ended December 31, 2015.

The following table sets forth a summary of the compensation we paid to our non-employee directors during the year ended December 31, 2015.

(1) As of December 31, 2015, Messrs. Bransfield and Henry each held 50 restricted stock units and Messrs. DeRosa, Deutch, Giovacchini, Hughes and Weiss each held 8 restricted stock units. As of December 31, 2015, Messrs. Bransfield and Henry each held an option to purchase 107 shares of our common stock and Messrs. DeRosa, Deutch, Giovacchini, Hughes and Weiss each held an option to purchase 50 shares of our common stock.

(2) Represents the total retainer earned by the respective director in the year ended December 31, 2015. Messrs. DeRosa, Deutch, Giovacchini, Humber and Weiss did not receive retainers because they were affiliated with our investors.

(3) The amounts reported represent the grant date fair value of the restricted stock units awarded to the directors during the year ended December 31, 2015, calculated in accordance with FASB ASC Topic 718 , Compensation—Stock Compensation . Such grant date fair values do not take into account any estimated forfeitures related to service vesting conditions. The assumptions used in calculating the grant date fair values of the restricted stock units reported in this column are set forth in the Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements included elsewhere in this prospectus. The amounts reported in this column reflect the accounting cost for these restricted stock units and do not correspond to the actual economic value that may be received by the directors upon vesting and/or settlement of the restricted stock units.

(4) The amounts reported represent the grant date fair value of the stock options awarded to the directors during the year ended December 31, 2015, calculated in accordance with FASB ASC Topic 718. Such grant date fair values do not take into account any estimated forfeitures related to service vesting conditions. The assumptions used in calculating the grant date fair values of the stock options reported in this column are set forth in the Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements included elsewhere in this prospectus. The amounts reported in this column reflect the accounting cost for stock options and do not correspond to the actual economic value that may be received by the directors upon exercise of the stock options.

(5) Mr. Hughes was elected to our board of directors in October 2015, and therefore only received one quarterly retainer in 2015.

Upon the effective date of our initial public offering, we intend to implement a new compensation program for our non-employee directors. Under this program, all non-employee directors will receive an annual cash fee of $50,000. The Chairperson of the Board will receive an additional fee of $25,000 and a lead director (if we were to have a lead director and the lead director is not the Chairperson of the Board) will receive an additional fee of $15,000. In addition, each member of the Company's Audit Committee, Compensation Committee and Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee will receive an additional annual cash fee of $10,000, $7,500 and $5,000, respectively. The chairperson of each such committee will receive an additional annual cash fee of $15,000, $12,500 and $10,000, respectively.

In addition, upon initial appointment to the Board, each non-employee director will receive an option award with a grant date fair value of $200,000, which award will vest over four years, subject to the director continuing to be a service provider to us through each applicable vesting date. Each non-employee director will receive an annual restricted stock unit award with a grant date fair value of approximately $60,000, which award will vest in full on the first anniversary of the grant date, subject to the director continuing to be a service provider to us through the vesting date.

In the event of a "Sale Event" (as defined in our Amended and Restated 2015 Stock Option and Incentive Plan), the then-outstanding and unvested equity awards held by the non-employee directors that were granted pursuant to this compensation program will become 100% vested. An initial public offering of our common stock would not constitute a Sale Event under this plan.

We will reimburse all reasonable out-of-pocket expenses incurred by non-employee directors for their attendance at meetings of the Board or any committee thereof.

EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION

Executive Compensation Overview

Historically, our executive compensation program has reflected our growth and development-oriented corporate culture. To date, the compensation of our executive officers has consisted of a combination of base salary and annual performance-based cash compensation. As we transition from a private company to a publicly-traded company, we have engaged the services of an independent executive compensation consulting firm to review our current compensation plans and procedures and to provide additional information about comparative compensation offered by peer companies, market survey information and information about trends in executive compensation. At a minimum, we expect to review executive compensation annually with periodic input from a compensation consultant. As part of this review process, we expect the board of directors and the compensation committee to apply our values and philosophy, while considering the compensation levels needed to ensure that our executive compensation program remains competitive. We will also review whether we are meeting our employee retention objectives.

Summary Compensation Table

The following table presents information regarding the compensation earned by or paid to our chief executive officer and the two most highly compensated executive officers other than our chief executive officer, or our named executive officers, during the years ended December 31, 2015 and 2014.

(1) Mr. Lockard's annual salary was increased from $345,000 to $355,500 effective April 1, 2015; Mr. Monie's annual salary was increased from $290,000 to $298,750 effective April 1, 2015; and Mr. Siwek's annual salary was increased from $257,500 to $275,000 effective April 1, 2015.

(2) The amounts reported represent the grant date fair value of the restricted stock units awarded to the named executive officers during the year ended December 31, 2015, calculated in accordance with FASB ASC Topic 718. Such grant date fair values do not take into account any estimated forfeitures related to service vesting conditions. The assumptions used in calculating the grant date fair values of the restricted stock units reported in this column are set forth in the Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements included elsewhere in this prospectus. The amounts reported in this column reflect the accounting cost for these restricted stock units and do not correspond to the actual economic value that may be received by the named executive officers upon vesting and/or settlement of the restricted stock units.

(3) The amounts reported represent the grant date fair value of the stock options awarded to the named executive officer during the year ended December 31, 2015, calculated in accordance with FASB ASC Topic 718. Such grant date fair values do not take into account any estimated forfeitures related to service vesting conditions. The assumptions used in calculating the grant date fair values of the stock options reported in this column are set forth in the Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements included elsewhere in this prospectus. The amounts reported in this column reflect the accounting cost for stock options and do not correspond to the actual economic value that may be received by the named executive officers upon exercise of the stock options.

(4) Amounts for the years ended December 31, 2015 and 2014 represent the actual bonus compensation payable for such year pursuant to each named executive officer's achievement of certain performance metrics. For 2015, Messrs. Lockard and Monie were each awarded approximately 70% of their target bonus while Mr. Siwek was awarded 80% of his target bonus. Messrs. Lockard and Monie were each awarded 70% of their target bonus in 2014.

(5) Represents for Mr. Lockard, a company matching contribution under our 401(k) plan equal to $2,350 and group term life insurance equal to $751 in 2015 and a company matching contribution under our 401(k) plan equal to $2,550 and group term life insurance equal to $311 in 2014. Represents for Mr. Monie, a company matching contribution under our 401(k) plan equal to $5,886 and group term life insurance equal to $560 in 2015 and a company matching contribution under our 401(k) plan equal to $5,752 and group term life insurance equal to $311 in 2014. Represents for Mr. Siwek, a company matching contribution under our 401(k) plan equal to $3,919 and group term life insurance equal to $751 in 2015.

Perquisites, Health, Welfare and Retirement Plans and Benefits

Health and Welfare Benefits

Our named executive officers are eligible to participate in all of our employee benefit plans, including our medical, dental, life and disability insurance plans, in each case on the same basis as other employees of the same status.

401(k) Plan

We maintain a tax-qualified retirement plan that provides all regular employees with an opportunity to save for retirement on a tax-advantaged basis. Under our 401(k) plan, participants may elect to defer a portion of their compensation on a pre-tax basis and have it contributed to the plan subject to applicable annual Internal Revenue Code limits. Pre-tax contributions are allocated to each participant's individual account and are then invested in selected investment alternatives according to the participants' directions. Employee elective deferrals are 100% vested at all times. The 401(k) plan allows for matching contributions to be made by us. Currently, we match up to 25% of the first 8% of deferred compensation. As a tax-qualified retirement plan, contributions to the 401(k) plan and earnings on those contributions are not taxable to the employees until distributed from the 401(k) plan and all contributions are deductible by us when made.

Perquisites and Personal Benefits

We generally do not provide perquisites or personal benefits to our named executive officers.

Employment Agreements

We have employment agreements or offer letters with our executive officers. We intend to replace these existing employment agreements and offer letters with new executive officer employment agreements in connection with this offering. These new executive officer employment agreements will set forth the terms and conditions of employment of each such executive officer, including base salary, target annual bonus opportunity and standard benefit plan participation. These agreements will also contain provisions that provide for certain payments and benefits in the event of a termination of employment under certain circumstances. Set forth below are descriptions of the current employment agreements with our named executive officers. We intend that these agreements (and the description of the terms thereof in this prospectus) will be replaced with our new executive officer employment agreements (and descriptions thereof) prior to the consummation of this offering.

New Employment Agreements for Messrs. Lockard, Monie and Siwek

In 2016, we will enter into new employment agreements with each of Messrs. Lockard, Monie and Siwek, effective as of the completion of this offering, pursuant to which they will continue to serve as our President and Chief Executive Officer, Chief Manufacturing Technology Officer and Chief Financial Officer, respectively. The terms of the new employment agreements are substantially similar to each other and provide for at-will employment. The agreements also set forth initial base salaries of $500,000, $310,000 and $325,000 for Messrs. Lockard, Monie and Siwek, respectively, annual target bonuses of 100%, 50% and 50% of base salaries for Messrs. Lockard, Monie and Siwek, respectively, and eligibility to participate in benefit plans generally.

Involuntary Termination of Employment

Pursuant to the new employment agreements, in the event the applicable executive is terminated by us without "cause" (as defined in the agreement) or he resigns for "good reason" (as defined in the agreement), subject to the delivery of a fully effective release of claims and continued compliance with applicable restrictive covenants, the executive will be entitled to (i) a cash severance equal to 150%, 50% and 100% of the base salaries of Messrs. Lockard, Monie and Siwek, respectively (payable in 18, 6 and 12 monthly installments for Messrs. Lockard, Monie and Siwek, respectively) and (ii) up to 18, 6 and 12 monthly cash payments equal to our monthly contribution for health insurance for Messrs. Lockard, Monie and Siwek, respectively.

Involuntary Termination of Employment in Connection with a Change in Control

In the event an executive is terminated by us without cause or he resigns for good reason, each within 12 months following a change in control (as defined in the agreement), subject to the delivery of a fully effective release of claims and continued compliance with applicable restrictive covenants, the executive will not be entitled to the severance benefits described above, but will instead be entitled to the following: (i) a lump sum cash severance equal to 150%, 100% and 100% of the base salaries of Messrs. Lockard, Monie and Siwek, respectively, and 150%, 100% and 100% of the annual target bonuses of Messrs. Lockard, Monie and Siwek, respectively, (ii) up to 18, 12 and 12 monthly cash payments for Messrs. Lockard, Monie and Siwek, respectively, equal to our monthly contribution for health insurance for the executive, (iii) for all outstanding and unvested equity awards of the Company subject to time-based vesting held by the executives, full accelerated vesting of such awards, with a post-termination exercise period, if applicable, of one year and (iv) for all outstanding and unvested equity awards of the Company subject to performance-based vesting held by the executives, fully accelerated vesting of such awards to the extent the applicable performance goals have been met at such time.

The Company may terminate each executive's employment for cause by a vote of the board of directors at a meeting of the board of directors called and held for such purpose.

The payments and benefits provided under the new employment agreements in connection with a change in control may not be eligible for federal income tax deduction for the Company pursuant to Section 280G of the Internal Revenue Code. These payments and benefits may also be subject to an excise tax under Section 4999 of the Internal Revenue Code. If the payments or benefits payable to each executive in connection with a change in control would be subject to the excise tax imposed under Section 4999 of the Internal Revenue Code, then those payments or benefits will be reduced if such reduction would result in a higher net after-tax benefit to him.

Pursuant to the new employment agreements, each of Messrs. Lockard, Monie and Siwek will be subject to standard confidentiality and nondisclosure, assignment of intellectual property work product and post-termination noncompetition and non-solicitation of employees, consultants and customers covenants.

Prior Agreements

Messrs. Lockard and Monie

On September 30, 2004, we entered into employment agreements with each of Mr. Lockard, our President and Chief Executive Officer, and Mr. Monie, currently our Chief Manufacturing Technology Officer and Asia CEO. The employment agreements, as amended on December 24, 2010 for Mr. Lockard and on December 28, 2010 for Mr. Monie, set forth the terms and conditions of each executive's employment, and provided for an initial term of three years with automatic one-year renewals unless terminated earlier by us or the applicable executive. Each of these agreements automatically terminates upon a change of control. In addition, the agreements set forth each executive's initial annual base salary and pursuant to the agreements, each executive is eligible to earn an annual target bonus equal to 100% of his base salary for Mr. Lockard and 50% of his base salary for Mr. Monie, based on his achievement of performance metrics established by our board of directors upon consultation with the executives. Upon consummation of this offering, these agreements will be superceded by the new employment agreements described above.

In the event that Mr. Lockard or Mr. Monie is terminated by us without cause (as defined in his applicable agreement), subject to the executive's execution of an irrevocable release and compliance with restrictive covenants, each executive will be entitled to receive the following: (i) continuation of his then-current annual base salary for 12 months (the "Benefits Continuation Period") and (ii) Company-subsidized health benefits continuation for the Benefits Continuation Period; provided, that if such executive continues to receive cash compensation from us following such termination in any other capacity, or commences employment or self-employment during the Benefits Continuation Period, such continuation of health benefits will immediately terminate as of the date of such employment or self-employment and such salary continuation will be reduced by the amount of any payments made to the executive in connection with such employment or self-employment. In the event that Mr. Lockard's or Mr. Monie's employment with us is terminated due to disability, subject to the executive's compliance with applicable restrictive covenants, each executive will be entitled to receive continuation of his then-current annual base salary, less any disability pay or sick pay benefits, for a period of time equal to the lesser of (A) six months or (B) the remainder of the executive's applicable term.

Pursuant to the agreements, each executive is subject to a perpetual confidentiality covenant as well as post-termination noncompetition and non-solicitation of employees, customers or suppliers covenants for five years. The post-termination noncompetition covenant is for three years in the case of a termination of employment by us without cause.

For purposes of the agreements, "cause" is generally defined as (1) the executive indictment for a crime which constitutes a felony or a plea of guilty or nolo contendere; (2) the commission by the executive of any dishonest or wrongful act or the gross negligence of the executive involving fraud, misrepresentation or act of moral turpitude causing damage or potential damage to us or any of our clients, or any act or omission by the executive that is materially injurious to our business or reputation; (3) any act or omission which constitutes a material breach of the agreement or the failure or the willful refusal of the executive to perform any of his duties after a 10-day opportunity to cure; (4) any violation of the executive's restrictive covenants; or (5) a reasonable determination by a licensed medical professional selected by us that the executive is dependent upon a controlled substance.

Mr. Siwek

On July 30, 2013, we entered into an offer letter with Mr. Siwek, our Chief Financial Officer. The offer letter provides Mr. Siwek with general employment terms, including an initial annual base salary, an opportunity to earn a target bonus equal to 40% of his base salary, based on the Company's achievement of performance metrics established by our board of directors, as well as Mr. Siwek's individual performance, and his eligibility to participate in the Company's equity plan and other benefit programs. Mr. Siwek's target bonus percentage was subsequently increased to 50% of his base salary. Mr. Siwek is subject to the Company's standard non-competition and confidentiality agreement. Upon consummation of this offering, this letter will be superceded by the new employment agreement described above.

Outstanding Equity Awards at Fiscal Year End

The following table provides information regarding outstanding equity awards held by our named executive officers at December 31, 2015:

(2) Approximately 25% of the shares subject to the option vest on the first anniversary of the effective date of this offering, and approximately 6.25% of the shares vest on each quarterly anniversary thereafter, such that 100% of the shares subject to the option vest on the fourth anniversary of this offering; provided, that the named executive officer remains continuously employed with us through each applicable vesting date.

(3) Approximately one-third of the restricted stock units vest on each of the first, second and third anniversaries of the effective date of this offering; provided, that the named executive officer remains continuously employed with us through each applicable vesting date.

(4) Assumes an initial public offering price of $ per share, which is the midpoint of the estimated price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus.

Equity Incentive Plans and Bonus Plan

Amended and Restated 2015 Stock Option and Incentive Plan

Our 2015 Stock Option and Incentive Plan was initially adopted by our board of directors and approved by our stockholders in May 2015 and was subsequently amended and restated in June 2016. The Amended and Restated 2015 Stock Option and Incentive Plan, or the 2015 Plan, replaced the 2008 Plan (as defined below), as our board of directors has determined not to make additional awards under the 2008 Plan upon adoption of the 2015 Stock Option and Incentive Plan. The 2015 Plan allows the compensation committee to make equity-based incentive awards to our officers, employees, directors and consultants.

We have initially reserved 17,547 shares of our common stock for the issuance of awards under the 2015 Plan, plus the 2,869 shares of common stock remaining available for issuance under our 2008 Plan. The 2015 Plan provides that the number of shares reserved and available for issuance under the plan will automatically increase each January 1, beginning on January 1, 2016, by 4% of the outstanding number of shares of our common stock on the immediately preceding December 31 or such lesser number of shares as determined by our compensation committee. This number is subject to adjustment in the event of a stock split, stock dividend or other change in our capitalization.

The shares we issue under the 2015 Plan will be authorized but unissued shares or shares that we reacquire. The shares of common stock underlying any awards that are forfeited, cancelled, held back upon exercise or settlement of an award to satisfy the exercise price or tax withholding, reacquired by us prior to vesting, satisfied without the issuance of stock, expire or are otherwise terminated (other than by exercise) under the 2015 Plan and the 2008 Plan will be added back to the shares of common stock available for issuance under the 2015 Plan.

Stock options and stock appreciation rights with respect to no more than 5,000 shares of common stock may be granted to any one individual in any one calendar year and the maximum "performance-based award" payable to any one "covered employee" during a performance cycle under the 2015 Plan is 5,000 shares of stock or $10,000,000 in the case of cash-based performance awards. The maximum number of shares that may be issued as incentive stock options may not exceed 17,547, provided that such maximum amount may be cumulatively increased beginning on January 1, 2016 and on each January 1 thereafter by the lesser of the annual increase for such year or 10,000 shares. The value of all awards under the 2015 Plan and all other cash compensation paid by the Company to any non-employee director in any calendar year cannot exceed $750,000.

The 2015 Plan will be administered by our compensation committee. Our compensation committee has full power to select, from among the individuals eligible for awards, the individuals to whom awards will be granted, to make any combination of awards to participants, and to determine the specific terms and conditions of each award, subject to the provisions of the 2015 Plan. Persons eligible to participate in the 2015 Plan will be those full or part-time officers, employees, non-employee directors and consultants as selected from time to time by our compensation committee in its discretion.

The 2015 Plan permits the granting of both (1) options to purchase common stock intended to qualify as incentive stock options under Section 422 of the Code and (2) options that do not so qualify. The option exercise price of each option will be determined by our compensation committee but may not be less than 100% of the fair market value of our common stock on the date of grant. In the event of an incentive stock option that is granted to an employee who owns or is deemed to own more than 10% of the combined voting power of all classes of stock of the Company or any parent or subsidiary corporation, or a 10% owner, the option exercise price of such option may not be less than 110% of the fair market value of our common stock on the date of grant. The term of each option will be fixed by our compensation committee and may not exceed ten years from the date of grant (five years in the case of an incentive stock option held by a 10% owner). Our compensation committee will determine at what time or times each option may be exercised. To the extent required for incentive stock option treatment under Section 422 of the Code, the aggregate fair market value (determined as of the time of grant) of the shares of stock with respect to which incentive stock options become exercisable for the first time by an optionee during any calendar year must not exceed $100,000. To the extent that any stock option exceeds this limit, it will constitute a nonqualified stock option.

Our compensation committee may award stock appreciation rights subject to such conditions and restrictions as it may determine. Stock appreciation rights entitle the recipient to shares of common stock, or cash, equal to the value of the appreciation in our stock price over the exercise price. The exercise price may not be less than 100% of fair market value of the common stock on the date of grant. The term of a stock appreciation right may not exceed ten years.

Our compensation committee may award restricted shares of common stock and restricted stock units to participants subject to such conditions and restrictions as it may determine. These conditions and restrictions may include the achievement of certain performance goals and/or continued employment with us through a specified vesting period. Our compensation committee may also grant shares of common stock that are free from any restrictions under the 2015 Plan. Unrestricted common stock may be granted to participants in recognition of past services or for other valid consideration and may be issued in lieu of cash compensation due to such participant.

Our compensation committee may grant performance share awards to participants that entitle the recipient to receive awards of common stock upon the achievement of certain performance goals and such other conditions as our compensation committee shall determine. Our compensation committee may grant dividend equivalent rights to participants that entitle the recipient to receive credits for dividends that would be paid if the recipient had held a specified number of shares of common stock.

Our compensation committee may grant cash bonuses under the 2015 Plan to participants, subject to the achievement of certain performance goals.

Our compensation committee may grant awards of restricted stock, restricted stock units, performance shares or cash-based awards under the 2015 Plan that are intended to qualify as "performance-based compensation" under Section 162(m) of the Code. Such awards will only vest or become payable upon the attainment of performance goals that are established by our compensation committee and related to one or more performance criteria. The performance criteria that could be used with respect to any such awards include: total shareholder return, earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization, net income (loss) (either before or after interest, taxes, depreciation and/or amortization), changes in the market price of the Company's common stock, economic value-added, funds from operations or similar measure, sales or revenue, corporate revenue, net annual recurring revenue, acquisitions or strategic transactions, operating income (loss), cash flow (including, but not limited to, operating cash flow and free cash flow), return on capital, assets, equity, or investment, shareholder returns, return on sales, gross or net profit levels, productivity, expense, margins, operating efficiency, customer satisfaction, working capital, earnings (loss) per share of the Company's common stock, sales or market shares, bookings, new bookings or renewals, number of customers, number of new customers or customer references, manufacturing plant metrics commonly used by senior management of the Company to monitor the performance of its manufacturing plants such as number of sets produced, cycle times, quality criteria and indicators, reportable safety incidents, and material cost out activities, any of which may be measured either in absolute terms or as compared to any incremental increase or as compared to the results of a peer group.

The 2015 Plan provides that upon the effectiveness of a Sale Event, as defined in the 2015 Plan, an acquirer or successor entity may assume, continue or substitute for the outstanding awards under the 2015 Plan. To the extent that awards granted under the 2015 Plan are not assumed or continued or substituted by the successor entity, all outstanding awards granted under the 2015 Plan shall terminate. In the event of such termination, individuals holding options and stock appreciation rights will be permitted to exercise such options and stock appreciation rights (to the extent exercisable) prior to the Sale Event. In addition, in connection with the termination of the 2015 Plan upon a Sale Event, we may make or provide for a cash payment to participants holding vested and exercisable options and stock appreciation rights equal to the difference between the per share cash consideration payable to stockholders in the Sale Event and the exercise price of the options or stock appreciation rights. We also have the option (in our sole discretion) to make or provide for a payment, in cash or in kind, to the individuals holding other awards in an amount equal to the Sale Price (as defined in the 2015 Plan) multiplied by the number of vested shares of stock under such awards. An initial public offering of our common stock would not constitute a Sale Event under the 2015 Plan.

Our board of directors may amend or discontinue the 2015 Plan and our compensation committee may amend or cancel outstanding awards for purposes of satisfying changes in law or any other lawful purpose, but no such action may adversely affect rights under an award without the holder's consent. Certain amendments to the 2015 Plan require the approval of our stockholders. The administrator of the 2015 Plan is specifically authorized to exercise its discretion to reduce the exercise price of outstanding stock options or stock appreciation rights or effect the repricing of such awards through cancellation and re-grants.

No awards may be granted under the 2015 Plan after the date that is ten years from the date of stockholder approval of the 2015 Plan.

We granted aggregate awards of 9,841 stock options and 2,033 restricted stock units during 2015 and the three months ended March 31, 2016 to certain employees and non-employee directors. These awards include a performance condition that relates to the completion of an initial public offering (IPO) by the Company and have a required service period of one to four years commencing upon achievement of the performance condition.

2008 Stock Option and Grant Plan

Our 2008 Stock Option and Grant Plan, or the 2008 Plan, was approved in April 2008 and an aggregate of 2,968 shares of common stock were authorized for issuance. Upon adoption of the 2015 Plan, the 2,869 shares still available for future grant under the 2008 Plan became available for future grant under the 2015 Plan. As of March 31, 2016, options to purchase 72 shares of our common stock were outstanding under the 2008 Plan. In the event that any outstanding awards under the 2008 Plan are cancelled, forfeited, withheld upon exercise or settlement to satisfy tax withholding, reacquired by the Company prior to vesting, satisfied without the issuance of stock or otherwise terminated without being exercised, the number of shares underlying such award becomes available for grant under the 2015 Plan. Options granted under the 2008 Plan generally expire 10 years after the date of grant. Our board of directors has determined not to grant any further awards under the 2008 Plan upon adoption of the 2015 Plan, and thus, we will make future awards under the 2015 Plan.

Our employees, officers, directors and consultants or those of our subsidiaries were eligible to participate in the 2008 Plan. However, only employees and officers were granted "incentive stock options."

Our compensation committee administered the 2008 Plan. The compensation committee had the ability to select award recipients, determine the size, types and terms of awards, interpret the plan and prescribe, amend and rescind rules and make all other determinations necessary or desirable for the administration of the 2008 Plan.

Options granted under the 2008 Plan were either "incentive stock options," which are intended to qualify for certain U.S. federal income tax benefits under Section 422 of the Code, or "non-qualified stock options." The per share exercise price of the incentive stock options awarded under the 2008 Plan must be at least equal to the fair market value of a share of our common stock on the date of grant. The holder of an option granted under the 2008 Plan will be entitled to purchase a number of shares of our common stock at a specified exercise price during a specified time period, as determined by our compensation committee. Options granted under the 2008 Plan may become exercisable based on the recipient's continued employment or service or the achievement of performance or other goals and objectives. Options may be exercised only to the extent that they have vested. The exercise price for an option may be paid in cash, in shares of our common stock valued at fair market value on the exercise date, by delivery of a full-recourse, interest-bearing promissory note, or by such other method as the compensation committee may establish.

No shares of restricted common stock or other awards have been granted or are outstanding under the 2008 Plan.

In the event of certain corporate transactions, such as a merger or consolidation in which we are not the surviving entity or a sale of all or substantially all of our assets, the 2008 Plan provides that it and each outstanding option shall terminate on the effective date of such transaction unless the parties to the transaction agree that each outstanding option will be assumed or substituted with a comparable option by our successor company or its parent. In the event that the 2008 Plan and outstanding awards terminate in connection with a transaction, the compensation committee, in its discretion, may provide each recipient with a cash payment with a fair market value equal to the amount that would have been received upon the exercise of the option had the option been exercised immediately prior to such transaction. Awards may provide for the acceleration of the exercise schedule or vesting schedule in the event of the involuntary dismissal of a recipient within a specified period of time following a change in control. Our award agreements for our executives under the 2008 Plan generally provide for 50% accelerated vesting of any unvested shares if (i) such equity awards are not assumed, or otherwise substituted, in connection with a change of control, or (ii) if assumed or substituted in connection with a change of control, such executive's employment is terminated without cause or for good reason within 12 months of such change in control.

Options granted under the 2008 Plan generally may be transferred only by will or by the laws of descent and distribution.

Our compensation committee may exercise its discretion to reduce the exercise price of outstanding stock options or stock appreciation rights or effect repricing through cancellation of outstanding awards and by granting such holders new awards in replacement of the cancelled awards.

The 2008 Plan was replaced in May 2015 following the Company's adoption of the 2015 Stock Option and Incentive Plan. The 2008 Plan will continue to govern outstanding awards granted thereunder.

Senior Executive Cash Incentive Bonus Plan

Our board of directors, upon the recommendation of our compensation committee, is expected to adopt the Senior Executive Cash Incentive Bonus Plan, or the Bonus Plan, which will govern the cash incentive bonuses for certain of our eligible executives, including our named executive officers. The Bonus Plan will provide for bonus payments based upon the attainment of performance targets, or the Performance Goals, established by the compensation committee and related to financial and operational measures or objectives with respect to the company, as well as individual performance objectives.

The Performance Goals from which the compensation committee may select include the following: total shareholder return, earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization, net income (loss) (either before or after interest, taxes, depreciation and/or amortization), changes in the market price of the Company's common stock, economic value-added, funds from operations or similar measure, sales or revenue, corporate revenue, net annual recurring revenue, acquisitions or strategic transactions, operating income (loss), cash flow (including, but not limited to, operating cash flow and free cash flow), return on capital, assets, equity, or investment, shareholder returns, return on sales, gross or net profit levels, productivity, expense, margins, operating efficiency, customer satisfaction, working capital, earnings (loss) per share of the Company's common stock, sales or market shares, bookings, new bookings or renewals, number of customers, number of new customers or customer references, manufacturing plant metrics commonly used by senior management of the Company to monitor the performance of its manufacturing plants such as number of sets produced, cycle times, quality criteria and indicators, reportable safety incidents, and material cost out activities, any of which may be measured in absolute terms or compared to any incremental increase, measured in terms of growth, compared to another company or companies or to results of a peer group, measured against the market as a whole or as compared to applicable market indices, measured on a pre-tax or post-tax basis or applied to the performance of a business unit, segment, product line, or specific market, or the entire company).

Each executive officer who is selected to participate in the Bonus Plan will have a target bonus opportunity set for each performance period. The bonus formulas will be adopted in each performance period by the compensation committee and communicated to each executive. The Performance Goals will be measured at the end of each performance period after our financial reports have been published or such other appropriate time as the compensation committee determines. If the Performance Goals and individual performance objectives are met, payments will be made as soon as practicable following the end of each performance period. Subject to the rights contained in any agreement between the executive officer and us, an executive officer must be employed by us on the bonus payment date to be eligible to receive a bonus payment. The Bonus Plan also permits the compensation committee to approve additional bonuses to executive officers in its sole discretion and to adjust bonuses (by increasing or decreasing the amount payable) based on an executive officer's attainment of individual performance objectives.

Indemnification of Officers and Directors

We have agreed to indemnify our directors and officers in certain circumstances. See "Certain Relationships and Related Party Transactions—Limitation of Liability and Indemnification of Officers and Directors."

Compensation Risk Assessment

We believe that although a portion of the compensation provided to our executive officers and other employees is performance-based, our executive compensation program does not encourage excessive or unnecessary risk taking. This is primarily due to the fact that our compensation programs are designed to encourage our executive officers and other employees to remain focused on both short-term and long-term strategic goals, in particular in connection with our pay-for-performance compensation philosophy. As a result, we do not believe that our compensation programs are reasonably likely to have a material adverse effect on us.

CERTAIN RELATIONSHIPS AND RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

Other than compensation agreements, the supply agreements described in the "Business—GE Wind" section of this prospectus, other arrangements which are described in the "Risk Factors" and "Executive Compensation" sections of this prospectus and the transactions described below, since January 2013, there has not been and there is not currently proposed, any transaction or series of similar transactions to which we were or will be a party in which the amount involved exceeded or will exceed $120,000 and in which any director, executive officer, holder of 5% or more of any class of our capital stock or any member of their immediate family had or will have a direct or indirect material interest.

We believe that we have executed all of the transactions set forth below and as described in the "Business—GE Wind" section on terms no less favorable to us than we could have obtained from unaffiliated third parties. All of the transactions set forth below and as described in the "Business—GE Wind" section were approved or ratified by a majority of our board of directors. We plan to adopt an updated written policy, effective upon the completion of this offering, that requires all future transactions between us and any related persons (as defined in Item 404 of Regulation S-K) or their affiliates, in which the amount involved is equal to or greater than $120,000, be approved in advance by our audit committee. Any request for such a transaction must first be presented to our audit committee for review, consideration and approval. In approving or rejecting any such proposal, our audit committee may consider, among other factors it deems appropriate, the facts and circumstances available and deemed relevant to the audit committee, including, but not limited to, the extent of the related party's interest in the transaction, and whether the transaction is on terms no less favorable to us than terms we could have generally obtained from an unaffiliated third party under the same or similar circumstances.

GE Wind Customer Advance

In January 2016, we entered into an agreement with GE Wind pursuant to which GE Wind agreed to pay us an advance of $2.0 million. As of March 31, 2016, the entire $2.0 million advance is outstanding. We intend to use these funds to expand our existing Mexico manufacturing facility to accommodate larger wind blade models. We are obligated to repay the advance without interest by providing a credit of a mutually agreed amount towards GE Wind's purchase of a mutually agreed number of wind blade sets supplied to GE Wind after we achieve certain qualification testing procedures and meet certain other criteria. If we fail to supply those wind blade sets by December 31, 2016, then the outstanding balance of the advance will immediately be due and payable. The advance will also be immediately due in full upon a change of control of our company or within 30 days after the effective date of this offering of our common stock.

Non-Exclusive License to GE Wind

In January 2016, we granted GE Wind a non-exclusive license to use certain of our work instructions relating to our manufacturing processes for one of their wind blade models. The scope of this license is limited to manufacturing the wind blade model exclusively in a country in which we do not currently have manufacturing operations, and also includes a limited right to sublicense to a designated, independent third party wind manufacturer. This license remains in effect so long as the designated, independent manufacturer continues to manufacture, sell and service the wind blade model covered by the license for GE Wind and otherwise complies with the terms of the license. In exchange for granting this license, we received a license fee from GE Wind.

Private Placements of Securities

Bridge Financings

In February 2014, we issued an aggregate of $5.0 million of bridge notes and related warrants to purchase shares of the Company's capital stock. All of the bridge notes were repaid in August 2014. The warrants are exercisable for 40.01 shares of the Company's Series B preferred stock at an exercise price of $8,748.81 per share, which we refer to as our Series B Warrants herein. Upon the consummation of this offering, the Series B Warrants will be exercisable for 142.56 shares of Common Stock. The table below sets forth the number of bridge warrant shares sold in connection with this financing to our directors, executive officers or owners of more than 5% of a class of our capital stock, or an affiliate or immediate family member thereof:

Purchaser (1)	Number of Common Stock shares underlying Series B Warrants
Angeleno Investors II, LP (2)	7.13
Element Partners (3)	135.43

(1) See "Principal Stockholders" for more detail on shares held by these purchasers.

(3) Element Partners II GP, LP is the general partner of Element Partners II, L.P. and Element Partners II Intrafund, L.P. Michael L. DeRosa, who is one of our directors, is a managing director of Element Partners.

In December 2014, we issued an aggregate of $10.0 million of Subordinated Convertible Promissory Notes and related warrants to purchase shares of the Company's capital stock. All of the Subordinated Convertible Promissory Notes will be repaid upon the consummation of this offering. The aggregate warrant coverage amount is $1.5 million and the warrants are exercisable for the Company's common stock at an exercise price that will be the lesser of $8,748.81 per share or 85% of initial public offering price per share, which we refer to as our Common Warrants herein. The table below sets forth the number of bridge warrant shares sold in connection with this financing to our directors, executive officers or owners of more than 5% of a class of our capital stock, or an affiliate or immediate family member thereof:

Purchaser (1)	Number of Common Stock shares upon exercise of Common Warrants
Angeleno Investors II, LP (2)	17.15

(4) Landmark Partners includes Landmark Growth Capital Partners, L.P. and Landmark IAM Growth Capital, L.P. Paul Giovacchini and Scott Humber, both of whom are our directors, are affiliated with Landmark Partners. Mr. Giovacchini serves as an advisor to affiliates of Landmark Partners and Mr. Humber is a vice president of affiliates of Landmark Partners.

Issuances of Preferred Stock and Warrants

Since January 2013, we have engaged in transactions regarding sales of our preferred stock to certain of our stockholders that beneficially own at least 5% of our voting securities and are affiliated with certain of our directors. In May 2014, we sold an aggregate of 120 shares of our Super Senior Redeemable preferred stock at a purchase price of $25,000 per share. In June 2014, we sold an aggregate of 160 shares of our Super Senior Redeemable preferred stock at a purchase price of $25,000 per share. In connection with such sales of Super Senior Redeemable preferred stock, we issued warrants to purchase an aggregate of 48.007 shares of our Series B preferred stock at a price per share of $8,748.81, which we refer to as our Super Warrants herein. Upon the consummation of this offering, the Super Warrants will be exercisable for 171.08 shares of Common Stock.

The following table summarizes the shares of our preferred stock purchased in these transactions by our 5% stockholders and entities affiliated with our directors.

Purchaser (1)	Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock	Total Common Stock Equivalents	Aggregate Consideration Paid	Number of Common Stock shares underlying Super Warrants
Angeleno Investors II, LP (2)	85	1,123.79	$ 2,125,000	51.93

Employment Agreements

We currently have employment agreements or offer letters with our Executive Officers. For more information regarding these agreements, see “Executive Compensation” and see the respective employment agreements which are attached as exhibits to the registration statement of which this prospectus is a part.

Limitation of Liability and Indemnification of Officers and Directors

Prior to the completion of this offering, we expect to adopt an amended and restated certificate of incorporation, which will become effective immediately prior to the completion of this offering, and which will contain provisions that limit the liability of our directors for monetary damages to the fullest extent permitted by Delaware law. Consequently, our directors will not be personally liable to us or our stockholders for monetary damages for any breach of fiduciary duties as directors, except liability for the following:

- any breach of their duty of loyalty to our company or our stockholders;
- any act or omission not in good faith or that involves intentional misconduct or a knowing violation of law;
- unlawful payments of dividends or unlawful stock repurchases or redemptions as provided in Section 174 of the Delaware General Corporation Law; or
- any transaction from which they derived an improper personal benefit.

Any amendment to, or repeal of, these provisions will not eliminate or reduce the effect of these provisions in respect of any act, omission or claim that occurred or arose prior to that amendment or repeal. If the Delaware General Corporation Law is amended to provide for further limitations on the personal liability of directors of corporations, then the personal liability of our directors will be further limited to the greatest extent permitted by the Delaware General Corporation Law.

In addition, prior to the completion of this offering, we expect to adopt amended and restated bylaws which will provide that we will indemnify, to the fullest extent permitted by law, any person who is or was a party or is threatened to be made a party to any action, suit or proceeding by reason of the fact that he or she is or was one of our directors or officers or is or was serving at our request as a director or officer of another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust, or other enterprise. Our amended and restated bylaws are expected to provide that we may indemnify to the fullest extent permitted by law any person who is or was a party or is threatened to be made a party to any action, suit, or proceeding by reason of the fact that he or she is or was one of our employees or agents or is or was serving at our request as an employee or agent of another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust, or other enterprise. Our amended and restated bylaws will also provide that we must advance expenses incurred by or on behalf of a director or officer in advance of the final disposition of any action or proceeding, subject to very limited exceptions.

Further, prior to the completion of this offering, we expect to enter into indemnification agreements with each of our directors and executive officers that may be broader than the specific indemnification provisions contained in the Delaware General Corporation Law. These indemnification agreements will require us, among other things, to indemnify our directors and executive officers against liabilities that may arise by reason of their status or service. These indemnification agreements will also require us to advance all expenses incurred by the directors and executive officers in investigating or defending any such action, suit, or proceeding. We believe that these agreements are necessary to attract and retain qualified individuals to serve as directors and executive officers.

The limitation of liability and indemnification provisions that are expected to be included in our amended and restated certificate of incorporation, amended and restated bylaws, and in indemnification agreements that we enter into with our directors and executive officers may discourage stockholders from bringing a lawsuit against our directors and executive officers for breach of their fiduciary duties. They may also reduce the likelihood of derivative litigation against our directors and executive officers, even though an action, if successful, might benefit us and other stockholders. Further, a stockholder's investment may be harmed to the extent that we pay the costs of settlement and damage awards against directors and executive officers as required by these indemnification provisions. At present, we are not aware of any pending litigation or proceeding involving any person who is or was one of our directors, officers, employees or other agents or is or was serving at our request as a director, officer, employee or agent of another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise, for which indemnification is sought, and we are not aware of any threatened litigation that may result in claims for indemnification.

We have obtained insurance policies under which, subject to the limitations of the policies, coverage is provided to our directors and executive officers against loss arising from claims made by reason of breach of fiduciary duty or other wrongful acts as a director or executive officer, including claims relating to public securities matters, and to us with respect to payments that may be made by us to these directors and executive officers pursuant to our indemnification obligations or otherwise as a matter of law.

Certain of our non-employee directors may, through their relationships with their employers or affiliated entities, be insured or indemnified against certain liabilities incurred in their capacity as members of our board of directors. In our indemnification agreements with these non-employee directors, we have agreed that our indemnification obligations will be primary to any such other indemnification arrangements.

The underwriting agreement provides for indemnification by the underwriters of us and our officers, directors and employees for certain liabilities arising under the Securities Act, or otherwise.

Insofar as indemnification for liabilities arising under the Securities Act may be permitted to directors, officers or persons controlling our company pursuant to the foregoing provisions, we have been informed that, in the opinion of the SEC, such indemnification is against public policy as expressed in the Securities Act and is therefore unenforceable.

Policies and Procedures for Related Party Transactions

Following the closing of this offering, the audit committee of our board of directors will have the primary responsibility for reviewing and approving or disapproving "related party transactions," which are transactions between us and related persons in which the aggregate amount involved exceeds or may be expected to exceed $120,000 and in which a related person has or will have a direct or indirect material interest. For purposes of this policy, a related person will be defined as a director, executive officer, nominee for director or greater than 5% beneficial owner of our common stock, in each case since the beginning of the most recently completed year, and their immediate family members. Our audit committee charter will provide that the audit committee shall review and approve or disapprove any related party transactions.

All of the transactions described above were entered into prior to the adoption of this policy. Accordingly, each was approved by disinterested members of our board of directors after making a determination that the transaction was executed on terms no less favorable than those that could have been obtained from an unrelated third party.

PRINCIPAL STOCKHOLDERS

The following table provides information concerning beneficial ownership of our capital stock as of March 31, 2016, and as adjusted to reflect the sale of shares of common stock in this offering, by:

- each stockholder, or group of affiliated stockholders, that owns more than 5% of our outstanding capital stock;
- each of our named executive officers;
- each of our directors; and
- all of our directors and executive officers as a group.

The following table lists the number of shares and percentage of shares beneficially owned based on 70,413 shares of common stock outstanding as of March 31, 2016 and shares of common stock outstanding upon the completion of this offering, which each include the conversion of all outstanding shares of preferred stock into an aggregate of 58,639 shares of common stock.

Beneficial ownership is determined in accordance with the rules of the SEC, and generally includes voting power and/or investment power with respect to the securities held. Shares of common stock subject to options or other awards that are currently exercisable or exercisable within 60 days of March 31, 2016 are deemed outstanding and beneficially owned by the person holding those options or other awards for purposes of computing the number of shares and percentage of shares beneficially owned by that person, but are not deemed outstanding for purposes of computing the percentage beneficially owned by any other person. Except as indicated in the footnotes to this table, and subject to applicable community property laws, the persons or entities named have sole voting and investment power with respect to all shares of our common stock shown as beneficially owned by them.

Unless otherwise indicated in the footnotes, the principal address of each of the stockholders below is c/o TPI Composites, Inc., 8501 North Scottsdale Road, Gainey Center II, Suite 100, Scottsdale, Arizona 85253.

DESCRIPTION OF CAPITAL STOCK

General

The following description summarizes the most important terms of our capital stock, as they are expected to be in effect upon the closing of this offering. We have adopted an amended and restated certificate of incorporation and amended and restated bylaws, each of which will be effective upon the closing of this offering, and this description summarizes the provisions that are expected to be included in such documents. Because it is only a summary, it does not contain all the information that may be important to you. For a complete description of the matters set forth in "Description of Capital Stock," you should refer to our amended and restated certificate of incorporation and amended and restated bylaws, which are included as exhibits to the registration statement of which this prospectus forms a part, and to the applicable provisions of Delaware law. Immediately following the closing of this offering, our authorized capital stock will consist of shares of common stock, $0.01 par value per share, and shares of undesignated preferred stock, $0.01 par value per share.

Assuming the conversion of all outstanding shares of our convertible preferred stock into shares of our common stock, which will occur upon the closing of this offering, as of March 31, 2016, there were 70,413 shares of our common stock outstanding, held by 16 stockholders of record, and no shares of our convertible preferred stock outstanding. Our board of directors is authorized, without stockholder approval except as required by the listing standards of The NASDAQ Global Market to issue additional shares of our capital stock.

Common Stock

The holders of our common stock are entitled to one vote per share on all matters to be voted on by our stockholders. Subject to preferences that may be applicable to any outstanding shares of preferred stock, holders of common stock are entitled to receive ratably such dividends as may be declared by our board of directors out of funds legally available for that purpose. In the event of our liquidation, dissolution or winding up, the holders of common stock are entitled to share ratably in all assets remaining after the payment of liabilities, subject to the prior distribution rights of preferred stock then outstanding. Holders of common stock have no preemptive, conversion or subscription rights. There are no redemption or sinking fund provisions applicable to the common stock.

Preferred Stock

Upon the closing of this offering, all currently outstanding shares of preferred stock will convert into shares of our common stock, and there will be no shares of preferred stock outstanding.

Though we currently have no plans to issue any shares of preferred stock, upon the closing of this offering and the filing of our certificate of incorporation, our board of directors will have the authority, without further action by our stockholders, to designate and issue up to shares of preferred stock in one or more series. Our board of directors may also designate the rights, preferences and privileges of the holders of each such series of preferred stock, any or all of which may be greater than or senior to those granted to the holders of common stock. Though the actual effect of any such issuance on the rights of the holders of common stock will not be known until such time as our board of directors determines the specific rights of the holders of preferred stock, the potential effects of such an issuance include:

- diluting the voting power of the holders of common stock;
- reducing the likelihood that holders of common stock will receive dividend payments;
- reducing the likelihood that holders of common stock will receive payments in the event of our liquidation, dissolution, or winding up; and
- delaying, deterring or preventing a change-in-control or other corporate takeover.

Warrants and Stock Options

As of March 31, 2016, we had outstanding warrants to purchase 248.03 shares of our Series B preferred stock, with a weighted-average exercise price of $8,748.81 per share, and warrants to purchase 171.45 shares of our common stock, with a weighted-average exercise price of $8,748.81 per share. Other than the Common Warrants, these warrants will terminate in connection with the completion of this offering, if not automatically exercised by the holders thereof prior to the completion of this offering. The Common Warrants are exercisable at any time until the earlier of (i) December 29, 2022, (ii) two (2) years following the effective date of this initial public offering, or (iii) the date of a merger event, as defined therein.

In addition, as of March 31, 2016, we had outstanding options to purchase 72 shares of our common stock under our 2008 Plan and outstanding options to purchase 9,230 shares of our common stock and 1,817 outstanding restricted stock units issued under our 2015 Plan.

Registration Rights

Investor Rights Agreement

We entered into a Third Amended and Restated Investor Rights Agreement, dated as of June 17, 2010, with certain of our preferred stockholders, as amended on June 30, 2014. Under our investor rights agreement, the parties have certain "demand" registration rights, "piggyback" registration rights (meaning holders may request that their shares be covered by a registration statement that we are otherwise filing) and S-3 registration rights. All of these registration rights are subject to certain conditions and limitations, including those relating to offerings of our securities, including this offering. Our obligations pursuant to the investor rights agreement terminate on the earlier of (1) ten years after the closing of this offering or (2) with respect to any holder of securities subject to registration under the terms of the investor rights agreement, at such time as all registrable securities of the holder may be sold pursuant to Rule 144 promulgated under the Securities Act of 1933, but in no event prior to the third anniversary of the closing of this offering.

Demand registration rights. At any time which is six months after this initial public offering of shares of our common stock, subject to certain exceptions, the holders of (a) not less than thirty percent (30%) of the shares of common stock issued or issuable upon conversion of the Series A Preferred Stock (other than registrable securities held by Landmark Partners) then outstanding, (b) not less than fifty percent (50%) of the registrable securities held by Landmark Partners, (c) not less than fifty percent (50%) of the shares of common stock issued or issuable upon conversion of the Series B Preferred Stock (other than registrable securities held by Landmark Partners) then outstanding or (d) not less than fifty percent (50%) of the shares of common stock issued or issuable upon conversion of the Series B-1 Preferred Stock (other than registrable securities held by Landmark Partners) have the right to demand that we file a registration statement, at our expense, covering the offer and sale of all or part of the registrable securities then outstanding. We are required to use commercially reasonable efforts to effect any such registration.

Piggyback registration rights. If, after this offering, we propose to register any of our securities for our own account or the account of any other holder, the holders of approximately 69,601 shares of common stock, after this offering, are entitled to notice of such registration and are entitled to include shares of their common stock in such registration.

S-3 registration rights. The holders of approximately 69,601 shares of common stock, after this offering, are entitled to demand registration rights pursuant to which they may require us to file a registration statement on Form S-3 with respect to their shares of common stock. We are not obligated to effect any such registration if (a) Form S-3 is not available for such offering, (b) the aggregate proceeds from the sale of such securities will not exceed $2,000,000, (c) if we have already effected more than four registrations of registrable securities on Form S-3 in any 12-month period, (d) if we intend to make a public offering within ninety (90) days of a request for such registration and (e) if our board of directors deems it advisable to delay such filing.

We will pay all registration expenses, other than underwriting discounts and commissions, related to any demand, piggyback or S-3 registration. The investor rights agreement contains customary cross-indemnification provisions, pursuant to which we are obligated to indemnify the selling stockholders in the event of material misstatements or omissions in the registration statement attributable to us and they are obligated to indemnify us for material misstatements or omissions attributable to them.

Anti-Takeover Effects of Delaware Law and Provisions of Our Certificate of Incorporation and Bylaws

Upon the closing of this offering, our certificate of incorporation and by-laws will include a number of provisions that may have the effect of delaying, deferring or preventing another party from acquiring control of us and encouraging persons considering unsolicited tender offers or other unilateral takeover proposals to negotiate with our board of directors rather than pursue non-negotiated takeover attempts. These provisions include the items described below.

Board composition and filling vacancies. In accordance with our certificate of incorporation, our board of directors is divided into three classes serving staggered three-year terms, with one class being elected each year. As a result, approximately one-third of the board of directors is elected each year. Our certificate of incorporation also provides that directors may be removed only for cause and then only by the affirmative vote of the holders of 75% or more of the shares then entitled to vote at an election of directors. Furthermore, any vacancy on our board of directors, however occurring, including a vacancy resulting from an increase in the size of our board of directors, may only be filled by the affirmative vote of a majority of our directors then in office even if less than a quorum. These provisions may deter a stockholder from removing incumbent directors and simultaneously gaining control of the board of directors by filling the vacancies created by such removal with its own nominees.

No written consent of stockholders. Our certificate of incorporation provides that all stockholder actions are required to be taken by a vote of the stockholders at an annual or special meeting and that stockholders may not take any action by written consent in lieu of a meeting. This limit may lengthen the amount of time required to take stockholder actions and would prevent the amendment of our by-laws or removal of directors by our stockholders without holding a meeting of stockholders.

Meetings of stockholders. Our certificate of incorporation and by-laws provide that only a majority of the members of our board of directors then in office may call special meetings of stockholders and only those matters set forth in the notice of the special meeting may be considered or acted upon at a special meeting of stockholders. Our by-laws limit the business that may be conducted at an annual meeting of stockholders to those matters properly brought before the meeting.

Advance notice requirements. Our by-laws establish advance notice procedures with regard to stockholder proposals relating to the nomination of candidates for election as directors or new business to be brought before meetings of our stockholders. These procedures provide that notice of stockholder proposals must be timely given in writing to our corporate secretary prior to the meeting at which the action is to be taken. Generally, to be timely, notice must be received at our principal executive offices not less than 90 days and not more than 120 days prior to the first anniversary date of the annual meeting for the preceding year. The notice must contain certain information specified in the by-laws.

Amendment to certificate of incorporation and by-laws. As required by the Delaware General Corporation Law, any amendment of our certificate of incorporation must first be adopted by a majority of our board of directors and must thereafter be approved by a majority of the outstanding shares entitled to vote on the amendment and a majority of the outstanding shares of each class entitled to vote thereon as a class, except that the amendment of the provisions relating to stockholder action, board composition, limitation of liability and the amendment of our certificate of incorporation must be approved by not less than 75% of the outstanding shares entitled to vote on the amendment and not less than 75% of the outstanding shares of each class entitled to vote thereon as a class. Our by-laws may be amended by the affirmative vote of a majority of the directors then in office, subject to any limitations set forth in the by-laws, and may also be amended by the affirmative vote of at least 75% of the outstanding shares entitled to vote on the amendment, or, if our board of directors recommends that the stockholders approve the amendment, by the affirmative vote of the majority of the outstanding shares entitled to vote on the amendment, in each case voting together as a single class.

Undesignated preferred stock. Our certificate of incorporation provides for authorized shares of preferred stock. The existence of authorized but unissued shares of preferred stock may enable our board of directors to render more difficult or to discourage an attempt to obtain control of us by means of a merger, tender offer, proxy contest or otherwise. For example, if in the due exercise of its fiduciary obligations, our board of directors were to determine that a takeover proposal is not in the best interests of our stockholders, our board of directors could cause shares of preferred stock to be issued without stockholder approval in one or more private offerings or other transactions that might dilute the voting or other rights of the proposed acquirer or insurgent stockholder or stockholder group. In this regard, our certificate of incorporation grants our board of directors broad power to establish the rights and preferences of authorized and unissued shares of preferred stock. The issuance of shares of preferred stock could decrease the amount of earnings and assets available for distribution to holders of shares of common stock. The issuance may also adversely affect the rights and powers, including voting rights, of these holders and may have the effect of delaying, deterring or preventing a change in control of us.

Section 203 of the Delaware General Corporation Law

Upon completion of this offering, we will be subject to the provisions of Section 203 of the Delaware General Corporation Law. In general, Section 203 prohibits a publicly held Delaware corporation from engaging in a "business combination" with an "interested stockholder" for a three-year period following the time that this stockholder becomes an interested stockholder, unless the business combination is approved in a prescribed manner. A "business combination" includes, among other things, a merger, asset or stock sale or other transaction resulting in a financial benefit to the interested stockholder. An "interested stockholder" is a person who, together with affiliates and associates, owns, or did own within three years prior to the determination of interested stockholder status, 15% or more of the corporation's voting stock. Under Section 203, a business combination between a corporation and an interested stockholder is prohibited unless it satisfies one of the following conditions:

- before the stockholder became interested, the board of directors approved either the business combination or the transaction which resulted in the stockholder becoming an interested stockholder;
- upon consummation of the transaction which resulted in the stockholder becoming an interested stockholder, the interested stockholder owned at least 85% of the voting stock of the corporation outstanding at the time the transaction commenced, excluding for purposes of determining the voting stock outstanding, shares owned by persons who are directors and also officers, and employee stock plans, in some instances; or
- at or after the time the stockholder became interested, the business combination was approved by the board of directors of the corporation and authorized at an annual or special meeting of the stockholders by the affirmative vote of at least two-thirds of the outstanding voting stock which is not owned by the interested stockholder.

Market Listing

We intend to apply for the listing of our common stock on The NASDAQ Global Market under the symbol "TPIC".

Transfer Agent and Registrar

We intend to engage American Stock Transfer & Trust Company, LLC, or AST, to serve as the transfer agent and registrar for our common stock. Its address is 6201 15th Avenue, Brooklyn, NY 11219 and its telephone number is (800) 937-5449.

SHARES ELIGIBLE FOR FUTURE SALE

Prior to this offering, there has been no public market for our common stock, and we cannot predict the effect, if any, that market sales of shares of our common stock or the availability of shares of our common stock for sale will have on the market price of our common stock prevailing from time to time. Future sales of our common stock in the public market, or the availability of such shares for sale in the public market, could adversely affect market prices prevailing from time to time. As described below, only a limited number of shares will be available for sale shortly after this offering due to contractual and legal restrictions on resale. Nevertheless, sales of our common stock in the public market after such restrictions lapse, or the perception that those sales may occur, could adversely affect the prevailing market price at such time and our ability to raise equity capital in the future.

Following the completion of this offering, based on the number of shares of our capital stock outstanding as of March 31, 2016, we will have a total of shares of our common stock outstanding. Of these outstanding shares, all of the shares of common stock sold in this offering will be freely tradable, except that any shares purchased in this offering by our affiliates, as that term is defined in Rule 144 under the Securities Act, would only be able to be sold in compliance with the Rule 144 limitations described below.

The remaining outstanding shares of our common stock will be deemed "restricted securities" as defined in Rule 144. Restricted securities may be sold in the public market only if they are registered or if they qualify for an exemption from registration under Rule 144 or Rule 701 under the Securities Act, which rules are summarized below. In addition, all of our executive officers, directors, and holders of substantially all of our common stock and securities convertible into or exchangeable for our common stock have entered into market standoff agreements with us or lock-up agreements with the underwriters under which they have agreed, subject to specific exceptions, not to sell any of our stock for at least 180 days following the date of this prospectus. As a result of these agreements and the provisions of our investor rights agreement described above under the section titled "Description of Capital Stock—Registration Rights," subject to the provisions of Rule 144 or Rule 701, based on an assumed offering date of March 31, 2016, shares will be available for sale in the public market as follows:

- beginning 90 days after the date of this prospectus, additional shares of common stock may become eligible for sale in the public market upon the satisfaction of certain conditions as set forth in the section titled "—Lock-Up Agreements," of which shares would be held by affiliates and subject to the volume and other restrictions of Rule 144, as described below;
- beginning 181 days after the date of this prospectus, subject to extension as described in the section titled "Underwriting", additional shares of common stock will become eligible for sale in the public market, of which shares will be held by affiliates and subject to the volume and other restrictions of Rule 144, as described below; and
- the remainder of the shares of common stock will be eligible for sale in the public market from time to time thereafter, subject in some cases to the volume and other restrictions of Rule 144, as described below.

Lock-Up Agreements

We, our executive officers, directors, and holders of substantially all of our common stock and securities convertible into or exchangeable for our common stock, have agreed or will agree that, subject to certain exceptions, for a period of 180 days from the date of this prospectus, we and they will not, without the prior written consent of J.P. Morgan Securities LLC and Morgan Stanley & Co. LLC, dispose of or hedge any shares or any securities convertible into or exchangeable for shares of our capital stock. J.P. Morgan Securities LLC and Morgan Stanley & Co. LLC may, in its discretion, and with the Company's consent, release any of the securities subject to these lock-up agreements at any time.

Rule 144

In general, under Rule 144 as currently in effect, once we have been subject to the public company reporting requirements of Section 13 or Section 15(d) of the Exchange Act for at least 90 days, a person who is not deemed to have been one of our affiliates for purposes of the Securities Act at any time during the 90 days preceding a sale and who has beneficially owned the shares proposed to be sold for at least six months, including the holding period of any prior owner other than our affiliates, is entitled to sell those shares without complying with the manner of sale, volume limitation or notice provisions of Rule 144, subject to compliance with the public information requirements of Rule 144. If such a person has beneficially owned the shares proposed to be sold for at least one year, including the holding period of any prior owner other than our affiliates, then that person would be entitled to sell those shares without complying with any of the requirements of Rule 144.

In general, under Rule 144, as currently in effect, our affiliates or persons selling shares on behalf of our affiliates are entitled to sell upon expiration of the lock-up agreements described above, within any three-month period, a number of shares that does not exceed the greater of:

- 1% of the number of shares of our common stock then outstanding, which will equal approximately shares immediately after this offering; or
- the average weekly trading volume of our common stock during the four calendar weeks preceding the filing of a notice on Form 144 with respect to that sale.

Sales under Rule 144 by our affiliates or persons selling shares on behalf of our affiliates are also subject to certain manner of sale provisions and notice requirements and to the availability of current public information about us.

Rule 701

Rule 701 generally allows a stockholder who purchased shares of our common stock pursuant to a written compensatory plan or contract and who is not deemed to have been an affiliate of our company during the immediately preceding 90 days to sell these shares in reliance upon Rule 144, but without being required to comply with the public information, holding period, volume limitation or notice provisions of Rule 144. Rule 701 also permits affiliates of our company to sell their Rule 701 shares under Rule 144 without complying with the holding period requirements of Rule 144. All holders of Rule 701 shares, however, are required by that rule to wait until 90 days after the date of this prospectus before selling those shares pursuant to Rule 701.

Registration Rights

Pursuant to an investor rights agreement, the holders of up to 69,601 shares of our common stock, including shares issuable upon the conversion of our outstanding convertible preferred stock immediately prior to the completion of this offering, or their transferees, will be entitled to certain rights with respect to the registration of the offer and sale of those shares under the Securities Act. See the section titled “Description of Capital Stock—Registration Rights” for a description of these registration rights. If the offer and sale of these shares is registered, the shares will be freely tradable without restriction under the Securities Act, and a large number of shares may be sold into the public market.

Registration Statement on Form S-8

We intend to file a registration statement on Form S-8 under the Securities Act to register all of the shares of common stock issued or reserved for issuance under our 2008 Plan and our 2015 Plan. We expect to file this registration statement as promptly as possible after the completion of this offering. Shares covered by this registration statement will be eligible for sale in the public market, subject to the Rule 144 limitations applicable to affiliates, vesting restrictions and any applicable lock-up agreements and market standoff agreements.

Equity Awards

As of March 31, 2016, options to purchase 72 shares of common stock pursuant to our 2008 Plan were outstanding, all of which were exercisable, and options to purchase 9,230 shares of our common stock and 1,817 restricted stock units were outstanding, but not exercisable, under our 2015 Plan. We intend to file a registration statement on Form S-8 under the Securities Act as promptly as possible after the completion of this offering to register shares that may be issued pursuant to our 2008 Plan and our 2015 Plan. The registration statement on Form S-8 is expected to become effective immediately upon filing, and shares covered by the registration statement will then become eligible for sale in the public market, subject to the Rule 144 limitations applicable to affiliates, vesting restrictions and any applicable lock-up agreements and market standoff agreements. See the section titled "Executive Compensation—Employee Benefit and Stock Plans" for a description of our equity incentive plans.

Warrants

As of March 31, 2016, we had outstanding warrants to purchase up to 248.03 shares of our Series B preferred stock, with a weighted-average exercise price of $8,748.81 per share and 171.45 shares of our common stock, with a weighted-average exercise price of $8,748.81 per share. Except for the Common Warrants, these warrants will terminate in connection with the completion of this offering, if not automatically converted or exercised by the holders thereof prior to the completion of this offering.

CERTAIN MATERIAL U.S. FEDERAL INCOME AND ESTATE TAX CONSIDERATIONS TO NON-U.S. HOLDERS

The following is a summary of material U.S. federal income tax considerations to non-U.S. holders (as defined below) relating to the acquisition, ownership and disposition of common stock pursuant to this offering. This summary deals only with common stock held as a capital asset (within the meaning of Section 1221 of the Code) by a holder and does not discuss the U.S. federal income tax considerations applicable to a holder that is subject to special treatment under U.S. federal income tax laws, including, but not limited to: a foreign government or governmental entity; a dealer in securities or currencies; a financial institution; a regulated investment company; a real estate investment trust; a tax-exempt organization; an insurance company; a person holding common stock as part of a hedging, integrated, conversion or straddle transaction or a person deemed to sell common stock under the constructive sale provisions of the Code; a trader in securities that has elected the mark-to-market method of accounting; an entity or arrangement that is treated as a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes or owners of such entity or arrangement; a person that received such common stock in connection with the performance of services; a pension fund or retirement account; a "controlled foreign corporation;" a "passive foreign investment company;" a corporation that accumulates earnings to avoid U.S. federal income tax; or a former citizen or long-term resident of the United States.

This summary is based upon provisions of the Code, applicable U.S. Treasury regulations promulgated thereunder, published rulings and judicial decisions, all as in effect as of the date hereof. Those authorities may be changed, perhaps retroactively, or may be subject to differing interpretations, which could result in U.S. federal income tax consequences different from those discussed below. This summary does not address all aspects of U.S. federal income tax, does not deal with all tax considerations that may be relevant to stockholders in light of their personal circumstances and does not address the Medicare tax imposed on certain investment income or any state, local, foreign, gift, estate or alternative minimum tax considerations.

For purposes of this discussion, a "U.S. holder" is a beneficial owner of common stock that is: an individual citizen or resident of the United States; a corporation (or any other entity treated as a corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes) created or organized in or under the laws of the United States, any state thereof or the District of Columbia; an estate the income of which is subject to U.S. federal income taxation regardless of its source; or a trust if it (1) is subject to the primary supervision of a court within the United States and one or more U.S. persons have the authority to control all substantial decisions of the trust or (2) has a valid election in effect under applicable U.S. Treasury regulations to be treated as a U.S. person.

For purposes of this discussion a "non-U.S. holder" is a beneficial owner of common stock that is neither a U.S. holder nor a partnership (or any other entity or arrangement that is treated as a partnership) for U.S. federal income tax purposes. If a partnership (or an entity or arrangement that is treated as a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes) holds common stock, the tax treatment of a partner will generally depend upon the status of the partner and the activities of the partnership. A partner of a partnership holding common stock is urged to consult its own tax advisors.

PROSPECTIVE INVESTORS ARE URGED TO CONSULT THEIR OWN TAX ADVISORS CONCERNING THEIR PARTICULAR U.S. FEDERAL INCOME TAX CONSEQUENCES IN LIGHT OF THEIR SPECIFIC SITUATIONS, AS WELL AS THE TAX CONSEQUENCES ARISING UNDER ANY STATE, LOCAL OR NON-U.S. TAX LAWS AND ANY OTHER U.S. FEDERAL TAX LAWS (INCLUDING THE U.S. FEDERAL ESTATE AND GIFT TAX LAWS).

Distributions on our Common Stock

Distributions with respect to common stock, if any, generally will constitute dividends for U.S. federal income tax purposes to the extent paid out of current or accumulated earnings and profits, as determined for U.S. federal income tax purposes. Any portion of a distribution in excess of current or accumulated earnings and profits will be treated as a return of capital and will first be applied to reduce the holder's tax basis in its common stock, but not below zero. Any remaining amount will then be treated as gain from the sale or exchange of the common stock and will be treated as described under the section titled "—Disposition of our Common Stock" below.

Distributions treated as dividends, if any, that are paid to a non-U.S. holder with respect to shares of our common stock will be subject to U.S. federal withholding tax at a rate of 30% (or lower applicable income tax treaty rate) of the gross amount of the dividends unless the dividends are effectively connected with the non-U.S. holder's conduct of a trade or business in the United States. If a non-U.S. holder is engaged in a trade or business in the United States and dividends with respect to the common stock are effectively connected with the conduct of that trade or business, then the non-U.S. holder will generally be exempt from the 30% U.S. federal withholding tax, provided certain certification requirements are satisfied. To claim the exemption from withholding with respect to any such effectively connected income, the non-U.S. holder must generally furnish to us or our paying agent a properly executed IRS Form W-8ECI (or applicable successor form). However, in this case the non-U.S. holder will be subject to U.S. federal income tax on those dividends on a net income basis at regular graduated U.S. federal income tax rates in the same manner as if such holder were a resident of the United States (except to the extent provided in an applicable income tax treaty, which may require that such dividends be attributable to a U.S. permanent establishment or fixed base in order to be subject to tax as described herein). Any such effectively connected income received by a foreign corporation may, under certain circumstances, be subject to an additional branch profits tax equal to 30% (or lower applicable income tax treaty rate) of its effectively connected earnings and profits for the taxable year, as adjusted under the Code. A non-U.S. holder of shares of common stock who wishes to claim the benefit of an exemption or reduced rate of withholding tax under an applicable treaty must furnish to us or our paying agent a valid IRS Form W-8BEN or IRS Form W-8BEN-E (or applicable successor form) certifying such holder's qualification for the exemption or reduced rate. If a non-U.S. holder is eligible for a reduced rate of U.S. withholding tax pursuant to an income tax treaty, it may obtain a refund of any excess amounts withheld by filing an appropriate claim for refund with the Internal Revenue Service, or IRS. Non-U.S. holders are urged to consult their tax advisors regarding their entitlement to benefits under a relevant income tax treaty.

Disposition of our Common Stock

Non-U.S. holders may recognize gain upon the sale, exchange, or other taxable disposition of our common stock. Such gain generally will not be subject to U.S. federal income tax unless: (i) the gain is effectively connected with the non-U.S. holder's conduct of a trade or business in the United States (and, if required by an applicable income tax treaty, is attributable to a U.S. permanent establishment or fixed base maintained by the non-U.S. holder); (ii) the non-U.S. holder is an individual who is present in the United States for 183 days or more in the taxable year of the disposition, and certain other conditions are met; or (iii) we are or have been a "U.S. real property holding corporation" for U.S. federal income tax purposes at any time during the shorter of the five-year period preceding the date of disposition or the holder's holding period for our common stock, unless our common stock is regularly traded on an established securities market and the non-U.S. holder held no more than 5% of our outstanding common stock, directly or indirectly, during the shorter of the five year period ending on the date of the disposition or the period that the non-U.S. holder held our common stock. We believe that we are not and we do not anticipate becoming a "U.S. real property holding corporation" for U.S. federal income tax purposes. No assurance can be provided that our common stock will remain regularly traded on an established securities market for purposes of the rules described above.

If a non-U.S. holder is an individual described in clause (i) of the preceding paragraph, the non-U.S. holder will generally be subject to tax on a net income basis at the regular graduated U.S. federal individual income tax rates in the same manner as if such holder were a resident of the United States, unless an applicable income tax treaty provides otherwise. If the non-U.S. holder is an individual described in clause (ii) of the preceding paragraph, the non-U.S. holder will generally be subject to a flat 30% tax on the gain, which may be offset by U.S. source capital losses even though the non-U.S. holder is not considered a resident of the United States, provided that the non-U.S. holder has timely filed U.S. federal income tax returns with respect to such losses. If a non-U.S. holder is a foreign corporation that falls under clause (i) of the preceding paragraph, it will be subject to tax on a net income basis at the regular graduated U.S. federal corporate income tax rates in the same manner as if it were a resident of the United States and, in addition, the non-U.S. holder may be subject to the branch profits tax at a rate equal to 30% (or lower applicable income tax treaty rate) of its effectively connected earnings and profits.

Information Reporting and Backup Withholding Tax

We must generally report to our non-U.S. holders and the IRS the amount of dividends paid during each calendar year and the amount of any tax withheld. All distributions to holders of common stock are subject to any applicable withholding. Information reporting requirements may apply even if no withholding was required because the distributions were effectively connected with the non-U.S. holder's conduct of a United States trade or business or withholding was reduced or eliminated by an applicable income tax treaty. This information also may be made available under a specific treaty or agreement with the tax authorities in the country in which the non-U.S. holder resides or is established. Under U.S. federal income tax law, interest, dividends and other reportable payments may, under certain circumstances, be subject to "backup withholding" at the then applicable rate. Backup withholding, however, generally will not apply to distributions to a non-U.S. holder of our common stock, provided the non-U.S. holder furnishes to us or our paying agent the required certification as to its non-U.S. status, such as by providing a valid IRS Form W-8BEN, IRS Form W-8BEN-E, or IRS Form W-8ECI, or certain other requirements are met. Notwithstanding the foregoing, backup withholding may apply if either we or our paying agent has actual knowledge, or reason to know, that the holder is a U.S. person that is not an exempt recipient. Backup withholding is not an additional tax but can be credited against a non-U.S. holder's federal income tax, and may be refunded to the extent it results in an overpayment of tax and the appropriate information is timely supplied to the IRS.

Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act

The Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act, or FATCA, imposes withholding taxes on certain types of payments made to "foreign financial institutions" (as specially defined under these rules to include many entities that may not typically be thought of as financial institutions) and certain other non-U.S. entities if certification, information reporting and other specified requirements are not met. FATCA imposes a 30% withholding tax on "withholdable payments" if they are paid to a foreign financial institution or to a foreign non-financial entity, unless (i) the foreign financial institution undertakes certain diligence and reporting obligations and other specified requirements are satisfied or (ii) the foreign non-financial entity either certifies it does not have any substantial U.S. owners or furnishes identifying information regarding each substantial U.S. owner and other specified requirements are satisfied. "Withholdable payments" will include dividends on our common stock and any gross proceeds from the sale or other disposition of our common stock. If the payee is a foreign financial institution, it must enter into an agreement with the U.S. Treasury requiring, among other things, that it undertake to identify accounts held by certain U.S. persons or U.S.-owned foreign entities, annually report certain information about such accounts and withhold 30% on payments to account holders whose actions prevent it from complying with these reporting and other requirements. Under final U.S. Treasury Regulations and current IRS guidance, any withholding on payments of gross proceeds from the sale or disposition of our common stock will only apply to payments made on or after January 1, 2019. An intergovernmental agreement between the United States and an applicable foreign country may modify the requirements described in this paragraph. Prospective investors should consult their own tax advisors regarding this legislation.

Federal Estate Taxes

Common Stock owned or treated as being owned by a non-U.S. holder at the time of death will be included in such holder's gross estate for U.S. federal estate tax purposes, unless an applicable estate tax treaty provides otherwise. Non-U.S. holders should consult their own tax advisors regarding the application of the U.S. federal estate tax to their particular circumstances.

UNDERWRITING

J.P. Morgan Securities LLC and Morgan Stanley & Co. LLC are acting as representatives (the "Representatives") of each of the underwriters named below. Subject to the terms and conditions set forth in an underwriting agreement among us and the underwriters, we have agreed to sell to the underwriters, and each of the underwriters has agreed, severally and not jointly, to purchase from us, the number of shares of common stock set forth opposite its name below.

Subject to the terms and conditions set forth in the underwriting agreement, the underwriters have agreed, severally and not jointly, to purchase all of the shares sold under the underwriting agreement if any of these shares are purchased. If an underwriter defaults, the underwriting agreement provides that the purchase commitments of the nondefaulting underwriters may be increased or the underwriting agreement may be terminated.

We have agreed to indemnify the underwriters against certain liabilities, including liabilities under the Securities Act, or to contribute to payments the underwriters may be required to make in respect of those liabilities.

The underwriters are offering the shares, subject to prior sale, when, as and if issued to and accepted by them, subject to approval of legal matters by their counsel, including the validity of the shares, and other conditions contained in the underwriting agreement, such as the receipt by the underwriters of officer's certificates and legal opinions. The underwriters reserve the right to withdraw, cancel or modify offers to the public and to reject orders in whole or in part.

Commissions and Discounts

The Representatives have advised us that the underwriters propose initially to offer the shares to the public at the public offering price set forth on the cover page of this prospectus and to dealers at that price less a concession not in excess of $ per share. After the initial offering, the public offering price, concession or any other term of the offering may be changed.

The following table shows the public offering price, underwriting discount and proceeds before expenses to us. The information assumes either no exercise or full exercise by the underwriters of their option to purchase additional shares.

	Per Share	Without Option	With Option
Public offering price	$	$	$
Underwriting discount	$	$	$
Proceeds, before expenses, to us	$	$	$

The expenses of the offering, not including the underwriting discount, are estimated at $ and are payable by us. In addition, we have agreed to reimburse the underwriters for certain expenses of approximately $.

Option to Purchase Additional Shares

We have granted an option to the underwriters, exercisable for 30 days after the date of this prospectus, to purchase up to additional shares at the public offering price, less the underwriting discount. If the underwriters exercise this option, each will be obligated, subject to conditions contained in the underwriting agreement, to purchase a number of additional shares proportionate to that underwriter's initial amount reflected in the above table.

No Sales of Similar Securities

We, our executive officers and directors and our other existing security holders have agreed not to sell or transfer any common stock or securities convertible into, exchangeable for, exercisable for, or repayable with common stock, for 180 days after the date of this prospectus without first obtaining the written consent of the Representatives. Specifically, we and these other persons have agreed, with certain limited exceptions, not to directly or indirectly:

- offer, pledge, sell or contract to sell any common stock,
- sell any option or contract to purchase any common stock,
- purchase any option or contract to sell any common stock,
- grant any option, right or warrant for the sale of any common stock,
- dispose of or transfer any common stock,
- request or demand that we file a registration statement related to the common stock, or
- enter into any swap or other agreement or any transaction that transfers, in whole or in part, directly or indirectly, the economic consequence of ownership of any common stock whether any such swap or transaction is to be settled by delivery of shares or other securities, in cash or otherwise.

This lock-up provision applies to common stock and to securities convertible into or exchangeable or exercisable for or repayable with common stock. It also applies to common stock owned now or acquired later (but prior to this offering) by the person executing the agreement or for which the person executing the agreement later acquires the power of disposition.

Listing

We expect the shares to be approved for listing on The NASDAQ Global Market under the symbol "TPIC".

Before this offering, there has been no public market for our common stock. The initial public offering price will be determined through negotiations between us and the Representatives. In addition to prevailing market conditions, the factors to be considered in determining the initial public offering price are

- the valuation multiples of publicly traded companies that the Representatives believe to be comparable to us,
- our financial information,
- the history of, and the prospects for, our company and the industry in which we compete,

- an assessment of our management, its past and present operations, and the prospects for, and timing of, our future revenues,
- the present state of our development, and
- the above factors in relation to market values and various valuation measures of other companies engaged in activities similar to ours.

An active trading market for the shares may not develop. It is also possible that after the offering the shares will not trade in the public market at or above the initial public offering price.

The underwriters do not expect to sell more than 5% of the shares in the aggregate to accounts over which they exercise discretionary authority.

Price Stabilization, Short Positions and Penalty Bids

Until the distribution of the shares is completed, SEC rules may limit underwriters and selling group members from bidding for and purchasing our common stock. However, the Representatives may engage in transactions that stabilize the price of the common stock, such as bids or purchases to peg, fix or maintain that price.

In connection with the offering, the underwriters may purchase and sell our common stock in the open market. These transactions may include short sales, purchases on the open market to cover positions created by short sales and stabilizing transactions. Short sales involve the sale by the underwriters of a greater number of shares than they are required to purchase in the offering. "Covered" short sales are sales made in an amount not greater than the underwriters' option to purchase additional shares described above. The underwriters may close out any covered short position by either exercising their option to purchase additional shares or purchasing shares in the open market. In determining the source of shares to close out the covered short position, the underwriters will consider, among other things, the price of shares available for purchase in the open market as compared to the price at which they may purchase shares through the option granted to them. "Naked" short sales are sales in excess of such option. The underwriters must close out any naked short position by purchasing shares in the open market. A naked short position is more likely to be created if the underwriters are concerned that there may be downward pressure on the price of our common stock in the open market after pricing that could adversely affect investors who purchase in the offering. Stabilizing transactions consist of various bids for or purchases of shares of common stock made by the underwriters in the open market prior to the completion of the offering.

The underwriters may also impose a penalty bid. This occurs when a particular underwriter repays to the underwriters a portion of the underwriting discount received by it because the Representatives have repurchased shares sold by or for the account of such underwriter in stabilizing or short covering transactions.

Similar to other purchase transactions, the underwriters' purchases to cover the syndicate short sales may have the effect of raising or maintaining the market price of our common stock or preventing or retarding a decline in the market price of our common stock. As a result, the price of our common stock may be higher than the price that might otherwise exist in the open market. The underwriters may conduct these transactions on The NASDAQ Global Market, in the over-the-counter market or otherwise.

Neither we nor any of the underwriters make any representation or prediction as to the direction or magnitude of any effect that the transactions described above may have on the price of our common stock. In addition, neither we nor any of the underwriters make any representation that the Representatives will engage in these transactions or that these transactions, once commenced, will not be discontinued without notice.

Electronic Distribution

In connection with the offering, certain of the underwriters or securities dealers may distribute prospectuses by electronic means, such as e-mail.

Other Relationships

Some of the underwriters and their affiliates have engaged in, and may in the future engage in, investment banking and other commercial dealings in the ordinary course of business with us or our affiliates. They have received, or may in the future receive, customary fees and commissions for these transactions.

In addition, in the ordinary course of their business activities, the underwriters and their affiliates may make or hold a broad array of investments and actively trade debt and equity securities (or related derivative securities) and financial instruments (including bank loans) for their own account and for the accounts of their customers. Such investments and securities activities may involve securities and/or instruments of ours or our affiliates. The underwriters and their affiliates may also make investment recommendations and/or publish or express independent research views in respect of such securities or financial instruments and may hold, or recommend to clients that they acquire, long and/or short positions in such securities and instruments.

Notice to Prospective Investors in Canada

The shares may be sold only to purchasers purchasing, or deemed to be purchasing, as principal, that are accredited investors, as defined in National Instrument 45-106 Prospectus Exemptions or subsection 73.3(1) of the Securities Act (Ontario), and are permitted clients, as defined in National Instrument 31-103 Registration Requirements, Exemptions and Ongoing Registrant Obligations. Any resale of the shares must be made in accordance with an exemption from, or in a transaction not subject to, the prospectus requirements of applicable securities laws.

Securities legislation in certain provinces or territories of Canada may provide a purchaser with remedies for rescission or damages if this prospectus (including any amendment thereto) contains a misrepresentation, provided that the remedies for rescission or damages are exercised by the purchaser within the time limit prescribed by the securities legislation of the purchaser's province or territory. The purchaser should refer to any applicable provisions of the securities legislation of the purchaser's province or territory for particulars of these rights or consult with a legal advisor.

Pursuant to section 3A.3 of National Instrument 33-105 Underwriting Conflicts ("NI 33-105"), the underwriters are not required to comply with the disclosure requirements of NI 33-105 regarding underwriter conflicts of interest in connection with this offering.

Notice to Prospective Investors in the European Economic Area

In relation to each Member State of the European Economic Area (each, a "Relevant Member State"), no offer of shares may be made to the public in that Relevant Member State other than:

A. to any legal entity which is a qualified investor as defined in the Prospectus Directive:

B. to fewer than 150 natural or legal persons (other than qualified investors as defined in the Prospectus Directive), as permitted under the Prospectus Directive, subject to obtaining the prior consent of the Representatives for any such offer; or

C. in any other circumstances falling within Article 3(2) of the Prospectus Directive, provided that no such offer of shares shall require the Company or the Representatives to publish a prospectus pursuant to Article 3 of the Prospectus Directive or supplement a prospectus pursuant to Article 16 of the Prospectus Directive.

Each person in a Relevant Member State who initially acquires any shares or to whom any offer is made will be deemed to have represented, acknowledged and agreed that it is a "qualified investor" within the meaning of the law in that Relevant Member State implementing Article 2(1)(e) of the Prospectus Directive. In the case of any shares being offered to a financial intermediary as that term is used in Article 3(2) of the Prospectus Directive, each such financial intermediary will be deemed to have represented, acknowledged and agreed that the shares acquired by it in the offer have not been acquired on a non-discretionary basis on behalf of, nor have they been acquired with a view to their offer or resale to, persons in circumstances which may give rise to an offer of any shares to the public other than their offer or resale in a Relevant Member State to qualified investors as so defined or in circumstances in which the prior consent of the Representatives has been obtained to each such proposed offer or resale.

The Company, the Representatives and their affiliates will rely upon the truth and accuracy of the foregoing representations, acknowledgements and agreements.

This prospectus has been prepared on the basis that any offer of shares in any Relevant Member State will be made pursuant to an exemption under the Prospectus Directive from the requirement to publish a prospectus for offers of shares. Accordingly any person making or intending to make an offer in that Relevant Member State of shares which are the subject of the offering contemplated in this prospectus may only do so in circumstances in which no obligation arises for the Company or any of the underwriters to publish a prospectus pursuant to Article 3 of the Prospectus Directive in relation to such offer. Neither the Company nor the underwriters have authorized, nor do they authorize, the making of any offer of shares in circumstances in which an obligation arises for the Company or the underwriters to publish a prospectus for such offer.

For the purpose of the above provisions, the expression "an offer to the public" in relation to any shares in any Relevant Member State means the communication in any form and by any means of sufficient information on the terms of the offer and the shares to be offered so as to enable an investor to decide to purchase or subscribe the shares, as the same may be varied in the Relevant Member State by any measure implementing the Prospectus Directive in the Relevant Member State and the expression "Prospectus Directive" means Directive 2003/71/EC (as amended, including by Directive 2010/73/EU) and includes any relevant implementing measure in the Relevant Member State.

Notice to Prospective Investors in the United Kingdom

In addition, in the United Kingdom, this document is being distributed only to, and is directed only at, and any offer subsequently made may only be directed at persons who are "qualified investors" (as defined in the Prospectus Directive), that is, (i) investment professionals falling within Article 19(5) of the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Financial Promotion) Order 2005, as amended (the "Order") and/or (ii) who are high net worth companies (or persons to whom it may otherwise be lawfully communicated) falling within Article 49(2)(a) to (d) of the Order (all such persons together being referred to as "relevant persons"). This document must not be acted on or relied on in the United Kingdom by persons who are not relevant persons. In the United Kingdom, any investment or investment activity to which this document relates is only available to, and will be engaged in with, relevant persons.

Notice to Prospective Investors in Switzerland

The shares may not be publicly offered in Switzerland and will not be listed on the SIX Swiss Exchange ("SIX") or on any other stock exchange or regulated trading facility in Switzerland. This document has been prepared without regard to the disclosure standards for issuance prospectuses under art. 652a or art. 1156 of the Swiss Code of Obligations or the disclosure standards for listing prospectuses under art. 27 ff. of the SIX Listing Rules or the listing rules of any other stock exchange or regulated trading facility in Switzerland. Neither this document nor any other offering or marketing material relating to the shares or the offering may be publicly distributed or otherwise made publicly available in Switzerland.

Neither this document nor any other offering or marketing material relating to the offering, the Company, the shares have been or will be filed with or approved by any Swiss regulatory authority. In particular, this document will not be filed with, and the offer of shares will not be supervised by, the Swiss Financial Market Supervisory Authority FINMA (FINMA), and the offer of shares has not been and will not be authorized under the Swiss Federal Act on Collective Investment Schemes ("CISA"). The investor protection afforded to acquirers of interests in collective investment schemes under the CISA does not extend to acquirers of shares.

Notice to Prospective Investors in the Dubai International Financial Centre

This prospectus relates to an Exempt Offer in accordance with the Offered Securities Rules of the Dubai Financial Services Authority ("DFSA"). This prospectus is intended for distribution only to persons of a type specified in the Offered Securities Rules of the DFSA. It must not be delivered to, or relied on by, any other person. The DFSA has no responsibility for reviewing or verifying any documents in connection with Exempt Offers. The DFSA has not approved this prospectus nor taken steps to verify the information set forth herein and has no responsibility for the prospectus. The shares to which this prospectus relates may be illiquid and/or subject to restrictions on their resale. Prospective purchasers of the shares offered should conduct their own due diligence on the shares. If you do not understand the contents of this prospectus you should consult an authorized financial advisor.

Notice to Prospective Investors in Australia

No placement document, prospectus, product disclosure statement or other disclosure document has been lodged with the Australian Securities and Investments Commission ("ASIC"), in relation to the offering. This prospectus does not constitute a prospectus, product disclosure statement or other disclosure document under the Corporations Act 2001 (the "Corporations Act"), and does not purport to include the information required for a prospectus, product disclosure statement or other disclosure document under the Corporations Act.

Any offer in Australia of the shares may only be made to persons (the "Exempt Investors") who are "sophisticated investors" (within the meaning of section 708(8) of the Corporations Act), "professional investors" (within the meaning of section 708(11) of the Corporations Act) or otherwise pursuant to one or more exemptions contained in section 708 of the Corporations Act so that it is lawful to offer the shares without disclosure to investors under Chapter 6D of the Corporations Act.

The shares applied for by Exempt Investors in Australia must not be offered for sale in Australia in the period of 12 months after the date of allotment under the offering, except in circumstances where disclosure to investors under Chapter 6D of the Corporations Act would not be required pursuant to an exemption under section 708 of the Corporations Act or otherwise or where the offer is pursuant to a disclosure document which complies with Chapter 6D of the Corporations Act. Any person acquiring shares must observe such Australian on-sale restrictions.

This prospectus contains general information only and does not take account of the investment objectives, financial situation or particular needs of any particular person. It does not contain any securities recommendations or financial product advice. Before making an investment decision, investors need to consider whether the information in this prospectus is appropriate to their needs, objectives and circumstances, and, if necessary, seek expert advice on those matters.

Notice to Prospective Investors in Hong Kong

The shares have not been offered or sold and will not be offered or sold in Hong Kong, by means of any document, other than (a) to "professional investors" as defined in the Securities and Futures Ordinance (Cap. 571) of Hong Kong and any rules made under that Ordinance; or (b) in other circumstances which do not result in the document being a "prospectus" as defined in the Companies Ordinance (Cap. 32) of Hong Kong or which do not constitute an offer to the public within the meaning of that Ordinance. No advertisement, invitation or document relating to the shares has been or may be issued or has been or may be in the possession of any person for the purposes of issue, whether in Hong Kong or elsewhere, which is directed at, or the contents of which are likely to be accessed or read by, the public of Hong Kong (except if permitted to do so under the securities laws of Hong Kong) other than with respect to shares which are or are intended to be disposed of only to persons outside Hong Kong or only to "professional investors" as defined in the Securities and Futures Ordinance and any rules made under that Ordinance.

Notice to Prospective Investors in Japan

The shares have not been and will not be registered under the Financial Instruments and Exchange Law of Japan (Law No. 25 of 1948, as amended) and, accordingly, will not be offered or sold, directly or indirectly, in Japan, or for the benefit of any Japanese Person or to others for re-offering or resale, directly or indirectly, in Japan or to any Japanese Person, except in compliance with all applicable laws, regulations and ministerial guidelines promulgated by relevant Japanese governmental or regulatory authorities in effect at the relevant time. For the purposes of this paragraph, "Japanese Person" shall mean any person resident in Japan, including any corporation or other entity organized under the laws of Japan.

Notice to Prospective Investors in Singapore

This prospectus has not been registered as a prospectus with the Monetary Authority of Singapore. Accordingly, this prospectus and any other document or material in connection with the offer or sale, or invitation for subscription or purchase, of the shares may not be circulated or distributed, nor may the shares be offered or sold, or be made the subject of an invitation for subscription or purchase, whether directly or indirectly, to persons in Singapore other than (i) to an institutional investor under Section 274 of the Securities and Futures Act, Chapter 289 of Singapore (the "SFA"), (ii) to a relevant person pursuant to Section 275(1), or any person pursuant to Section 275(1A), and in accordance with the conditions specified in Section 275, of the SFA, or (iii) otherwise pursuant to, and in accordance with the conditions of, any other applicable provision of the SFA.

Where the shares are subscribed or purchased under Section 275 of the SFA by a relevant person which is:

(a) a corporation (which is not an accredited investor (as defined in Section 4A of the SFA)) the sole business of which is to hold investments and the entire share capital of which is owned by one or more individuals, each of whom is an accredited investor; or

(b) a trust (where the trustee is not an accredited investor) whose sole purpose is to hold investments and each beneficiary of the trust is an individual who is an accredited investor, securities (as defined in Section 239(1) of the SFA) of that corporation or the beneficiaries' rights and interest (howsoever described) in that trust shall not be transferred within six months after that corporation or that trust has acquired the shares pursuant to an offer made under Section 275 of the SFA except:

(c) to an institutional investor or to a relevant person defined in Section 275(2) of the SFA, or to any person arising from an offer referred to in Section 275(1A) or Section 276(4)(i)(B) of the SFA;

(d) where no consideration is or will be given for the transfer;

(e) where the transfer is by operation of law;

(f) as specified in Section 276(7) of the SFA; or

(g) as specified in Regulation 32 of the Securities and Futures (Offers of Investments) (Shares and Debentures) Regulations 2005 of Singapore.

Note 1. Summary of Operations and Significant Accounting Policies

Description of Business and Basis of Presentation

TPI Composites, Inc. is the holding company that conducts substantially all of its business operations through its direct and indirect subsidiaries (collectively, the Company). The Company was founded in 1968 and has been providing composite wind blades for 15 years. The Company's knowledge and experience of composite materials and manufacturing originates with its predecessor company, Tillotson Pearson Inc., a leading manufacturer of high-performance sail and powerboats along with a wide range of composite structures used in other industrial applications. Following the separation from the boat building business in 2004, the Company reorganized in Delaware as LCSI Holding, Inc. The Company changed its corporate name to TPI Composites, Inc. in 2008. Today, the Company is headquartered in Scottsdale, Arizona and has expanded its global footprint to include domestic facilities in Newton, Iowa; Fall River, Massachusetts; Warren, Rhode Island and Santa Teresa, New Mexico and international facilities in Dafeng, China; Taicang Port, China; Taicang City, China; Juarez, Mexico and Izmir, Turkey.

The Company divides its business operations into four geographic operating segments—the United States, Asia, Mexico and EMEA, as follows:

- The U.S. segment includes (1) the manufacturing of wind blades at the Newton, Iowa plant, (2) the manufacturing of precision molding and assembly systems used for the manufacture of wind blades in the Warren, Rhode Island facility, (3) the manufacturing of composite solutions for the transportation industry, which the Company also conducts in its Rhode Island and Massachusetts facilities and (4) corporate headquarters, the costs of which are included in general and administrative expenses.

- The Asia segment includes (1) the manufacturing of wind blades in facilities in Taicang Port, China and two in Dafeng, China, (2) the manufacturing of precision molding and assembly systems in the Taicang City, China facility, (3) the manufacture of components in a second Taicang Port, China facility and (4) wind blade inspection and repair services.

- The Mexico segment manufactures wind blades from a facility in Juárez, Mexico that opened in late 2013 and began production in January 2014. The Company is expanding production in Juárez, Mexico in the second half of 2016.

- The EMEA segment manufactures wind blades from a facility in Izmir, Turkey. The Company entered into a joint venture with ALKE Insaat Sanayive Ticaret A.S. (ALKE) in March 2012 to begin producing wind blades in Turkey and in December 2013 became the sole owner of the Turkey operation with the acquisition of the remaining 25% interest owned primarily by ALKE. The Company is expanding production in Izmir, Turkey in the second half of 2016.

The Company has an accumulated deficit of $191.9 million as of March 31, 2016 resulting from recurring losses from operations and the accretion to the redemption value and cumulative dividends associated with redeemable preferred shares. The Company has funded operations primarily with cash flows from operations and debt and equity financings from investors. The accompanying consolidated financial statements include the accounts of TPI Composites, Inc. and all majority owned subsidiaries. All significant intercompany transactions and balances have been eliminated.

Notes to Unaudited Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements

The condensed consolidated financial statements included herein have been prepared by the Company without audit, pursuant to the rules and regulations of the United States Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and should be read in conjunction with the audited consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2015. Certain information and footnote disclosures normally included in financial statements prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States (GAAP) have been condensed or omitted, as permitted by the SEC, although the Company believes the disclosures that are made are adequate to make the information presented herein not misleading. The accompanying condensed consolidated financial statements reflect, in the opinion of management, all normal recurring adjustments necessary to present fairly the Company's financial position at March 31, 2016, and the results of the Company's operations, comprehensive loss and cash flows for the periods presented. The Company derived the December 31, 2015 condensed consolidated balance sheet data from audited financial statements, but does not include all disclosures required by GAAP. Interim results for the three months ended March 31, 2016 and 2015 are not necessarily indicative of the results to be expected for the full year.

Warranty Expense

The Company provides a limited warranty for its precision molding and assembly systems and wind blade products, including parts and labor, with terms and conditions that vary depending on the product sold, for periods that range from two to five years. Warranty expense is recorded based upon estimates of future repairs using a probability-based methodology. Once the warranty period has expired, any remaining unused warranty accrual for the specific products is reversed against the current year warranty expense amount.

Warranty accrual consisted of the following (in thousands):

Warranty accrual at beginning of year	$13,596
Accrual during the period	14,885
Cost of warranty services provided during the period and reduction of reserves	(546)
Warranty accrual at end of period	$27,935

Net Income (Loss) Per Share Calculation

The basic net income (loss) per common share is computed by dividing the net income (loss) by the weighted-average number of common shares outstanding during a period. Diluted net income per common share is computed by dividing the net income, adjusted on an as-if-converted basis, by the weighted-average number of common shares outstanding plus potentially dilutive securities. The Company has other potentially dilutive securities outstanding that are not shown in a diluted net loss per share calculation in 2015 because their effect would be anti-dilutive. These potentially dilutive securities excluded from the calculation include common shares issued upon conversion or exercise of convertible and redeemable preferred shares, options and warrants. At March 31, 2016, assuming an event other than a qualified initial public offering, these securities included convertible preferred shares of 12,437, warrants of 441 and stock options of 72 for a total of 12,950 dilutive securities. At March 31, 2015, assuming an event other than a qualified initial public offering, these securities included convertible preferred shares of 12,437, warrants of 441 and stock options of 99 for a total of 12,977 dilutive securities.

Recently Issued Accounting Pronouncements

Simplifying the Presentation of Debt Issuance Costs

In April 2015, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) issued Accounting Standards Update (ASU) 2015-03, Simplifying the Presentation of Debt Issuance Costs . ASU 2015-03 required that debt issuance costs related to a recognized debt liability be presented in the balance sheet as a direct deduction from the carrying amount of that debt liability, consistent with debt discounts. ASU 2015-03 was effective for the first interim period for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2015. Consequently, during the three months ended March 31, 2016, the Company adopted ASU 2015-03 on a retrospective basis, which resulted in the reclassification of the noncurrent debt issuance cost asset on the December 31, 2015 consolidated balance sheet, which decreased total assets by $4.2 million and decreased total liabilities from $326.5 million to $322.3 million, to conform to the current presentation. The adoption of this guidance did not have a material impact on the financial condition, results of operations or disclosures of the Company. See Note 7, Long Term Debt, Net of Debt Issuance Costs and Discount .

Revenue from Contracts with Customers

In May 2014, the FASB issued ASU 2014-09, Revenue from Contracts with Customers , (Topic 606), which provides new recognition and disclosure requirements for revenue from contracts with customers that supersedes the existing revenue recognition guidance. The new recognition requirements focus on when the customer obtains control of the goods or services, rather than the current risks and rewards model of recognition. The core principle of the new standard is that an entity will recognize revenue when it transfers goods or services to its customers in an amount that reflects the consideration an entity expects to be entitled to for those goods or services. The new disclosure requirements will include information intended to communicate the nature, amount, timing and any uncertainty of revenue and cash flows from the applicable contracts, including any significant judgments and changes in judgments and assets recognized from the costs to obtain or fulfill a contract. Entities will generally be required to make more estimates and use more judgment under the new standard.

The new requirements are effective for the Company beginning January 1, 2018, and may be implemented either retrospectively for all periods presented, or as a cumulative-effect adjustment as of the date of adoption. Early adoption as of January 1, 2017 is permitted.

The Company expects to adopt Topic 606 as of January 1, 2017 with retrospective application to January 1, 2015. Based on the Company’s preliminary evaluation of the new standard, revenue recognition in accordance with Topic 606 differs from the current guidance provided by GAAP as outlined in the SEC’s Staff Accounting Bulletin 104, which requires the Company to defer recognition of revenue until the risk of loss has passed to the customer and delivery has been made or a fixed delivery schedule has been provided by the customer. Since the Company’s products have no alternative use to the Company due to contractual restrictions placed by each customer on the technical specifications and design of the products, the Company’s initial assessment is that revenue upon adoption of Topic 606 will likely be recognized before the product is delivered. Accordingly, revenue recognition under Topic 606 may no longer require the Company to record deferred revenue and inventory held for customer orders for products awaiting delivery to the customer. The Company expects to be able to quantify the impact of the adoption of Topic 606 on the results of operations and the amounts and disclosures included in the financial statements in the second quarter of 2016.

There have been no other recent accounting pronouncements or changes in accounting pronouncements during the current year that are of significance, or potential significance, to the Company.

Note 2. Significant Risks and Uncertainties

The Company's revenues and receivables are from a small number of customers. As such, the Company's production levels are dependent on these customers' orders. See note 12, Concentration of Customers .

The Company maintains its U.S. cash in bank deposit accounts that, at times, exceed U.S. federally insured limits. U.S. bank accounts are guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) in an amount up to $250,000 during 2016 and 2015. At March 31, 2016 and December 31, 2015, the Company had $26.7 million and $33.2 million, respectively, of cash in deposit accounts in U.S. banks, which was in excess of FDIC limits. The Company has not experienced losses in any such accounts.

The Company also maintains cash in bank deposit accounts outside the U.S. with no insurance. This includes $0.8 million in Turkey, $7.9 million in China and $0.4 million in Mexico as of March 31, 2016. The Company has not experienced losses in these accounts. The Company also has long-term deposits in interest bearing accounts of $5.1 million in Mexico as of March 31, 2016.

Note 3. Related-Party Transactions

Related party transactions include transactions between the Company and certain of its affiliates. The following transactions were in the normal course of operations and were measured at the exchange amount, which is the amount of consideration established and agreed to by the parties.

The Company has entered into several agreements with subsidiaries of General Electric Company and consolidated affiliates (GE) relating to the operation of its business. As a result of these agreements, GE is a debtor, creditor and holder of preferred shares as of March 31, 2016 and December 31, 2015.

As disclosed at note 12, Concentration of Customers , for the three months ended March 31, 2016 and 2015, the Company recorded related-party sales with GE of $96.2 million and $50.8 million, respectively. The Company has entered into four separate supply agreements with GE to manufacture wind blades in Newton, Iowa; Taicang Port, China; Juárez, Mexico and Izmir, Turkey. As a result of the supply agreements, GE is the Company's largest customer. As of March 31, 2016 and December 31, 2015, the Company had accounts receivables related to sales to GE of approximately $23.2 million and $19.0 million, respectively.

Since 2007, the Company has issued three series of preferred shares. In connection with the preferred share issuances, the Company sold Series B, Series B-1, and senior redeemable preferred shares to GE. As a result of these transactions, GE beneficially owns approximately 1,956 preferred shares of the Company as of March 31, 2016. Upon conversion to common shares concurrent with an initial public offering, GE will own 7,896 common shares or 11.2% of the Company's common stock expected to be outstanding at the time of an initial public offering. See note 8, Convertible and Senior Redeemable Preferred Shares and Warrants .

Series C convertible preferred shares (convertible at 1 share to 3.2817 shares of common stock), $0.01 par value; liquidation preference equal to $17,670; 2,944 shares authorized; 2,944 shares issued and outstanding at March 31, 2016 and December 31, 2015	17,670	17,490
Senior redeemable preferred shares (convertible at 1 share to 13.2211 shares of common stock), $0.01 par value; liquidation preference equal to $65,415; 740 shares authorized; 740 shares issued and outstanding at March 31, 2016 and December 31, 2015	28,278	27,585
Super senior redeemable preferred shares (convertible at 1 share to 13.2211 shares of common stock), $0.01 par value; liquidation preference equal to $22,345; 1,024 shares authorized; 280 shares issued and outstanding at March 31, 2016 and December 31, 2015	8,278	8,060
Redeemable preferred share warrants; 248 warrants issued and outstanding at March 31, 2016 and December 31, 2015	1,084	1,084
Convertible and senior redeemable preferred shares and warrants:	$201,282	$ 198,830

Cumulative dividends on convertible and senior redeemable preferred shares are included in the liquidation preference amounts noted in the above table. For financial statement presentation purposes, the Company has accreted the preferred share balances to the redemption amount as of the first date redemption can take place using the effective interest method. In addition, the preferred share balance includes cumulative preferred share dividends as required by the preferred share agreements. No accretion has been recorded for preferred shares that are not redeemable for cash on or after a specified date. The amount of the accretion and deemed dividends is included in the net income attributable to preferred shareholders in the condensed consolidated statements of operations.

The Company recorded the warrants noted above at their fair value upon issuance, and will amortize the value of the warrants as interest expense over the term of the preferred share agreement.

2016 cancellations	—	—
2016 expirations	—	—
Outstanding as of March 31, 2016	248	$ 8,749

The warrants are reported at fair value in the accompanying financial statements based on the value of the Series B Preferred Shares that may be purchased.

Common Stock Warrants

In connection with the note purchase agreement dated December 29, 2014 for the purchase of $10.0 million of subordinated convertible promissory notes, 172 warrants were issued to purchase common stock with an exercise price equal to the lesser of 85% of the price per share in an initial public offering or $8,749, subject to adjustment. The warrants are immediately exercisable and expire no later than eight years from the date of issuance. The fair value of the warrants was estimated on the date of grant using the Black-Scholes option pricing model assuming a common stock price of $3,972 per share, an exercise price of $3,376 per share, expected stock price volatility of 80 percent and a risk-free interest rate estimate of 0.71 percent.

Note 9. Share-Based Compensation Plans

The Company granted stock option awards during the three months ended March 31, 2016 to certain employees under the 2015 Stock Option and Incentive Plan (the 2015 Plan). Each award includes a performance condition that requires the completion of an initial public offering (IPO) by the Company and a required service period of one to four years commencing upon achievement of the performance condition. The Company will begin recording share-based compensation expense associated with the 2016 awards (and those awarded during the year ended December 31, 2015) when the IPO is considered probable. The performance requirement has not been deemed to be probable of achievement until the consummation of the IPO, and therefore no compensation cost will be recognized until the IPO occurs. If an IPO is consummated by the Company, compensation expense will be recorded at the time of the IPO for the period of the requisite service period from the grant date through the IPO date with the balance of the share-based compensation expense for the awards recorded over the remaining service period.

Note 10. Income Taxes

The income tax provision of $2.3 million and the income tax benefit of $0.1 million in the three months ended March 31, 2016 and 2015, respectively, are consistent with the year end tax provision calculations and are primarily due to the operating results in China and Mexico. The United States and Turkey operations have not had a significant change to the full valuation allowances recorded against their net operating loss carryforwards as of year end. No changes in tax law since December 31, 2015 have had a material impact on the Company's income tax provision.

Note 11. Commitments and Contingencies

Legal Proceedings

The Company is involved in various claims and legal actions arising in the ordinary course of business. In the opinion of management, the ultimate disposition of these matters will not have a material adverse effect on the Company's consolidated financial position, results of operations or liquidity.

In August 2015, a former consultant filed an arbitration claim in China that we improperly terminated his consulting agreement and is demanding that we reinstate his agreement. We believe that our termination of his agreement was valid and we intend to vigorously defend this matter.

TPI COMPOSITES, INC. AND SUBSIDIARIES

Notes to Unaudited Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements

In March 2015, a complaint was filed against the Company by a former employee alleging that the Company had agreed to make certain cash payments to such employee upon any future sale of the Company. The parties completed court-ordered mediation in December 2015 but were not able to reach a settlement. We continue to deny the substantive allegations of the complaint and we intend to vigorously defend this lawsuit; however, we are currently unable to determine the ultimate outcome of this case.

Note 12. Concentration of Customers

Note 13. Segment Reporting

FASB ASC Topic 280, Segment Reporting , establishes standards for the manner in which companies report financial information about operating segments, products, services, geographic areas and major customers. In managing the Company's business, management focuses on growing its revenues and earnings in select geographic areas serving primarily the wind energy market. The Company has operations in the United States, China, Turkey and Mexico. The Company's operating segments are defined geographically as the United States, Asia, EMEA (Europe, the Middle East and Africa) and Mexico. Financial results are aggregated into four reportable segments based on quantitative thresholds. All of the Company's segments operate in their local currency except for the Mexico and China segments, which both include a U.S. parent company.

(1) Revenues are attributable to countries based on the location where the product is manufactured or the services are performed.

Note 14. Subsequent Events

In May 2016, the Company entered into a new three-year collective bargaining agreement with the employees at the Company's Turkey facility. The Company expects that the new agreement will result in an average increase in pay of approximately 20% for employees covered by the agreement.

In June 2016, the Company entered into a settlement agreement and release with one of its customers to resolve a potential warranty claim related to wind blades primarily manufactured in 2014 in the Company's Turkey facility. The settlement agreement and release requires the Company to make a cash payment to the customer, replace or repair a specified number of wind blades and provide margin concessions on certain products to be produced by the Company. The expected aggregate cost to the Company of fulfilling its obligations under the settlement agreement and release is estimated to be $15.0 million, all of which has been accrued as of March 31, 2016.

REPORT OF INDEPENDENT REGISTERED PUBLIC ACCOUNTING FIRM

The Board of Directors and Shareholders
TPI Composites, Inc. and Subsidiaries:

We have audited the accompanying consolidated balance sheets of TPI Composites, Inc. and subsidiaries (the Company) as of December 31, 2015 and 2014, and the related consolidated statements of operations, comprehensive income (loss), shareholders' deficit, and cash flows for each of the years in the three-year period ended December 31, 2015. In connection with our audits of the consolidated financial statements, we also have audited financial statement schedule I. These consolidated financial statements and financial statement schedule are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these consolidated financial statements and financial statement schedule based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the consolidated financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of TPI Composites, Inc. and subsidiaries as of December 31, 2015 and 2014, and the results of their operations and their cash flows for each of the years in the three-year period ended December 31, 2015, in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles. Also in our opinion, the related financial statement schedule, when considered in relation to the basic consolidated financial statements taken as a whole, presents fairly, in all material respects, the information set forth therein.

TPI COMPOSITES, INC. AND SUBSIDIARIES

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

Note 1. Summary of Operations and Significant Accounting Policies

(a) Description of Business and Basis of Presentation

TPI Composites, Inc. is the holding company that conducts substantially all of its business operations through its direct and indirect subsidiaries (collectively, the Company). The Company was founded in 1968 and has been providing composite wind blades for 15 years. The Company's knowledge and experience of composite materials and manufacturing originates with its predecessor company, Tillotson Pearson Inc., a leading manufacturer of high-performance sail and powerboats along with a wide range of composite structures used in other industrial applications. Following the separation from the boat building business in 2004, the Company reorganized in Delaware as LCSI Holding, Inc. The Company changed its corporate name to TPI Composites, Inc. in 2008. Today, the Company is headquartered in Scottsdale, Arizona and has expanded its global footprint to include domestic facilities in Newton, Iowa; Fall River, Massachusetts; Warren, Rhode Island and Santa Teresa, New Mexico and international facilities in Dafeng, China; Taicang Port, China; Taicang City, China; Juarez, Mexico and Izmir, Turkey.

The Company divides its business operations into four geographic operating segments—the United States, Asia, Mexico and EMEA, as follows:

- The U.S. segment includes (1) the manufacturing of wind blades at the Newton, Iowa plant, (2) the manufacturing of precision molding and assembly systems used for the manufacture of wind blades in the Warren, Rhode Island facility, (3) the manufacturing of composite solutions for the transportation industry, which the Company also conducts in its Rhode Island and Massachusetts facilities and (4) corporate headquarters, the costs of which are included in general and administrative expenses.

- The Asia segment includes (1) the manufacturing of wind blades in facilities in Taicang Port, China and two in Dafeng, China (including one that commenced operations in February 2015), (2) the manufacturing of precision molding and assembly systems in the Taicang City, China facility, (3) the manufacture of components in a second Taicang Port, China facility and (4) wind blade inspection and repair services.

- The Mexico segment manufactures wind blades from a facility in Juárez, Mexico that opened in late 2013 and began production in January 2014. The Company is expanding production in Juárez, Mexico in the second half of 2016.

- The EMEA segment manufactures wind blades from a facility in Izmir, Turkey. The Company entered into a joint venture with ALKE Insaat Sanayive Ticaret A.S. (ALKE) in March 2012 to begin producing wind blades in Turkey and in December 2013 became the sole owner of the Turkey operation with the acquisition of the remaining 25% interest owned primarily by ALKE. The Company is expanding production in Izmir, Turkey in the second half of 2016.

The Company has an accumulated deficit of $191.2 million as of December 31, 2015 resulting from recurring losses from operations and the accretion to the redemption value and cumulative dividends associated with redeemable preferred shares. The Company has funded operations primarily with cash flows from operations and debt and equity financings from investors. The accompanying consolidated financial statements include the accounts of TPI Composites, Inc. and all majority owned subsidiaries. All significant intercompany transactions and balances have been eliminated.

(b) Revenue Recognition

The Company records all sales of goods when a firm sales agreement is in place, delivery has occurred as defined by the sales contract, and collectability of the fixed or determinable sales price is reasonably assured. The basic criteria necessary for revenue recognition are: (1) evidence that a sales arrangement exists, (2) title and risk of loss have passed to the customer, (3) delivery of goods has occurred, (4) the seller's price to the buyer is fixed or determinable and (5) collectability is reasonably assured. The Company recognizes revenue at the time of delivery to customers as all criteria necessary for revenue recognition have occurred at this point.

For multiple deliverable revenue arrangements, the Company allocates revenue to each element based on a selling price hierarchy. The selling price for a deliverable is based on its vendor specific objective evidence (VSOE) if available, third party evidence (TPE) if VSOE is not available, or best estimated selling price (BESP) if neither VSOE nor TPE is available. The Company generally allocates revenue for each of the deliverables within multiple element arrangements through BESP using cost plus margin estimates prepared during contract negotiations, agreed upon sales price or VSOE for sales of similar items outside of multiple element arrangements. The precision molding and assembly systems provided for in each customer's contract are based upon the specific engineering requirements and design of the customer relative to the wind blade design and function desired. From the customer's engineering specifications, a job cost estimate is developed along with a production plan, and margin is applied based on the customer and complexity of the work to be performed. Precision molding and assembly systems are built to produce wind blades which are manufactured in production runs specified in the customer contract. To determine the appropriate accounting for recognition of revenue, the Company considers whether the deliverables specified in the multiple element arrangement should be treated as separate units of accounting, and, if so, how the price should be allocated among the elements, when to recognize revenue for each element, and the period over which revenue should be recognized. The Company also evaluates whether a delivered item has value on a stand-alone basis prior to delivery of the remaining items by determining whether the Company has made separate sales of such items or whether the undelivered items are essential to the functionality of the delivered items. Further, the Company assesses whether the fair value of the undelivered items is known, determined by reference to stand-alone sales of such items, if available, or BESP. As each of these items has stand-alone value to the customer, revenue from sales of wind blades and precision molding and assembly systems used in the production of composite products are recognized when those specific items are accepted by the customer as meeting the contractual technical specifications and delivered to the customer. Delivery of wind blades and precision molding and assembly systems generally takes place as defined in the contract at the facility where the precision molding and assembly systems are produced at which point the precision molding and assembly systems become exclusive property of the customer. The customer is generally then responsible for transportation and may transport the composite mold to its own or the Company's wind blade production facility. Revenue related to engineering and freight services provided under customer contracts is recognized upon completion of the services being provided. Customers usually pay the cost of shipping associated with items produced directly to the carrier, but if paid by the Company, that cost is included in cost of goods sold and amounts invoiced for shipping and handling are included in revenue.

The Company's customers may request, in situations where they do not have space available to receive products or do not want to take possession of products immediately for other reasons, that their finished composite products be stored by the Company in one of its facilities. The Company will bill for the components as allowed by the contract; however, revenue is deferred for financial reporting purposes until the Company delivers the finished composite product and all of the other requirements for revenue recognition have been met. Composite products that have been billed by the Company and continue to be stored by the Company at one of its facilities are included at net realizable value in inventory held for customer orders included on the consolidated balance sheets. Inventory held for customer orders is physically segregated from finished goods and is accounted for separately within the Company's accounting records.

TPI COMPOSITES, INC. AND SUBSIDIARIES

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

Wind blade pricing is based on annual commitments of volume as established in the customer's contract with orders less than committed volume resulting in additional costs per wind blade to customers; however, orders in excess of annual commitments may, but generally do not, result in discounts to customers from the contracted price for the committed volume. Customers may utilize early payment discounts which are reported as a reduction of revenue at the time the discount is taken.

(c) Cost of Goods Sold

Cost of goods sold includes the costs associated with products invoiced during the period as well as unallocated manufacturing overhead costs associated with startup and transition costs. Cost of sales includes all costs incurred at the Company's production facilities to make products saleable, such as raw materials, direct labor and indirect labor and facilities costs including purchasing and receiving costs, plant management, inspection costs, product engineering and internal transfer costs. In addition, all depreciation associated with assets used to produce composite products and make them saleable is included in cost of sales. Direct labor costs consist of salaries, benefits and other personnel related costs for employees engaged in the manufacture of the Company's products.

Startup and transition costs represent the unallocated factory overhead relating to the transition of wind blade models at the request of the Company's customers and startup costs related to new manufacturing facilities. The startup and transition costs are primarily fixed overhead costs, incurred during the period production facilities are under-utilized while transitioning wind blade models and ramping up manufacturing, that are not allocated to products and are expensed as incurred. The cost of sales for the initial wind blades from a new model manufacturing line is generally higher than when the line is operating at optimal production volume levels due to inefficiencies during ramp-up related to labor hours per blade, cycle times per blade and raw material usage. Additionally, manufacturing overhead as a percentage of net sales is generally higher during the period in which a facility is ramping up to full production capacity due to underutilization of the facility. Manufacturing overhead at each of the Company's facilities includes virtually all indirect costs incurred at the plants, including engineering, finance, information technology, human resources and plant management.

(d) General and Administrative Expense

General and administrative expenses are primarily incurred at the Company's corporate headquarters and research facilities and include salaries, benefits and other personnel related costs for employees engaged in research and development, engineering, finance, information technology, human resources, marketing and executive management. Other costs include outside legal and accounting fees, risk management (insurance), global operational excellence, global supply chain, in-house legal, share-based compensation and certain other administrative and global resources costs. For the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, total research and development expenses (included in general and administrative expenses) totaled $0.9 million, $0.8 million and $0.6 million, respectively.

(e) Cash and Cash Equivalents and Restricted Cash

Cash and cash equivalents include highly liquid investments that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash with original maturities of three months or less. The carrying value of cash and cash equivalents approximates fair value.

As of December 31, 2015 and 2014, the Taicang plants had unrestricted cash of $5.1 million and $12.3 million, respectively, in bank accounts in China. As of December 31, 2015 and 2014, the Dafeng plants had unrestricted cash of $0.2 million and $4.4 million, respectively, in bank accounts in China. The Chinese government imposes certain restrictions on transferring cash out of China. The local governments in Turkey and

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

Mexico impose no such restrictions on transferring cash out of the respective country. Also, as of December 31, 2015 and 2014, the Company maintained long-term deposits in interest bearing accounts in Mexico totaling $2.1 million and $1.9 million, respectively, and $3.5 million in China as of December 31, 2014. The Company has also provided a fully cash-collateralized letter of credit in connection with an equipment lessor in Iowa totaling $0.4 million as of December 31, 2015. See note 10, Other Noncurrent Assets.

The Company has provided fully cash-collateralized letters of credit in connection with the facility leases for the operations in Warren, Rhode Island and Izmir, Turkey, and with one of the Company's workers' compensation providers which commenced in January 2015. Cash related to the facility leases being held in restricted bank accounts totaled $0.7 million and $0.8 million as of December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively, and will remain until the expiration of the related letters of credit. The amount held related to the workers' compensation provider totaled $1.1 million as of December 31, 2015.

(f) Accounts Receivable

Trade accounts receivable are recorded at the invoiced amount and generally do not bear interest. The Company follows the allowance method of recognizing uncollectible accounts receivable, which recognizes bad debt expense based on a review of the individual accounts outstanding and prior history of uncollectible accounts receivable. Credit is extended based on evaluation of each customer's financial condition and is generally unsecured. Accounts receivable are generally due within 30 days and are stated net of an allowance for doubtful accounts in the consolidated balance sheets. Accounts are considered past due if outstanding longer than contractual payment terms. The Company records an allowance based on consideration of a number of factors, including the length of time trade accounts are past due, previous loss history, the credit-worthiness of individual customers, economic conditions affecting specific customer industries, and economic conditions in general. The Company charges-off accounts receivable after all reasonable collection efforts have been exhausted. The Company credits payments subsequently received on such receivables to bad debt expense in the period payment is received. The Company records delinquent finance charges on outstanding accounts receivables only if they are collected. The Company did not write off any material amounts due during 2015, 2014 or 2013, and does not have any off-balance-sheet credit exposure related to its customers. See note 5, Accounts Receivable.

(g) Inventories

In July 2015, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) issued Accounting Standards Update (ASU) 2015-11 , Inventory Topic 330: Simplifyi ng the Measurement of Inventory (ASU 2015-11). Under ASU 2015-11, inventory is measured at the "lower of cost and net realizable value" and options that currently exist for "market value" were eliminated. ASU 2015-11 defines net realizable value as the "estimated selling prices in the ordinary course of business, less reasonably predictable costs of completion, disposal, and transportation." The new standard applies only to inventory for which cost is determined by methods other than last-in, first-out and the retail inventory method, which includes inventory that is measured using first-in, first-out or average cost. No other changes were made to the current guidance on inventory measurement. ASU 2015-11 is effective for interim and annual periods beginning after December 15, 2016. Early application is permitted and should be applied prospectively. The Company adopted ASU 2015-11 as of December 31, 2015 with no significant impact on the Company's financial position or results of operations.

As of December 31, 2014, inventories are stated at the lower of cost or market. Market value is determined by the current replacement cost and is compared to the carrying cost of the inventory to determine if a write-down is necessary. Cost is determined using the first-in, first-out method for raw materials and specific identification for work in process and finished goods inventories. Actual cost includes the cost of materials, direct labor, and applied manufacturing overhead. Write-downs to reduce the carrying cost of obsolete, slow-moving, and unusable inventory to net realizable value are recognized in cost of goods sold. The effect of these write-downs is to establish a new cost basis in the related inventory, which is not subsequently written up. See note 6, Inventories , for the break out of inventory between raw materials, work in process and finished goods as of December 31, 2015 and 2014.

(h) Property, Plant, and Equipment

Property, plant, and equipment are stated at cost. Depreciation and amortization of property, plant, and equipment is calculated on the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the assets. See note 8, Property, Plant and Equipment, Net.

	Estimated useful lives
Machinery and equipment	7–10 years
Buildings	20 years
Leasehold improvements	5 to 10 years, or the term of the lease, if shorter
Office equipment and software	3 to 5 years
Furniture	5 years
Vehicles	5 years

(i) Recoverability of Long-Lived Assets

The Company reviews property, plant and equipment and other long-lived assets in order to assess recoverability based on expected future undiscounted cash flows whenever events or circumstances indicate that the carrying value may not be recoverable. If the sum of the expected future net cash flows is less than the carrying value, an impairment loss is recognized. The impairment loss is measured as the amount by which the carrying value exceeds the fair value of the asset.

(j) Goodwill and Intangible Assets

Goodwill represents the excess of the acquisition cost of an acquired company over the estimated fair value of assets acquired and liabilities assumed. Goodwill is evaluated for impairment annually on October 31 and whenever events or circumstances make it likely that impairment may have occurred. In determining whether impairment has occurred, the Company uses a two-step approach. Step one compares the fair value of the related reporting unit (calculated using the discounted cash flow method) to its carrying value. If the carrying value exceeds the fair value, there is a potential impairment and step two must be performed. Step two compares the carrying value of the reporting unit's goodwill to its implied fair value (i.e., fair value of reporting unit less the fair value of the unit's assets and liabilities, including identifiable intangible assets). If the implied fair value of goodwill is less than the carrying amount of goodwill, impairment is recognized for that difference. Goodwill represents the excess of the acquisition cost of Composite Solutions, Inc. from True North Partners, LLC in 2004 over the fair value of identifiable assets acquired and liabilities assumed. The FASB has issued guidance that permits a company to first assess qualitative factors to determine whether it is necessary to perform the two-step quantitative goodwill impairment test. The Company performed its annual goodwill impairment test during 2015 and has determined that it is more likely than not that its fair value exceeds its carrying amount.

Intangible assets were acquired in a business acquisition and provide contractual or legal rights, or other future benefits that could be separately identified. The Company's valuation of identified intangible assets was based upon discounted cash flow estimates that require significant management judgment with respect to revenue and expense growth rates, changes in working capital, and the selection and use of the appropriate discount rate. The intangible assets are amortized over their estimated useful life. Intangible assets with indefinite lives are evaluated for impairment annually and whenever events or circumstances make it likely that impairment may have occurred. See note 9, Intangible Assets, Net.

(k) Warranty Expense

The Company provides a limited warranty for its mold and wind blade products, including parts and labor, with terms and conditions that vary depending on the product sold, for periods that range from two to five years. Warranty expense is recorded based upon estimates of future repairs using a probability-based methodology. Once the warranty period has expired, any remaining unused warranty accrual for the specific products is reversed against the current year warranty expense amount. See note 11, Accrued Warranty .

(l) Foreign Currency Translation Adjustments

The reporting currency of the Company is the U.S. dollar. However, the Company has non-U.S. operating segments in Mexico, Turkey and China.

- The Mexico operation maintains its books and records through two legal entities, one of which is denominated in U.S. dollars and the other in the local Mexican currency.
- The Turkey operation maintains its books and records in the local Turkish currency.
- The Taicang Port, Dafeng and Taicang City operations maintain their books and records in the local Chinese currency.
- TPI Mexico, LLC, the U.S. parent company of the Mexico operation, and a wholly-owned subsidiary of TPI Composites, Inc., maintains its books and records in U.S. dollars.
- TPI China, LLC, the U.S. parent company of the Taicang Port, Dafeng and Taicang City operations, and a wholly-owned subsidiary of TPI Composites, Inc., maintains its books and records in U.S. dollars.

Foreign currency-denominated assets and liabilities are translated into U.S. dollars at exchange rates existing at the respective balance sheet dates. Results of operations of foreign subsidiaries are translated at the average exchange rates during the respective periods. Foreign currency transaction gains and losses are reported in realized gain (loss) on foreign currency remeasurement in the Company's consolidated statements of operations. Translation adjustments are reported in accumulated other comprehensive income (loss) in the Company's consolidated balance sheets. Currency translation adjustments for the years ended December 31, 2015 and 2014 amounted to losses of $2.4 million and $0.1 million, respectively, and a gain of $0.7 million for the year ended December 31, 2013.

(m) Share-Based Compensation

The Company maintains two active incentive compensation plans: the 2008 Stock Option and Grant Plan and the 2015 Stock Option and Incentive Plan (the 2015 Plan). In May 2015, the Company's board of directors and shareholders adopted and approved the 2015 Plan, which provides for the issuance of incentive stock options, non-qualified stock options, stock appreciation rights, restricted stock units, restricted stock awards, unrestricted stock awards, cash-based awards, performance share awards and dividend equivalent rights to certain employees, non-employee directors and consultants. The term of stock options issued under the 2015

TPI COMPOSITES, INC. AND SUBSIDIARIES

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

Plan may not exceed ten years from the date of grant. Under the 2015 Plan, incentive stock options and non-qualified stock options are granted at an exercise price that is not to be less than 100% of the fair market value of the common stock of the Company on the date of grant, as determined by the Compensation Committee of the board of directors. Stock options become vested and exercisable at such times and under such conditions as determined by the Compensation Committee on the date of grant. Upon approval of the 2015 Plan, no future grants will be made from the 2008 Stock Option and Grant Plan.

The Company measures share-based compensation expense for stock options using the estimated fair value of the related award on the date of grant using the Black-Scholes valuation model. These estimates are considered highly complex and subjective. The Company assumes an expected dividend yield of zero and uses share volatility of comparable companies within its industry to determine the expected volatility of the Company's shares in determining the fair value of the stock options. The risk-free interest rate is based on the U.S. Treasury yield in effect at the time of grant interpolated between the years commensurate with the expected life of the options. The expected life of the options represents the estimated length of time the options are expected to remain outstanding, utilizing the simplified method as prescribed by authoritative guidance. The Company has elected to use the simplified method due to the insufficient history of its equity instruments. Forfeitures are estimated at the time of grant based on historical retention of employees. If necessary, management estimates are adjusted at the end of each reporting period if actual forfeitures differ from those estimates.

Share-based compensation expense related to restricted stock units is expensed over the vesting period using the straight-line method for Company employees and the Company's board of directors, net of estimated forfeitures. The restricted stock units do not have voting rights. The Company calculates the fair value of share-based awards on the date of grant for employees and directors. The Company calculates the fair value of share-based awards to consultants on the date of vesting.

(n) Leases

Leases are classified as either operating leases or capital leases. Assets acquired under capital leases are amortized on the same basis as similar property, plant and equipment. Rental payments, including rent holidays, leasehold incentives, and scheduled rent increases are expensed on a straight-line basis. Leasehold improvements are amortized over the shorter of the depreciable lives of the corresponding fixed assets or the lease term including any applicable renewals.

(o) Debt Issuance Costs

Costs associated with the issuance of debt are included in other noncurrent assets and are amortized over the term of the related debt using the effective interest rate method. Debt issuance discounts are presented net of the related debt and are amortized over the term of the debt.

(p) Income Taxes

Income taxes are accounted for under the asset and liability method in accordance with FASB Accounting Standard Codification (ASC) Topic 740, Income Taxes . Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted tax rates expected to apply to taxable income in the years in which those differences are projected to be recovered or settled. Realization of deferred tax assets is dependent on the Company's ability to generate sufficient taxable income of an appropriate character in future periods. A valuation allowance is established if it is determined to be more likely than not that a deferred tax asset will not be realized. Interest and penalties related to unrecognized tax benefits are reported in income tax expense, See note 18, Income Taxes.

(q) Net Loss Per Share Calculation

The basic net loss per common share is computed by dividing the net loss by the weighted-average number of common shares outstanding during a period. Diluted income per common share is computed by dividing the net income, adjusted on an as-if-converted basis, by the weighted-average number of common shares outstanding plus potentially dilutive securities. The Company has other potentially dilutive securities outstanding that are not shown in a diluted net loss per share calculation because their effect in 2015, 2014 and 2013 would be anti-dilutive. These potentially dilutive securities excluded from the calculation include common shares issued upon conversion or exercise of convertible and redeemable preferred shares, options and warrants. At both December 31, 2015 and 2014, assuming an event other than a qualified initial public offering, these securities included convertible preferred shares of 12,437, warrants of 269 and stock options of 99 for a total of 12,805 dilutive securities. At December 31, 2013, assuming an event other than a qualified initial public offering, these securities included convertible preferred shares of 12,437, warrants of 130 and stock options of 96 for a total of 12,663 dilutive securities.

(r) Use of Estimates

The preparation of consolidated financial statements in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the consolidated financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates. Significant items subject to such estimates and assumptions include the useful lives of property, plant, and equipment, realizability of intangible assets and deferred tax assets, inventory valuation, relative selling prices for revenue recognition, fair value of stock options and warrants, warranty reserves and other contingencies.

(s) Fair Value of Financial Instruments

FASB ASC Topic 820, Fair Value Measurements , defines fair value as the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. Topic 820 also specifies a fair value hierarchy that requires an entity to maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs when measuring fair value. The standard describes three levels of inputs that may be used to measure fair value is follows:

Level 1: Quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities;

Level 2: Observable inputs other than Level 1 prices, such as quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities; quoted prices in markets that are not active; or other inputs that are observable or can be corroborated by observable market data for substantially the full term of the assets or liabilities; and Level 3: Valuation is generated from model-based techniques that use significant assumptions not observable in the market. These unobservable assumptions reflect the Company’s own estimate of assumptions that market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability.

The carrying amounts of cash and cash equivalents, trade accounts receivable, income taxes receivable, accounts payable and accrued expenses and income taxes payable approximate fair value because of the short-term nature of these financial instruments. The carrying amount of working capital loans approximates fair value due to their short term nature and the loans carry a current market rate of interest, a level 2 input. The carrying value of long-term debt approximates fair value based on its variable rate index or based upon market interest rates available to the Company for debt of similar risk and maturities, both of which are level 2 inputs.

(t) Recently Issued Accounting Pronouncements

Revenue from Contracts with Customers

In May 2014, the FASB issued ASU 2014-09, Revenue from Contracts with Customers , (Topic 606). ASU 2014-09 is a comprehensive new revenue recognition model requiring a company to recognize revenue to depict the transfer of goods or services to a customer at an amount reflecting the consideration it expects to receive in exchange for those goods or services. On July 9, 2015, the FASB voted to approve a one year deferral of the effective date of ASU 2014-09. As a result, the Company expects that it will apply the new revenue standard to annual and interim reporting periods beginning after December 15, 2017. In adopting ASU 2014-09, companies may use either a full retrospective or a modified retrospective approach. Management is evaluating the provisions of ASU 2014-09 and has not yet selected a transition method nor determined what impact the adoption of ASU 2014-09 will have on the Company's financial position or results of operations.

Share-Based Payments with Performance Conditions

In June 2014, the FASB issued ASU 2014-12, Accounting for Share-Based Payments When the Terms of an Award Provide That a Performance Target Could Be Achieved after the Requisite Service Period . ASU 2014-12 requires that a performance target that affects vesting and that could be achieved after the requisite service period be treated as a performance condition of the award. A reporting entity should apply existing guidance in Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) Topic 718, "Compensation-Stock Compensation", as it relates to such awards. ASU 2014-12 is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2015, and may be applied prospectively or retrospectively. Early adoption is permitted. The Company has adopted the provisions of ASU 2014-12 effective December 31, 2015 and has determined that the adoption of ASU 2014-12 did not have a material effect on the Company's financial position or results of operations.

Going Concern

In August 2014, the FASB issued ASU 2014-15, Presentation of Financial Statements – Going Concern (Subtopic 205-40): Disclosure of Uncertainties about an Entity's Ability to Continue as a Going Concern . ASU 2014-15 requires an entity to evaluate whether there are conditions or events, in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about the entity's ability to continue as a going concern within one year after the date that the financial statements are issued (or within one year after the financial statements are available to be issued when applicable) and to provide related footnote disclosures in certain circumstances. ASU 2014-15 is effective for the annual period ending after December 15, 2016, and for annual and interim periods thereafter. Early application is permitted. Management does not expect the adoption of ASU 2014-15 to have any effect on the Company's financial position, results of operations, or related disclosures.

Simplifying the Presentation of Debt Issuance Costs

In April 2015, the FASB issued ASU 2015-03, Simplifying the Presentation of Debt Issuance Costs . ASU 2015-03 requires that debt issuance costs related to a recognized debt liability be presented in the balance sheet as a direct deduction from the carrying amount of that debt liability, consistent with debt discounts. ASU 2015-03 is effective for the first interim period for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2015, with early adoption permitted for financial statements that have not been previously issued. Management does not expect the adoption of ASU 2015-03 to have any effect on the Company's financial position or results of operations.

Presentation and Subsequent Measurement of Debt Issuance Costs Association with Line of Credit Arrangements

In August 2015, the FASB issued ASU 2015-15, Presentation and Subsequent Measurement of Debt Issuance Costs Association with Line of Credit Arrangements . ASU 2015-15 indicates that the guidance in ASU 2015-03 did not address the presentation or subsequent measurement of debt issuance costs related to line of credit arrangements. Given the absence of authoritative guidance within ASU 2015-03, the SEC staff has indicated that they would not object to an entity deferring and presenting debt issuance costs ratably over the term of a line of credit arrangement, regardless of whether there are any outstanding borrowings on the line of credit arrangement. Management does not expect the adoption of ASU 2015-15 to have any effect on the Company's financial position or results of operations.

Income Taxes (Topic 740) Balance Sheet Classification of Deferred Taxes

In November 2015, the FASB issued ASU 2015-17, Income Taxes (Topic 740): Balance Sheet Classification of Deferred Taxes , which changes how deferred taxes are classified on an entity's balance sheet. The ASU eliminates the current requirement for organizations to present deferred tax liabilities and assets as current and noncurrent in a classified balance sheet. Instead, organizations will be required to classify all deferred tax assets and liabilities as noncurrent. The amendment applies to all entities that present a classified balance sheet. For public companies, the amendment is effective for financial statements issued for annual periods beginning after December 16, 2016, and interim periods within those annual periods. Early adoption is permitted, which the Company has elected effective December 31, 2015. The result of the application of this guidance was a reclassification of the current deferred tax assets and liabilities to long-term deferred tax assets and liabilities in the consolidated balance sheets.

Leases

In February 2016, the FASB issued ASU 2016-02, Leases , (Topic 842). ASU 2016-02 is a comprehensive new recognition model for leases requiring a lessee to recognize the asset and liability that arise from leases. For public companies, the amendment is effective for financial statements issued for annual periods beginning after December 16, 2018. Entities may elect to early adopt the lease standard in 2016. In adopting ASU 2016-02, entities are required to recognize and measure leases at the beginning of the earliest period presented using a modified retrospective approach. The modified retrospective approach includes a number of optional practical expedients that entities may elect to apply. Management is evaluating the provisions of ASU 2016-02 and has not yet selected a transition method nor determined what impact the adoption of ASU 2016-02 will have on the Company's financial position or results of operations.

There have been no other recent accounting pronouncements or changes in accounting pronouncements during the current year that are of significance, or potential significance, to the Company.

Note 2. Significant Risks and Uncertainties

The Company's revenues and receivables are from a small number of customers. As such, the Company's production levels are dependent on these customers' orders. See note 19, Concentration of Customers .

The Company maintains its U.S. cash in bank deposit accounts that, at times, exceed U.S. federally insured limits. U.S. bank accounts are guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) in an amount up to $250,000 during 2015 and 2014. At December 31, 2015 and 2014, the Company had $33.2 million and $26.0 million, respectively, of cash in deposit accounts in U.S. banks, which was in excess of FDIC limits. The Company has not experienced losses in any such accounts.

TPI COMPOSITES, INC. AND SUBSIDIARIES

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

The Company also maintains cash in bank deposit accounts outside the U.S. with no insurance. This includes $7.2 million in Turkey, $5.3 million in China and $0.2 million in Mexico. The Company has not experienced losses in these accounts. The Company also has long-term deposits in interest bearing accounts of $2.1 million in Mexico. See note 10, Other Noncurrent Assets.

Note 3. Investments in Joint Venture and Noncontrolling Interest

In 2012, the Company entered into a wind blade manufacturing plant joint venture in Izmir, Turkey with ALKE by purchasing 75 percent of the registered shares of TPI Kompozit Kanat Sanayi Ve Ticaret A.S. Of the total consideration of $6.1 million, $2.3 million was allocated to a customer agreement, which is included in intangible assets on the consolidated balance sheets. See note 9, Intangible Assets, Net . The customer agreement is being amortized over the life of the related agreement of 45 months.

The Company entered into a supply agreement with a customer in 2011 to manufacture wind blades in Izmir, Turkey. The supply agreement, as amended in 2012, also contained terms for secured zero-interest customer advances totaling approximately $5.0 million. The advances were repaid as inventory was sold to the customer through a reduction in the receivable from the customer. The advance was paid in full in April 2014. See note 11, Customer Deposits and Customer Advances .

In December 2013, the Company acquired the remaining 25 percent interest in the Turkey operation for $0.5 million in cash and $3.5 million in notes payable, making the Turkey operation a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Company. The notes payable were paid in full as of December 31, 2015.

The noncontrolling interest's share of the net loss for 2013 through the date of the acquisition was $2.3 million. The loss from the noncontrolling interest was tax-effected at the statutory rate in Turkey of 20 percent adjusting for deferred tax treatment and permanent differences with a net tax benefit allocation of $0.5 million.

Note 4. Related-Party Transactions

Related party transactions include transactions between the Company and certain of its affiliates. The following transactions were in the normal course of operations and were measured at the exchange amount, which is the amount of consideration established and agreed to by the parties.

The Company has entered into several agreements with subsidiaries of General Electric Company and consolidated affiliates (GE) relating to the operation of its business. As a result of these agreements, GE is a debtor, creditor and holder of preferred shares as of December 31, 2015 and 2014.

As disclosed at note 19, Concentration of Customers , for the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, the Company recorded related-party sales with GE of $312.5 million, $234.8 million and $196.1 million, respectively. The Company has entered into four separate supply agreements with GE to manufacture wind blades in Newton, Iowa; Taicang Port, China; Juárez, Mexico and Izmir, Turkey. As a result of the supply agreements, GE is the Company's largest customer. As of December 31, 2015 and 2014, the Company had accounts receivables related to sales to GE of approximately $19.0 million and $14.1 million, respectively. In connection with three of the supply agreements with GE, the Company secured zero-interest customer advances of $8.0 million (China), $6.5 million (Iowa), and $5.0 million (Turkey) to be provided over the startup period of each facility. In July 2014, Iowa received an advance payment from GE in the amount of $2.5 million. The outstanding balances were paid in full in connection with the new credit facility obtained in August 2014 (Note 14). See note 12, Customer Deposits and Customer Advances .

TPI COMPOSITES, INC. AND SUBSIDIARIES

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

Since 2007, the Company has issued three series of preferred shares. In connection with the preferred share issuances, the Company sold Series B, Series B-1, and senior redeemable preferred shares to GE. As a result of these transactions, GE beneficially owns approximately 11.2% of the Company as of December 31, 2015. See note 15, Convertible and Senior Redeemable Preferred Shares and Warrants.

Warranty accrual at end of year	$13,596	$ 5,916	$3,748

Note 12. Customer Deposits and Customer Advances

The Company regularly enters into contracts for the production of composite structures that require the purchase of raw materials specific to the customers' orders. As such, the Company may require that customers pay a deposit prior to the beginning of production. The customer deposits are recorded as current liabilities in the consolidated balance sheets and are reduced as the Company invoices its customers for work performed or the products are delivered. As of December 31, 2015 and 2014, the Company had customer deposits of $8.9 million and $12.1 million, respectively.

TPI COMPOSITES, INC. AND SUBSIDIARIES

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

The Company may receive customers advances used to assist with the cash required for the transition and startup of operations at facilities. Interest on these advances is imputed and a discount is recorded on the customer advances. The rate used approximates that which the Company estimates it could have received if financed from third parties. The discount is recorded as deferred revenue and recognized as net sales on a straight-line basis over the term of the supply agreements with the customer.

Customer advances received from GE through July 2014 included $9.0 million for the Newton, Iowa plant; $8.0 million for the plant in Taicang Port, China and $5.0 million for the plant in Turkey. In connection with the debt refinancing in August 2014 as detailed in note 14, Long-Term Debt , Net of Discount , the remaining advance payments were paid off in full.

In March 2014, the Company's Mexico segment received aggregate advance payments of $2.0 million as well as manufacturing equipment valued at $0.8 million from one of its customers to help fund the startup of the plant in Mexico. The agreement, as amended in May 2014, required the Company to repay the advance payments and equipment cost without interest, through future credits against a specified number of products sold to the customer. During the years ended December 31, 2015 and 2014, $1.2 million and $1.6 million was repaid through credits, respectively. Customer advances at December 31 consisted of the following (in thousands):

Customer advances, beginning of year	$ 1,171	$ 4,149

Note 13. Share-Based Compensation

The Company maintains two active incentive compensation plans: the 2008 Stock Option and Grant Plan and the 2015 Stock Option and Incentive Plan. The Company granted 10-year term stock options to employees and directors during 2010 under the 2008 Stock Option and Grant Plan, which vested over a 4- or 5-year period. The 2,869 shares available for grant under the 2008 Stock Option and Grant Plan have been added to the shares available under the 2015 Plan.

The Company granted awards of stock options and restricted stock units (RSUs) during 2015 to certain employees and non-employee directors under the 2015 Plan. Each award includes a performance condition that requires the completion of an initial public offering (IPO) by the Company and a required service period of one to four years commencing upon achievement of the performance condition. The Company will begin recording share-based compensation expense associated with the 2015 awards when the IPO is considered probable. The performance requirement has not been deemed to be probable of achievement until the consummation of the IPO, and therefore no compensation cost will be recognized until the IPO occurs. If an IPO is consummated by the Company, compensation expense will be recorded at the time of the IPO for the period of the requisite service period from the grant date through the IPO date with the balance of the stock based compensation expense for the 2015 awards recorded over the remaining service period. No share-based compensation awards were granted in 2014 or 2013.

U.S.: In February 2014, the Company entered into an agreement to borrow $5.0 million through an existing term loan with a financial institution. The borrowing provided for additional financial covenants on the entire $20.0 million borrowed from the lender. The Company granted the lender warrants for the right to purchase up to 40 shares of preferred stock of the Company. The warrants expire seven years after the effective date of the loan. The Company recorded these warrants at their fair value upon issuance of $0.1 million in accordance with FASB ASC Topic 480, Distinguishing Liabilities from Equity . This amount was accounted for as a debt discount and an increase in redeemable preferred share warrants. The Company has amortized the value of the debt discount as interest expense over the term of the loan. The loan's interest only period was through June 1, 2014. The loan bore interest at 11.25% and was to mature on June 1, 2016. In connection with a new credit facility in 2014 as detailed below, the term loan was repaid in full and the remaining debt discount of $1.3 million was fully expensed within the caption "Loss on extinguishment of debt" in the accompanying consolidated statements of operations.

In February 2014, the Company entered into a note purchase agreement with two of its current investors for the purchase of $5.0 million of subordinated convertible promissory notes of the Company. The promissory notes bore interest at a rate of 12.0% per annum, payable quarterly, starting April 1, 2014. In connection with the agreement, the Company granted the holders of the notes warrants for the right to purchase up to 40 shares of preferred stock of the Company. The warrants were earned monthly over 12 months, and expire seven years after the effective date of the loan. The Company recorded the warrants issued at their fair value upon issuance of $0.1 million in accordance with FASB ASC Topic 480. This amount was accounted for as a debt discount and an increase in redeemable preferred share warrants. The Company has amortized the value of the debt discount as interest expense over the term of the notes. In connection with the new credit facility in 2014 as detailed below, the promissory notes were paid in full and the remaining debt discount of $1.6 million was fully expensed within the caption “Loss on extinguishment of debt” in the accompanying consolidated statements of operations.

In March 2014, the Company entered into a lease agreement with a leasing company for the initial lease of up to $2.2 million of machinery and equipment at its Iowa facility. The lease agreement was subsequently amended and the amount of machinery and equipment available for lease was increased to $5.4 million. The lease includes an implied effective interest rate of 4.3% annually and requires monthly payments during each 24 month term.

In August 2014, the Company entered into an agreement to borrow up to $75.0 million through a credit facility (the Credit Facility) in order to refinance existing indebtedness as well as to fund current operations and future growth opportunities. The initial amount drawn on the closing date was $50.0 million and an additional $5.0 million was drawn in December 2014. In December 2014, in connection with the additional $5.0 million draw, the Credit Facility was amended. In December 2015, the Credit Facility was further amended to increase the total available principal amount from $75.0 million to $100.0 million. The borrowing has an initial term of four years and matures in 2018, provides for various financial covenants and bears interest at the London Interbank Offered Rate, or LIBOR, with a 1.0% floor, plus 8.0%. The Credit Facility contains various affirmative and negative covenants, including EBITDA (as defined in the Credit Facility) minimum covenants, a leverage ratio and a fixed-charge coverage ratio. The Credit Facility limits annual capital expenditures based on budgets submitted to and agreed to with the lender and there is also an annual excess cash flow sweep requirement. In connection with the December 2015 amendment, all financial covenants were revised and the measurement period changed from monthly to quarterly. Concurrent with the December 2015 amendment, the Company borrowed an additional $20.0 million under the Credit Facility to fund future growth and expansion. As of December 31, 2015 and 2014, the outstanding balances under the Credit Facility were $74.4 million and $55.0 million, respectively.

The Credit Facility, as amended, requires principal payments of 1.25% of the then outstanding principal loan balance each quarter and deferred any further principal payments until September 2016. If the Company were to prepay any of the outstanding principal loan balance prior to December 8, 2016, it is required to pay the lender a premium in an amount equal to the amount of interest that otherwise would have been payable from the date of prepayment until December 8, 2016 plus 3.0% of the amount of the principal loan balance that was prepaid. The Company is not required to pay such a premium if it prepays the outstanding principal loan balance under the Credit Facility with proceeds from this offering and the Credit Facility is refinanced with the lender or an affiliate. If the Company prepays any of the outstanding principal loan balance after December 8, 2016 through December 8, 2017, it is required to pay the lender 3.0% of the principal loan balance that was prepaid, and if it prepays any of the outstanding loan balance after December 8, 2017 through August 18, 2018, it is required to pay a premium of 1.5% of the amount of the principal loan balance that was prepaid.

In connection with the initial draw on the Credit Facility, the Company repaid the senior term loan of $20.0 million (referenced above) plus accrued interest, a prepayment penalty and a termination fee. The prepayment penalty and termination fee amounted to $1.6 million and are included within the caption “Loss on extinguishment of debt” in the consolidated statements of operations. The Company also repaid $5.0 million of subordinated convertible promissory notes (referenced above) plus accrued interest as well as $5.7 million of customer advances outstanding at the time of the refinancing. In addition, there were debt issuance costs of $4.7 million which are being amortized to interest expense over a period of 48 months using the effective interest method.

In conjunction with the additional funding under the Credit Facility discussed above, in December 2014, the Company entered into a note purchase agreement with five of the Company's current investors for the purchase of $10.0 million of subordinated convertible promissory notes. The notes bear interest at a rate of 12.0% per annum and will automatically mature and be due and payable on the earlier of the completion of any change of control or qualified initial public offering, or at the election of the holders of the notes at any time after the occurrence of an event of default. The Company has the right to prepayment without the consent of the note holders and the note holders hold conversion rights upon future financing into new equity financing or convertible note financing. This note purchase agreement contains a beneficial conversion feature which was valued at $5.2 million based on the difference between the fair value of the Company's stock as of the commitment date as compared to the most favorable conversion rate that will be available to the investor during the term of the loan. This amount was accounted for as a debt discount and an increase in shareholders' equity. The debt discount is accreted to interest expense ratably over the expected term of the notes.

Turkey : During 2014, the Company renewed a general credit agreement with a financial institution in Turkey to provide up to $20.0 million of short-term collateralized financing on invoiced accounts receivable of one of Turkey's customers. Interest accrues annually at the Euro Interbank Offered Rate (EURIBOR) plus 0.2% (currently 5.75%) and is paid monthly. In December 2014, Turkey obtained an additional $7.0 million of unsecured financing under the credit agreement and increased the facility total to $27.0 million. All credit agreement terms remained the same. The credit agreement does not have a maturity date, however the limits are reviewed in September of each year. Amounts outstanding under this agreement as of December 31, 2015 and 2014 include $18.7 million and $17.8 million of accounts receivable financing and $4.1 million and $2.1 million of unsecured financing, respectively.

In December 2014, the Company entered into a credit agreement with a Turkish financial institution to provide up to $16.0 million short-term financing of which $10.0 million is collateralized financing on invoiced accounts receivable of one of Turkey's customers and the remaining $6.0 million is unsecured. Interest accrues at an average rate of 6.25%. The credit agreement does not have a maturity date, however the limits are reviewed in September of each year. Amounts outstanding under this agreement as of December 31, 2015 and 2014 include $1.8 million and $6.4 million of accounts receivable financing and $4.5 million and $4.9 million of unsecured financing, respectively.

China : During 2014, the Company entered into several working capital loans with various financial institutions. Amounts outstanding as of December 31, 2015 and 2014 were $9.5 million and $19.1 million, respectively, and interest accrues at between 5.6% and 6.9% annually. During 2014, the Company also entered into accounts receivable financing loans with a financial institution. Amounts outstanding as of December 31, 2015 and 2014 were $6.6 million and $5.4 million, respectively, and interest accrues at 6.6% annually. All interest is payable quarterly. The principal on these loans is scheduled to be paid from between 12 to 36 months from each loan origination date but have been, and are anticipated to continue to be, renewed at their maturities. As collateral for the above working capital loans, the financial institution received a security interest in China's buildings and land use rights (Note 10).

Mexico : In July 2014, the Company entered into a construction financing agreement related to a building with a total value of $1.6 million. Interest accrues at 7.0% annually and is paid monthly. The agreement requires monthly payments between August 2014 and September 2015. The amount outstanding under this agreement as of December 31, 2014 was $0.8 million.

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

In October 2015, the Company entered into a construction financing agreement related to the expansion of a building with a total value of $1.8 million. Interest accrues at 7.0% annually and is paid monthly. The agreement requires monthly payments between October 2015 and October 2016. The amount outstanding under this agreement as of December 31, 2015 was $1.2 million.

Due to the short-term nature of the working capital loans (China and Turkey), the Company estimates that fair-value approximates the face value of the notes.

For the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, $1.3 million, $0.7 million, and $0.2 million debt issuance costs were amortized to interest expense in the Company's consolidated statements of operations.

The average interest rate on the Company's short-term borrowings as of December 31, 2015 and 2014 was approximately 6.1% and 6.4%, respectively.

The aggregate amount of maturities of debt at December 31, 2015, is as follows (in thousands):

2017	15,551
2018	68,968
Total	$ 136,584

Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Shares	June 30, 2014	$ 3.9 million	160

(1) Proceeds above are shown net of transaction costs of $0.4 million, $0.4 million, $0.2 million, $0.1 million, $0.1 million and $0.2 million for Series A, Series B, Series B-1, Series C Preferred Shares, Senior Redeemable Preferred Shares and Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Shares, respectively.

In May 2014, the Company raised $3.0 million through the issuance of 120 shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock (SSRPS) to a group of its current investors. The Company granted the investors warrants for the right to purchase up to 21 shares of preferred stock of the Company. On June 30, 2014, the Company raised an additional $3.9 million through the issuance of 160 shares of SSRPS to a group of its current investors. The Company granted the investors warrants for the right to purchase up to 27 shares of preferred stock of the Company. The warrants are exercisable for a period up to seven years.

SSRPS provides for a base price of $25,000 per share, and ranks senior to any share of senior preferred stock, preferred stock, common stock, and any other equity securities of the Company. SSRPS holders receive dividend rights equal to 10 percent of the SSRPS base price per annum. Dividends will accrue from the date of issuance, and are cumulative and compounded annually. SSRPS is redeemable, in the event of a liquidation event at three times the SSRPS base price, or $75,000 per share. In the event the Company cannot satisfy the redemption, SSRPS stock outstanding will receive a liquidation premium amount for each share in connection with a liquidation event or qualified initial public offering. SSRPS stock also includes a redemption trigger, such that SSRPS stock is senior to the exercisable redemption rights of all other equity securities.

The preferred share balances have been accreted to the redemption amount as of the first date redemption can take place using the effective interest method. In addition, the preferred share balance includes cumulative preferred share dividends as required by the preferred share agreements. No accretion has been recorded for preferred shares that are not redeemable for cash on or after a specified date. The amount of the accretion and deemed dividends is included in the net income attributable to preferred shareholders in the consolidated statements of operations.

The Company recorded the warrants noted above at their fair value upon issuance of $0.2 million of redeemable preferred share warrants in the “mezzanine” section of the consolidated balance sheets.

Note 16. Commitments and Contingencies

(a) Operating Leases

The Company leases various facilities and equipment under noncancelable operating leases with terms ranging from 12 months to 120 months. Scheduled rent increases are recorded on a straight-line basis over the entire term of the lease.

Rental expense charged under all operating leases (including leases with terms of less than one year) was $8.4 million, $7.1 million and $3.9 million for the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively. Future minimum lease payments under noncancelable operating leases with terms of one year or more as of December 31, 2015 are as follows (in thousands):

2018	12,272
2019	9,624
2020	9,184
Thereafter	36,492
Total	$91,703

(b) Legal Proceedings

The Company is involved in various claims and legal actions arising in the ordinary course of business. In the opinion of management, the ultimate disposition of these matters will not have a material adverse effect on the Company's consolidated financial position, results of operations or liquidity.

(c) Dividend Restrictions

Certain subsidiaries of the Company are limited in their ability to declare dividends without first meeting statutory restrictions of the People's Republic of China, including retained earnings as determined under Chinese-statutory accounting requirements and the approval of one of the Company's Chinese lenders. Until 50% ($5.2 million) of registered capital is contributed to a surplus reserve, the Company's Chinese operations can only pay dividends equal to 90% of after-tax profits (10% must be contributed to the surplus reserve). Once the surplus reserve fund requirement is met, the Company can pay dividends equal to 100% of after-tax profit assuming other conditions are met. At December 31, 2015, the amount of the surplus reserve fund was $2.9 million.

(d) Collective Bargaining Agreement

The Company is in the process of negotiating a collective bargaining agreement, which expires on December 31, 2015, with its Turkish employees for an expected term of three years, and there may be a retrospective application of its terms for the period between January 1, 2016 and the effective date of such new agreement. Currently, there are no other employees covered by collective bargaining agreements. The Company believes that its relations with employees are good, and there have been no major work stoppages in recent years.

Note 17. Defined Contribution Plan

The Company maintains a 401(k) plan for all of its U.S. employees. Under the 401(k) plan, eligible employees may contribute, subject to statutory limitations, a percentage of their salaries. The Company currently matches 25 percent of the participants' contributions up to 8 percent of eligible compensation.

Participant vesting occurs in the Company matching contributions according to the schedule below:

Years of service	Vesting Percentage
Less than 2 years	0%
2-year anniversary	20%
3-year anniversary	40%
4-year anniversary	60%
5-year anniversary	80%
6-year anniversary	100%

The Company's matching contributions to the 401(k) plan were $0.2 million for each of the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013. The Company's matching contributions are accrued and recorded as expense during each payroll period.

In Mexico, the Company maintains an annual savings fund, which matches the employee contribution each week, based on the Mexican statutory maximum of 13% of actual minimum salary rates. The savings fund period runs from November to October each year, and is distributed to employees in full, during the first week of November each year. For the years ended December 31, 2015 and 2014, the Company incurred matched savings expense of $0.5 million and $0.3 million, respectively.

In Turkey, the Company maintains a retirement fund that is based on a formula of annual salary multiplied by the number of years of service for the Company. The Company accrues a retirement fund liability for this each month. As of December 31, 2015 and 2014, the Company had accrued $0.6 million and $0.3 million, respectively, based on the service periods of eligible employees greater than one year.

Note 18. Income Taxes

Geographic sources of net income (loss) before income taxes are as follows for the years ended December 31 (in thousands):

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

The income tax provision includes U.S. federal, state, and local taxes, Turkey, China and Mexico taxes currently payable and those deferred because of temporary differences between the financial statement and the tax bases of assets and liabilities. The components of the provision for income taxes are as follows for the years ended December 31 (in thousands):

	2015	2014	2013
Current:
U.S. federal	$ (51)	$ 80	$ (5)
U.S. state and local taxes	55	282	3
Foreign	4,738	1,581	168
Total current	4,742	1,943	166
Deferred:

Total deferred	(765)	(1,018)	(3,512)
Total provision (benefit)	$3,977	$ 925	$(3,346)

The reconciliation between the U.S. statutory income tax rate and the Company's income tax provision is as follows for the years ended December 31:

	2015	2014	2013
United States statutory income tax rate (benefit)	34.0%	(34.0)%	(34.0)%
Noncontrolling interest	0.0%	0.0%	(9.0)%
Foreign rate differential	(23.9)%	(8.8)%	25.1%
Foreign permanent differences	4.1%	0.0%	0.0%
Withholding taxes	3.4%	6.8%	3.3%
Valuation allowance	17.3%	64.8%	(61.4)%
State taxes	0.5%	3.6%	0.0%
Deferred tax adjustments	2.3%	(13.3)%	(5.4)%
Research and development	(3.0)%	(2.2)%	(4.1)%
Other (1)	(0.6)%	(0.7)%	8.9%
Total expense (benefit)	34.1%	16.2%	(76.6)%

(1) The 2013 amount includes $0.4 million of foreign currency translation adjustments related to the change in the value of the Turkish Lira during 2013.

U.S. income taxes have not been provided on $22.3 million of undistributed earnings as of December 31, 2015 of foreign subsidiaries over which the Company has sufficient influence to control the distribution of such earnings, and has determined that such earnings have been reinvested indefinitely. Should the Company elect in the future to repatriate a portion of the foreign earnings so invested, the Company could incur income tax expense on such repatriation, net of any available deductions and foreign tax credits. This would result in additional income tax expense beyond the computed expected provision in such periods. The amount of unrecognized deferred tax liability for temporary differences related to investments in foreign subsidiaries and foreign corporate joint ventures that are essentially permanent in duration is not easily determinable.

Total deferred tax liabilities	(4,233)	(4,906)	(6,257)
Net deferred tax assets (liabilities)	$ 1,661	$ 945	$ (884)

The deferred tax valuation allowance at December 31 consisted of the following (in thousands):

	2015	2014	2013
Allowance at beginning of year	$ (39,347)	$ (35,208)	$ (40,464)
Expenses incurred	(1,869)	(4,139)	—
Adjustment	—	—	5,256
Allowance at end of year	$ (41,216)	$ (39,347)	$ (35,208)

The valuation allowance relates to deferred taxes that the Company believes do not meet the more-likely than-not criteria for recording the related benefits.

The Company has U.S. federal net operating losses of approximately $78.1 million, state net operating losses of approximately $61.1 million and foreign net operating losses of approximately $3.2 million available to offset future taxable income. The federal and state net operating loss carryforwards expire in varying amounts through 2035. The Company's foreign net operating loss carryforwards expire in varying amounts through 2020. The Company also has foreign tax credits of approximately $0.3 million that expire in 2024.

Sections 382 and 383 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, contain rules that limit the ability of a company that undergoes an "ownership change" to utilize its net operating loss and tax credit carry forwards and certain built-in losses recognized in years after the ownership change. An "ownership change" is generally defined as any change in ownership of more than 50% of a corporation's stock over a rolling three-year period by stockholders that own (directly or indirectly) 5% or more of the stock of a corporation, or arising from a new issuance of stock by a corporation. If an ownership change occurs, Section 382 generally imposes an annual limitation on the use of pre-ownership change net operating losses to offset taxable income earned after the ownership change. The annual limitation is equal to the product of the applicable long-term tax exempt rate and the value of the company's stock immediately before the ownership change. This annual limitation may be adjusted to reflect any unused annual limitation for prior years and certain recognized built-in gains and losses for the year. In addition, Section 383 generally limits the amount of tax liability in any post-ownership change year that can be reduced by pre-ownership change tax credit carryforwards. At the end of 2008, the Company had an "ownership change" and the pre-ownership change net operating losses existing at the date of change of $25.6 million are subject to an annual limitation of $4.3 million. As of December 31, 2015, the remaining pre-ownership change net operating losses of approximately $20.5 million are no longer limited. Certain of these net operating losses may be at risk of limitation in the event of a future ownership change.

The Company's policy regarding uncertain tax positions is to recognize potential accrued interest and penalties related to unrecognized tax benefits as a component of income tax expense. As of December 31, 2015, the Company has not identified any uncertain tax positions.

The Company operates in and files income tax returns in various jurisdictions in China, Mexico, Turkey and the U.S., which are subject to examination by tax authorities. With few exceptions, the Company is no longer subject to income tax examinations for years before 2010.

Note 20. Segment Reporting

FASB ASC Topic 280, Segment Reporting , establishes standards for the manner in which companies report financial information about operating segments, products, services, geographic areas and major customers. In managing the Company's business, management focuses on growing its revenues and earnings in select geographic areas serving primarily the wind energy market. The Company has operations in the United States, China, Turkey and Mexico. The Company's operating segments are defined geographically as the United States, Asia, EMEA (Europe, the Middle East and Africa) and Mexico. Financial results are aggregated into four reportable segments based on quantitative thresholds. All of the Company's segments operate in their local currency except for the Mexico and Asia segments, which both include a U.S. parent company.

The following tables set forth certain information regarding each of the Company's segments for the years ended December 31 (in thousands):

Note 21. Subsequent Event

In January 2016, the Company's Mexico segment entered into an agreement with GE, a related party, and received an advance of $2.0 million. These funds will be used to expand the existing Mexico manufacturing facility to accommodate larger wind blade models. The Mexico segment is obligated to repay the advance, without interest, by providing future credits against a specified number of wind blade sets sold to GE. If the Mexico segment fails to supply those wind blade sets by December 31, 2016, the then outstanding balance of the advance will be immediately due and payable. The advance will also be immediately due in full upon a change of control of the Company or within 30 days after the effective date of an initial public offering of the Company's common stock.

NOTES TO PARENT COMPANY FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Note 1. Description of Business and Basis of Presentation

TPI Composites, Inc., or TPI, is the holding company that conducts substantially all of its business operations through its direct and indirect subsidiaries. During the years ended December 31, 2015 and 2014, TPI did not receive any cash dividends from its subsidiaries in China. Accordingly, these condensed financial statements have been prepared on a "parent-only" basis. Under a parent-only presentation, TPI's investments in its consolidated subsidiaries are presented under the equity method of accounting. These parent-only financial statements should be read in conjunction with TPI Composites, Inc. and Subsidiaries audited consolidated financial statements and related notes included elsewhere in this prospectus. There are material restrictions on TPI's ability to obtain funds from its indirect subsidiaries in China through dividends, loans or advances.

Note 2. Debt

As of December 31, 2015, TPI had $81.4 million of debt outstanding. For more details on the composition of the balance and various debt transactions which took place during the year, see note 14 to the consolidated financial statements included elsewhere in this prospectus.

Note 3. Preferred Shares and Warrants

Since October 2007, TPI has issued preferred shares to investors and since June 2013 has issued warrants for the purchase of preferred shares in connection with certain debt and preferred share issuances. See note 15 to the consolidated financial statements included elsewhere in this prospectus for more details.

Note 4. Commitments and Contingencies

In addition to the debt amounts noted above, TPI has guaranteed the performance under certain agreements of its direct or indirect subsidiaries. See note 16 to the consolidated financial statements included elsewhere in this prospectus for more details.

Item 14. Indemnification of Directors and Officers.

Section 145(a) of the Delaware General Corporation Law provides, in general, that a corporation may indemnify any person who was or is a party or is threatened to be made a party to any threatened, pending or completed action, suit or proceeding, whether civil, criminal, administrative or investigative (other than an action by or in the right of the corporation), because he or she is or was a director, officer, employee or agent of the corporation, or is or was serving at the request of the corporation as a director, officer, employee or agent of another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise, against expenses (including attorneys' fees), judgments, fines and amounts paid in settlement actually and reasonably incurred by the person in connection with such action, suit or proceeding, if he or she acted in good faith and in a manner he or she reasonably believed to be in or not opposed to the best interests of the corporation and, with respect to any criminal action or proceeding, had no reasonable cause to believe his or her conduct was unlawful.

Section 145(b) of the Delaware General Corporation Law provides, in general, that a corporation may indemnify any person who was or is a party or is threatened to be made a party to any threatened, pending or completed action or suit by or in the right of the corporation to procure a judgment in its favor because the person is or was a director, officer, employee or agent of the corporation, or is or was serving at the request of the corporation as a director, officer, employee or agent of another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise, against expenses (including attorneys' fees) actually and reasonably incurred by the person in connection with the defense or settlement of such action or suit if he or she acted in good faith and in a manner he or she reasonably believed to be in or not opposed to the best interests of the corporation, except that no indemnification shall be made with respect to any claim, issue or matter as to which he or she shall have been adjudged to be liable to the corporation unless and only to the extent that the Court of Chancery or other adjudicating court determines that, despite the adjudication of liability but in view of all of the circumstances of the case, he or she is fairly and reasonably entitled to indemnity for such expenses which the Court of Chancery or other adjudicating court shall deem proper.

Section 145(g) of the Delaware General Corporation Law provides, in general, that a corporation may purchase and maintain insurance on behalf of any person who is or was a director, officer, employee or agent of the corporation, or is or was serving at the request of the corporation as a director, officer, employee or agent of another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise against any liability asserted against such person and incurred by such person in any such capacity, or arising out of his or her status as such, whether or not the corporation would have the power to indemnify the person against such liability under Section 145 of the Delaware General Corporation Law.

Article VII of our certificate of incorporation, provides that no director of our company shall be personally liable to us or our stockholders for monetary damages for any breach of fiduciary duty as a director, except for liability (1) for any breach of the director's duty of loyalty to us or our stockholders, (2) for acts or omissions not in good faith or which involve intentional misconduct or a knowing violation of law, (3) in respect of unlawful dividend payments or stock redemptions or repurchases, or (4) for any transaction from which the director derived an improper personal benefit. In addition, our certificate of incorporation provides that if the Delaware General Corporation Law is amended to authorize the further elimination or limitation of the liability of directors, then the liability of a director of our company shall be eliminated or limited to the fullest extent permitted by the Delaware General Corporation Law, as so amended.

Article VII of the certificate of incorporation further provides that any repeal or modification of such article by our stockholders or an amendment to the Delaware General Corporation Law will not adversely affect any right or protection existing at the time of such repeal or modification with respect to any acts or omissions occurring before such repeal or modification of a director serving at the time of such repeal or modification.

Article V of our by-laws provides that we will indemnify each of our directors and officers and, in the discretion of our board of directors, certain employees, to the fullest extent permitted by the Delaware General Corporation Law as the same may be amended (except that in the case of an amendment, only to the extent that the amendment permits us to provide broader indemnification rights than the Delaware General Corporation Law permitted us to provide prior to such amendment) against any and all expenses, judgments, penalties, fines and amounts reasonably paid in settlement that are incurred by the director, officer or such employee or on the director's, officer's or employee's behalf in connection with any threatened, pending or completed proceeding or any claim, issue or matter therein, to which he or she is or is threatened to be made a party because he or she is or was serving as a director, officer or employee of our company, or at our request as a director, partner, trustee, officer, employee or agent of another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust, employee benefit plan or other enterprise, if he or she acted in good faith and in a manner he or she reasonably believed to be in or not opposed to the best interests of our company and, with respect to any criminal proceeding, had no reasonable cause to believe his or her conduct was unlawful. Article V of the by-laws further provides for the advancement of expenses to each of our directors and, in the discretion of the board of directors, to certain officers and employees.

In addition, Article V of the by-laws provides that the right of each of our directors and officers to indemnification and advancement of expenses shall be a contract right and shall not be exclusive of any other right now possessed or hereafter acquired under any statute, provision of the certificate of incorporation or by-laws, agreement, vote of stockholders or otherwise. Furthermore, Article V of the by-laws authorizes us to provide insurance for our directors, officers and employees, against any liability, whether or not we would have the power to indemnify such person against such liability under the Delaware General Corporation Law or the provisions of Article V of the by-laws.

We have entered into indemnification agreements with each of our directors and our executive officers. These agreements provide that we will indemnify each of our directors and such officers to the fullest extent permitted by law and the certificate of incorporation and by-laws.

We also maintain a general liability insurance policy that covers certain liabilities of directors and officers of our company arising out of claims based on acts or omissions in their capacities as directors or officers.

In any underwriting agreement we enter into in connection with the sale of common stock being registered hereby, the underwriters will agree to indemnify, under certain conditions, us, the selling stockholders, our directors, our officers and persons who control us within the meaning of the Securities Act against certain liabilities arising out of any alleged untrue statements or omissions in any information relating to, and furnished by, the underwriters in writing to us for use in this registration statement or any prospectus for this offering.

Item 15. Recent Sales of Unregistered Securities.

During the last three years, we sold the following securities on an unregistered basis:

(1) In June 2013, we issued a warrant to purchase 120.016 shares of our Series B preferred stock at a price per share of $8,748.81.

(2) In February 2014, we issued a warrant to purchase 40.005 shares of our Series B preferred stock at a price per share of $8,748.81.

(3) In February 2014, we issued an aggregate of $5.0 million of bridge notes and related warrants to purchase an aggregate of 40.005 shares of our Series B preferred stock at a price per share of $8,748.81.

(4) In May 2014, we sold an aggregate of 120 shares of our Super Senior Redeemable preferred stock at a purchase price of $25,000 per share. In connection with such issuances, we issued warrants to purchase an aggregate of 20.574 shares of our Series B preferred stock at a price per share of $8,748.81.

(5) In June 2014, we sold an aggregate of 160 shares of our Super Senior Redeemable preferred stock at a purchase price of $25,000 per share. In connection with such issuances, we issued warrants to purchase an aggregate of 27.432 shares of our Series B preferred stock at a price per share of $8,748.81.

(6) In December 2014, we issued an aggregate of $10.0 million of Subordinated Convertible Promissory Notes and related warrants to purchase an aggregate of 171.452 shares of the Company's capital stock at a price per share of $8,748.81.

(7) In May 2015, we granted awards of 7,401 stock options and 1,953 restricted stock units to certain employees and non-employee directors pursuant to our 2015 Plan.

(8) In August 2015, we granted an award of 72 restricted stock units to an employee pursuant to our 2015 Plan.

(9) In December 2015, we granted awards of 1,680 stock options and 8 restricted stock units to certain employees and non-employee directors pursuant to our 2015 plan.

(10) In January 2016, we granted an award of 200 stock options to an employee pursuant to our 2015 Plan.

(11) In March 2016, we granted awards of 560 stock options to certain employees pursuant to our 2015 Plan.

No underwriters were involved in the foregoing sales of securities. The securities described in paragraphs (1) through (6) of this Item 15 were issued to U.S. investors in reliance upon the exemption from the registration requirements of the Securities Act, as set forth in Section 4(a)(2) under the Securities Act and Rule 506 of Regulation D promulgated thereunder relative to sales by an issuer not involving any public offering, to the extent an exemption from such registration was required. We deemed the grants of awards described in paragraphs (7) through (11) as exempt from registration under the Securities Act in reliance on Rule 701 of the Securities Act as offers and sales of securities under compensatory benefit plans and contracts relating to compensation in compliance with Rule 701. Each of the recipients of securities in any transaction exempt from registration either received or had adequate access, through employment, business or other relationships, to information about us.

Item 16. Exhibits and Financial Statement Schedules.

(a) Exhibits.

The exhibits to the registration statement are listed in the Exhibit Index to this registration statement and are incorporated herein by reference.

(b) Financial Statement Schedules.

Schedule I—Condensed Financial Information of the Registrant

Schedules not listed above have been omitted because the information required to be set forth therein is not applicable or is shown in the financial statements or notes thereto.

Item 17. Undertakings.

(a) The undersigned registrant hereby undertakes to provide to the underwriter at the closing specified in the underwriting agreements, certificates in such denominations and registered in such names as required by the underwriter to permit prompt delivery to each purchaser.

(b) Insofar as indemnification for liabilities arising under the Securities Act of 1933 may be permitted to directors, officers and controlling persons of the registrant pursuant to the foregoing provisions, or otherwise, the registrant has been advised that in the opinion of the Securities and Exchange Commission such indemnification is against public policy as expressed in the Act and is, therefore, unenforceable. In the event that a claim for indemnification against such liabilities (other than the payment by the registrant of expenses incurred or paid by a director, officer or controlling person of the registrant in the successful defense of any action, suit or proceeding) is asserted by such director, officer or controlling person in connection with the securities being registered, the registrant will, unless in the opinion of its counsel the matter has been settled by controlling precedent, submit to a court of appropriate jurisdiction the question whether such indemnification by it is against public policy as expressed in the Act and will be governed by the final adjudication of such issue.

(c) The undersigned registrant hereby undertakes that:

(i) For purposes of determining any liability under the Securities Act of 1933, the information omitted from the form of prospectus filed as part of this registration statement in reliance upon Rule 430A and contained in a form of prospectus filed by the registrant pursuant to Rule 424(b)(1) or (4) or 497(h) under the Securities Act of 1933 shall be deemed to be part of this registration statement as of the time it was declared effective.

(ii) For the purpose of determining any liability under the Securities Act of 1933, each post-effective amendment that contains a form of prospectus shall be deemed to be a new registration statement relating to the securities offered therein, and the offering of such securities at that time shall be deemed to be the initial bona fide offering thereof.

SIGNATURES

Pursuant to the requirements of the Securities Act of 1933, the registrant has duly caused this registration statement to be signed on its behalf by the undersigned, thereunto duly authorized, in the city of Scottsdale, State of Arizona, on this 17 th day of June, 2016.

The Eighth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation of the Corporation was filed on June 30, 2014. The Ninth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation of the Corporation was filed on December 29, 2014.

B. Pursuant to Sections 228, 242 and 245 of the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware, this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation has been duly adopted by the written consent of the board of directors and stockholders of the Corporation, and restates and integrates and further amends the provisions of the Ninth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation of the Corporation.

C. The text of the Ninth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation of the Corporation is hereby amended and restated in its entirety to read as follows:

ARTICLE I

The name of the Corporation is TPI Composites, Inc.

ARTICLE II

The address of the Corporation's registered office in the State of Delaware is 2711 Centerville Road, Suite 400, Wilmington, County of New Castle, Delaware 19808. The name of its registered agent at such address is Corporation Service Company.

ARTICLE III

The nature of the business or purpose to be conducted or promoted by the Corporation is to engage in any lawful act or activity for which corporations may be organized under the Delaware General Corporation Law (the " DGCL ").

ARTICLE IV

The Corporation is authorized to issue two classes of stock to be designated, respectively, "Common Stock" and "Preferred Stock." The total number of shares that the Corporation is authorized to issue is 100,444 shares, (i) 86,400 shares of which shall be Common Stock (the "Common Stock") and (ii) 14,044 shares of which shall be Preferred Stock (the " Preferred Stock "), 3,551 of which shall be designated as "Series A Convertible Preferred Stock" (the " Series A Preferred Stock "), 2,813 of which shall be designated as "Series B Convertible Preferred Stock" (the " Series B Preferred Stock "), 2,972 of which shall be designated as "Series B-1 Convertible Preferred Stock" (the " Series B-1 Preferred Stock "), 2,944 of which shall be designated as "Series C Convertible Preferred Stock" (the " Series C Preferred Stock "), 740 of which shall be designated as "Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock" (the " Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock ") and 1,024 of which shall be designated as "Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock" (the " Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock "). The Series A Preferred Stock, the Series B Preferred Stock and the Series B-1 Preferred Stock are sometimes collectively referred to herein as the "Senior Preferred Stock" (the " Senior Preferred Stock "), except for purposes of Article IV, Part C, Section 6 hereof, wherein the defined term "Senior Preferred Stock" shall be deemed to include the Series C Preferred Stock. All shares of stock of the Corporation shall have a par value of $0.01 per share.

A. COMMON STOCK . The rights, preferences, privileges, restrictions and other matters relating to the Common Stock are as follows:

1. General . The voting, dividend and liquidation rights of the holders of the Common Stock are subject to and qualified by the rights, powers and preferences of the holders of the Preferred Stock set forth herein and as may be designated by resolution of the Board of Directors of the Corporation (the " Board ") with respect to any series of Preferred Stock as authorized herein.

2. Voting . Except as otherwise expressly provided herein or required by law, each holder of outstanding shares of Common Stock shall be entitled to one (1) vote in respect of each share of Common Stock held thereby of record on the books of the Corporation for the election of directors and on all matters submitted to a vote of stockholders of the Corporation. Subject to the protective provisions of Article IV, Part C, Section 5 hereof and irrespective of any contrary provisions contained in Section 242(b)(2) of the DGCL, the number of authorized shares of Common Stock or Preferred Stock may be increased or decreased (but not below the number of shares then outstanding) by the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority in interest of the stock of the Corporation entitled to vote thereon.

B. PREFERRED STOCK . The rights, preferences, privileges, restrictions and other matters relating to the Preferred Stock are as follows:

1. Rank.

(a) The Preferred Stock shall rank senior to any share of Common Stock and any other equity securities of the Corporation with respect to all rights, privileges and preferences, including, but not limited to, dividend rights, rights upon liquidation, winding up or dissolution and redemption rights.

(b) The Common Stock shall rank junior to any series or class of Preferred Stock with respect to all rights, privileges and preferences, including, but not limited to, dividend rights, rights upon liquidation, winding up or dissolution and redemption rights.

2. Issuance . Preferred Stock may be issued from time to time in one or more series, each of such series to consist of such number of shares and to have such terms, rights, powers and preferences, and the qualifications and limitations with respect thereto, as stated or expressed herein and in the resolution or resolutions providing for the issue of such series adopted by the Board as hereinafter provided.

3. Blank Check Preferred Stock . Subject to any vote expressly required by this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation, authority is hereby expressly granted to the Board from time to time to issue the Preferred Stock in one or more series, and in connection with the creation of any such series, by resolution or resolutions providing for the issue of the shares thereof, to determine and fix such voting powers, full or limited, or no voting powers, and such designations, preferences and relative participating, optional or other special rights, and qualifications, limitations or restrictions thereof, including, without limitation thereof, dividend rights, special voting rights, conversion rights, redemption privileges and liquidation preferences, as shall be stated and expressed in such resolutions, all to the full extent now or hereafter permitted by the DGCL. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, and subject to the rights of any series of Preferred Stock then outstanding, the resolutions providing for issuance of any series of Preferred Stock may provide that such series shall rank junior to the Preferred Stock of any other series to the extent permitted by law.

4. Retiring Stock . Notwithstanding anything to the contrary herein, all shares of Preferred Stock converted, redeemed, purchased or otherwise acquired by the Corporation shall be retired and canceled and may thereafter not be issued.

C. SERIES A PREFERRED STOCK, SERIES B PREFERRED STOCK, SERIES B-1 PREFERRED STOCK AND SERIES C PREFERRED STOCK . The rights, preferences, privileges, restrictions and other matters relating to the Series A Preferred Stock, the Series B Preferred Stock, the Series B-l Preferred Stock and the Series C Preferred Stock are as follows. Unless otherwise indicated, references to "Sections" or "Subsections" in this Part C of this Article IV refer to sections and subsections of Part C of this Article IV. The Series A Base Price, as such term is referred to herein, shall be $6,205.36 per share (the " Series A Base Price "). The Series B Base Price, as such term is referred to herein, shall be $8,748.81 per share (the " Series B Base Price "). The Series B-l Base Price, as such term is referred to herein, shall be $8,748.81 per share (the " Series B-1 Base Price "). The Series C Base Price, as such term is referred to herein, shall be $3,057.38 per share (the " Series C Base Price "). The Series A Base Price, the Series B Base Price, the Series B-l Base Price and the Series C Base Price are sometimes referred to herein as the "Base Price" (the " Base Price "). The Base Price shall be adjusted for any stock dividends, combinations, splits, recapitalizations, reorganization, reclassification and the like with respect to such shares of Preferred Stock (collectively, a " Recapitalization ").

(a) The Series C Preferred Stock (i) shall rank junior to the Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock and the Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock with respect to all rights, privileges and preferences, including, but not limited to, dividend rights, rights upon liquidation, winding up or dissolution and redemption rights and (ii) shall rank senior to any share of Senior Preferred Stock, Common Stock and any other equity securities of the Corporation with respect to all rights, privileges and preferences, including, but not limited to, dividend rights, rights upon liquidation, winding up or dissolution and redemption rights.

(b) The Senior Preferred Stock (i) shall rank junior to the Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock, the Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock and the Series C Preferred Stock with respect to all rights, privileges and preferences, including, but not limited to, dividend rights, rights upon liquidation, winding up or dissolution and redemption rights and (ii) shall rank senior to any share of Common Stock and any other equity securities of the Corporation, other than Permitted Securities that are pari passu with the Senior Preferred Stock, with respect to all rights, privileges and preferences, including, but not limited to, dividend rights, rights upon liquidation, winding up or dissolution and redemption rights.

(c) The Common Stock shall rank junior to the Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock, the Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock, the Series C Preferred Stock and the Senior Preferred Stock with respect to all rights, privileges and preferences, including, but not limited to, dividend rights, rights upon liquidation, winding up or dissolution and redemption rights.

2. Dividend Rights .

(a) Series C Preferred Stock . The record holders of Series C Preferred Stock, prior to and in preference to any declaration or payment of any dividend on the shares of Senior Preferred Stock, Common Stock or any other class or series of stock, other than shares, Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock, shall be entitled to receive, but only out of funds that are legally available therefor, cash dividends at the rate of eight percent (8%) of the Series C Base Price (as adjusted from time to time for any Recapitalizations), per annum on each outstanding share of Series C Preferred Stock (as adjusted from time to time for any Recapitalizations). Such dividends shall accrue from the original date of issuance of each share of Series C Preferred Stock, whether or not earned or declared, and shall be cumulative (but non-compounding); provided , however , that except as set forth in Section 2(c), Section 3(a) or in Section 7 or with the approval of the Board, the Corporation shall be under no obligation to pay such dividends. For the avoidance of doubt and not in limitation of any other provision set forth in this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation, the Corporation may not declare or pay any dividend on the shares of Series C Preferred Stock, unless it first declares and pays the dividend required by Section D.3 on the shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock or Section E.3 on the shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock.

(b) Senior Preferred Stock . The record holders of Senior Preferred Stock, prior to and in preference to any declaration or payment of any dividend on the shares of Common Stock or any other class or series of stock, other than shares of Series C Preferred Stock, Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock, Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock, and Permitted Securities that are pari passu with the Senior Preferred Stock, shall be entitled to receive, but only out of funds that are legally available therefor, cash dividends at the rate of eight percent (8%) of the Series A Base Price, Series B Base Price or Series B-1 Base Price, as applicable (as adjusted from time to time for any Recapitalizations), per annum on each outstanding share of Senior Preferred Stock (as adjusted from time to time for any Recapitalizations). Such dividends shall accrue from the original date of issuance of each share of Senior Preferred Stock, whether or not earned or declared, and shall be cumulative (but non-compounding); provided , however , that except as set forth in Section 2(c), Section 3(b) or in Section 7 or with the approval of the Board, the Corporation shall be under no obligation to pay such dividends. For the avoidance of doubt and not in limitation of any other provision set forth in this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation, the Corporation may not declare or pay any dividend on the shares of Senior Preferred Stock unless it first declares and pays the dividend required by Section E.3 on the shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock, Section D.3 on the shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock and by Section 2(a) on the shares of Series C Preferred Stock.

(c) Additional Dividends . The Corporation shall not declare, set aside, or pay any dividends on any share of Common Stock (other than dividends on Common Stock payable solely in Common Stock) while any shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock or Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock are outstanding. Thereafter, the Corporation shall not declare, set aside or pay any dividends on any share of Common Stock (other than dividends on Common Stock payable solely in Common Stock) or any other class or series of stock (including without limitation the Series C Preferred Stock or any series of Senior Preferred Stock) unless a dividend (including the amount of any dividends paid pursuant to the above provisions of this Section 2) is declared and paid with respect to all outstanding shares of Series C Preferred Stock and all outstanding shares of Senior Preferred Stock and Permitted Securities that are pari passu with the Senior Preferred Stock, in an amount for each such share of Series C Preferred Stock or Senior Preferred Stock, as the case may be, at least equal to the greater of (i) the amount of the cumulative dividends then accrued and unpaid on such share of Series C Preferred Stock or Senior Preferred Stock and Permitted Securities that are pari passu with the Senior Preferred Stock, as the case may be, and (ii) the aggregate amount of the dividends for all shares of Common Stock into which each such share of Series C Preferred Stock or Senior Preferred Stock or Permitted Securities that are pari passu with the Senior Preferred Stock, as the case may be, could then be converted, calculated on the record date for determination of holders entitled to receive such dividend and without giving effect to any Qualified IPO Conversion (as defined below).

(d) Non-Cash Distributions . Whenever a distribution provided for in this Section 2, Section D, or Section E shall be payable in property other than cash, the value of such distribution shall be deemed to be the fair market value of such property as determined in good faith by the Board (including the affirmative vote of the Series A Director (as defined below)).

(e) Waiver of Dividends . Any dividend preference and any cumulative dividend of the Series A Preferred Stock may be waived, in whole or in part, by the prior written consent or vote of the holders of at least seventy percent (70%) of the then outstanding shares of Series A Preferred Stock. Any dividend preference and any cumulative dividend of the Series B Preferred Stock may be waived, in whole or in part, by the prior written consent or vote of the holders of at least a majority of the then outstanding shares of Series B Preferred Stock. Any dividend preference and any cumulative dividend of the Series B-1 Preferred Stock may be waived, in whole or in part, by the prior written consent or vote of the holders of at least a majority of the then outstanding shares of Series B-1 Preferred Stock. Any dividend preference and any cumulative dividend of the Series C Preferred Stock may be waived, in whole or in part, by the prior written consent or vote of the holders of at least seventy percent (70%) of the then outstanding shares of Series C Preferred Stock.

3. Liquidation .

(a) Series C Preferred Stock Liquidation Preference . In the event of any Liquidation Event (as defined below), after the Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Amount has been made in full (as provided in Section E below), and after the Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Amount have been made in full (as provided in Sections D below), the holders of shares of Series C Preferred Stock, shall be entitled to receive out of the assets or surplus funds of the Corporation (whether representing capital or surplus) legally available for distribution to stockholders (or the consideration received in such transaction) before any payment or distribution shall be made to the holders of Senior Preferred Stock, Common Stock or any other class or series of capital stock by reason of their ownership of such stock, an amount for each share of Series C Preferred Stock (as adjusted from time to time for any Recapitalizations) equal to the sum of (i) one and fifty one-hundredths (1.50) times the Series C Base Price (as adjusted from time to time for Recapitalizations), and (ii) accrued but unpaid dividends on the Series C Preferred Stock attributable to such share (collectively, the " Series C Preferred Liquidation Amount "). The payment of the Series C Preferred Liquidation Amount shall be referred to herein as the " Series C Preferred Liquidation Distribution ." If the assets or consideration available for distribution to holders of the Series C Preferred Stock upon such Liquidation Event shall be insufficient to pay the Series C Preferred Liquidation Amount to the holders of shares of the Series C Preferred Stock, then such assets or the proceeds thereof shall be distributed among the holders of the Series C Preferred Stock ratably in proportion to the respective amounts to which they otherwise would be entitled.

(b) Senior Preferred Stock Liquidation Preference . In the event of any Liquidation Event, after the Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Amount has been made in full (as provided in Section E below), and after the Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Amount has been made in full (as provided in Section D below), and after the Series C Liquidation Distribution has been made in full (as provided above), the holders of shares of Senior Preferred Stock, shall be entitled to receive out of the remaining assets or surplus funds of the Corporation (whether representing capital or surplus) legally available for distribution to stockholders (or the consideration received in such transaction) before any payment or distribution shall be made to the holders of Common Stock or any other class or series of capital stock (other than the Series C Preferred Stock) by reason of their ownership of such stock, other than Permitted Securities that are pari passu with the Senior Preferred Stock, (i) an amount for each share of Series A Preferred Stock (as adjusted from time to time for any Recapitalizations) equal to the sum of (u) one and sixty-five one-hundredths (1.65) times the Series A Base Price (as adjusted from time to time for Recapitalizations), and (v) accrued but unpaid dividends on the Series A Preferred Stock attributable to such share (collectively, the " Series A Preferred Liquidation Amount "), (ii) an amount for each share of Series B Preferred Stock (as adjusted from time to time for any Recapitalizations) equal to the sum of (w) one and fifty one-hundredths (1.50) times the Series B Base Price (as adjusted from time to time for Recapitalizations), and (x) accrued but unpaid dividends on the Series B Preferred Stock attributable to such share (collectively, the " Series B Preferred Liquidation Amount ") and (iii) an amount for each share of Series B-1 Preferred Stock (as adjusted from time to time for any Recapitalizations) equal to the sum of (y) one and fifty one-hundredths (1.50) times the Series B-1 Base Price (as adjusted from time to time for Recapitalizations), and (z) accrued but unpaid dividends on the Series B-1 Preferred Stock attributable to such share (collectively, the " Series B-1 Preferred Liquidation Amount "). The Series A Preferred Liquidation Amount, the Series B Preferred Liquidation Amount, the Series B-1 Preferred Liquidation Amount and any liquidation preference payable on each Permitted Security that is pari passu with the Senior Preferred Stock are sometimes referred to herein as the " Senior Preferred Liquidation Amount ". The payment of the Senior Preferred Liquidation Amount shall be referred to herein as the " Senior Preferred Liquidation Distribution ." If, after giving effect to the payment of the Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Amount to the holders of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock, the Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Amount to the holders of shares of the Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock, and the Series C Preferred Liquidation Amount to the holders of shares of the Series C Preferred Stock, the assets or consideration available for distribution to holders of the Senior Preferred Stock (or, if applicable, a series of Senior Preferred Stock) and holders of Permitted Securities that are pari passu with the Senior Preferred Stock, upon such Liquidation Event shall be insufficient to pay the Senior Preferred Liquidation Amount to the holders of shares of the Senior Preferred Stock (or such series of Senior Preferred Stock, if applicable) and the holders of Permitted Securities that are pari passu with the Senior Preferred Stock, then such assets or the proceeds thereof shall be distributed among the holders of the Senior Preferred Stock (or such series of Senior Preferred Stock, if applicable) and the holders of Permitted Securities that are pari passu with the Senior Preferred Stock, ratably in proportion to the respective amounts to which they otherwise would be entitled; provided , however , that the full Preferred Liquidation Amount attributable to each share of Senior Preferred Stock and each share of a Permitted Security that is pari passu with the Senior Preferred Stock shall be distributed prior to any distribution in respect of any share of Preferred Stock in excess of the applicable Preferred Liquidation Amount attributable to such share of Preferred Stock.

(c) Additional Liquidation Distribution . After the Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Amount (as defined below), the Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Amount (as defined below), the Series C Preferred Liquidation Distribution and the Senior Preferred Liquidation Distribution have been made in full (as provided above and below) and any other preferential payments to any other series of Preferred Stock of the Corporation ranking on liquidation senior to the Common Stock, but junior to the Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock, the Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock, the Series C Preferred Stock and the Senior Preferred Stock, has been paid in full, the remaining assets of the Corporation available for distribution to stockholders (or the consideration received in such transaction), if any, shall be distributed among the holders of the Common Stock in proportion to the number of shares of Common Stock held by them.

(d) Deemed Conversion . Notwithstanding anything in Sections 3(a), 3(b) or 3(c) to the contrary, if upon any distribution, or series of distributions, pursuant to this Section 3 the holders of Series C Preferred Stock or a series of Senior Preferred Stock would receive more than the aggregate amount pursuant to Section 3(a) or 3(b) above, respectively, if, immediately prior to the Liquidation Event, such holders were to convert the applicable shares of Series C Preferred Stock or the applicable series of Senior Preferred Stock held by them into shares of Common Stock calculated without giving effect to any Qualified IPO Conversion (as defined below), then the payment made to such holders pursuant to this Section 3 shall equal the amount such holders would receive as if such holders had converted their shares of Series C Preferred Stock or the applicable series of Senior Preferred Stock into Common Stock immediately prior to the Liquidation Event, as the case may be. If the holders of Series C Preferred Stock or the applicable series of Senior Preferred Stock are treated as if they had converted shares of Series C Preferred Stock or Senior Preferred Stock, as the case may be, into Common Stock pursuant to this Section 3(d), then such holders shall not be entitled to receive any distribution pursuant to Section 3(a) or 3(b), respectively, that would otherwise be made to such holders.

(e) Valuation of Non-Cash Property . In any Liquidation Event, if any distribution shall be payable in securities or property other than cash, then the value of such distribution shall be the fair market value of such distribution as determined in good faith by the Board (including the Series A Director (as defined below)), except that any publicly-traded securities to be distributed to stockholders will be valued as follows:

(i) Securities not subject to an investment letter or other similar restrictions on free marketability:

(A) If traded on a national securities exchange, the value shall be deemed to be the average of the closing prices of the securities on such exchange over the thirty (30)-day period ending three (3) calendar days prior to the closing of the Liquidation Event; and

(B) If actively traded over-the-counter, the value shall be deemed to be the average of the closing bid or sale prices (whichever are applicable) over the thirty (30)-day period ending three (3) calendar days prior to the closing of the Liquidation Event.

(ii) The method of valuation of securities subject to investment letter or other restrictions on free marketability (other than restrictions arising solely by virtue of a stockholder's status as an affiliate or former affiliate) shall be to make an appropriate discount from the market value determined as above in Sections 3(f)(i)(A) and (B) to reflect the approximate fair market value thereof, as determined in good faith by the Board.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, in the event that the distribution being valued pursuant to this Section 3(e) is made in connection with a Liquidation Event pursuant to Section 3(f) below that is approved by the Board, and the definitive transaction documents for such Liquidation Event provide for a different method of valuation, the method of valuation set forth in such documents, not the provisions of this Section 3(e), shall control.

(f) Liquidation Event . For purposes hereof, (i) the sale, conveyance, exchange, license, lease or other transfer of all or substantially all of the intellectual property or assets of the Corporation, (ii) any acquisition of the Corporation by means of a consolidation, stock exchange, stock sale, merger or other form of corporate reorganization of the Corporation with any other entity in which the Corporation's stockholders prior to the consolidation or merger own less than a majority of the voting securities of the surviving entity, (iii) any transaction or series of related transactions following which the Corporation's stockholders prior to such transaction or series of related transactions own less than a majority of the voting securities of the Corporation, (iv) any transaction or a series of related transactions following which Landmark IAM Growth Capital, L.P., Landmark Growth Capital Partners, L.P. and their affiliates (collectively, " Landmark ") collectively own less than fifty percent (50%) of the Common Stock of the Corporation held by Landmark as of the date hereof on an as-converted basis (as adjusted from time to time for Recapitalizations), or (v) a liquidation, dissolution or winding up of the Corporation, whether voluntary or involuntary, shall be deemed to be a " Liquidation Event " unless otherwise determined by the holders of at least seventy percent (70%) of the then outstanding shares of Series A Preferred Stock voting as a single class, the holders of at least a majority of the then outstanding shares of Series B Preferred Stock voting as a single class, and the holders of at least a majority of the then outstanding shares of Series B-1 Preferred Stock voting as a single class, provided , however , that a transaction shall not constitute a Liquidation Event (x) if its sole purpose is to change the state of the Corporation's incorporation, (y) if its purpose is to create a holding company that will be owned in the same proportions by the persons who held the Corporation's securities immediately prior to such transaction or (z) if it occurs as a direct result of a Public Offering (as defined below), in each case provided that such action is approved by the Board.

4. Notice . The Corporation shall give each holder of record of Series C Preferred Stock and each holder of record of Senior Preferred Stock written notice of such impending Liquidation Event not later than twenty (20) days prior to the stockholders' meeting called (or the solicitation of written consent in lieu thereof) to approve such transaction, or twenty (20) days prior to the closing of such transaction, whichever is earlier, and shall also notify such holders in writing of the final approval of such transaction. The first of such notices shall describe the material terms and conditions of the impending transaction, and the Corporation shall thereafter give such holders prompt notice of any material changes. The transaction shall in no event take place sooner than twenty (20) days after the Corporation has given the first notice provided for herein or sooner than ten (10) days after the Corporation has given notice of any material changes provided for herein; provided , however , that subject to compliance with the DGCL such periods may be shortened or waived upon the written consent of (a) the holders of Series A Preferred Stock that represent at least a majority of the voting power of all then outstanding shares of such Series A Preferred Stock voting as a single class, (b) the holders of Series B Preferred Stock that represent at least a majority of the voting power of all then outstanding shares of such Series B Preferred Stock voting as a single class and (c) the holders of Series B-1 Preferred Stock that represent at least a majority of the voting power of all then outstanding shares of such Series B-1 Preferred Stock voting as a single class.

5. Voting Rights .

(a) General . Each holder of a share of Series C Preferred Stock or Senior Preferred Stock shall be entitled to voting rights and powers equal to the voting rights and powers of the Common Stock (except as otherwise expressly provided herein or as required by law) voting together with the Common Stock as a single class on an as-converted to Common Stock basis as provided herein. The holders of Series C Preferred Stock and Senior Preferred Stock shall be entitled to notice of all meetings of stockholders in accordance with the Corporation's bylaws (the " Bylaws "), and except as otherwise required by law or this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation, the holders of Series C Preferred Stock and Senior Preferred Stock shall be entitled to vote on all matters submitted to the stockholders for a vote together with the holders of the Common Stock. Each share of Series C Preferred Stock and Senior Preferred Stock (including fractional shares) shall be entitled to one vote for each whole share of Common Stock that would be issuable upon conversion of such share on the record date for determining eligibility to participate in the action being taken, in each case, calculated without giving effect to any Qualified IPO Conversion (as defined below). Fractional votes shall not, however, be permitted and any fractional voting rights resulting from the above formula (after aggregating all shares into which shares of Series C Preferred Stock and Senior Preferred Stock held by each holder could be converted) shall be rounded to the nearest whole number (with one-half being rounded upward).

(b) Election of Board . So long as at least twenty percent (20%) of the shares of Series A Preferred Stock originally issued remain outstanding:

(i) The holders of record of a majority of the outstanding shares of Series A Preferred Stock, voting as a single class, separate and distinct from any other series or class of securities issued by the Corporation, on an as-converted basis, shall be entitled to elect one (1) member of the Board (the " Series A Director ") at each meeting or pursuant to each consent of the Corporation's stockholders for the election of directors, and to remove from office such director and to fill any vacancy caused by the resignation, death or removal of such director;

(ii) The holders of record of a majority of the outstanding shares of Series B-1 Preferred Stock, voting as a single class, separate and distinct from any other series or class of securities issued by the Corporation, on an as-converted basis, shall be entitled to elect one (1) member of the Board (the " Series B-1 Director ") at each meeting or pursuant to each consent of the Corporation's stockholders for the election of directors, and to remove from office such director and to fill any vacancy caused by the resignation, death or removal of such director;

(iii) The holders of record of a majority of the outstanding shares of Series C Preferred Stock, voting as a single class, separate and distinct from any other series or class of securities issued by the Corporation, on an as-converted basis, shall be entitled to elect, in the aggregate, one (1) member of the Board (the " Series C Director ") at each meeting or pursuant to each consent of the Corporation's stockholders for the election of directors, and to remove from office such director and to fill any vacancy caused by the resignation, death or removal of such director;

(iv) The holders of record of a majority of the outstanding shares of Common Stock, voting as a separate class distinct from any other series or class of securities issued by the Corporation, shall be entitled to elect four (4) members of the Board (the " Common Directors ") at each meeting or pursuant to each consent of the Corporation's stockholders for the election of directors, and to remove from office such directors and to fill any vacancy caused by the resignation, death or removal of such directors;

(v) The holders of both (1) a majority of the outstanding shares of Common Stock and (2) a majority of the outstanding shares of Series A Preferred Stock, each voting as a separate class distinct from any other series or class of securities issued by the Corporation, shall be entitled to elect one (1) member of the Board (the " Mutual Director ") at each meeting or pursuant to each consent of the Corporation's stockholders for the election of directors, and to remove from office such director and to fill any vacancy caused by the resignation, death or removal of such director;

(vi) With the prior written consent of a majority of the outstanding shares of Series A Preferred Stock and a majority of the outstanding shares of Common Stock, the Corporation may increase the number of directors of the Corporation (the " Joint Directors "), with such directors to be elected by both the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of Series A Preferred Stock and a majority of the outstanding shares of Common Stock, each voting as a separate class, or pursuant to each consent by such stockholders of the Corporation for the election of directors, and to remove from office any such directors and to fill any vacancy caused by the resignation, death or removal of any such directors; and

(vii) A vacancy in any directorship filled by the holders of any class or series shall be filled only by vote or written consent in lieu of a meeting of the holders of such class or series or by any remaining director or directors elected by the holders of such class or series pursuant to this Section 5(b).

(c) Series A Preferred Stock Protective Provisions . In addition to any other vote or consent required herein or by law, for so long as at least fifty percent (50%) of the shares of Series A Preferred Stock originally issued remain outstanding (as adjusted for any Recapitalization), the vote or written consent of (x) other than as provided in clause (y) below, the holders of a majority of the then outstanding shares of Series A Preferred Stock and (y), in the case of subsections (i) or (xi) below, the holders of at least seventy percent (70%) of the then outstanding shares of Series A Preferred Stock, in each case voting together as a single class, separate and distinct from any other series or class of securities issued by the Corporation, and given in writing or by vote at a meeting, shall be required for the Corporation to take any of the following actions, including in each case, as may be applicable, by means of amendment, merger, reclassification, consolidation or otherwise:

(i) alter, waive, repeal or change the rights, preferences or privileges of the Series A Preferred Stock;

(ii) increase the authorized number of shares of the Series A Preferred Stock;

(iii) any authorization or any designation by the Corporation or any of its direct or indirect Subsidiaries that is an entity directly or indirectly wholly-owned by the Corporation that directly or indirectly owns or controls seventy percent (70%) of the operating assets of the Corporation (each such entity, a " Holding Company Subsidiary "), whether by amendment, reclassification or otherwise, or issuance of any class or series of stock or other equity securities or any other securities convertible into equity securities of the Corporation or a Holding Company Subsidiary, in any such case, ranking on a parity with or senior to (structurally or otherwise) the Series A Preferred Stock in right of redemption, liquidation preference, voting, conversion or dividend rights, or the creation of any obligation to do any of the foregoing (for purposes hereof, " Subsidiary " or " Subsidiaries " shall refer to any subsidiary or subsidiaries of the Corporation of which the Corporation directly or indirectly beneficially owns 50.1% or more of its outstanding voting equity securities);

(iv) consummate a Liquidation Event if the payment to be received by the holders of Series A Preferred Stock shall be less than the Series A Preferred Liquidation Amount;

(v) change the authorized number of or method of electing the members of the Board;

(vi) repurchase or redeem, or permit any of its Subsidiaries to repurchase or redeem, any shares of capital stock of the Corporation (except for repurchases of Common Stock pursuant to an option or other agreement in connection with the termination of employment of one of the Corporation's or its Subsidiaries' employees, repurchases approved by the Board (including the affirmative vote of the Series A Director), redemptions required by Section 7, Section D and Section E, hereof each as it exists on the date hereof and repurchases or redemptions of shares of capital stock of a Subsidiary owned by the Corporation or a wholly-owned Subsidiary of the Corporation);

(vii) sell, transfer, license or encumber any technology or intellectual property of the Corporation, or permit any Subsidiary to do so, other than (A) licenses granted in the ordinary course of business or as approved by the Board (including the affirmative vote of the Series A Director) or (B) sales, transfers, licenses or encumbrances between the Corporation and any wholly-owned Subsidiary or between wholly-owned Subsidiaries;

(viii) amend, waive, alter or repeal any provision of this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation (other than to create a new class or series of stock not prohibited by subsection (iii) above) or Bylaws;

(ix) declare or pay or permit any of its Subsidiaries to declare or pay any dividends or distributions (other than (A) pursuant to Article IV, Part C, Section 2(a) or 2(b) or 2(c) or pursuant to Sections D.3 or E.3 or (B) directly or indirectly to the Corporation or a wholly-owned Subsidiary of the Corporation);

(x) enter into, or permit any Subsidiary or Joint Venture of the Corporation or any Subsidiary to enter into any transaction with (A) any director or officer of the Corporation or any of its Subsidiaries, unless such transaction is approved by the Board (including the affirmative vote of the Series A Director), or (B) any stockholder of the Corporation (other than a director or officer of the Corporation or any of its Subsidiaries) unless such transaction is (1) approved by the Board (including the affirmative vote of the Series A Director) and (2) on terms no less favorable to the Corporation or its Subsidiaries than as would be obtainable by the Corporation or any such Subsidiary in a comparable arm's length transaction with a third party, in each case other than (a) the Series A Convertible Preferred Stock Purchase Agreement, dated as of October 9, 2007, by and among the Corporation and the parties thereto, as amended (the " Series A Purchase Agreement "), and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the Amended and Restated Series B Convertible Preferred Stock Purchase Agreement, dated as of December 30, 2008, by and among the Corporation and the parties thereto (the " Series B Purchase Agreement ") and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the Series B-1 Convertible Preferred Stock Purchase Agreement, dated as of May 22, 2009, by and among the Corporation and the parties thereto (the " Series B-1 Purchase Agreement "), the Series B-1 Convertible Preferred Stock Purchase Agreement, dated as of November 11, 2009, by and among the Corporation and the parties thereto (the " Series B-1 Follow-On Purchase Agreement ") and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the Series C Convertible Preferred Stock Purchase Agreement, dated as of June 17, 2010, by and among the Corporation and the parties thereto (the " Series C Purchase Agreement ") and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock Purchase Agreement, dated as of March 24, 2011, by and among the Corporation and the parties thereto (the " Senior Redeemable Purchase Agreement "), the Note Purchase Agreement by and among the Corporation and the parties thereto (the " Note Purchase Agreement "), and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock Purchase Agreement, dated as of May 9, 2014 by and among the Corporation and the parties thereto (the " May Super Senior Redeemable Purchase Agreement ") and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock Purchase Agreement, dated as of June 30, 2014 by and among the Corporation and the parties thereto (the " June Super Senior Redeemable Purchase Agreement ") and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the Convertible Note and Warrant Purchase Agreement, dated as of December 29, 2014 by and among the Corporation and the parties thereto (the " Convertible Note and Warrant Purchase Agreement ") and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the Third Amended and Restated Investor Rights Agreement, dated as of June 17, 2010, by and among the Corporation and the parties thereto (the " Investor Rights Agreement ") and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the Third Amended and Restated Right of First Refusal, Co-Sale and Voting Agreement, dated as of June 17, 2010, by and among the Corporation and the parties thereto (the " Voting Agreement ") and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein and as contemplated by this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation, (b) for payment of salary for services rendered, as approved by the Board, (c) reimbursement for reasonable expenses incurred on behalf of the Corporation or its Subsidiaries in accordance with the standard practice of the Corporation or its Subsidiaries and (d) for other standard employee benefits made generally available to all employees (for purposes hereof, " Joint Venture " means a joint venture, partnership, limited liability company or other similar entity, whether in corporate, partnership or other legal entity form, between the Corporation or one of its Subsidiaries on the one hand and an unrelated third party on the other hand); or

(xi) amend, waive, alter or repeal Article IV, Part C, Sections 2(e) (first sentence), 3(f) (other than to add to clause (v) thereof the separate class vote of a Permitted Security), 5(c)(i), 5(c)(xi), 6(b)(i), 6(f)(i)(G)(l) of the definition of "Additional Shares of Common Stock", 6(l)(i), 7(a) (relating to the Series A Preferred Stock) or Part F, Section 4 (first sentence) or the voting thresholds in the introductory paragraph of Section 5(c) of this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation.

(d) Series B Preferred Stock Protective Provisions . In addition to any other vote or consent required herein or by law, for so long as at least fifty percent (50%) of the shares of Series B Preferred Stock originally issued remain outstanding (as adjusted for any Recapitalization), the vote or written consent of the holders of a majority of the then outstanding shares of Series B Preferred Stock, voting together as a single class, separate and distinct from any other series or class of securities issued by the Corporation, and given in writing or by vote at a meeting, shall be required for the Corporation to take any of the following actions, including in each case, as may be applicable, by means of amendment, merger, reclassification, consolidation or otherwise:

(i) declare or pay or permit any of its Subsidiaries to declare or pay any dividends or distributions (other than (A) pursuant to Article IV, Part C, Section 2(a) or 2(b) or pursuant to Sections D.3 or E.3 or (B) directly or indirectly to the Corporation or a wholly-owned Subsidiary of the Corporation);

(ii) repurchase or redeem, or permit any of its Subsidiaries to repurchase or redeem, any shares of capital stock of the Corporation (except for repurchases of Common Stock pursuant to an option or other agreement in connection with the termination of employment of one of the Corporation's or one of its Subsidiary's employees (other than Steven Lockard) for consideration not to exceed $1,000,000 in the aggregate, redemptions required by Section 7 and Section D hereof each as it exists on the date hereof and repurchases or redemptions of shares of capital stock of a Subsidiary owned by the Corporation or a wholly-owned Subsidiary of the Corporation);

(iii) sell, transfer, license or encumber any technology or intellectual property of the Corporation, or permit any Subsidiary to do so, other than (A) licenses granted by the Corporation or a Subsidiary in the ordinary course of business or as approved by the Board or

(B) sales, transfers, licenses or encumbrances between the Corporation and any wholly-owned Subsidiary or between wholly-owned Subsidiaries;

(iv) any authorization or any designation by the Corporation or any of its direct or indirect Subsidiaries that is a Holding Company Subsidiary, whether by amendment, reclassification or otherwise, or issuance of any class or series of stock or other equity security or any other securities convertible into equity securities of the Corporation or a Holding Company Subsidiary, in any such case, ranking on a parity with or senior to (structurally or otherwise) the Series B Preferred Stock with respect to any rights, privileges and preferences, including, but not limited to dividend rights, rights upon liquidation, winding up or dissolution and redemption rights, or the creation or execution of any agreement, arrangement or obligation to do any of the foregoing; provided that nothing herein shall prohibit the Corporation from authorizing or issuing any class or series of stock or other equity security or any other securities convertible into equity securities of the Corporation ranking on a parity with the Series B Preferred Stock with respect to any rights, privileges and preferences, including, but not limited to dividend rights, rights upon liquidation, winding up or dissolution and redemption rights if (A) such securities are issued at a price, calculated on an as-converted basis, higher than the Series B Base Price (as adjusted for Recapitalizations), (B) such securities have Economic Provisions that are the same as or no more favorable than the Series B Preferred Stock (for purposes hereof, " Economic Provisions " shall refer to voting provisions (it being understood that entitlement to elect one or more directors and the grant of more restrictive protective provisions shall not be deemed to be an Economic Provision), waiver provisions, liquidation provisions (including liquidation preference provisions), participation provisions, dividend provisions, conversion provisions, redemption provisions, anti-dilution provisions, winding up provisions, any other provisions that would impact or affect any of the foregoing and the amendment or waiver of any of the foregoing) and (C) the terms of such securities that are not Economic Provisions are not materially more favorable than those of the Series B Preferred Stock (it being understood that entitlement to elect one or more directors and the grant of more restrictive protective provisions shall not be deemed materially more favorable); provided , further , that for purposes of this clause (d)(iv) only (and not for purposes of the definition of Economic Provisions generally), a "provision that would impact or affect any of the foregoing" shall not be deemed to include a provision if either (x) the Series B Preferred Stock contains such a provision or (y) such provision is also given in the same form to the Series B Preferred Stock contemporaneously with the issuance of the applicable Permitted Security (as defined below). Any security or securities that can be issued by the Corporation without the vote or consent of (i) the holders of a majority of the then outstanding shares of Series B Preferred Stock pursuant to this clause (iv) and (ii) the holders of a majority of the then outstanding shares of Series B-1 Preferred Stock pursuant to Section 5(e)(iv), including, without limitation, any Common Stock with Economic Provisions no greater than those of the Common Stock as set forth herein, shall be defined herein as a " Permitted Security " or " Permitted Securities ";

(v) consummate a Liquidation Event if the payment to be received by the holders of Series B Preferred Stock shall be less than the Series B Preferred Liquidation Amount;

(vi) (A) alter, waive, repeal, change, modify or amend the privileges, powers, preferences or rights of the Series B Preferred Stock, (B) (i) alter, waive, repeal, change, modify or amend any Economic Provisions of the Series A Preferred Stock, the Series B-1 Preferred Stock or the Series C Preferred Stock, or (ii) increase the per share voting rights of the Series A Preferred Stock, the Series B-1 Preferred Stock or the Series C Preferred Stock under Section 5, (C) alter, waive, repeal, change, modify or amend any provisions of a Permitted Security issued after the date hereof so that such security would no longer be a Permitted Security, (D) alter, waive, repeal, change, modify or amend any other Economic Provisions in this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation if such alteration, waiver, repeal, change, modification or amendment would have an adverse effect on the Series B Preferred Stock (it being understood that for purposes of this clause (d)(vi)(D) the issuance of a Permitted Security shall not constitute a modification or amendment of any such other Economic Provisions in this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation), (E) alter, waive, repeal, change, modify or amend the provisions of this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation that are not Economic Provisions if such modification or amendment would have a disproportionately adverse effect on the Series B Preferred Stock as compared with any other class or series of capital stock (including any Series of Preferred Stock), (F) alter, waive, repeal, change, modify or amend any outstanding class or series of stock to provide for more than one vote per share on an as-converted to Common Stock basis on matters on which such vote is required by law (other than the election of directors) or (G) alter, waive, repeal, change, modify or amend the authorized number of shares of (i) Series A Preferred Stock, (ii) Series B Preferred Stock, (iii) Series B-1 Preferred Stock, (iv) Series C Preferred Stock or (v) any other series of Preferred Stock (other than, in the case of this clause (v), to create a Permitted Security or increase the authorized number of shares of a Permitted Security);

(vii) enter into, or permit any Subsidiary or Joint Venture of the Corporation or any Subsidiary to enter into, any transaction with (A) any director or officer of the Corporation or any of its Subsidiaries, unless approved by the Board, or (B) any stockholder of the Corporation (other than a director or officer of the Corporation or any of its Subsidiaries) unless such transaction is (1) approved by the Board and (2) on terms no less favorable to the Corporation or its Subsidiaries than as would be obtainable by the Corporation or any such Subsidiary in a comparable arm's length transaction with a third party, in each case other than (a) the Series A Purchase Agreement and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the Series B Purchase Agreement and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the Series B-1 Purchase Agreement and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the Series B-1 Follow-On Purchase Agreement and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the Series C Purchase Agreement and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the Senior Redeemable Purchase Agreement and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the Note Purchase Agreement and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the May Super Senior Redeemable Purchase Agreement and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the June Super Senior Redeemable Purchase Agreement and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the Convertible Note and Warrant Purchase Agreement and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the Investor Rights Agreement and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the Voting Agreement and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein and other than as contemplated by this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation, in each case in the form such agreements are in on the date hereof, (b) for payment of salary for services rendered, as approved by the Board, (c) reimbursement for reasonable expenses incurred on behalf of the Corporation or its Subsidiaries in accordance with the standard practice of the Corporation or its Subsidiaries and (d) for other standard employee benefits made generally available to all employees;

(viii) make, or permit a Subsidiary to make, any acquisition or investment or series thereof in any twelve (12) month period, the value of which is in excess of $10,000,000 in the aggregate, with the purchase price therefor payable in cash, borrowed funds, securities, a combination thereof or otherwise, other than investments to expand the Corporation's or its Subsidiaries' production facilities or investments to construct or purchase, outfit and ramp-up production at any production facility as contemplated in the Corporation's business plan and other than in the ordinary course of business, in any single transaction or series of related transactions; or

(ix) amend, waive, alter or repeal Article IV, Part C, Sections 2(e) (second sentence), 3(f) (other than to add to clause (v) thereof the separate class vote of a Permitted Security), 5(d), 6(b)(ii), 6(f)(i)(G)(2) of the definition of "Additional Shares of Common Stock", 6(l)(ii), 7(a) (relating to the Series B Preferred Stock) or Part F, Section 4 (second sentence) of this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation.

(e) Series B-1 Preferred Stock Protective Provisions . In addition to any other vote or consent required herein or by law, for so long as at least fifty percent (50%) of the shares of Series B-1 Preferred Stock originally issued remain outstanding (as adjusted for any Recapitalization), the vote or written consent of the holders of at least a majority of the then outstanding shares of Series B-1 Preferred Stock, voting together as a single class, separate and distinct from any other series or class of securities issued by the Corporation, and given in writing or by vote at a meeting, shall be required for the Corporation to take any of the following actions, including in each case, as may be applicable, by means of amendment, merger, reclassification, consolidation or otherwise:

(i) declare or pay or permit any of its Subsidiaries to declare or pay any dividends or distributions (other than (A) pursuant to Article IV, Part C, Section 2(a) or Section 2(b) or Section 2(c) or pursuant to Sections D.3 or E.3 or (B) directly or indirectly to the Corporation or a wholly-owned Subsidiary of the Corporation);

(ii) repurchase or redeem, or permit any of its Subsidiaries to repurchase or redeem, any shares of capital stock of the Corporation (except for repurchases of Common Stock pursuant to an option or other agreement in connection with the termination of employment of one of the Corporation's or one of its Subsidiary's employees (other than Steven Lockard) for consideration not to exceed $1,000,000 in the aggregate, redemptions required by Section 7, Section D and Section E hereof each as it exists on the date hereof and repurchases or redemptions of shares of capital stock of a Subsidiary owned by the Corporation or a wholly-owned Subsidiary of the Corporation);

(iii) sell, transfer, license or encumber any technology or intellectual property of the Corporation, or permit any Subsidiary to do so, other than (A) licenses granted by the Corporation or a Subsidiary in the ordinary course of business or as approved by the Board or (B) sales, transfers, licenses or encumbrances between the Corporation and any wholly-owned Subsidiary or between wholly-owned Subsidiaries;

(iv) any authorization or any designation by the Corporation or any of its direct or indirect Subsidiaries that is a Holding Company Subsidiary, whether by amendment, reclassification or otherwise, or issuance of any class or series of stock or other equity security or any other securities convertible into equity securities of the Corporation or a Holding Company Subsidiary, in any such case, ranking on a parity with or senior to (structurally or otherwise) the Series B-1 Preferred Stock with respect to any rights, privileges and preferences, including, but not limited to dividend rights, rights upon liquidation, winding up or dissolution and redemption rights, or the creation or execution of any agreement, arrangement or obligation to do any of the foregoing; provided that nothing herein shall prohibit the Corporation from authorizing or issuing any class or series of stock or other equity security or any other securities convertible into equity securities of the Corporation ranking on a parity with the Series B-1 Preferred Stock with respect to any rights, privileges and preferences, including, but not limited to dividend rights, rights upon liquidation, winding up or dissolution and redemption rights if (A) such securities are issued at a price, calculated on an as-converted basis, higher than the Series B-1 Base Price (as adjusted for Recapitalizations), (B) such securities have Economic Provisions that are the same as or no more favorable than the Series B-1 Preferred Stock (for purposes hereof, " Economic Provisions " shall refer to voting provisions (it being understood that entitlement to elect one or more directors and the grant of more restrictive protective provisions shall not be deemed to be an Economic Provision), waiver provisions, liquidation provisions (including liquidation preference provisions), participation provisions, dividend provisions, conversion provisions, redemption provisions, anti-dilution provisions, winding up provisions, any other provisions that would impact or affect any of the foregoing and the amendment or waiver of any of the foregoing) and (C) the terms of such securities that are not Economic Provisions are not materially more favorable than those of the Series B-1 Preferred Stock (it being understood that entitlement to elect one or more directors and the grant of more restrictive protective provisions shall not be deemed materially more favorable); provided , further , that for purposes of this clause (d)(iv) only (and not for purposes of the definition of Economic Provisions generally), a "provision that would impact or affect any of the foregoing" shall not be deemed to include a provision if either (x) the Series B-1 Preferred Stock contains such a provision or (y) such provision is also given in the same form to the Series B-1 Preferred Stock contemporaneously with the issuance of the applicable Permitted Security;

(v) consummate a Liquidation Event if the payment to be received by the holders of Series B-1 Preferred Stock shall be less than the Series B-1 Preferred Liquidation Amount;

(vi) (A) alter, waive, repeal, change, modify or amend the privileges, powers, preferences or rights of the Series B-1 Preferred Stock, (B) (i) alter, waive, repeal, change, modify or amend any Economic Provisions of the Series A Preferred Stock, the Series B Preferred Stock or the Series C Preferred Stock, or (ii) increase the per share voting rights of the Series A Preferred Stock, the Series B Preferred Stock or the Series C Preferred Stock under Section 5, (C) alter, waive, repeal, change, modify or amend any provisions of a Permitted Security issued after the date hereof so that such security would no longer be a Permitted Security, (D) alter, waive, repeal, change, modify or amend any other Economic Provisions in this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation if such alteration, waiver, repeal, change, modification or amendment would have an adverse effect on the Series B-1 Preferred Stock (it being understood that for purposes of this clause (e)(vi)(D) the issuance of a Permitted

Security shall not constitute a modification or amendment of any such other Economic Provisions in this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation), (E) alter, waive, repeal, change, modify or amend the provisions of this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation that are not Economic Provisions if such modification or amendment would have a disproportionately adverse effect on the Series B-1 Preferred Stock as compared with any other class or series of capital stock (including any Series of Preferred Stock), (F) alter, waive, repeal, change, modify or amend any outstanding class or series of stock to provide for more than one vote per share on an as-converted to Common Stock basis on matters on which such vote is required by law (other than the election of directors) or (G) alter, waive, repeal, change, modify or amend the authorized number of shares of (i) Series A Preferred Stock, (ii) Series B Preferred Stock, (iii) Series B-1 Preferred Stock, (iv) Series C Preferred Stock or (v) any other series of Preferred Stock (other than, in the case of this clause (v), to create a Permitted Security or increase the authorized number of shares of a Permitted Security);

(vii) enter into, or permit any Subsidiary or Joint Venture of the Corporation or any Subsidiary to enter into, any transaction with (A) any director or officer of the Corporation or any of its Subsidiaries, unless approved by the Board, or (B) any stockholder of the Corporation (other than a director or officer of the Corporation or any of its Subsidiaries) unless such transaction is (1) approved by the Board and (2) on terms no less favorable to the Corporation or its Subsidiaries than as would be obtainable by the Corporation or any such Subsidiary in a comparable arm's length transaction with a third party, in each case other than (a) the Series A Purchase Agreement and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the Series B Purchase Agreement and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the Series B-1 Purchase Agreement and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the Series B-1 Follow-On Purchase Agreement and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the Series C Purchase Agreement and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the Senior Redeemable Purchase Agreement and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the May Super Senior Redeemable Purchase Agreement and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the June Super Senior Redeemable Purchase Agreement and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the Convertible Note and Warrant Purchase Agreement and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the Investor Rights Agreement and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein, the Voting Agreement and the transactions and the agreements contemplated therein and other than as contemplated by this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation, in each case in the form such agreements are in on the date hereof, (b) for payment of salary for services rendered, as approved by the Board, (c) reimbursement for reasonable expenses incurred on behalf of the Corporation or its Subsidiaries in accordance with the standard practice of the Corporation or its Subsidiaries and (d) for other standard employee benefits made generally available to all employees;

(viii) make, or permit a Subsidiary to make, any acquisition or investment or series thereof in any twelve (12) month period, the value of which is in excess of $10,000,000 in the aggregate, with the purchase price therefor payable in cash, borrowed funds, securities, a combination thereof or otherwise, other than investments to expand the Corporation's or its Subsidiaries' production facilities or investments to construct or purchase, outfit and ramp-up production at any production facility as contemplated in the Corporation's business plan and other than in the ordinary course of business, in any single transaction or series of related transactions; or

(ix) amend, waive, alter or repeal Article IV, Part C, Sections 2(e) (third sentence), 3(f) (other than to add to clause (v) thereof the separate class vote of a Permitted Security). 5(e), 6(b)(iii), 6(f)(i)(G)(3) of the definition of "Additional Shares of Common Stock", 6(l)(iii), 7(a) (relating to the Series B-1 Preferred Stock) or Part F, Section 4 (third sentence) of this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation.

(f) Series C Preferred Stock Protective Provisions . In addition to any other vote or consent required herein or by law, for so long as at least fifty percent (50%) of the shares of Series C Preferred Stock originally issued remain outstanding (as adjusted for any Recapitalization), the vote or written consent of (x) other than as provided in clause (y) below, the holders of a majority of the then outstanding shares of Series C Preferred Stock and (y), in the case of subsection (iv) below, the holders of at least seventy percent (70%) of the then outstanding shares of Series C Preferred Stock, in each case voting together as a single class, separate and distinct from any other series or class of securities issued by the Corporation, and given in writing or by vote at a meeting, shall be required for the Corporation to take any of the following actions, including in each case, as may be applicable, by means of amendment, merger, reclassification, consolidation or otherwise:

(i) alter, waive, repeal or change the rights, preferences or privileges of the Series C Preferred Stock;

(ii) increase the authorized number of shares of the Series C Preferred Stock;

(iii) any authorization or any designation by the Corporation or any of its Holding Company Subsidiaries, whether by amendment, reclassification or otherwise, or issuance of any class or series of stock or other equity securities or any other securities convertible into equity securities of the Corporation or a Holding Company Subsidiary, in any such case, ranking on a parity with or senior to (structurally or otherwise) the Series C Preferred Stock in right of redemption, liquidation preference, voting, conversion or dividend rights, or the creation of any obligation to do any of the foregoing; or

(iv) amend, waive, alter or repeal Article IV, Part C, Sections 1(a), 2(e) (fourth sentence), 5(f)(iv), 6(b)(iv), 6(l)(iv), 7(a) (relating to the Series C Preferred Stock) or Part F, Section 4 (fourth sentence) of this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation.

(g) Convertible Preferred Stock Protective Provisions . In addition to any other vote or consent required herein or by law, the vote or written consent of (x) at least 70% of all directors then serving on the Board and (y) the holders of at least a majority of the then outstanding shares of Series A Preferred Stock, Series B Preferred Stock, Series B-1 Preferred Stock and Series C Preferred Stock, voting together as a single class on an as-converted basis (calculated without giving effect to any Qualified IPO Conversion), given in writing or by vote at a meeting, shall be required for the Corporation to take any of the following actions, including in each case, as may be applicable, by means of amendment, merger, reclassification, consolidation or otherwise:

(i) any authorization or any designation by the Corporation or any of its direct or indirect Subsidiaries that is a Holding Company Subsidiary, whether by amendment, reclassification or otherwise, or issuance of any class or series of stock or other equity securities or any other securities convertible into equity securities of the Corporation or a Holding Company Subsidiary, or the creation of any obligation to do any of the foregoing, except in each case for Excluded Securities (as defined below); or

(ii) amend, waive, alter or repeal Article IV, Part C, Section 5(g) of this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation.

6. Conversion Rights . For the avoidance of doubt, all references to "Senior Preferred Stock" in this Section 6 shall be deemed to include the Series C Preferred Stock.

(a) Right to Convert . At any time and from time to time after the date that this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation is filed (the " Filing Date "), any holder of Senior Preferred Stock may convert any share of Senior Preferred Stock held by such holder into a number of shares of Common Stock determined by dividing (i) the applicable Base Price by (ii) the applicable Conversion Price then in effect. The conversion price for the Series A Preferred Stock (the " Series A Conversion Price ") shall be equal to $5,822.50, the conversion price for the Series B Preferred Stock (the " Series B Conversion Price ") shall be equal to $8,056.61, the conversion price for the Series B-1 Preferred Stock (the " Series B-1 Conversion Price ") shall be equal to $8,056.61 and the initial conversion price for the Series C Preferred Stock (the " Series C Conversion Price ") shall be equal to the Series C Base Price. The Series A Conversion Price, the Series B Conversion Price, the Series B-1 Conversion Price and the Series C Conversion Price are sometimes referred to herein as the applicable "Conversion Price" (the " Conversion Price "). For the avoidance of doubt, references to "Conversion Price" in this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation shall not give effect to any Qualified IPO Conversion (as defined below). Each of the Series A Conversion Price, the Series B Conversion Price, the Series B-1 Conversion Price and the Series C Conversion Price has been determined after giving effect to this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation and the issuance of the Convertible Notes and Warrants (as defined in the Convertible Note and Warrant Purchase Agreement) as contemplated by the Convertible Note and Warrant Purchase Agreement. The Conversion Price from time to time in effect is subject to adjustment as hereinafter provided in this Section 6. Any accrued but unpaid dividends on the Senior Preferred Stock so converted will terminate and cease to exist upon the conversion of such Senior Preferred Stock into Common Stock.

(b) Automatic Conversion .

(i) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Section 6 to the contrary, each share of Series A Preferred Stock shall automatically be converted into shares of Common Stock (" Series A Conversion Shares "), upon the earlier of (A) the date specified by vote or written consent or agreement of holders of at least seventy percent (70%) of the shares of Series A Preferred Stock then outstanding, in an amount of Series A Conversion Shares as is calculated based on the then-effective Series A Conversion Price, or (B) immediately prior to the closing of a firm commitment underwritten initial public offering pursuant to an effective registration statement under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, covering the offer and sale of Common Stock for the account of the Corporation to the public through a nationally recognized underwriter, immediately following which such shares of Common Stock are to be listed for trading on the New York Stock Exchange, for quotation on the Nasdaq Global Market System or such other internationally recognized stock exchange that is approved by the Board (a " Qualified IPO "), in an amount of Series A Conversion Shares as is equal to 3.4974 shares of Common Stock. In the event of an automatic conversion under this Section 6(b), the Corporation shall promptly issue a new certificate to each holder of Series A Preferred Stock representing each stockholder's Series A Conversion Shares and such holder shall surrender its certificate(s) of Series A Preferred Stock in exchange therefor.

(ii) Each share of Series B Preferred Stock shall automatically be converted into shares of Common Stock (" Series B Conversion Shares "), upon the earlier of (A) the date specified by vote or written consent or agreement of holders of at least a majority of the shares of Series B Preferred Stock then outstanding, in an amount of Series B Conversion Shares as is calculated based on the then-effective Series B Conversion Price, or (B) immediately prior to the closing of a Qualified IPO, in an amount of Series B Conversion Shares as is equal to 3.5636 shares of Common Stock. In the event of an automatic conversion under this Section 6(b), the Corporation shall promptly issue a new certificate to each holder of Series B Preferred Stock representing each stockholder's Conversion Shares and such holder shall surrender its certificate(s) of Series B Preferred Stock in exchange therefor.

(iii) Each share of Series B-1 Preferred Stock shall automatically be converted into shares of Common Stock (" Series B-1 Conversion Shares "), upon the earlier of (A) the date specified by vote or written consent or agreement of holders of at least a majority of the shares of Series B-1 Preferred Stock then outstanding, in an amount of Series B-1 Conversion Shares as is calculated based on the then-effective Series B-1 Conversion Price, or (B) immediately prior to the closing of a Qualified IPO, in an amount of Series B-1 Conversion Shares as is equal to 5.0243 shares of Common Stock. In the event of an automatic conversion under this Section 6(b), the Corporation shall promptly issue a new certificate to each holder of Series B-1 Preferred Stock representing each stockholder's Conversion Shares and such holder shall surrender its certificate(s) of Series B-1 Preferred Stock in exchange therefor.

(iv) Each share of Series C Preferred Stock shall automatically be converted into shares of Common Stock (" Series C Conversion Shares "), upon the earlier of (A) the date specified by vote or written consent or agreement of holders of at least seventy percent (70%) of the shares of Series C Preferred Stock then outstanding, in an amount of Series C Conversion Shares as is calculated based on the then-effective Series C Conversion Price, or (B) immediately prior to the closing of a Qualified IPO, in an amount of Series C Conversion Shares as is equal to 3.2817 shares of Common Stock. An automatic conversion upon a Qualified IPO pursuant to clauses (i)(B), (ii)(B), (iii)(B) and (iv)(B) under this Section 6(b) is sometimes referred to in this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation as a "Qualified IPO Conversion" (a " Qualified IPO Conversion "). The Series A Conversion Shares, the Series B Conversion Shares, the Series B-1 Conversion Shares and the Series C Conversion Shares are sometimes collectively referred to herein as the "Conversion Shares" (the " Conversion Shares "). In the event of an automatic conversion under this Section 6(b), the Corporation shall promptly issue a new certificate to each holder of Series C Preferred Stock representing each stockholder's Conversion Shares and such holder shall surrender its certificate(s) of Series C Preferred Stock in exchange therefor.

(v) In the event of an automatic conversion under this Section 6(b), all holders of record of shares of Senior Preferred Stock, to the extent applicable, shall be sent written notice of the time (the " Automatic Conversion Time ") and the place designated for the automatic conversion of all such shares of Senior Preferred Stock pursuant to this Section 6(b). Upon receipt of such notice, each holder of shares of Senior Preferred Stock shall surrender his, her or its certificate or certificates for all such shares (or, if such holder alleges that such certificate has been lost, stolen or destroyed, a lost certificate affidavit and agreement reasonably acceptable to the Corporation to indemnify the Corporation against any claim that may be made against the Corporation on account of the alleged loss, theft or destruction of such certificate), duly endorsed in favor of the Corporation or in blank and accompanied by proper instruments of transfer, to the Corporation at the place designated in such notice, and shall thereafter receive certificates for the number of shares of Common Stock to which such holder is entitled pursuant to this Section 6. At the Automatic Conversion Time, all outstanding shares of Senior Preferred Stock, to the extent applicable, shall be deemed to have been converted into shares of Common Stock, which shall be deemed to be outstanding of record, and all rights with respect to the Senior Preferred Stock so converted, including the rights, if any, to receive notices and vote (other than as a holder of Common Stock), will terminate, except only the rights of the holders thereof, upon surrender of their certificate or certificates (or lost certificate affidavit and agreement) therefor, to receive the items provided for in the last sentence of this Section 6(b)(v). As soon as practicable after the Automatic Conversion Time and the surrender of the certificate or certificates (or lost certificate affidavit and agreement) for Senior Preferred Stock, as applicable, the Corporation shall issue and deliver to such holder, or to his, her or its nominees, a certificate or certificates for the number of full shares of Common Stock issuable on such conversion in accordance with the provisions hereof, together with cash as provided in Section 6(c)(i) in lieu of any fraction of a share of Common Stock otherwise issuable upon such conversion and the payment of any declared but unpaid dividends (but not any undeclared accruing dividends pursuant to Section 2) on the shares of Senior Preferred Stock converted.

(vi) All shares of Senior Preferred Stock shall, to the extent applicable, from and after the Automatic Conversion Time, no longer be deemed to be outstanding and, notwithstanding the failure of the holder or holders thereof to surrender the certificates for such shares on or prior to such time, all rights with respect to such shares shall immediately cease and terminate at the Automatic Conversion Time, except only the right of the holders thereof to receive shares of Common Stock in exchange therefor and to receive payment of any dividends declared but unpaid thereon (but not any undeclared accruing dividends pursuant to Section C.2).

(c) Conversion Procedure .

(i) Any holder of shares of Senior Preferred Stock desiring to convert any portion thereof into Common Stock shall surrender each certificate representing one or more shares of the Senior Preferred Stock to be converted (or, if such holder alleges that such certificate has been lost, stolen or destroyed, a lost certificate affidavit and agreement reasonably acceptable to the Corporation to indemnify the Corporation against any claim that may be made against the Corporation on account of the alleged loss, theft or destruction of such certificate), duly endorsed in favor of the Corporation or in blank and accompanied by proper instruments of transfer, at the principal business office of the Corporation (or such other place as may be designated by the Corporation), and shall give written notice to the Corporation at that office of its election to convert the same, setting forth therein the name or names (with the address or addresses) in which the shares of Common Stock are to be issued. Conversion shall be effective upon receipt by the Corporation of the notice and the stock certificate or certificates (or lost certificate affidavit and agreement) contemplated by the preceding sentence (the " Conversion Time "). Notwithstanding the foregoing, in case of any Liquidation Event, unless the Corporation has received notice of election for conversion and the stock certificate or certificates (or lost certificate affidavit and agreement) prior to such time, such right of conversion for any holder of Senior Preferred Stock subject to such Liquidation Event shall cease and terminate at the close of business on the business day fixed for payment of the amount payable to such holders of the Senior Preferred Stock pursuant to this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation unless the Corporation shall thereafter default in the payment of the Series C Preferred Liquidation Amount or the Senior Preferred Liquidation Amount, as the case may be, in which case the holder shall be entitled to conversion until such default is cured by the Corporation. No fractional shares of Common Stock will be issued by conversion of Senior Preferred Stock or payment of dividends. In lieu of any fractional shares to which the holder would be otherwise entitled, the Corporation will pay cash equal to such fraction multiplied by the then fair market value of a share of Common Stock as determined in good faith by the Board. For such purpose, all shares of Senior Preferred Stock held by each holder of Senior Preferred Stock shall be aggregated, and any resulting fractional share of Common Stock shall be paid in cash.

(ii) As soon as practicable after a holder has effected the procedures for conversion pursuant to Section 6(c)(i) above (but in any event within five (5) business days), the Corporation shall deliver to the converting holder:

(A) a certificate or certificates representing the number of shares of Common Stock issuable by reason of such conversion in such name or names and such denomination or denominations as the converting holder shall be entitled; and

(B) a certificate representing any shares of Senior Preferred Stock that were represented by the certificate or certificates delivered to the Corporation in connection with such conversion but which were not converted.

(iii) The Corporation shall pay any and all issue and other similar taxes that may be payable in respect of any issuance or delivery of shares of Common Stock upon conversion of shares of Senior Preferred Stock pursuant to this Section 6. The Corporation shall not, however, be required to pay any tax which may be payable in respect of any transfer involved in the issuance and delivery of shares of Common Stock in a name other than that in which the shares of Senior Preferred Stock so converted were registered, and no such issuance or delivery shall be made unless and until the person or entity requesting such issuance has paid to the Corporation the amount of any such tax or has established, to the satisfaction of the Corporation, that such tax has been paid.

(iv) The Corporation shall not close its books against the transfer of Senior Preferred Stock or Common Stock issued or issuable upon conversion of Senior Preferred Stock in any manner that interferes with the timely conversion of Senior Preferred Stock. The Corporation shall assist and cooperate with any holder of Senior Preferred Stock required to make any governmental filings or obtain any governmental approval prior to or in connection with any conversion of shares of Senior Preferred Stock hereunder (including, without limitation, making any filings required to be made by the Corporation).

(v) The Corporation shall at all times reserve and keep available out of its authorized but unissued shares of Common Stock, solely for the purpose of issuance upon the conversion of Senior Preferred Stock, not less than the number of shares of Common Stock issuable upon the conversion of all outstanding Senior Preferred Stock that may then be exercised. All shares of Common Stock, which are so issuable, shall, when issued, be duly and validly issued, fully paid and nonassessable and free from all taxes, liens and charges. The Corporation shall take all such actions as may be necessary to ensure that all such shares of Common Stock may be so issued without violation of any applicable law or governmental regulation or any requirements of any domestic securities exchange upon which shares of Common Stock may be listed (except for official notice of issuance which shall be immediately delivered by the Corporation upon each such issuance).

(d) Subdivision or Combination of Common Stock . If the Corporation at any time after the Filing Date subdivides (by any stock split, stock dividend, recapitalization or otherwise) the outstanding shares of Common Stock into a greater number of shares, the applicable Conversion Price in effect immediately prior to such subdivision shall be proportionately decreased to account for such subdivision and, in the case of a Qualified IPO Conversion, the applicable Conversion Shares issuable shall be proportionately increased to account for such subdivision, and if the Corporation at any time combines (by reverse stock split or otherwise) the outstanding shares of Common Stock into a smaller number of shares, the applicable Conversion Price in effect immediately prior to such combination shall be proportionately increased and, in the case of a Qualified IPO Conversion, the applicable Conversion Shares issuable shall be proportionately decreased to account for such combination.

(e) Reorganization, Reclassification, Consolidation, Merger or Sale . If at any time after the filing Date, there is any reorganization, reclassification, consolidation or merger (other than a Liquidation Event) in which the Common Stock (but not the Senior Preferred Stock) is converted into or exchanged for securities, cash or other property (other than a transaction covered by Sections 6(d), 6(g) or 6(h)), as part of such capital reorganization, provision shall be made so that the holders of Senior Preferred Stock shall thereafter have the right to receive, upon conversion of such Senior Preferred Stock, the number of shares of stock or securities or property of the Corporation to which a holder of the number of shares of Common Stock deliverable upon conversion of such Senior Preferred Stock would have been entitled in connection with such capital reorganization if such holder had converted its Senior Preferred Stock immediately prior to such transaction, subject to adjustment in respect of such stock or securities by the terms thereof. The Corporation shall make appropriate provisions to ensure that the requirements of the previous sentence are effected.

(f) Adjustment of Conversion Price Upon Certain Dilutive Issuances .

(i) Special Definitions . The following terms shall have the definitions set forth below:

" Additional Shares of Common Stock " shall mean all shares of Common Stock issued (or, pursuant to Section 6(f)(iii) below, deemed to be issued) by the Corporation after the Filing Date, other than shares of Common Stock issued or issuable (or, pursuant to Section 6(f)(iii) below, deemed to be issued):

(A) upon conversion of shares of Preferred Stock;

(B) to officers, directors or employees of, or consultants to, the Corporation (other than Steve Lockard) pursuant to stock option or stock purchase plans or agreements (including, for example, restricted stock award agreements) on terms approved by the Board;

(C) upon exercise or conversion of Options and Convertible Securities that are outstanding on the Filing Date;

(D) as a dividend or distribution on the Preferred Stock;

(E) for which adjustment of the Conversion Price is made pursuant to Sections 6(d), 6(e), 6(g) or 6(h);

(F) pursuant to a Qualified IPO;

(G) with the vote or written consent of (1) the holders of at least seventy percent (70%) of the then outstanding shares of Series A Preferred Stock, (2) the holders of at least a majority of the then outstanding shares of Series B Preferred Stock and (3) the holders of at least a majority of the then outstanding shares of Series B-1 Preferred Stock, each voting as a separate class;

(H) pursuant to a strategic transaction involving the Corporation and other entities, including (1) joint venture, manufacturing, marketing or distribution arrangements, or (2) technology transfer or development arrangements or other similar business arrangement, provided that, in each case, the issuance of shares therein is approved by the Board;

(I) pursuant to a bona fide acquisition of another entity by the Corporation by merger or purchase of all or substantially all of the stock or assets of such entity that is approved by the Board;

(J) to financial institutions or lessors in connection with commercial credit arrangements, equipment financings, commercial property lease transactions or similar transactions primarily for non-equity financing purposes, provided that, in each case, the issuance of such shares therein is approved by the Board; or

(K) as a result of or in connection with any adjustment to the Conversion Price under Section 6(f)(iv); provided , however , that notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the foregoing, for purposes of clauses (H) through (J) above, the amount of shares of Common Stock or Convertible Securities (as adjusted from time to time for Recapitalizations after the Filing Date) shall not exceed, in the aggregate, two percent (2%) of the capital stock of the Corporation outstanding as of the Filing Date (such foregoing shares pursuant to clauses (A) through (K) above, the " Excluded Securities ").

" Convertible Securities " shall mean any evidences of indebtedness, shares or other securities (including Options) convertible into or exchangeable for Common Stock, including the Preferred Stock.

" Options " shall mean rights, options, or warrants to subscribe for, purchase or otherwise acquire Convertible Securities or Common Stock.

" Common Stock Outstanding on an As-Converted Basis " shall mean immediately prior to a Dilutive Financing (as defined below) the sum of (A) all Common Stock issued and outstanding immediately before the Dilutive Financing, plus (B) all Common Stock issuable upon conversion of all Convertible Securities (calculated without giving effect to any Qualified IPO Conversion) which are outstanding immediately prior to the Dilutive Financing.

(ii) No Adjustment of Conversion Price . Notwithstanding any provision herein to the contrary, no adjustment in the applicable Conversion Price shall be made in respect of the issuance of Additional Shares of Common Stock (or Additional Shares of Common Stock deemed issued pursuant to Section 6(f)(iii) below) unless the consideration per share for an Additional Share of Common Stock issued or deemed to be issued by the Corporation is less than the applicable Conversion Price for such series in effect on the date of, and immediately prior to, such issuance (a " Dilutive Financing ").

(iii) Deemed Issuance of Additional Shares of Common Stock . In the event the Corporation at any time or from time to time after the Filing Date shall issue any Options or Convertible Securities or shall fix a record date for the determination of holders of any class of securities then entitled to receive any such Options or Convertible Securities, in each case, other than in connection with a Qualified IPO Conversion, then the maximum number of shares (as set forth in the instrument relating thereto without regard to any provisions contained therein designed to protect against dilution) of Common Stock issuable upon exercise of such Options or, in the case of Convertible Securities and Options for Convertible Securities, upon conversion of such Convertible Securities or exercise and conversion in the case of Options for Convertible Securities, shall be deemed to be Additional Shares of Common Stock (subject to the exclusions set forth in clauses (A) through (K) of the definition of "Additional Shares of Common Stock" in Section 6(f)(i)) issued as of the time of such issue or, in the case of a record date, shall have been fixed, as of the close of business on such record date; provided that in any such case in which Additional Shares of Common Stock are deemed to be issued, the following provisions shall apply:

(A) In respect of any such Options or Convertible Securities, the consideration received shall be deemed to be the consideration, if any, received by the Corporation upon the issuance of such Options or Convertible Securities plus the minimum purchase price provided in such options or rights for the Common Stock covered thereby.

(B) In the event of any change in the number of shares of Common Stock deliverable upon exercise or conversion or exchange of any such Options or Convertible Securities, or on any change in the minimum purchase price of such Options or Convertible Securities, including, but not limited to, a change resulting from the antidilution provisions of such Options or Convertible Securities, the applicable Conversion Price, to the extent in any way affected by or computed using such options, rights or securities, shall be recomputed to reflect such change, but no further adjustment shall be made for the actual issuance of Common Stock or any payment of such consideration upon the exercise of any such options or rights or the conversion or exchange of such securities.

(C) Upon the expiration or termination of any such Options or Convertible Securities, the applicable Conversion Price, to the extent affected by or computed using such Options or Convertible Securities, shall forthwith be readjusted to such Conversion Price, as would have been obtained had the adjustment made upon the issuance of such Options or Convertible Securities, as the case may be, been made upon the basis of the issuance of only the number of shares of Common Stock actually issued upon the exercise or conversion of such Options or Convertible Securities, as the case may be.

(iv) Adjustment of Conversion Price Upon Issuance of Additional Shares of Common Stock . If the Corporation shall issue or sell any Additional Shares of Common Stock (including Additional Shares of Common Stock deemed to be issued pursuant to Section 6(f)(iii) above) in a Dilutive Financing in respect of the applicable Conversion Price then in effect, then the applicable Conversion Price shall be reduced, concurrently with such issuance, to a price determined by multiplying the applicable Conversion Price in effect immediately prior to such Dilutive Financing by a fraction, the numerator of which shall be the number of shares of Common Stock Outstanding on an As-Converted Basis immediately prior to such issuance plus the number of shares of Common Stock which the aggregate consideration received by the Corporation for the total number of Additional Shares of Common Stock so issued would purchase at such Conversion Price in effect immediately prior to such issuance, and the denominator of which shall be the number of shares of Common Stock Outstanding on an As-Converted Basis immediately prior to such issuance plus the number of such Additional Shares of Common Stock so issued; provided that if such issuance or deemed issuance was without consideration, then the Corporation shall be deemed to have received an aggregate of $0.01 of consideration for all such Additional Shares of Common Stock issued or deemed to be issued.

(g) Stock Dividends . In the event the Corporation at any time or from time to time after the Filing Date shall make or issue, or fix a record date for the determination of holders of Common Stock entitled to receive, a dividend or other distribution payable on the Common Stock in additional shares of Common Stock, other than a distribution pursuant to a Qualified IPO Conversion or Section 6(d), then and in each such event the applicable Conversion Price in effect immediately before such event shall be decreased as of the time of such issuance or, in the event such a record date shall have been fixed, as of the close of business on such record date, by multiplying the applicable Conversion Price then in effect by a fraction:

(i) the numerator of which shall be the total number of shares of Common Stock issued and outstanding immediately prior to the time of such issuance or the close of business on such record date, and

(ii) the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of Common Stock issued and outstanding immediately prior to the time of such issuance or the close of business on such record date plus the number of shares of Common Stock issuable in payment of such dividend or distribution.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, (a) if such record date shall have been fixed and such dividend is not fully paid or if such distribution is not fully made on the date fixed therefor, the applicable Conversion Price shall be recomputed accordingly as of the close of business on such record date and thereafter the applicable Conversion Price shall be adjusted pursuant to this subsection as of the time of actual payment of such dividends or distributions; and (b) that no such adjustment shall be made if the holders of Senior Preferred Stock simultaneously receive a dividend or other distribution of shares of Common Stock in a number equal to the number of shares of Common Stock as they would have received if all outstanding shares of Senior Preferred Stock had been converted into Common Stock on the date of such event.

(h) Adjustment for other Dividends and Distributions . In the event the Corporation at any time or from time to time after the Filing Date shall make or issue, or fix a record date for the determination of holders of Common Stock entitled to receive, a dividend or other distribution payable in securities of the Corporation (other than a distribution of shares of Common Stock in respect of outstanding shares of Common Stock or pursuant to a Qualified IPO Conversion) or in other property and the provisions of Section 2 do not apply to such dividend or distribution, then provision shall be made so that the holders of the Senior Preferred Stock shall receive upon conversion thereof, in addition to the number of shares of Common Stock receivable thereupon, the kind and amount of securities of the Corporation, cash or other property which they would have been entitled to receive had the Senior Preferred Stock been converted into Common Stock on the date of such event and had they thereafter, during the period from the date of such event to and including the conversion date, retained such securities receivable by them as aforesaid during such period, giving application to all adjustments called for during such period under this paragraph with respect to the rights of the holders of the Senior Preferred Stock; provided, however, that no such provision shall be made if the holders of Senior Preferred Stock receive, simultaneously with the distribution to the holders of Common Stock, a dividend or other distribution of such securities, cash or other property in an amount equal to the amount of such securities, cash or other property as they would have received if all outstanding shares of Senior Preferred Stock had been converted into Common Stock on the date of such event.

(i) Consideration for Stock . In case any shares of Common Stock, Options or Convertible Securities shall be issued or sold for cash, the consideration received therefor shall be deemed to be the amount received by the Corporation therefor, without deduction therefrom of any amounts paid or receivable for accrued interest or accrued dividends and any expenses incurred or any underwriting commissions or concessions paid or allowed by the Corporation in connection therewith. In case any shares of Common Stock, Options or Convertible Securities shall be issued or sold for a consideration other than cash, the amount of the consideration other than cash received by the Corporation shall be deemed to be the fair value of such consideration as determined in good faith by the Board (including the affirmative vote of the Series A Director), without deduction of any amounts paid or receivable for accrued interest or accrued dividends and any expenses incurred or any underwriting commissions or concessions paid or allowed by the Corporation in connection therewith. In case any Options shall be issued in connection with the issue and sale of other securities of the Corporation, together comprising one integral transaction in which no specific consideration is allocated to such Options by the parties thereto, such Options shall be deemed to have been issued for such consideration as determined in good faith by the Board.

(j) Record Date . In case the Corporation shall take a record of the holders of its Common Stock for the purpose of entitling them (i) to receive a dividend or other distribution payable in Common Stock, Options or Convertible Securities or (ii) to subscribe for or purchase Common Stock, Options or Convertible Securities, then such record date shall be deemed to be the date of the issue or sale of the shares of Common Stock deemed to have been issued or sold upon the declaration of such dividend or the making of such other distribution or the date of the granting of such right of subscription or purchase, as the case may be.

(k) Treasury Shares . The disposition of any shares of Common Stock owned or held by or for the account of the Corporation shall be considered an issue or sale of Common Stock for the purpose of this Section 6, but while held as treasury shares such shares of Common Stock shall not be included in the number of shares of Common Stock outstanding.

(l) Waiver of Adjustment to Conversion Price . Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, (i) any downward adjustment of the Conversion Price of the Series A Preferred Stock may be waived by the prior written consent or vote of the holders of at least seventy percent (70%) of the then outstanding shares of such series either before or after the issuance causing the adjustment, (ii) any downward adjustment of the Conversion Price of the Series B Preferred Stock may be waived by the prior written consent or vote of the holders of at least a majority of the then outstanding shares of such series either before or after the issuance causing the adjustment, (iii) any downward adjustment of the Conversion Price of the Series B-1 Preferred Stock may be waived by the prior written consent or vote of the holders of at least a majority of the then outstanding shares of such series either before or after the issuance causing the adjustment and (iv) any downward adjustment of the Conversion Price of the Series C Preferred Stock may be waived by the prior written consent or vote of the holders of at least seventy percent (70%) of the then outstanding shares of such series either before or after the issuance causing the adjustment.

(m) Notices .

(i) Immediately upon any adjustment of the Conversion Price, the Corporation shall give written notice thereof to all holders of the Senior Preferred Stock so adjusted, setting forth in reasonable detail and certifying the calculation of such adjustment.

(ii) The Corporation shall give written notice to all holders of Senior Preferred Stock at least twenty (20) calendar days prior to the date on which the Corporation closes its books or fixes a record date (A) with respect to any dividend or distribution upon

Common Stock or (B) with respect to any pro rata subscription offer to holders of Common Stock.

(n) Termination of Conversion Rights . In the event of a notice of redemption of any shares of Senior Preferred Stock pursuant to Section 7, the conversion rights of such shares of Senior Preferred Stock shall terminate at the close of business on the last full day preceding the date fixed for redemption, unless the redemption price is not fully paid on such redemption date, in which case the conversion rights for such shares shall continue until such price is paid in full.

7. Redemption .

(a) Redemption.

(i) At any time after October 9, 2012 at the election of holders of at least seventy percent (70%) of the then outstanding shares of Series A Preferred Stock, the holders of Series A Preferred Stock shall have the right on such date and on any date thereafter but prior to a Qualified IPO (the " Redemption Date ") upon at least ninety (90) days prior written notice to the Corporation, the holders of the Series B Preferred Stock, the holders of the Series B-1 Preferred Stock and the holders of the Series C Preferred Stock, to require the Corporation to redeem all of the Series A Preferred Stock held by such holders for a redemption price per share (the " Series A Redemption Price ") equal to the Series A Preferred Liquidation Amount. The redemption of the Series A Preferred Stock pursuant to this Section 7(a)(i) shall be made on a pro rata basis among the holders of the Series A Preferred Stock.

(ii) In the event the holders of Series A Preferred Stock elect to exercise their redemption rights pursuant to Section 7(a)(i) by delivering notice thereof to the Corporation, the holders of the Series B Preferred Stock, the holders of the Series B-1 Preferred Stock and the holders of the Series C Preferred Stock, then the holders of shares of Series B Preferred Stock, upon the delivery of written notice to the Corporation, the holders of the Series A Preferred Stock, the holders of the Series B-1 Preferred Stock and the holders of the Series C Preferred Stock by holders of at least a majority of the then outstanding shares of Series B Preferred Stock within thirty (30) days after the delivery of the election notice by the holders of Series A Preferred Stock to exercise their redemption rights pursuant to Section 7(a)(i), shall have the right on such Redemption Date to require the Corporation to redeem all of the Series B Preferred Stock held by such holders for a redemption price per share (the " Series B Redemption Price ") equal to the Series B Preferred Liquidation Amount. In addition to the foregoing, at any time after October 9, 2014 at the election of holders of at least a majority of the then outstanding shares of Series B Preferred Stock, the holders of Series B Preferred Stock shall have the right on such date and on any date thereafter but prior to a Qualified IPO upon at least (90) days prior written notice to the Corporation, the holders of the Series A Preferred Stock, the holders of the Series B-1 Preferred Stock and the holders of the Series C Preferred Stock (the " Series B Redemption Date "), to require the Corporation to redeem all of the Series B Preferred Stock held by such holders for a redemption price per share equal to the Series B Redemption Price. Any redemption of the Series B Preferred Stock pursuant to this Section 7(a)(ii) shall be made on a pro rata basis among the holders of the Series B Preferred Stock.

(iii) In the event the holders of Series A Preferred Stock elect to exercise their redemption rights pursuant to Section 7(a)(i) by delivering notice thereof to the Corporation, the holders of the Series B Preferred Stock, the holders of the Series B-1 Preferred Stock and the holders of the Series C Preferred Stock, then the holders of shares of Series B-1 Preferred Stock, upon the delivery of written notice to the Corporation, the holders of the Series A Preferred Stock, the holders of the Series B Preferred Stock and the holders of the Series C Preferred Stock by holders of at least a majority of the then outstanding shares of Series B-1 Preferred Stock within thirty (30) days after the delivery of the election notice by the holders of Series A Preferred Stock to exercise their redemption rights pursuant to Section 7(a)(i), shall have the right on such Redemption Date to require the Corporation to redeem all of the Series B-1 Preferred Stock held by such holders for a redemption price per share (the " Series B-1 Redemption Price ") equal to the Series B-1 Preferred Liquidation Amount. In addition to the foregoing, at any time after October 9, 2014 at the election of holders of at least a majority of the then outstanding shares of Series B-1 Preferred Stock, the holders of Series B-1 Preferred Stock shall have the right on such date and on any date thereafter but prior to a Qualified IPO upon at least (90) days prior written notice to the Corporation, the holders of the Series A Preferred Stock, the holders of the Series B Preferred Stock and the holders of the Series C Preferred Stock (the " Series B-1 Redemption Date "), to require the Corporation to redeem all of the Series B-1 Preferred Stock held by such holders for a redemption price per share equal to the Series B-1 Redemption Price. Any redemption of the Series B-1 Preferred Stock pursuant to this Section 7(a)(iii) shall be made on a pro rata basis among the holders of the Series B-1 Preferred Stock.

(iv) In the event the holders of Series A Preferred Stock elect to exercise their redemption rights pursuant to Section 7(a)(i) by delivering notice thereof to the Corporation, the holders of the Series B Preferred, the holders of the Series B-1 Preferred Stock and the holders of the Series C Preferred Stock, then the holders of shares of Series C Preferred Stock, upon the delivery of written notice to the Corporation, the holders of the Series A Preferred Stock, the holders of the Series B Preferred Stock and the holders of the Series B-1 Preferred Stock by holders of at least seventy percent (70%) of the then outstanding shares of Series C Preferred Stock within thirty (30) days after the delivery of the election notice by the holders of Series A Preferred Stock to exercise their redemption rights pursuant to Section 7(a)(i), shall have the right on such Redemption Date to require the Corporation to redeem all of the Series C Preferred Stock held by such holders for a redemption price per share (the " Series C Redemption Price ") equal to the Series C Preferred Liquidation Amount. In addition to the foregoing, at any time after October 9, 2014 at the election of holders of at least seventy percent (70%) of the then outstanding shares of Series C Preferred Stock, the holders of Series C Preferred Stock shall have the right on such date and on any date thereafter but prior to a Qualified IPO upon at least (90) days prior written notice to the Corporation, the holders of the Series A Preferred Stock, the holders of the Series B Preferred Stock and the holders of the Series B-1 Preferred Stock (the " Series C Redemption Date "), to require the Corporation to redeem all of the Series C Preferred Stock held by such holders for a redemption price per share equal to the Series C Redemption Price. Any redemption of the Series C Preferred Stock pursuant to this Section 7(a)(iv) shall be made on a pro rata basis among the holders of the Series C Preferred Stock. The Series A Redemption Price, the Series B Redemption Price, the Series B-1 Redemption Price and the Series C Redemption Price are sometimes collectively referred to herein as the "Redemption Price" (the " Redemption Price ").

(b) Within fifteen (15) days prior to the Redemption Date, the Series B Redemption Date, the Series B-1 Redemption Date or the Series C Redemption Date, as applicable, written notice shall be mailed by the Corporation, first class postage prepaid, to each holder of record (at the close of business on the business day next preceding the day on which notice is given) of Series C Preferred Stock and any series of Senior Preferred Stock to be redeemed, at the address last shown on the records of the Corporation for such holder, notifying such holder of the redemption to be effected, specifying the number of shares to be redeemed from such holder, the Redemption Date, the Series B Redemption Date, the Series B-1 Redemption Date or the Series C Redemption Date, as applicable, the applicable Redemption Price, the place at which payment may be obtained and calling upon such holder to surrender to the Corporation, in the manner and at the place designated, the holder's certificate or certificates (or lost certificate affidavit and agreement) representing the shares to be redeemed (the " Redemption Notice "). Except as provided herein, on or after the Redemption Date, the Series B Redemption Date, the Series B-1 Redemption Date or the Series C Redemption Date, as applicable, each holder of Series C Preferred Stock or Senior Preferred Stock, as applicable, designated for redemption shall surrender to the Corporation the certificate or certificates representing such shares (or lost certificate affidavit and agreement), in the manner and at the place designated in the Redemption Notice, and thereupon the Redemption Price of such shares shall be payable to the order of the person whose name appears on such certificate or certificates (or lost certificate affidavit and agreement) as the owner thereof and each surrendered certificate shall be cancelled. In the event less than all the shares represented by any such certificate are redeemed, a new certificate shall be issued representing the unredeemed shares.

(c) From and after the Redemption Date, the Series B Redemption Date, the Series B-1 Redemption Date or the Series C Redemption Date, as applicable, unless there shall have been a default in payment of the applicable Redemption Price, all rights of the holders of shares of Series C Preferred Stock and/or Senior Preferred Stock designated for redemption in the Redemption Notice as holders of Series C Preferred Stock or Senior Preferred Stock, as the case may be (except the right to receive the applicable Redemption Price without interest upon surrender of their certificate or certificates (or lost certificate affidavit and agreement)), shall cease with respect to the shares designated for redemption on such date, and such shares shall not thereafter be transferred on the books of the Corporation or be deemed to be outstanding for any purpose whatsoever. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this Section 7, if the funds of the Corporation legally available for redemption of shares of Series C Preferred Stock and Senior Preferred Stock on the Redemption Date, the Series B Redemption Date, the Series B-1 Redemption Date or the Series C Redemption Date, as applicable, are insufficient to redeem the total number of shares of Series C Preferred Stock and Senior Preferred Stock to be redeemed on such date, those funds which are legally available will, first, be used to redeem the maximum possible number of shares of Series C Preferred Stock ratably among the holders of such shares to be redeemed based upon their holdings of Series C Preferred Stock and, second, be used to redeem the maximum possible number of shares of Senior Preferred Stock ratably among the holders of such shares to be redeemed based upon their holdings of Senior Preferred Stock and their relative Preferred Liquidation Amounts. The shares of Series C Preferred Stock and Senior Preferred Stock designated for redemption and not redeemed due to insufficient funds shall remain outstanding and the remainder of the applicable Redemption Price shall be converted into an unsecured obligation of the Corporation to repay such amount to such holders pursuant to a promissory note, or promissory notes, in form and substance satisfactory to a majority of such holders, which indebtedness shall bear interest at a rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum until such applicable Redemption Price, including all accrued interest and other fees more specifically set forth in such promissory note(s), are paid in full; provided, however, that no such promissory note(s) issued in respect of shares of Senior Preferred Stock not so redeemed may be paid, in full or in part, until such time as any such promissory note(s) issued in respect of shares of Series C Preferred Stock not so redeemed are paid in full. Notwithstanding the foregoing, if the shares of Series C Preferred Stock and Senior Preferred Stock designated for redemption are not redeemed in full, (i) each holder thereof shall be entitled to all the rights and preferences provided herein (other than the right to receive dividends under Section 2) with respect to any such shares not so redeemed and (ii) all of such shares designated for redemption (whether redeemed or not) shall continue to be considered outstanding for purposes of calculating the percentage of shares that remain outstanding pursuant to Sections 5(c) and (d) hereof until they are redeemed in full.

(d) On or prior to the Redemption Date, the Series B Redemption Date, the Series B-1 Redemption Date or the Series C Redemption Date, as applicable, the Corporation shall deposit the applicable Redemption Price of all shares of Series C Preferred Stock and Senior Preferred Stock designated for redemption in the Redemption Notice and not yet redeemed with a bank or trust corporation having aggregate capital and surplus in excess of $100,000,000, as a trust fund for the benefit of the respective holders of the shares designated for redemption and not yet redeemed, with irrevocable instructions and authority to the bank or trust corporation to pay the applicable Redemption Price for such shares to their respective holders on or after the Redemption Date, the Series B Redemption Date, the Series B-1 Redemption Date or the Series C Redemption Date, as applicable, upon receipt of notification from the Corporation that such holder has surrendered a share certificate (or lost certificate affidavit and agreement) to the Corporation pursuant to Section 7(b) above. As of the Redemption Date, the Series B Redemption Date, the Series B-1 Redemption Date or the Series C Redemption Date, as applicable, the deposit shall constitute full payment of the shares to their holders, and from and after the Redemption Date, the Series B Redemption Date, the Series B-1 Redemption Date or the Series C Redemption Date, as applicable, the shares so called for redemption shall be redeemed and shall be deemed to be no longer outstanding, and the holders thereof shall cease to be stockholders with respect to such shares and shall have no rights with respect thereto except the right to receive from the bank or trust corporation payment of the applicable Redemption Price of the shares, without interest, upon surrender of their certificates (or lost certificate affidavit and agreement) therefor. Such instructions shall also provide that any moneys deposited by the Corporation pursuant to this Section 7(d) for the redemption of shares thereafter converted into shares of the Corporation's Common Stock pursuant to Section 6 hereof prior to the Redemption Date, the Series B Redemption Date, the Series B-1 Redemption Date or the Series C Redemption Date, as applicable, shall be returned to the Corporation forthwith upon such conversion. The balance of any moneys deposited by the Corporation pursuant to this Section 7(d) remaining unclaimed at the expiration of two (2) years following the Redemption Date, the Series B Redemption Date, the Series B-1 Redemption Date or the Series C Redemption Date, as applicable, shall thereafter be returned to the Corporation upon its request expressed in a resolution of the Board.

(e) Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary set forth in this Section C.7 , in no event shall any shares of Series C Preferred Stock or Senior Preferred Stock be redeemed until such date as all shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock and Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock have been redeemed by the Corporation in accordance with Section D.4 and Section E.4, as applicable, or are no longer otherwise outstanding.

D. SENIOR REDEEMABLE PREFERRED STOCK

1. Base Price . The Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock base price, shall be $25,000.00 per share (the " Senior Redeemable Base Price ").

2. Rank and Voting .

(a) The Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock (i) shall rank junior to the Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock with respect to all rights, privileges and preferences, including, but not limited to, dividend rights, rights upon liquidation, winding up or dissolution and redemption rights and (ii) shall rank senior to any share of Series C Preferred Stock, Senior Preferred Stock, Common Stock and any other equity securities of the Corporation with respect to all rights, privileges and preferences, including, but not limited to, dividend rights, rights upon liquidation, winding up or dissolution and redemption rights.

(b) The holders of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock shall not be entitled to vote with respect to the shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock held by such holders on any matters except to the extent otherwise (i) set forth in this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation and (ii) required under the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware. To the extent the holders of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock are entitled to vote (as provided in the immediately preceding sentence), such holders shall be entitled to one vote per share of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock.

3. Dividend Rights . The record holders of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock, prior to and in preference to any declaration or payment of any dividend on the shares of Series C Preferred Stock, Senior Preferred Stock, Common Stock or any other class or series of stock, shall be entitled to receive, but only out of funds that are legally available therefor, cash dividends at the rate of ten percent (10%) of the Senior Redeemable Base Price (as adjusted from time to time for any Recapitalizations), per annum on each outstanding share of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock (as adjusted from time to time for any Recapitalizations). Such dividends shall accrue from the original date of issuance of each share of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock, whether or not earned or declared, shall be cumulative, and shall be compounded annually; provided , however , that except as set forth in Section D.4 or with the approval of the Board, such dividend shall only be payable when, as and if declared by the Board. For the avoidance of doubt and not in limitation of any other provision set forth in this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation, the Corporation may not declare or pay any dividend on the shares of Series C Preferred Stock or Senior Preferred Stock, unless it first declares and pays the dividend required by this Section on the shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock.

4. Redemption .

(a) Redemption Events .

(i) Upon a Public Offering . Immediately upon and as of, and in all cases subject to, the closing of a Qualified IPO or any other public offering of equity securities of the Corporation (collectively with a Qualified IPO, a " Public Offering "), the Corporation shall, as a condition to the effectiveness of such Public Offering, redeem immediately prior to, or concurrently with the closing of, such Public Offering all (and not less than all) of the outstanding shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock at an amount per share of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock equal to 13.2211 shares of Common Stock (as may be appropriately adjusted for any stock dividends, combinations, splits, recapitalizations, reorganization, reclassification and the like occurring after the Filing Date with respect to such shares of Common Stock) (the " Senior Redeemable Preferred Public Offering Amount "). In the event that the Corporation is unable to redeem all such shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock required to be redeemed by this Section D.4(a)(i) , the Senior Super-Majority Interest (as defined below) may elect that no shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock be so redeemed by delivering written notice to the Corporation.

(ii) Upon Occurrence of a Liquidation Event . In connection with a Liquidation Event, then, as part of and as a condition to the effectiveness of such Liquidation Event, the Corporation shall, on the effective date of such Liquidation Event, either (x) redeem all (and not less than all) of the outstanding shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock for an amount per share of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock equal to three (3) times the Senior Redeemable Base Price (such amount to be adjusted appropriately for Recapitalizations) (the " Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Premium Amount "), such amount to be payable in cash, and no payment shall be made to the holders of the Common Stock, Series C Preferred Stock or Senior Preferred Stock unless such amount is paid in full, (y) have such Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock acquired in such Liquidation Event for cash in an amount per share equal to the Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Premium Amount, or (z) redeem all (and not less than all) of the outstanding shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock as otherwise agreed to by the Corporation and the holders of a Senior Super-Majority Interest. In the event that the Corporation is unable to redeem all such shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock required to be redeemed by this Section D.4(a)(ii) , the Senior Super-Majority Interest may elect that no shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock be so redeemed by delivering written notice to the Corporation.

(iii) Convertible Preferred Stock Redemption Trigger . In the event the holders of Series A Preferred Stock, Series B Preferred Stock, Series B-1 Preferred or Series C Preferred Stock elect to exercise their redemption rights pursuant to Section C.7(a)(i), (ii), (iii) or (iv), respectively, by delivering notice thereof to the Corporation, the Corporation shall, immediately prior to any such redemption, redeem all (and not less than all) of the outstanding shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock for an amount per share of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock equal to the Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Premium Amount, such amount to be payable in cash, and no payment shall be made to the holders of the Common Stock, Series C Preferred Stock or Senior Preferred Stock unless such amount is paid in full.

(b) Senior Redeemable Redemption Date and Price . Any date on which a redemption or other acquisition of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock actually occurs in accordance with Section D.4(a) shall be referred to as a " Senior Redeemable Redemption Date " In the event of a redemption pursuant to Section D.4(a)(ii) or (iii) above, if upon the Senior Redeemable Redemption Date shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock are unable to be redeemed (as contemplated by Section D.4(c) below), then holders of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock, in addition to the Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Premium Amount, shall also be entitled to dividends, without duplication, pursuant to Section D.4(d) below (together with the Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Premium Amount, the " Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Amount "). The aggregate Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Amount in the case of such a redemption pursuant to Section D.4(a)(ii) or (iii) above shall be payable in cash in immediately available funds on the Senior Redeemable Redemption Date. Until the aggregate Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Amount has been paid in cash for all shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock redeemed or purchased pursuant to Section D.4(a)(ii) or (iii) above as of the applicable Senior Redeemable Redemption Date: (A) no dividend whatsoever shall be paid or declared, and no distribution shall be made, on any capital stock of the Corporation including, without limitation, any other Preferred Stock or Common Stock, other than on the Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock; and (B) no shares of capital stock of the Corporation (other than the Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock in accordance with this Section D.4) shall be purchased, redeemed or acquired by the Corporation and no payment shall be made or set aside or made available for a sinking fund for the purchase, redemption or acquisition thereof.

(c) Insufficient Shares or Funds . If, as applicable, the shares of Common Stock or funds of the Corporation legally available to redeem shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock on the Senior Redeemable Redemption Date are insufficient to redeem the total number of such shares required to be redeemed on such date pursuant to the terms of this Section D.4 , the Corporation shall, (i) in the case of a redemption pursuant to Section D.4(a)(i) above, take any action necessary or appropriate, to the extent reasonably within its control, to remove promptly any impediments to its ability to redeem the total number of shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock required to be so redeemed, including, without limitation, increasing the authorized share capital of the Corporation to amount sufficient to make such redemption or (ii) in the case of a redemption pursuant to Section D.4(a)(ii) or (iii) above, at the request of the holders of not less than seventy-five percent (75%) of the voting power of the outstanding shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock (a " Senior Super-Majority Interest "), (A) take any action necessary or appropriate, to the extent reasonably within its control, to remove promptly any impediments to its ability to redeem the total number of shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock required to be so redeemed, including, without limitation, (x) to the extent permissible under applicable law, reducing the stated capital of the Corporation or causing a revaluation of the assets of the Corporation under Section 154 of the General Corporation Law to create sufficient surplus to make such redemption and (y) incurring any indebtedness necessary to make such redemption, and (B) in any event, use any funds that are legally available to redeem the maximum possible number of such shares from the holders of such shares to be redeemed in proportion to the respective number of such shares that otherwise would have been redeemed if all such shares had been redeemed in full. At any time thereafter when additional funds of the Corporation are legally available to redeem such shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock pursuant to Section D.4(a)(ii) or (iii) above, the Corporation shall immediately use such funds to redeem the balance of the shares that the Corporation has become obligated to redeem on the Senior Redeemable Redemption Date (but which it has not redeemed) at the Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Amount. Notwithstanding the foregoing, in the event that the Corporation is unable to redeem all shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock required to be redeemed by any subsection of Section D.4(a) , the Senior Super-Majority Interest may elect that no shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock be so redeemed by delivering written notice to the Corporation.

(d) Dividend, Liquidation Event or Public Offering After Senior Redeemable Redemption Date . In the event that shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock required to be redeemed pursuant to Section D.4(a)(ii) or (iii) above are not redeemed and continue to be outstanding, such shares shall continue to be entitled to dividends, without duplication, thereon following the Senior Redeemable Redemption Date as provided in Section D.3 until the date on which the Corporation actually redeems such shares. In the event that shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock required to be redeemed pursuant to Section D.4(a)(ii) or (iii) above are not redeemed and continue to be outstanding, and any Liquidation Event or Public Offering occurs, then the holders of such shares shall be entitled to receive the Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Amount or the Senior Redeemable Preferred Public Offering Amount, as applicable, for each such share in connection with such Liquidation Event or Public Offering.

(c) Surrender of Certificates . Each holder of shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock to be redeemed pursuant to this Section D.4 shall surrender the certificate or certificates representing such shares to the Corporation, duly assigned or endorsed for transfer (or accompanied by duly executed stock powers relating thereto), or shall deliver an affidavit of loss with respect to such certificates at the principal executive office of the Corporation or such other place as the Corporation may from time to time designate by notice to the holders of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock, and each surrendered certificate shall be canceled and retired and the Corporation shall thereafter make payment of the applicable Senior Redeemable Preferred Public Offering Amount in shares of Common Stock or Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Amount by certified check or wire transfer, as the case may be; provided , however , that if the Corporation has insufficient funds, in the case of a redemption pursuant to Section D.4(a)(ii) or (iii) above, legally available to redeem all shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock required to be redeemed, each holder shall, in addition to receiving the payment of the portion of the aggregate Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Amount that the Corporation is not legally prohibited from paying to such holder by certified check or wire transfer, receive a new stock certificate for those shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock not so redeemed.

(f) No Reissuance of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock . No share or shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock acquired by the Corporation by reason of redemption, purchase, conversion, exchange or otherwise shall be reissued, and all such shares shall be canceled, retired and eliminated from the shares which the Corporation is authorized to issue.

(g) Protective Provisions . In addition to any other vote or consent required herein or by law, for so long as at least fifty percent (50%) of the shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock originally issued remain outstanding (as adjusted for any Recapitalization), the vote or written consent of the holders of a Senior Super-Majority Interest, voting together as a single class, separate and distinct from any other series or class of securities issued by the Corporation, and given in writing or by vote at a meeting, shall be required for the Corporation to take any of the following actions, including in each case, as may be applicable, by means of amendment merger, reclassification, consolidation or otherwise: (A) alter, waive, repeal or change the rights, preferences or privileges of the Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock, (B) increase the authorized number of shares of the Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock, (C) any authorization or any designation by the Corporation or any of its Holding Company Subsidiaries, whether by amendment, reclassification or otherwise, or issuance of any class or series of stock or other equity securities or any other securities convertible into equity securities of the Corporation or a Holding Company Subsidiary, in any such case, ranking on a parity with or senior to (structurally or otherwise) the Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock in right of redemption, liquidation preference or dividend rights, or the creation of any obligation to do any of the foregoing, in each case other than any such security issued in a financing referred to in Section D.4(c)(ii)(A)(y) ; or (D) amend, waive, alter or repeal this Section D.4(g) or Part F, Section 4 (fifth sentence) of this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation.

E. SUPER SENIOR REDEEMABLE PREFERRED STOCK

1. Base Price . The Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock base price, shall be $25,000.00 per share (the " Super Senior Redeemable Base Price ").

2. Rank & Voting .

(a) The holders of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock shall not be entitled to vote with respect to the shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock held by such holders on any matters except to the extent otherwise (i) set forth in this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation and (ii) required under the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware. To the extent the holders of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock are entitled to vote (as provided in the immediately preceding sentence), such holders shall be entitled to one vote per share of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock.

(b) The Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock shall rank senior to any share of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock, Series C Preferred Stock, Senior Preferred Stock, Common Stock and any other equity securities of the Corporation with respect to all rights, privileges and preferences, including, but not limited to, dividend rights, rights upon liquidation, winding up or dissolution and redemption rights.

3. Dividend Rights . The record holders of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock, prior to and in preference to any declaration or payment of any dividend on the shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock, Series C Preferred Stock, Senior Preferred Stock, Common Stock or any other class or series of stock, shall be entitled to receive, but only out of funds that are legally available therefor, cash dividends at the rate of ten percent (10%) of the Super Senior Redeemable Base Price (as adjusted from time to time for any Recapitalization) per annum on each outstanding share of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock (as adjusted from time to time for any Recapitalizations). Such dividends shall accrue from the original date of issuance of each share of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock, whether or not earned or declared, shall be cumulative, and shall be compounded annually; provided, however , that except as set forth in Section E.4 , such dividend shall only be payable when, as and if declared by the Board. For the avoidance of doubt and not in limitation of any other provision set forth in the Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation, the Corporation may not declare or pay any dividend on the shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock, Series C Preferred Stock or Senior Preferred Stock, unless it first declares and pays the dividend required by this Section on the shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock.

4. Redemption .

(a) Redemption Events .

(i) Upon a Public Offering . Immediately upon and as of, and in all cases subject to, the closing of a Public Offering, the Corporation shall, as a condition to the effectiveness of such Public Offering, redeem immediately prior to, or concurrently with the closing of, such Public Offering all (and not less than all) of the outstanding shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock in an amount per share of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock equal to 13.2211 shares of Common Stock (as may be appropriately adjusted for any stock dividends, combinations, splits, recapitalizations, reorganization, reclassification and the like occurring after the Filing Date with respect to such shares of Common Stock) (the " Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Public Offering Amoun t"). In the event that the Corporation is unable to redeem all such shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock required to be redeemed by this Section E.4(a)(i) , the Super Senior Super-Majority Interest (as defined below) may elect that no shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock be so redeemed by delivering written notice to the Corporation.

(ii) Upon Occurrence of a Liquidation Event . In connection with a Liquidation Event, then, as part of and as a condition to the effectiveness of such Liquidation Event, the Corporation shall, on the effective date of such Liquidation Event, either (x) redeem all (and not less than all) of the outstanding shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock for an amount per share of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock equal to three (3) times the Super Senior Redeemable Base Price (such amount to be adjusted appropriately for Recapitalizations) (the " Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Premium Amount "), such amount to be payable in cash, and no payment shall be made to the holders of the Common Stock, Series C Preferred Stock, Senior Preferred Stock, or Senior Redeemable Stock unless such amount is paid in full, (y) have such Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock acquired in such Liquidation Event for cash in an amount per share equal to the Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Premium Amount, or (z) redeem all (and not less than all) of the outstanding shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock as otherwise agreed to by the Corporation and the holders of a Senior Super-Majority Interest. In the event that the Corporation is unable to redeem all such shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock required to be redeemed by this Section E.4(a)(ii) , the Super Senior Super-Majority Interest may elect that no shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock be so redeemed by delivering written notice to the Corporation.

(iii) Convertible Preferred Stock Redemption Trigger . In the event the holders of Series A Preferred Stock, Series B Preferred Stock, Series B-1 Preferred or Series C Preferred Stock elect to exercise their redemption rights pursuant to Section C.7(a)(i), (ii), (iii) or (iv), respectively, by delivering notice thereof to the Corporation, the Corporation shall, immediately prior to any such redemption, redeem all (and not less than all) of the outstanding shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock for an amount per share of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock equal to the Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Premium Amount, such amount to be payable in cash, and no payment shall be made to the holders of the Common Stock, Series C Preferred Stock, Senior Preferred Stock or Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock unless such amount is paid in full.

(b) Super Senior Redeemable Redemption Date and Price . Any date on which a redemption or other acquisition of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock actually occurs in accordance with Section E.4(a) shall be referred to as a " Super Senior Redeemable Redemption Date " In the event of a redemption pursuant to Section D.4(a)(ii) or (iii) above, if upon the Super Senior Redeemable Redemption Date shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock are unable to be redeemed (as contemplated by Section E.4(c) below), then holders of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock, in addition to the Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Premium Amount, shall also be entitled to dividends, without duplication, pursuant to Section E.4(d) below (together with the Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Premium Amount, the " Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Amount "). The aggregate Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Amount in the case of a redemption pursuant to Section E.4(a)(ii) or (iii) above shall be payable in cash in immediately available funds on the Super Senior Redeemable Redemption Date. Until the aggregate Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Amount has been paid in cash for all shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock redeemed or purchased pursuant to Section E.4(a)(ii) or (iii) above as of the applicable Super Senior Redeemable Redemption Date: (A) no dividend whatsoever shall be paid or declared, and no distribution shall be made, on any capital stock of the Corporation including, without limitation, any Preferred Stock or Common Stock; and (B) no shares of capital stock of the Corporation (other than the Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock in accordance with this Section E.4) shall be purchased, redeemed or acquired by the Corporation and no payment shall be made or set aside or made available for a sinking fund for the purchase, redemption or acquisition thereof.

(c) Insufficient Shares or Funds . If, as applicable, the shares of Common Stock or funds of the Corporation legally available to redeem shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock on the Super Senior Redeemable Redemption Date are insufficient to redeem the total number of such shares required to be redeemed on such date pursuant to the terms of this Section E.4 , the Corporation shall, (i) in the case of a redemption pursuant to Section E.4(a)(i) above, take any action necessary or appropriate, to the extent reasonably within its control, to remove promptly any impediments to its ability to redeem the total number of shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock required to be so redeemed, including, without limitation, increasing the authorized share capital of the Corporation to amount sufficient to make such redemption or (ii) in the case of a redemption pursuant to Section E.4(a)(ii) or (iii) above, at the request of the holders of not less than seventy-five percent (75%) of the voting power of the outstanding shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock (a " Super Senior Super-Majority Interest "), (A) take any action necessary or appropriate, to the extent reasonably within its control, to remove promptly any impediments to its ability to redeem the total number of shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock required to be so redeemed, including, without limitation, (x) to the extent permissible under applicable law, reducing the stated capital of the Corporation or causing a revaluation of the assets of the Corporation under Section 154 of the General Corporation Law to create sufficient surplus to make such redemption and (y) incurring any indebtedness necessary to make such redemption, and (B) in any event, use any funds that are legally available to redeem the maximum possible number of such shares from the holders of such shares to be redeemed in proportion to the respective number of such shares that otherwise would have been redeemed if all such shares had been redeemed in full. At any time thereafter when additional funds of the Corporation are legally available to redeem such shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock pursuant to Section E.4(a)(ii) or (iii) above, the Corporation shall immediately use such funds to redeem the balance of the shares that the Corporation has become obligated to redeem on the Super Senior Redeemable Redemption Date (but which it has not redeemed) at the Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Amount. Notwithstanding the foregoing, in the event that the Corporation is unable to redeem all shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock required to be redeemed by any subsection of Section E.4(a) , the Super Senior Super-Majority Interest may elect that no shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock be so redeemed by delivering written notice to the Corporation.

(d) Dividend, Liquidation Event or Public Offering After Super Senior Redeemable Redemption Date . In the event that shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock required to be redeemed pursuant to Section E.4(a)(ii) or (iii) above are not redeemed and continue to be outstanding, such shares shall continue to be entitled to dividends, without duplication, thereon following the Super Senior Redeemable Redemption Date as provided in Section E.3 until the date on which the Corporation actually redeems such shares. In the event that shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock required to be redeemed pursuant to Section E.4(a)(ii) or (iii) above are not redeemed and continue to be outstanding, and any Liquidation Event or Public Offering occurs, then the holders of such shares shall be entitled to receive the Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Amount or the Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Public Offering Amount, as applicable, for each such share in connection with such Liquidation Event or Public Offering.

(e) Surrender of Certificates . Each holder of shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock to be redeemed pursuant to this Section E.4 shall surrender the certificate or certificates representing such shares to the Corporation, duly assigned or endorsed for transfer (or accompanied by duly executed stock powers relating thereto), or shall deliver an affidavit of loss with respect to such certificates at the principal executive office of the Corporation or such other place as the Corporation may from time to time designate by notice to the holders of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock, and each surrendered certificate shall be canceled and retired and the Corporation shall thereafter make payment of the applicable Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Public Offering Amount in shares of Common Stock or Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Amount by certified check or wire transfer, as the case may be; provided , however , that if the Corporation has insufficient funds, in the case of a redemption pursuant to Section E.4(a)(ii) or (iii) above, legally available to redeem all shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock required to be redeemed, each holder shall, in addition to receiving the payment of the portion of the aggregate Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Liquidation Amount that the Corporation is not legally prohibited from paying to such holder by certified check or wire transfer, receive a new stock certificate for those shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock not so redeemed.

(f) No Reissuance of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock . No share or shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock acquired by the Corporation by reason of redemption, purchase, conversion, exchange or otherwise shall be reissued, and all such shares shall be canceled, retired and eliminated from the shares which the Corporation is authorized to issue.

(g) Protective Provisions . In addition to any other vote or consent required herein or by law, for so long as at least fifty percent (50%) of the shares of Super Senior

Redeemable Preferred Stock originally issued remain outstanding (as adjusted for any Recapitalization), the vote or written consent of the holders of a Super Senior Super-Majority Interest, voting together as a single class, separate and distinct from any other series or class of securities issued by the Corporation, and given in writing or by vote at a meeting, shall be required for the Corporation to take any of the following actions, including in each case, as may be applicable, by means of amendment, merger, reclassification, consolidation or otherwise: (A) alter, waive, repeal or change the rights, preferences or privileges of the Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock, (B) increase the authorized number of shares of the Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock, (C) any authorization or any designation by the Corporation or any of its Holding Company Subsidiaries, whether by amendment, reclassification or otherwise, or issuance of any class or series of stock or other equity securities or any other securities convertible into equity securities of the Corporation or a Holding Company Subsidiary, in any such case, ranking on a parity with or senior to (structurally or otherwise) the Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock in right of redemption, liquidation preference or dividend rights, or the creation of any obligation to do any of the foregoing, in each case other than any such security issued in a financing referred to in Section E.4(c)(ii)(A)(y) ; or (D) amend, waive, alter or repeal this Section E.4(g) or Part F, Section 4 (sixth sentence) of this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation.

(h) Notwithstanding any provision of this Part E , the rights, preferences and privileges of the Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock may not be amended or terminated, and the observance of any term of this Part E may not be waived, with respect to any shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock without the written consent of the holder of such shares unless such amendment, termination, or waiver applies to all shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock in the same fashion.

F. PROVISIONS APPLICABLE TO ALL PREFERRED STOCK

1. Registration of Transfer . The Corporation shall keep at its principal office a register for the registration of issuance and transfers of Preferred Stock. Upon the surrender of any certificate (or lost certificate affidavit and agreement) representing Preferred Stock at such place, the Corporation shall, at the request of the record holder of such certificate, execute and deliver (at the Corporation's expense) a new certificate or certificates in exchange therefor representing in the aggregate the number of shares of Preferred Stock represented by the surrendered certificate (or lost certificate affidavit and agreement). Each such new certificate shall be registered in such name and shall represent such number of shares of Preferred Stock as is requested by the holder of the surrendered certificate (or lost certificate affidavit and agreement) and shall be substantially identical in form to the surrendered certificate.

2. Replacement . Upon receipt of evidence reasonably satisfactory to the Corporation (an affidavit of the registered holder shall be satisfactory) of the ownership and the loss, theft, destruction or mutilation of any certificate evidencing shares of Preferred Stock, and in the case of any such loss, theft or destruction, upon receipt of indemnity reasonably satisfactory to the Corporation (provided , however , that if the holder is a financial institution or other institutional investor, its own agreement shall be satisfactory), or, in the case of any such mutilation upon surrender of such certificate, the Corporation shall (at its expense) execute and deliver in lieu of such certificate a new certificate of like kind representing the number of shares of Preferred Stock represented by such lost, stolen, destroyed or mutilated certificate and dated the date of such lost, stolen, destroyed or mutilated certificate, and dividends shall accrue on the Preferred Stock represented by such new certificate from the date to which dividends have been fully paid on the shares of Preferred Stock represented by such lost, stolen, destroyed or mutilated certificate.

3. Notices . Except as otherwise expressly provided hereunder, all notices referred to herein shall be in writing and shall be deemed effectively given: (a) upon personal delivery to the parties to be notified; (b) when sent by confirmed facsimile if sent during normal business hours of the recipient; if not then the next business day; or (c) when mailed or sent by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested and postage prepaid, or by reputable overnight courier service, charges prepaid (x) to the Corporation, at its principal executive offices and (y) to any stockholder, at such holder's address as it appears in the stock records of the Corporation (unless otherwise indicated by any such holder).

4. Waiver . Any of the rights, powers, preferences and other terms of the Series A Preferred Stock set forth herein may be waived on behalf of all holders of Series A Preferred Stock by the affirmative written consent or vote of the holders of at least seventy percent (70%) of the shares of Series A Preferred Stock then outstanding. Any of the rights, powers, preferences and other terms of the Series B Preferred Stock set forth herein may be waived on behalf of all holders of Series B Preferred Stock by the affirmative written consent or vote of the holders of at least a majority of the shares of Series B Preferred Stock then outstanding. Any of the rights, powers, preferences and other terms of the Series B-1 Preferred Stock set forth herein may be waived on behalf of all holders of Series B-1 Preferred Stock by the affirmative written consent or vote of the holders of at least a majority of the shares of Series B-1 Preferred Stock then outstanding. Any of the rights, powers, preferences and other terms of the Series C Preferred Stock set forth herein may be waived on behalf of all holders of Series C Preferred Stock by the affirmative written consent or vote of the holders of at least seventy percent (70%) of the shares of Series C Preferred Stock then outstanding. Any of the rights, powers, preferences and other terms of the Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock set forth herein may be waived on behalf of all holders of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock by the affirmative written consent or vote of the holders of at least seventy-five percent (75%) of the shares of Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock then outstanding. Any of the rights, powers, preferences and other terms of the Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock set forth herein may be waived on behalf of all holders of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock by the affirmative written consent or vote of the holders of at least seventy-five percent (75%) of the shares of Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock then outstanding.

ARTICLE V

1. The Corporation shall, to the fullest extent permitted by the provisions of Section 145 of the DGCL, as the same may be amended and supplemented from time to time, indemnify any and all persons whom it shall have power to indemnify under said section from and against any and all of the expenses, liabilities or other matters referred to in or covered by said section as amended or supplemented (or any successor), and the indemnification provided for herein shall not be deemed exclusive of any other rights to which those indemnified may be entitled under any bylaw, agreement, vote of stockholders or disinterested directors or otherwise, both as to action in his official capacity and as to action in another capacity while holding such office, and shall continue as to a person who has ceased to be a director, officer, employee or agent and shall inure to the benefit of the heirs, executors and administrators of such a person. Any amendment, repeal or modification of this provision shall not adversely affect any right or protection of any director, officer or other agent of the Corporation existing at the time of such amendment, repeal or modification.

2. No director shall be personally liable to the Corporation or its stockholders for any monetary damages for breaches of fiduciary duty as a director, notwithstanding any provision of law imposing such liability; provided, however , that this provision shall not eliminate or limit the liability of a director, to the extent that such liability is imposed by applicable law: (a) for any breach of the director's duty of loyalty to the Corporation or its stockholders; (b) for acts or omissions not in good faith or which involve intentional misconduct or a knowing violation of law; (c) under Section 174 or successor provisions of the DGCL; or (d) for any transaction from which the director derived an improper personal benefit. This provision shall not eliminate or limit the liability of a director for any act or omission if such elimination or limitation is prohibited by the DGCL. No amendment to or repeal of this provision shall apply to or have any effect on the liability or alleged liability of any director for or with respect to any acts or omissions of such director occurring prior to such amendment or repeal. If the DGCL is amended to authorize corporate action further eliminating or limiting the personal liability of directors, then the liability of a director of the Corporation shall be eliminated or limited to the fullest extent permitted by the DGCL, as so amended.

ARTICLE VI

Subject to any additional vote required by this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation, in furtherance and not in limitation of the powers conferred by statute, the Board is expressly authorized to make, repeal, alter, amend and rescind any or all of the Bylaws of the Corporation.

ARTICLE VII

Subject to any additional vote required by this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation, the number of directors of the Corporation shall be determined in the manner set forth in the Bylaws of the Corporation.

ARTICLE VIII

Elections of directors need not be by written ballot except and to the extent provided in the Bylaws.

ARTICLE IX

Meetings of stockholders may be held within or without the State of Delaware as the Bylaws may provide. The books of the Corporation may be kept (subject to any provision contained in the DGCL) outside of the State of Delaware at such place or places as may be designated from time to time by the Board or in the Bylaws.

ARTICLE X

Advance notice of new business and stockholder nominations for the election of directors shall be given in the manner and to the extent provided in the Bylaws.

ARTICLE XI

Subject to the restrictions provided in Article IV of this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation, the Corporation reserves the right to amend, alter, change or repeal any provision contained in this Tenth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation, in the manner now or hereafter prescribed by statute, and all rights conferred upon stockholders herein are granted subject to this reservation.

ARTICLE XII

In the event that (1) a director of the Corporation who is also a partner, employee or affiliate of an entity that is a holder of Series A Preferred Stock, Series B-1 Preferred Stock, Series C Preferred Stock or Common Stock and that is in the business of investing and reinvesting in other entities (each, a " Fund ") or (2) any holder of Preferred Stock or Common Stock or any partner, member, director, or stockholder, employee or agent of any such holder who is not an employee of the Corporation or any of its subsidiaries (a " Covered Person ") acquires knowledge of a potential transaction or matter in such person's capacity as a partner or employee of the Fund or as a Covered Person and that potential transaction or matter may be a corporate opportunity for both the Corporation and such Fund or Covered Person and such knowledge did not come from the Corporation, a subsidiary of the Corporation or any officer, director, employee or any other affiliate of the Corporation or a subsidiary of the Corporation (an " Excluded Opportunity "), then (a) such Excluded Opportunity shall belong to such Fund or Covered Person, (b) such director or holder shall, to the fullest extent permitted by law, have fully satisfied and fulfilled his or her fiduciary duty to the Corporation and its stockholders with respect to such Excluded Opportunity, and (c) the Corporation, to the fullest extent permitted by law, waives any claim that such Excluded Opportunity constituted a corporate opportunity that should have been presented to the Corporation or any of its affiliates provided, however , that such director or holder acts in good faith and such opportunity was not presented or offered to or acquired, created or developed by or otherwise comes into the possession of such person in his or her capacity as a director of the Corporation or a Covered Person.

(the "Corporation")

Article I - Stockholders

1. Annual Meeting . The annual meeting of stockholders shall be held for the election of directors each year at such place, date and time as shall be designated by the Board of Directors. Any other proper business may be transacted at the annual meeting. If no date for the annual meeting is established or said meeting is not held on the date established as provided above, a special meeting in lieu thereof may be held or there may be action by written consent of the stockholders on matters to be voted on at the annual meeting, and such special meeting or written consent shall have for the purposes of these By-laws or otherwise all the force and effect of an annual meeting.

2. Special Meetings . Special meetings of stockholders may be called by (i) the Chief Executive Officer, if one is elected, or, if there is no Chief Executive Officer, a President or (ii) holders of not less than fifty percent (50%) of the then outstanding shares of Preferred Stock, but such special meetings may not be called by any other person or persons. The call for the meeting shall state the place, date, hour and purposes of the meeting. Only the purposes specified in the notice of special meeting shall be considered or dealt with at such special meeting.

3. Notice of Meetings . Whenever stockholders are required or permitted to take any action at a meeting, a notice stating the place, if any, date and hour of the meeting, the means of remote communications, if any, by which stockholders and proxyholders may be deemed to be present and vote at such meeting, and, in the case of a special meeting, the purpose or purposes of the meeting, shall be given by the Secretary (or other person authorized by these By-laws or by law) not less than ten (10) nor more than sixty (60) days before the meeting to each stockholder entitled to vote thereat and to each stockholder who, under the Certificate of Incorporation or under these By-laws is entitled to such notice. If mailed, notice is given when deposited in the mail, postage prepaid, directed to such stockholder at such stockholder's address as it appears in the records of the Corporation. Without limiting the manner by which notice otherwise may be effectively given to stockholders, any notice to stockholders may be given by electronic transmission in the manner provided in Section 232 of the Delaware General Corporation Law (the "DGCL").

If a meeting is adjourned to another time or place, notice need not be given of the adjourned meeting if the time and place, if any, and the means of remote communications, if any, by which stockholders and proxyholders may be deemed to be present in person and vote at such adjourned meeting are announced at the meeting at which the adjournment is taken, except that if the adjournment is for more than thirty (30) days, or if after the adjournment a new record date is fixed for the adjourned meeting, notice of the adjourned meeting shall be given to each stockholder of record entitled to vote at the meeting.

4. Quorum . The holders of a majority in interest of all stock issued, outstanding and entitled to vote at a meeting, present in person or represented by proxy, shall constitute a quorum. Any meeting may be adjourned from time to time by a majority of the votes properly cast upon the question, whether or not a quorum is present. The stockholders present at a duly constituted meeting may continue to transact business until adjournment notwithstanding the withdrawal of enough stockholders to reduce the voting shares below a quorum.

5. Voting and Proxies . Except as otherwise provided by the Certificate of Incorporation or by law, each stockholder entitled to vote at any meeting of stockholders shall be entitled to one vote for each share of stock held by such stockholder which has voting power upon the matter in question. Each stockholder entitled to vote at a meeting of stockholders or to express consent or dissent to corporate action in writing without a meeting may authorize another person or persons to act for such stockholder by either written proxy or by a transmission permitted by Section 212(c) of the DGCL, but no proxy shall be voted or acted upon after three years from its date, unless the proxy provides for a longer period or is irrevocable and coupled with an interest. Proxies shall be filed with the Secretary of the meeting, or of any adjournment thereof. Except as otherwise limited therein, proxies shall entitle the persons authorized thereby to vote at any adjournment of such meeting.

6. Action at Meeting . When a quorum is present, any matter before the meeting shall be decided by vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of stock voting on such matter except where a larger vote is required by law, by the Certificate of Incorporation or by these By-laws. Any election of directors by stockholders shall be determined by a plurality of the votes cast, except where a larger vote is required by law, by the Certificate of Incorporation or by these By-laws. The Corporation shall not directly or indirectly vote any share of its own stock; provided, however, that the Corporation may vote shares which it holds in a fiduciary capacity to the extent permitted by law.

7. Presiding Officer . Meetings of stockholders shall be presided over by the Chairman of the Board, if one is elected, or in his or her absence, the Vice Chairman of the Board, if one is elected, or if neither is elected or in their absence, a President. The Board of Directors shall have the authority to appoint a temporary presiding officer to serve at any meeting of the stockholders if the Chairman of the Board, the Vice Chairman of the Board or a President is unable to do so for any reason.

8. Conduct of Meetings . The Board of Directors may adopt by resolution such rules and regulations for the conduct of the meeting of stockholders as it shall deem appropriate. Except to the extent inconsistent with such rules and regulations as adopted by the Board of Directors, the presiding officer of any meeting of stockholders shall have the right and authority to prescribe such rules, regulations and procedures and to do all such acts as, in the judgment of such chairman, are appropriate for the proper conduct of the meeting. Such rules, regulations or procedures, whether adopted by the Board of Directors or prescribed by the presiding officer of the meeting, may include, without limitation, the following: (i) the establishment of an agenda or order of business for the meeting; (ii) rules and procedures for maintaining order at the meeting and the safety of those present; (iii) limitations on attendance at or participation in the meeting to stockholders of record of the Corporation, their duly authorized and constituted proxies or such other persons as the chairman of the meeting shall determine; (iv) restrictions on entry to the meeting after the time fixed for the commencement thereof; and (v) limitations on the time allotted to questions or comments by participants. Unless and to the extent determined by the Board of Directors or the presiding officer of the meeting, meetings of stockholders shall not be required to be held in accordance with the rules of parliamentary procedure.

9. Action without a Meeting . Unless otherwise provided in the Certificate of Incorporation, any action required or permitted by law to be taken at any annual or special meeting of stockholders, may be taken without a meeting, without prior notice and without a vote, if a consent or consents in writing, setting forth the action so taken, shall be signed by the holders of outstanding stock having not less than the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorize or take such action at a meeting at which all shares entitled to vote thereon were present and voted and shall be delivered to the Corporation by delivery to its registered office, by hand or by certified mail, return receipt requested, or to the Corporation's principal place of business or to the officer of the Corporation having custody of the minute book. Every written consent shall bear the date of signature and no written consent shall be effective unless, within sixty (60) days of the earliest dated consent delivered pursuant to these By-laws, written consents signed by a sufficient number of stockholders entitled to take action are delivered to the Corporation in the manner set forth in these By-laws. Prompt notice of the taking of the corporate action without a meeting by less than unanimous written consent shall be given to those stockholders who have not consented in writing.

10. Stockholder Lists . The officer who has charge of the stock ledger of the Corporation shall prepare and make, at least ten (10) days before every meeting of stockholders, a complete list of the stockholders entitled to vote at the meeting, arranged in alphabetical order, and showing the address of each stockholder and the number of shares registered in the name of each stockholder. Nothing contained in this Section 10 shall require the Corporation to include electronic mail addresses or other electronic contact information on such list. Such list shall be open to the examination of any stockholder, for any purpose germane to the meeting, for a period of at least ten (10) days prior to the meeting in the manner provided by law. The list shall also be open to the examination of any stockholder during the whole time of the meeting as provided by law.

Article II - Directors

1. Powers . The business of the Corporation shall be managed by or under the direction of a Board of Directors who may exercise all the powers of the Corporation except as otherwise provided by law, by the Certificate of Incorporation or by these By-laws. In the event of a vacancy in the Board of Directors, the remaining directors, except as otherwise provided by law, may exercise the powers of the full Board until the vacancy is filled.

2. Number and Qualification . Unless otherwise provided in the Certificate of Incorporation or in these By-laws, the number of directors which shall constitute the whole board shall be determined from time to time by resolution of the Board of Directors. Directors need not be stockholders.

3. Vacancies; Reduction of Board . A majority of the directors then in office, although less than a quorum, or a sole remaining Director, may fill vacancies in the Board of Directors occurring for any reason and newly created directorships resulting from any increase in the authorized number of directors. In lieu of filling any vacancy, the Board of Directors may reduce the number of directors.

4. Tenure . Except as otherwise provided by law, by the Certificate of Incorporation or by these By-laws, directors shall hold office until their successors are elected and qualified or until their earlier resignation or removal. Any director may resign at any time upon notice given in writing or by electronic transmission to the Corporation. Such resignation shall be effective upon receipt unless it is specified to be effective at some other time or upon the happening of some other event.

5. Removal . To the extent permitted by law, a director may be removed from office with or without cause by vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of stock entitled to vote in the election of directors.

6. Meetings . Regular meetings of the Board of Directors may be held without notice at such time, date and place as the Board of Directors may from time to time determine. Special meetings of the Board of Directors may be called, orally or in writing, by the Chief Executive Officer, if one is elected, or, if there is no Chief Executive Officer, the President, or by two or more Directors, designating the time, date and place thereof. Directors may participate in meetings of the Board of Directors by means of conference telephone or other communications equipment by means of which all directors participating in the meeting can hear each other, and participation in a meeting in accordance herewith shall constitute presence in person at such meeting.

7. Notice of Meetings . Notice of the time, date and place of all special meetings of the Board of Directors shall be given to each director by the Secretary, or Assistant Secretary, or in case of the death, absence, incapacity or refusal of such persons, by the officer or one of the directors calling the meeting. Notice shall be given to each director in person, by telephone, or by facsimile, electronic mail or other form of electronic communications, sent to such director's business or home address at least twenty-four (24) hours in advance of the meeting, or by written notice mailed to such director's business or home address at least forty-eight (48) hours in advance of the meeting.

8. Quorum . At any meeting of the Board of Directors, a majority of the total number of directors shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. Less than a quorum may adjourn any meeting from time to time and the meeting may be held as adjourned without further notice.

9. Action at Meeting . At any meeting of the Board of Directors at which a quorum is present, unless otherwise provided in the following sentence, a majority of the directors present may take any action on behalf of the Board of Directors, unless a larger number is required by law, by the Certificate of Incorporation or by these By-laws. So long as there are two (2) or fewer Directors, any action to be taken by the Board of Directors shall require the approval of all Directors.

10. Action by Consent . Any action required or permitted to be taken at any meeting of the Board of Directors may be taken without a meeting if all members of the Board of Directors consent thereto in writing or by electronic transmission, and the writing or writings or electronic transmission or transmissions are filed with the records of the meetings of the Board of Directors. Such filing shall be in paper form if the minutes are maintained in paper form and shall be in electronic form if the minutes are maintained in electronic form.

11. Committees . The Board of Directors may, by resolution passed by a majority of the whole Board of Directors, establish one or more committees, each committee to consist of one or more directors. The Board of Directors may designate one or more directors as alternate members of any committee, who may replace any absent or disqualified member at any meeting of the committee. In the absence or disqualification of a member of a committee, the member or members thereof present at any meeting and not disqualified from voting, whether or not such member or members constitute a quorum, may unanimously appoint another member of the Board of Directors to act at the meeting in the place of any such absent or disqualified member.

Any such committee, to the extent permitted by law and to the extent provided in the resolution of the Board of Directors, shall have and may exercise all the powers and authority of the Board of Directors in the management of the business and affairs of the Corporation, and may authorize the seal of the Corporation to be affixed to all papers which may require it; but no such committee shall have the power or authority in reference to the following: (i) approving or adopting, or recommending to the stockholders, any action or matter expressly required by the DGCL to be submitted to stockholders for approval or (ii) adopting, amending or repealing any provision of these By-laws.

Except as the Board of Directors may otherwise determine, any such committee may make rules for the conduct of its business, but in the absence of such rules its business shall be conducted so far as possible in the same manner as is provided in these By-laws for the Board of Directors. All members of such committees shall hold their committee offices at the pleasure of the Board of Directors, and the Board may abolish any committee at any time.

Article III - Officers

1. Enumeration . The officers of the Corporation shall consist of one or more Presidents (who, if there is more than one, shall be referred to as Co-Presidents), a Treasurer, a Secretary, and such other officers, including, without limitation, a Chief Executive Officer and one or more Vice Presidents (including Executive Vice Presidents or Senior Vice Presidents), Assistant Vice Presidents, Assistant Treasurers and Assistant Secretaries, as the Board of Directors may determine. The Board of Directors may elect from among its members a Chairman of the Board and a Vice Chairman of the Board.

2. Election . The Presidents, Treasurer and Secretary shall be elected annually by the Board of Directors at their first meeting following the annual meeting of stockholders. Other officers may be chosen by the Board of Directors at such meeting or at any other meeting.

3. Qualification . No officer need be a stockholder or Director. Any two or more offices may be held by the same person. Any officer may be required by the Board of Directors to give bond for the faithful performance of such officer's duties in such amount and with such sureties as the Board of Directors may determine.

4. Tenure . Except as otherwise provided by the Certificate of Incorporation or by these By-laws, each of the officers of the Corporation shall hold office until the first meeting of the Board of Directors following the next annual meeting of stockholders and until such officer's successor is elected and qualified or until such officer's earlier resignation or removal. Any officer may resign by delivering his or her written resignation to the Corporation, and such resignation shall be effective upon receipt unless it is specified to be effective at some other time or upon the happening of some other event.

5. Removal . The Board of Directors may remove any officer with or without cause by a vote of a majority of the directors then in office.

6. Vacancies . Any vacancy in any office may be filled for the unexpired portion of the term by the Board of Directors.

7. Chairman of the Board and Vice Chairman . Unless otherwise provided by the Board of Directors, the Chairman of the Board of Directors, if one is elected, shall preside, when present, at all meetings of the stockholders and the Board of Directors. The Chairman of the Board shall have such other powers and shall perform such duties as the Board of Directors may from time to time designate.

Unless otherwise provided by the Board of Directors, in the absence of the Chairman of the Board, the Vice Chairman of the Board, if one is elected, shall preside, when present, at all meetings of the stockholders and the Board of Directors. The Vice Chairman of the Board shall have such other powers and shall perform such duties as the Board of Directors may from time to time designate.

8. Chief Executive Officer . The Chief Executive Officer, if one is elected, shall have such powers and shall perform such duties as the Board of Directors may from time to time designate.

9. Presidents . The Presidents shall, subject to the direction of the Board of Directors, each have general supervision and control of the Corporation's business and any action that would typically be taken by a President may be taken by any Co-President. If there is no Chairman of the Board or Vice Chairman of the Board, a President shall preside, when present, at all meetings of stockholders and the Board of Directors. The Presidents shall have such other powers and shall perform such duties as the Board of Directors may from time to time designate.

10. Vice Presidents and Assistant Vice Presidents . Any Vice President (including any Executive Vice President or Senior Vice President) and any Assistant Vice President shall have such powers and shall perform such duties as the Board of Directors may from time to time designate.

11. Treasurer and Assistant Treasurers . The Treasurer shall, subject to the direction of the Board of Directors, have general charge of the financial affairs of the Corporation and shall cause to be kept accurate books of account. The Treasurer shall have custody of all funds, securities, and valuable documents of the Corporation, except as the Board of Directors may otherwise provide. The Treasurer shall have such other powers and shall perform such duties as the Board of Directors may from time to time designate.

Any Assistant Treasurer shall have such powers and perform such duties as the Board of Directors may from time to time designate.

12. Secretary and Assistant Secretaries . The Secretary shall record the proceedings of all meetings of the stockholders and the Board of Directors (including committees of the Board) in books kept for that purpose. In the absence of the Secretary from any such meeting an Assistant Secretary, or if such person is absent, a temporary secretary chosen at the meeting, shall record the proceedings thereof. The Secretary shall have charge of the stock ledger (which may, however, be kept by any transfer or other agent of the Corporation) and shall have such other duties and powers as may be designated from time to time by the Board of Directors.

Any Assistant Secretary shall have such powers and perform such duties as the Board of Directors may from time to time designate.

13. Other Powers and Duties . Subject to these By-laws, each officer of the Corporation shall have in addition to the duties and powers specifically set forth in these By-laws, such duties and powers as are customarily incident to such officer's office, and such duties and powers as may be designated from time to time by the Board of Directors.

Article IV - Capital Stock

1. Certificates of Stock . Each stockholder shall be entitled to a certificate of the capital stock of the Corporation in such form as may from time to time be prescribed by the Board of Directors. Such certificate shall be signed by a President or a Vice President, and by the Treasurer or an Assistant Treasurer, or the Secretary or an Assistant Secretary. Such signatures may be a facsimile. In case any officer, transfer agent or registrar who has signed or whose facsimile signature has been placed on such certificate shall have ceased to be such officer, transfer agent or registrar before such certificate is issued, it may be issued by the Corporation with the same effect as if such person were such officer, transfer agent or registrar at the time of its issue. Every certificate for shares of stock which are subject to any restriction on transfer and every certificate issued when the Corporation is authorized to issue more than one class or series of stock shall contain such legend with respect thereto as is required by law. The Corporation shall be permitted to issue fractional shares.

2. Transfers . Subject to any restrictions on transfer, shares of stock may be transferred on the books of the Corporation by the surrender to the Corporation or its transfer agent of the certificate therefor properly endorsed or accompanied by a written assignment or power of attorney properly executed, with transfer stamps (if necessary) affixed, and with such proof of the authenticity of signature as the Corporation or its transfer agent may reasonably require.

3. Record Holders . Except as may otherwise be required by law, by the Certificate of Incorporation or by these By-laws, the Corporation shall be entitled to treat the record holder of stock as shown on its books as the owner of such stock for all purposes, including the payment of dividends and the right to vote with respect thereto, regardless of any transfer, pledge or other disposition of such stock, until the shares have been transferred on the books of the Corporation in accordance with the requirements of these By-laws.

It shall be the duty of each stockholder to notify the Corporation of such stockholder's post office address.

4. Record Date . In order that the Corporation may determine the stockholders entitled to notice of or to vote at any meeting of stockholders or any adjournment thereof, or to consent to corporate action in writing without a meeting, or entitled to receive payment of any dividend or other distribution or allotment of any rights, or entitled to exercise any rights in respect of any change, conversion or exchange of stock or for the purpose of any other lawful action, the Board of Directors may fix, in advance, a record date, which shall not precede the date on which it is established, and which shall not be more than sixty (60) nor less than ten (10) days before the date of such meeting, more than ten (10) days after the date on which the record date for stockholder consent without a meeting is established, nor more than sixty (60) days prior to any other action. In such case only stockholders of record on such record date shall be so entitled notwithstanding any transfer of stock on the books of the Corporation after the record date.

If no record date is fixed, (a) the record date for determining stockholders entitled to notice of or to vote at a meeting of stockholders shall be at the close of business on the day next preceding the day on which notice is given, or, if notice is waived, at the close of business on the day next preceding the day on which the meeting is held, (b) the record date for determining stockholders entitled to consent to corporate action in writing without a meeting, when no prior action by the Board of Directors is necessary, shall be the first date on which a signed written consent setting forth the action taken or proposed to be taken is delivered to the Corporation by delivery to its registered office in this state, to its principal place of business, or to an officer or agent of the Corporation having custody of the book in which proceedings of meetings of stockholders are recorded, and (c) the record date for determining stockholders for any other purpose shall be at the close of business on the day on which the Board of Directors adopts the resolution relating thereto.

5. Lost Certificates . The Corporation may issue a new certificate of stock in the place of any certificate theretofore issued by it, alleged to have been lost, stolen or destroyed, and the Corporation may require the owner of the lost, stolen or destroyed certificate, or his legal representative, to give the Corporation a bond sufficient to indemnify it against any claim that may be made against it on account of the alleged loss, theft or destruction of any such certificate or the issuance of such new certificate.

Article V - Indemnification

1. Definitions . For purposes of this Article V:

(a) "Corporate Status" describes the status of a person who is serving or has served (i) as a Director of the Corporation, (ii) as an Officer of the Corporation, or (iii) as a director, partner, trustee, officer, employee or agent of any other corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust, employee benefit plan or other enterprise which such person is or was serving at the request of the Corporation. For purposes of this Section 1(a), an Officer or Director of the Corporation who is serving or has served as a director, partner, trustee, officer, employee or agent of a Subsidiary shall be deemed to be serving at the request of the Corporation. Notwithstanding the foregoing, "Corporate Status" shall not include the status of a person who is serving or has served as a director, officer, employee or agent of a constituent corporation absorbed in a merger or consolidation transaction with the Corporation with respect to such person's activities prior to said transaction, unless specifically authorized by the Board of Directors or the stockholders of the Corporation;

(b) "Director" means any person who serves or has served the Corporation as a director on the Board of Directors of the Corporation;

(c) "Disinterested Director" means, with respect to each Proceeding in respect of which indemnification is sought hereunder, a Director of the Corporation who is not and was not a party to such Proceeding;

(d) "Expenses" means all reasonable attorneys fees, retainers, court costs, transcript costs, fees of expert witnesses, private investigators and professional advisors (including, without limitation, accountants and investment bankers), travel expenses, duplicating costs, printing and binding costs, costs of preparation of demonstrative evidence and other courtroom presentation aids and devices, costs incurred in connection with document review, organization, imaging and computerization, telephone charges, postage, delivery service fees, and all other disbursements, costs or expenses of the type customarily incurred in connection with prosecuting, defending, preparing to prosecute or defend, investigating, being or preparing to be a witness in, settling or otherwise participating in, a Proceeding;

(e) “Non-Officer Employee” means any person who serves or has served as an employee or agent of the Corporation, but who is not or was not a Director or Officer;

(f) “Officer” means any person who serves or has served the Corporation as an officer appointed by the Board of Directors of the Corporation;

(g) “Proceeding” means any threatened, pending or completed action, suit, arbitration, alternate dispute resolution mechanism, inquiry, investigation, administrative hearing or other proceeding, whether civil, criminal, administrative, arbitrative or investigative; and

(h) “Subsidiary” shall mean any corporation, partnership, limited liability company, joint venture, trust or other entity of which the Corporation owns (either directly or through or together with another Subsidiary of the Corporation) either (i) a general partner, managing member or other similar interest or (ii) (A) 50% or more of the voting power of the voting capital equity interests of such corporation, partnership, limited liability company, joint venture or other entity, or (B) 50% or more of the outstanding voting capital stock or other voting equity interests of such corporation, partnership, limited liability company, joint venture or other entity.

2. Indemnification of Directors and Officers . Subject to the operation of Section 4 of this Article V of these By-laws, each Director and Officer shall be indemnified and held harmless by the Corporation to the fullest extent authorized by the DGCL, as the same exists or may hereafter be amended (but, in the case of any such amendment, only to the extent that such amendment permits the Corporation to provide broader indemnification rights than such law permitted the Corporation to provide prior to such amendment) against any and all Expenses, judgments, penalties, fines and amounts reasonably paid in settlement that are incurred by such Director or Officer or on such Director’s or Officer’s behalf in connection with any threatened, pending or completed Proceeding or any claim, issue or matter therein, which such Director or Officer is, or is threatened to be made, a party to or participant in by reason of such Director’s or Officer’s Corporate Status, if such Director or Officer acted in good faith and in a manner such Director or Officer reasonably believed to be in or not opposed to the best interests of the Corporation and, with respect to any criminal proceeding, had no reasonable cause to believe his or her conduct was unlawful. The rights of indemnification provided by this Section 2 shall continue as to a Director or Officer after he or she has ceased to be a Director or Officer and shall inure to the benefit of his or her heirs, executors, administrators and personal representatives. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Corporation shall indemnify any Director or Officer seeking indemnification in connection with a Proceeding initiated by such Director or Officer only if such Proceeding was authorized by the Board of Directors of the Corporation, unless such Proceeding was brought to enforce an Officer or Director’s rights to indemnification or, in the case of Directors, advancement of Expenses under these By-laws in accordance with the provisions set forth herein.

3. Indemnification of Non-Officer Employees . Subject to the operation of Section 4 of this Article V of these By-laws, each Non-Officer Employee may, in the discretion of the Board of Directors of the Corporation, be indemnified by the Corporation to the fullest extent authorized by the DGCL, as the same exists or may hereafter be amended, against any or all Expenses, judgments, penalties, fines and amounts reasonably paid in settlement that are incurred by such Non-Officer Employee or on such Non-Officer Employee's behalf in connection with any threatened, pending or completed Proceeding, or any claim, issue or matter therein, which such Non-Officer Employee is, or is threatened to be made, a party to or participant in by reason of such Non-Officer Employee's Corporate Status, if such Non-Officer Employee acted in good faith and in a manner such Non-Officer Employee reasonably believed to be in or not opposed to the best interests of the Corporation and, with respect to any criminal proceeding, had no reasonable cause to believe his or her conduct was unlawful. The rights of indemnification provided by this Section 3 shall exist as to a Non-Officer Employee after he or she has ceased to be a Non-Officer Employee and shall inure to the benefit of his or her heirs, personal representatives, executors and administrators. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Corporation may indemnify any Non-Officer Employee seeking indemnification in connection with a Proceeding initiated by such Non-Officer Employee only if such Proceeding was authorized by the Board of Directors of the Corporation.

4. Good Faith . Unless ordered by a court, no indemnification shall be provided pursuant to this Article V to a Director, to an Officer or to a Non-Officer Employee unless a determination shall have been made that such person acted in good faith and in a manner such person reasonably believed to be in or not opposed to the best interests of the Corporation and, with respect to any criminal Proceeding, such person had no reasonable cause to believe his or her conduct was unlawful. Such determination shall be made by (a) a majority vote of the Disinterested Directors, even though less than a quorum of the Board of Directors, (b) a committee comprised of Disinterested Directors, such committee having been designated by a majority vote of the Disinterested Directors (even though less than a quorum), (c) if there are no such Disinterested Directors, or if a majority of Disinterested Directors so directs, by independent legal counsel in a written opinion, or (d) by the stockholders of the Corporation.

5. Advancement of Expenses to Directors Prior to Final Disposition .

(a) The Corporation shall advance all Expenses incurred by or on behalf of any Director in connection with any Proceeding in which such Director is involved by reason of such Director's Corporate Status within ten (10) days after the receipt by the Corporation of a written statement from such Director requesting such advance or advances from time to time, whether prior to or after final disposition of such Proceeding. Such statement or statements shall reasonably evidence the Expenses incurred by such Director and shall be preceded or accompanied by an undertaking by or on behalf of such Director to repay any Expenses so advanced if it shall ultimately be determined that such Director is not entitled to be indemnified against such Expenses.

(b) If a claim for advancement of Expenses hereunder by a Director is not paid in full by the Corporation within 10 days after receipt by the Corporation of documentation of Expenses and the required undertaking, such Director may at any time thereafter bring suit against the Corporation to recover the unpaid amount of the claim and if successful in whole or in part, such Director shall also be entitled to be paid the expenses of prosecuting such claim. The failure of the Corporation (including its Board of Directors or any committee thereof, independent legal counsel, or stockholders) to make a determination concerning the permissibility of such advancement of Expenses under this Article V shall not be a defense to the action and shall not create a presumption that such advancement is not permissible. The burden of proving that a Director is not entitled to an advancement of expenses shall be on the Corporation.

(c) In any suit brought by the Corporation to recover an advancement of expenses pursuant to the terms of an undertaking, the Corporation shall be entitled to recover such expenses upon a final adjudication that the Director has not met any applicable standard for indemnification set forth in the DGCL.

6. Advancement of Expenses to Officers and Non-Officer Employees Prior to Final Disposition .

(a) The Corporation may, at the discretion of the Board of Directors of the Corporation, advance any or all Expenses incurred by or on behalf of any Officer and Non-Officer Employee in connection with any Proceeding in which such is involved by reason of the Corporate Status of such Officer or Non-Officer Employee upon the receipt by the Corporation of a statement or statements from such Officer or Non-Officer Employee requesting such advance or advances from time to time, whether prior to or after final disposition of such Proceeding. Such statement or statements shall reasonably evidence the Expenses incurred by such Officer and Non-Officer Employee and shall be preceded or accompanied by an undertaking by or on behalf of such to repay any Expenses so advanced if it shall ultimately be determined that such Officer or Non-Officer Employee is not entitled to be indemnified against such Expenses.

(b) In any suit brought by the Corporation to recover an advancement of expenses pursuant to the terms of an undertaking, the Corporation shall be entitled to recover such expenses upon a final adjudication that the Officer or Non-Officer Employee has not met any applicable standard for indemnification set forth in the DGCL.

7. Contractual Nature of Rights .

(a) The foregoing provisions of this Article V shall be deemed to be a contract between the Corporation and each Director and Officer entitled to the benefits hereof at any time while this Article V is in effect, and any repeal or modification thereof shall not affect any rights or obligations then existing with respect to any state of facts then or theretofore existing or any Proceeding theretofore or thereafter brought based in whole or in part upon any such state of facts.

(b) If a claim for indemnification hereunder by a Director or Officer is not paid in full by the Corporation within 60 days after receipt by the Corporation of a written claim for indemnification, such Director or Officer may at any time thereafter bring suit against the Corporation to recover the unpaid amount of the claim, and if successful in whole or in part, such Director or Officer shall also be entitled to be paid the expenses of prosecuting such claim. The failure of the Corporation (including its Board of Directors or any committee thereof, independent legal counsel, or stockholders) to make a determination concerning the permissibility of such indemnification under this Article V shall not be a defense to the action and shall not create a presumption that such indemnification is not permissible. The burden of proving that a Director or Officer is not entitled to indemnification shall be on the Corporation.

(c) In any suit brought by a Director or Officer to enforce a right to indemnification hereunder, it shall be a defense that such Director or Officer has not met any applicable standard for indemnification set forth in the DGCL.

8. Non-Exclusivity of Rights . The rights to indemnification and advancement of Expenses set forth in this Article V shall not be exclusive of any other right which any Director, Officer, or Non-Officer Employee may have or hereafter acquire under any statute, provision of the Certificate or these By-laws, agreement, vote of stockholders or Disinterested Directors or otherwise.

9. Insurance . The Corporation may maintain insurance, at its expense, to protect itself and any Director, Officer or Non-Officer Employee against any liability of any character asserted against or incurred by the Corporation or any such Director, Officer or Non-Officer Employee, or arising out of any such person's Corporate Status, whether or not the Corporation would have the power to indemnify such person against such liability under the DGCL or the provisions of this Article V.

10. Other Indemnification . The Corporation's obligation, if any, to indemnify any person under this Article V as a result of such person serving, at the request of the Corporation, as a director, partner, trustee, officer, employee or agent of another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust, employee benefit plan or other enterprise shall be reduced by any amount such person may collect as indemnification from such other corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust, employee benefit plan or enterprise.

Article VI - Miscellaneous Provisions

1. Fiscal Year . Except as otherwise determined by the Board of Directors, the fiscal year of the Corporation shall end on December 31 of each year.

2. Seal . The Board of Directors shall have power to adopt and alter the seal of the Corporation.

3. Execution of Instruments . Subject to any limitations which may be set forth in a resolution of the Board of Directors, all deeds, leases, transfers, contracts, bonds, notes and other obligations to be entered into by the Corporation in the ordinary course of its business without director action may be executed on behalf of the Corporation by, a President, or by any other officer, employee or agent of the Corporation as the Board of Directors may authorize.

4. Voting of Securities . Unless the Board of Directors otherwise provides, a President, any Vice President or the Treasurer may waive notice of and act on behalf of this Corporation, or appoint another person or persons to act as proxy or attorney in fact for this Corporation with or without discretionary power and/or power of substitution, at any meeting of stockholders or shareholders of any other corporation or organization, any of whose securities are held by this Corporation.

5. Resident Agent . The Board of Directors may appoint a resident agent upon whom legal process may be served in any action or proceeding against the Corporation.

6. Corporate Records . The original or attested copies of the Certificate of Incorporation, By-laws and records of all meetings of the incorporators, stockholders and the Board of Directors and the stock and transfer records, which shall contain the names of all stockholders, their record addresses and the amount of stock held by each, shall be kept at the principal office of the Corporation, at the office of its counsel, or at an office of its transfer agent.

7. Certificate of Incorporation . All references in these By-laws to the Certificate of Incorporation shall be deemed to refer to the Certificate of Incorporation of the Corporation, as amended and in effect from time to time.

8. Amendments . These By-laws may be altered, amended or repealed, and new By-laws may be adopted, by the stockholders or by the Board of Directors; provided, that (a) the Board of Directors may not alter, amend or repeal any provision of these By-laws which by law, by the Certificate of Incorporation or by these By-laws requires action by the stockholders and (b) any alteration, amendment or repeal of these By-laws by the Board of Directors and any new By-law adopted by the Board of Directors may be altered, amended or repealed by the stockholders.

9. Waiver of Notice . Whenever notice is required to be given under any provision of these By-laws, a written waiver, signed by the person entitled to notice, or a waiver by electronic transmission by the person entitled to notice, whether before or after the time of the event for which notice is to be given, shall be deemed equivalent to notice. Attendance of a person at a meeting shall constitute a waiver of notice of such meeting, except when the person attends a meeting for the express purpose of objecting at the beginning of the meeting to the transaction of any business because the meeting is not lawfully called or convened. Neither the business to be transacted at, nor the purpose of, any meeting needs to be specified in any written waiver or any waiver by electronic transmission.

THIRD AMENDED AND RESTATED INVESTOR RIGHTS AGREEMENT

This THIRD AMENDED AND RESTATED INVESTOR RIGHTS AGREEMENT (this " Agreement ") is made and entered into as of June 17, 2010, by and among TPI Composites, Inc., a Delaware corporation (the " Company "), the persons and entities set forth in the Schedule of Investors attached hereto as Exhibit A (as the same may be supplemented and amended from time to time as provided to herein) (each, an " Investor ," and together, the " Investors ").

RECITALS

WHEREAS, the Company and certain of the Investors (the " Series C Investors ") are parties to that certain Series C Convertible Preferred Stock Purchase Agreement dated as of the date hereof (the " Purchase Agreement "), whereby the Company will sell, and the Series C Investors will purchase, shares of Series C Preferred (as defined below) (the " Financing ");

WHEREAS, the Company and certain of the Investors (the " Prior Holders ") are parties to that certain Second Amended and Restated Investor Rights Agreement dated as of May 22, 2009, as amended (the " Existing Agreement ");

WHEREAS, pursuant to Section 5.1 of the Existing Agreement, the Existing Agreement may be amended as contemplated herein by a written instrument executed by the Company, Landmark (as defined below), GE (as defined below), Element (as defined below) and the Holders holding not less than seventy percent (70%) of the Series A Preferred (as defined below) then outstanding;

WHEREAS, the parties to this Agreement include the Company, Landmark, GE, Element and the holders of at least seventy percent (70%) of the Series A Preferred outstanding on the date hereof;

WHEREAS, the obligations in the Purchase Agreement are conditioned upon, among other things, the execution and delivery of this Agreement; and

WHEREAS, in consideration of the Financing, the Company and the Prior Holders desire to amend and restate the Existing Agreement in the matter set forth herein.

AGREEMENT

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the foregoing recitals and the mutual promises, representations and covenants hereinafter set forth, and for other good and valuable consideration, the receipt and sufficiency of which are hereby acknowledged, the parties hereto agree as follows:

SECTION 1

General

1.1 Certain Definitions . As used in this Agreement the following terms shall have the following respective meanings:

(a) " Affiliate " means, with respect to a party hereto (or such party's successors and assigns), any person or entity that directly or indirectly, through one or more intermediaries, controls, is controlled by or is under common control with such person or entity (or such person's or entity's successors and assigns). For purposes of this definition, a person or entity shall be deemed to be "controlled by" another person or entity if the other possesses, directly or indirectly, power either (i) to vote more than fifty percent (50%) or more of the securities having ordinary voting power for the election of directors of such person or entity, or (ii) to direct or cause the direction of the management and policies of such person or entity whether by contract or otherwise; provided, however, that for purposes of clarity, in addition to the foregoing, with respect to any venture capital investor, "Affiliate" shall include any partnership, limited liability company, corporation or fund sharing a common management company or similar entity.

(b) " Angeleno " means Angeleno Investors II, L.P.

(c) " Board " means the Board of Directors of the Company.

(d) " Closing " shall mean the "Initial Closing" (as defined in the Purchase Agreement).

(e) " Common Stock " means the Common Stock of the Company, par value $0.01 per share.

(f) " Derivative Securities " shall mean any securities or rights convertible into, or exercisable or exchangeable for (in each case, directly or indirectly), Common Stock, including options and warrants.

(g) " Element " means Element Partners II, L.P., Element Partners II Intrafund, L.P., and each of their respective Affiliates, assignees and transferees

(h) " Exchange Act " means the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, or any similar successor federal statute and the rules and regulations thereunder, all as the same shall be in effect from time to time.

(i) " Form S-3 " means such form under the Securities Act as in effect on the date hereof or any successor or similar registration form under the Securities Act subsequently adopted by the SEC that permits inclusion or incorporation of substantial information by reference to other documents filed by the Company with the SEC.

(j) " GE " means GE Capital Equity Investments, Inc.

(k) " Holder " means any person owning of record Registrable Securities that have not been sold to the public or any transferee or assignee of record of such Registrable Securities to which the registration rights conferred by this Agreement have been transferred or assigned in accordance with Section 2.11 hereof.

(l) " Initial Public Offering " means the Company's first firm commitment underwritten public offering of its Common Stock registered under the Securities Act.

(m) " Landmark " means Landmark IAM Growth Capital, L.P., Landmark Growth Capital Partners, L.P., and each of their respective Affiliates, assignees and transferees.

(n) " Major Investor " shall have the meaning ascribed to such term in Section 3.1.

(o) " NGP " means NGP Energy Technology Partners, L.P. and its Affiliates, assignees and transferees.

(p) " New Securities " shall have the meaning ascribed to such term in Section 4.1 hereof, subject to the limitations of Section 4.6 hereof.

(q) " Qualified IPO " shall have the ascribed to such term in the Restated Certificate.

(r) " Register ," " registered " and " registration " shall refer to a registration effected by preparing and filing a registration statement in compliance with the Securities Act, and the declaration or ordering of effectiveness by the SEC of such registration statement or document.

(s) " Registrable Securities " means (a) shares of Common Stock of the Company issued or issuable upon conversion of the Shares, (b) shares of Common Stock owned by Landmark as of the date hereof (other than those shares of Common Stock issued or issuable upon conversion of the Shares held by Landmark; collectively, the " Landmark Registrable Securities "), or owned by any transferee of such shares after the date hereof, and (c) any Common Stock issued as (or issuable upon the conversion or exercise of any warrant, right or other security which is issued as) a dividend or other distribution with respect to, or in exchange for or in replacement of the securities referenced in clauses (a) and (b) above. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Registrable Securities shall not include any securities of the Company (i) sold by any person to the public either pursuant to a registration statement under the Securities Act or Rule 144 or (ii) with respect to which the registration rights of the Holder thereof have expired pursuant to Section 2.8 hereof.

(t) " Registration Expenses " means all expenses incurred by the Company in complying with Sections 2.2, 2.3 and 2.4 hereof, including, without limitation, all registration and filing fees, printing expenses, fees and disbursements of counsel for the Company, Blue Sky fees and expenses and the expense of any special audits incidental to or required by any such registration (but excluding the compensation of regular employees of the Company, which shall be paid in any event by the Company, all underwriting discounts and all underwriting commissions). In addition, Registration Expenses shall include reasonable fees and disbursements of a single special legal counsel for the Holders selling Registrable Securities selected by the Holders of a majority of the Registrable Securities being registered pursuant to Sections 2.2, 2.3 or 2.4, as applicable. For the avoidance of doubt, Registration Expenses shall exclude Selling Expenses.

(u) " Restated Certificate " means the Company's Fifth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation, as may be amended from time to time.

(v) " ROFR Agreement " means the Third Amended and Restated Right of First Refusal, Co-Sale and Voting Agreement by and among the Company and the Stockholders (as defined therein) dated as of the date of this Agreement.

(w) " Rule 144 " means Rule 144 as promulgated by the SEC under the Securities Act, as such rule may be amended from time to time, or any similar successor rule that may be promulgated by the SEC.

(x) " Rule 145 " means Rule 145 as promulgated by the SEC under the Securities Act, as such rule may be amended from time to time, or any similar successor rule that may be promulgated by the SEC.

(y) " SEC " or " Commission " means the Securities and Exchange Commission or any other federal agency at the time administering the Securities Act.

(z) " Securities Act " means the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, or any similar successor federal statute and the rules and regulations thereunder, all as the same shall be in effect from time to time.

(aa) " Selling Expenses " means all underwriting discounts, selling commissions and stock transfer rates applicable to the sale of Registrable Securities.

(bb) " Series A Director " shall have the meaning set forth in the ROFR Agreement.

(cc) " Series A Preferred " means the Series A Convertible Preferred Stock of the Company, par value $0.01 per share.

(dd) " Series B Preferred " means the Series B Convertible Preferred Stock of the Company, par value $0.01 per share.

(ee) " Series B-1 Preferred " means the Series B-1 Convertible Preferred Stock of the Company, par value $0.01 per share.

(ff) " Series C Preferred " means the Series C Convertible Preferred Stock of the Company, par value $0.01 per share.

(gg) " Shares " means all shares of Series A Preferred, Series B Preferred, Series B-1 Preferred and Series C Preferred issued to the Investors.

(hh) " Special Registration Statement " means (i) a registration statement relating to any employee benefit plan of the Company, (ii) a registration statement of the Company relating to any corporate reorganization or other transaction under Rule 145, including any registration statements related to the issuance or resale of securities issued in such a transaction, or (iii) a registration statement related to the offer and sale of debt securities.

SECTION 2

Restrictions on Transfer; Registration

2.1 Restrictions on Transfer .

(a) Each Holder agrees not to make any disposition of all or any portion of the Shares or Registrable Securities unless and until:

(i) there is then in effect a registration statement under the Securities Act covering such proposed disposition and such disposition is made in accordance with such registration statement; or

(ii) (A) the transferee has agreed in writing to be bound by the terms of this Agreement (for purposes of clarification, this condition (A) shall apply only to transferees who acquired Shares or Registrable Securities prior to the Qualified IPO and only with respect to such shares) including without limitation, Sections 2.1 and 2.12 hereof, (B) such Holder shall have notified the Company of the proposed disposition and shall have furnished the Company with a detailed statement of the circumstances surrounding the proposed disposition, and (C) if reasonably requested by the Company, such Holders shall have furnished the Company with an opinion of counsel, reasonably satisfactory to the Company, that such disposition will not require registration of such shares under the Securities Act. It is agreed that the Company will not require opinions of counsel for transactions made pursuant to and in accordance with Rule 144, except in unusual circumstances.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (a) above, no such restriction shall apply to a transfer (i) by a Holder that is a partnership transferring to its partners, members or other equity owners or former partners, retired members or other equity owners or to the estate of any of its partners, members or other equity owners or retired partners, members or other equity holders so long as such transfers are in accordance with partnership interests and made pursuant to the terms of such Holder's partnership agreement, (ii) by a Holder that is a corporation transferring to a wholly-owned subsidiary of such Holder, a parent corporation that owns all of the capital stock of such Holder or the stockholders of such Holder in accordance with their ownership of the Holder, (iii) by a Holder that is a limited liability company transferring to its members or former members in accordance with their interest in the limited liability company and made pursuant to the terms of such Holder's limited liability company agreement, (iv) by a Holder that is an individual holder transferring to such Holder's spouse, child (natural or adopted), or any other direct lineal descendants of such Holder (or his or her spouse), (each, a " Family Member "), or any custodian or trustee of any trust or any other corporation, partnership or limited liability company for the benefit of, or the ownership interests of which are owned wholly by such Holder or any such Holder's Family Members, (v) subject to applicable securities laws, by a Holder that is transferring to an Affiliate of such Holder, (vi) subject to applicable securities laws, to one or more Affiliated partnerships, limited liability companies or funds managed by a Holder or any of their respective directors, officers, partners or members, (vii) subject to applicable securities laws, by a Holder that is a transferee of not less than ten percent (10%) of the Registrable Securities (as adjusted for stock dividends, combinations, splits, recapitalizations and the like) held by the transferring Holder measured as of the date such Holder became a party to this Agreement, or (viii) that is a transfer not involving any change in beneficial ownership; provided that in each such case the transferee will agree in writing to be subject to the terms of this Agreement, including, without limitation, Sections 2.1 and 2.12 hereof, to the same extent as if such transferee were an original Holder hereunder. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, any transfer of Shares or Registrable Securities shall be subject to the terms of Section 4.1 of the ROFR Agreement.

(c) Each certificate representing shares or Registrable Securities shall be stamped or otherwise imprinted with legends substantially similar to the following (in addition to any legend required under applicable state securities laws):

THE SECURITIES REPRESENTED HEREBY HAVE NOT BEEN REGISTERED UNDER THE SECURITIES ACT OF 1933 (THE " ACT ") AND MAY NOT BE OFFERED, SOLD OR OTHERWISE TRANSFERRED, ASSIGNED, PLEDGED OR HYPOTHECATED UNLESS AND UNTIL REGISTERED UNDER THE ACT OR UNLESS THE ISSUER HAS RECEIVED AN OPINION OF LEGAL COUNSEL SATISFACTORY TO THE ISSUER AND ITS COUNSEL THAT SUCH REGISTRATION IS NOT REQUIRED.

THE SALE, PLEDGE, HYPOTHECATION OR OTHER TRANSFER OF THE SECURITIES REPRESENTED BY THIS CERTIFICATE IS SUBJECT TO THE TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF A CERTAIN THIRD AMENDED AND RESTATED INVESTOR RIGHTS AGREEMENT, BY AND BETWEEN THE STOCKHOLDER AND THE ISSUER OF SUCH SECURITIES, INCLUDING A LOCK-UP PERIOD OF UP TO 180 DAYS FOLLOWING THE EFFECTIVE DATE OF A REGISTRATION STATEMENT OF THE ISSUER FILED UNDER THE ACT AND VOTING RESTRICTIONS AS SET FORTH IN THE THIRD AMENDED AND RESTATED RIGHT OF FIRST REFUSAL, CO-SALE AND VOTING AGREEMENT. COPIES OF SUCH AGREEMENTS MAY BE OBTAINED UPON WRITTEN REQUEST TO THE SECRETARY OF THE ISSUER. SUCH TRANSFER RESTRICTIONS ARE BINDING ON TRANSFEREES OF SUCH SECURITIES.

(d) The Company shall be obligated to reissue promptly unlegended certificates at the request of any Holder thereof if (i) the Company has completed the Initial Public Offering, (ii) the Holder shall have obtained an opinion of counsel (which counsel may be counsel to the Company) reasonably acceptable to the Company to the effect that the securities proposed to be disposed of may lawfully be so disposed of without registration, qualification and legend and (iii) the Holder shall have delivered such securities to the Company or its transfer agent.

(e) Any legend endorsed on an instrument pursuant to applicable state securities laws and the stop-transfer instructions with respect to such securities shall be removed upon receipt by the Company of an order of the appropriate Blue Sky authority authorizing such removal.

2.2 Demand Registration

(a) Subject to the conditions of this Section 2.2, if the Company shall receive a written request from (i) the Holders holding not less than thirty percent (30%) of the shares of Common Stock issued or issuable upon conversion of the Series A Preferred (other than Landmark Registrable Securities) then outstanding, (ii) the Holders holding not less than fifty percent (50%) of the Landmark Registrable Securities, (iii) the Holders holding not less than fifty percent (50%) of the shares of Common Stock issued or issuable upon conversion of the Series B Preferred (other than Landmark Registrable Securities) then outstanding or (iv) the Holders holding not less than fifty percent (50%) of the shares of Common Stock issued or issuable upon conversion of the Series B-1 Preferred (other than Landmark Registrable Securities) then outstanding (each, a " Demand Registration Request "), that the Company file a registration statement with respect to all or part of the Registrable Securities under the Securities Act, then the Company shall, within fifteen (15) calendar days of the receipt thereof, give written notice of such request to all Holders, and, subject to the limitations of this Section 2.2, use its commercially reasonable efforts to effect, as expeditiously as reasonably possible (and in any event within ninety (90) days of the date such request is given or such longer period as results from a delay for any reason from the SEC) the registration under the Securities Act of all Registrable Securities that all Holders request to be registered pursuant to and in accordance with this Agreement.

(b) The Company shall not be required to effect or take any action to effect a registration pursuant to this Section 2.2:

(i) prior to one hundred eighty (180) calendar days after the effective date of the Initial Public Offering;

(ii) (A) solely with respect to Section 2.2(a)(i) above, after the Company has effected two (2) registrations pursuant thereto, (B) solely with respect to Section 2.2(a)(ii) above, after the Company has effected two (2) registrations pursuant thereto, (C) solely with respect to Section 2.2(a)(iii) above, after the Company has effected one (1) registration pursuant thereto, and (D) solely with respect to Section 2.2(a)(iv) above, after the Company has effected one (1) registration pursuant thereto, and such registrations have been declared or ordered effective (which, for the avoidance of doubt, shall mean that the registrations shall have been continuously effective for one hundred eighty (180) calendar days, or until all Registrable Securities covered thereby have been sold, if earlier);

(iii) if the Holders specified in Section 2.2(a) propose to dispose of Registrable Securities that may be immediately registered on Form S-3 pursuant to a request made pursuant to Section 2.4 below;

(iv) if the Holders specified in Section 2.2(a) propose to sell Registrable Securities, the aggregate proceeds of which are less than $10,000,000; or

(v) during the period starting with the date sixty (60) days prior to the Company's good faith estimate of the date of filing of a registration under the Securities Act for the purposes of a public offering of securities of the Company (including but not limited to, registration statements related to follow-on offerings of securities of the Company, but excluding Special Registration Statements); provided that the Company shall, within thirty (30) days of its receipt of a Demand Registration Request, provide written notice to all Holders specified in Section 2.2(a) of its intent to file a registration statement for a public offering of securities of the Company within sixty (60) days; provided further that the Company is actively employing in good faith all commercially reasonable efforts to cause such registration statement to become effective; and provided further that in the case of a public offering other than an Initial Public Offering that the Initiating Holders (as defined below) are permitted to register such shares in such registration as requested to be registered pursuant to Section 2.3 hereof; or

(vi) if the Company shall furnish to Holders requesting a registration statement pursuant to this Section 2.2 a certificate signed by the Chairman of the Board stating that in the good faith judgment of the Board, it would be seriously detrimental to the Company and its stockholders for such registration statement to be effected at such time, in which event the Company shall have the right to defer such filing for a period of not more than sixty (60) days after receipt of the request of the initiating Holders; provided that such right to delay a request shall be exercised by the Company not more than twice in any twelve month period;

2.3 Piggyback Registrations .

(a) The Company shall notify all Holders of Registrable Securities in writing at least twenty (20) calendar days prior to the filing of any registration statement under the Securities Act for purposes of a public offering of securities of the Company (including, but not limited to, registration statements relating to follow-on offerings of securities of the Company, but excluding Special Registration Statements and the Company's Initial Public Offering so long as no other stockholders of the Company are then selling Common Stock in connection therewith) and will afford each such Holder a reasonable opportunity to include in such registration statement all or part of such Registrable Securities held by such Holder. Each Holder desiring to include in any such registration statement all or any part of the Registrable Securities held by such Holder shall, within twenty (20) calendar days after receipt of the above-described notice from the Company, so notify the Company in writing. Such notice shall state the intended method of disposition of the Registrable Securities by such Holder. If a Holder decides not to include all of such Holder's Registrable Securities in any registration statement thereafter filed by the Company, such Holder shall nevertheless continue to have the right to include any Registrable Securities in any subsequent registration statement or registration statements as may be filed by the Company with respect to offerings of its securities, in each case subject to the terms and conditions set forth herein.

(b) The Company shall have the right to terminate or withdraw any registration initiated by it under this Section 2.3 prior to the effectiveness of such registration whether or not any Holder has elected to include securities in such registration, and shall promptly notify any Holder that has elected to include securities in such registration of such termination or withdrawal. The Registration Expenses of such withdrawn registration shall be borne by the Company in accordance with Section 2.5 below.

2.4 Form S-3 Registration . In case the Company shall receive from any Holder or Holders of Registrable Securities a written request or requests that the Company effect a registration on Form S-3 and any related qualification or compliance with respect to all or a part of the Registrable Securities owned by such Holder or Holders, the Company will:

(a) within ten (10) calendar days after receipt of such notice, give written notice of the proposed registration, and any related qualification or compliance, to all other Holders of Registrable Securities; and

(b) as soon as reasonably practicable, and in any event within forty-five (45) calendar days after the date such request is given by such Holder or Holders, effect such registration and all such qualifications and compliances as may be so requested and as would permit or facilitate the sale and distribution of all or such portion of such Holder's or Holders' Registrable Securities as are specified in such request, together with all or such portion of the Registrable Securities of any other Holder or Holders joining in such request as are specified in a written request given within fifteen (15) calendar days after receipt of such written notice from the Company; provided , however , that the Company shall not be obligated to effect any such registration, qualification or compliance pursuant to this Section 2.4, (A) if Form S-3 is not available to the Company for such offering, (B) if the aggregate proceeds from the sale of Registrable Securities proposed to be sold pursuant to a Form S-3 will not exceed $2,000,000, (C) in any twelve month period, after the Company has effected four (4) registrations pursuant to this Section 2.4 in any such twelve month period, and such registrations have been declared or ordered effective; provided that at least one (1) such registration was effected on behalf of the Holders holding Common Stock issued or issuable upon conversion of the Series A Preferred (other than Landmark Registrable Securities), at least one (1) such registration was effected on behalf of the Holders holding Landmark Registrable Securities, at least one (1) such registration was effected on behalf of the Holders holding Series B Preferred, and at least one (1) such registration was effected on behalf of the Holders holding Series B-1 Preferred, (D) if within thirty (30) days of receipt of a written request from any Holder or Holders pursuant to this Section 2.4, the Company gives notice to such Holder or Holders of the Company's intention to make a public offering of securities of the Company within ninety (90) days, other than pursuant to a Special Registration Statement, or (E) if the Company shall furnish to the Holders a certificate signed by the Chairman of the Board stating that in the good faith judgment of the Board, it would be seriously detrimental to the Company and its stockholders for such Form S-3 registration to be effected at such time, in which event the Company shall have the right to defer the filing of the Form S-3 registration statement for a period of not more than sixty (60) days after receipt of the request of the Holder or Holders under this Section 2.4; provided that such right to delay a request shall be exercised by the Company not more than twice in any twelve month period.

Subject to the foregoing, the Company shall file a Form S-3 registration statement covering the Registrable Securities and other securities so requested to be registered as soon as reasonably practicable after receipt of the requests of the Holders. Registrations effected pursuant to this Section 2.4 shall not be counted as demands for registration or registrations effected pursuant to Section 2.2 or 2.3, respectively.

2.5 Expenses of Registration . Except as specifically provided herein, all Registration Expenses incurred in connection with any registration effected pursuant to Section 2.2, Section 2.3 or Section 2.4 herein shall be borne by the Company. All Selling Expenses incurred in connection with any registrations under Section 2.2 or Section 2.4 shall be borne by the holders of the securities so registered pro rata on the basis of the number of shares so registered. The Company shall not, however, be required to pay for expenses of any registration proceedings begun pursuant to Section 2.2 or Section 2.4, the request of which has been subsequently withdrawn by the Holders of securities requesting such registration unless (a) the withdrawal is based upon material adverse information concerning the Company or a material adverse change in any market or the Company's securities of which the Initiating Holders (as defined below) were not aware at the time of such request or (b) (i) the Holders holding not less than fifty percent (50%) of the shares of Common Stock issued or issuable upon conversion of the Series A Preferred then outstanding, (ii) the Holders holding not less than fifty percent (50%) of the Landmark Registrable Securities, (iii) the Holders holding not less than fifty percent (50%) of the shares of Common Stock issued or issuable upon conversion of the Series B Preferred then outstanding or (iv) the Holders holding not less than fifty percent (50%) of the shares of Common Stock issued or issuable upon conversion of the Series B-1 Preferred then outstanding agree to forfeit their right to one requested registration pursuant to Section 2.2(a)(i), Section 2.2(a)(ii), Section 2.2(a)(iii) or Section 2.2(a)(iv) above, respectively, in which event such right shall be forfeited by all such Holders. If the Holders are required to pay the Registration Expenses, such expenses shall be borne by the holders of securities (including Registrable Securities) that requested such registration in proportion to the number of shares for which registration was requested. If the Company is required to pay the Registration Expenses of a withdrawn offering pursuant to clause (a) above, then the Holders shall not forfeit their rights pursuant to a registration under Section 2.2.

2.6 Underwriting . If the Holders initiating a registration request hereunder (the " Initiating Holders ") intend to distribute the Registrable Securities covered by their request by means of an underwriting, they shall so advise the Company as a part of their request made pursuant to Sections 2.2, 2.3 or 2.4 hereof and the Company shall include such information in the written notice referred to in Sections 2.2(a), 2.3(a) or 2.4 above, as applicable. In such event, the right of any Holder to include its Registrable Securities in such registration shall be conditioned upon such Holder's participation in such underwriting and the inclusion of such Holder's Registrable Securities in the underwriting to the extent provided herein. All Holders proposing to distribute their securities through such underwriting shall enter into an underwriting agreement in customary form with the underwriter or underwriters selected for such underwriting by the Initiating Holders (which underwriter or underwriters shall be reasonably acceptable to the Company). Notwithstanding any other provision of Sections 2.2, 2.3 or 2.4 above, if the managing underwriter determines in good faith that marketing factors require a limitation of the number of securities to be underwritten (including Registrable Securities) and the managing underwriter so advises the Company in writing, then the Company shall so advise all Holders of Registrable Securities that would otherwise be underwritten pursuant hereto, and any other potential participants in such registration, the number of shares that may be included in the underwriting shall be allocated as follows: first to the Holders on a pro rata basis based on the total number of then outstanding Registrable Securities or other shares of capital stock (on an as-converted basis) held by such Holders and then, if all the Shares held by Holders are included in such registration, to any other potential participants in such registration (other than Holders) on a pro rata basis; provided , however , that no such reduction shall reduce the number of shares of Registrable Securities held by any Initiating Holder included in the registration to below 30% of the total amount of Registrable Securities then held by such Initiating Holder, unless such offering is the Initial Public Offering, in which case the Initiating Holders may be excluded further if the underwriters make the determination described above and no other stockholder's securities are included in such offering. Notwithstanding the foregoing, but subject to the allocation set forth above, in no event will shares of any party other than a Holder be included in such a registration without the written consent of (i) the Holders holding not less than fifty percent (50%) of the Series A Preferred then outstanding and (ii) Landmark, so long as Landmark continues to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the shares of capital stock of the Company owned by Landmark as of the date hereof (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, recapitalizations and the like), and otherwise, the Holders holding not less than a majority of the shares of Common Stock then outstanding, if such inclusion would reduce the number of shares that may be included by the Holders. If any Holder disapproves of the terms of any such underwriting, such Holder may elect to withdraw therefrom by written notice to the managing underwriter, delivered at least ten (10) business days prior to the effective date of the registration statement. Any Registrable Securities excluded or withdrawn from such underwriting shall be excluded and withdrawn from the registration. For any Holder that is a partnership, corporation or limited liability company, the partners, retired partners, members, retired members and stockholders of such Holder, or the estates and family members of any such partners, retired partners, members, retired members and stockholders and any trusts for the benefit of any of the foregoing person shall be deemed to be collectively a single "Holder," and any pro rata reduction with respect to such "Holder" shall be based upon the aggregate amount of shares carrying registration rights owned by all entities and individuals included in such "Holder," as defined in this sentence.

2.7 Obligations of the Company . Whenever required to effect the registration of any Registrable Securities, the Company shall, as expeditiously as reasonably possible:

(a) Prepare and file with the SEC a registration statement with respect to such Registrable Securities (provided that before filing a registration statement or prospectus or any amendments or supplements thereto, the Company shall furnish legal counsel for the Holders with copies of all such documents to be filed) and use all commercially reasonable efforts to cause such registration statement to become effective, and keep such registration statement effective for one hundred twenty (120) calendar days or until the Holder or Holders have completed the distribution related thereto;

(b) Prepare and file with the SEC such amendments and supplements to such registration statement and the prospectus used in connection with such registration statement as may be necessary to comply with the provisions of the Securities Act with respect to the disposition of all securities covered by such registration statement for the period set forth in subsection (a) above;

(c) Furnish to the Holders such number of copies of a prospectus, including a preliminary prospectus, in conformity with the requirements of the Securities Act, and such other documents as they may reasonably request in order to facilitate the disposition of Registrable Securities owned by them;

(d) Use its commercially reasonable efforts to register and qualify the securities covered by such registration statement under Blue Sky laws of such jurisdictions as shall be reasonably requested by the Holders (and to maintain such registrations and qualifications effective for the applicable period of time set forth in Section 2.7(a) above, and to do any and all other acts and things that may be necessary or advisable to enable such Holders to consummate the disposition in such jurisdictions of such shares (provided that the Company will not be required to (i) qualify generally to do business in any jurisdiction where it would not be required but for this Section 2.7(d), (ii) subject itself to taxation in any such jurisdiction or (iii) file any general consent to service of process in any such states or jurisdictions));

(e) In the event of any underwritten public offering, enter into and perform its obligations under an underwriting agreement, in usual and customary form, with the managing underwriter(s) of such offering, and enter into such other customary agreements and take all such actions (including, without limitation, effecting a stock split or combination of shares) as such underwriter reasonably requests in order to expedite or facilitate the disposition of such shares;

(f) Cause all such Registrable Securities registered pursuant hereunder to be listed on each securities exchange on which similar securities issued by the Company are then listed (or, if not then listed, on such exchange(s) as requested by a majority of the participating Holders or, in the case of registrations pursuant to Section 2.2 above, the Initiating Holders);

(g) Notify each Holder of Registrable Securities covered by such registration statement at any time when a prospectus relating thereto is required to be delivered under the Securities Act of the happening of any event as a result of which the prospectus included in such registration statement, as then in effect, includes an untrue statement of a material fact or omits to state a material fact required to be stated therein or necessary to make the statements therein not misleading in the light of the circumstances then existing. The Company will use commercially reasonable efforts to amend or supplement such prospectus in order to cause such prospectus to not include any untrue statement of a material fact or omit to state a material fact required to be stated therein or necessary to make the statements therein not misleading in the light of the circumstances then existing;

(h) Use commercially reasonable efforts to furnish, on or about the date that such Registrable Securities are delivered to the underwriters for sale, if such securities are being sold through underwriters, copies of (i) the opinion, if any, of the lead legal counsel representing the Company for the purposes of such registration issued pursuant to the underwriting agreement relating to the offering and addressed to the underwriters and (ii) the letter (including any “bring-downs” related thereto) from the independent certified public accountants of the Company issued pursuant to the underwriting agreement relating to the offering and addressed to the underwriters;

(i) Provide for a transfer agent and registrar and CUSIP number for all such shares not later than the effective date of such registration statement;

(j) Make available for inspection by any Holder, by any underwriter participating in any distribution pursuant to such registration statement and by any attorney, accountant or other agent retained by any Holder or by any such underwriter all financing and other records, pertinent corporate documents and properties (other than confidential intellectual property and trade secrets of the Company) of the Company and cause the Company's officers, directors, employees and independent accountants to supply all information reasonably requested by any such Holder, underwriter, attorney, accountant or agent in connection with such registration statement;

(k) Otherwise use its commercially reasonable efforts to comply with all applicable rules and regulations of the Commission, and make available to its security holders, as soon as reasonably practicable, an earnings statement covering the period of at least twelve (12) months beginning with the first day of the Company's first full calendar quarter after the effective date of the registration statement, which earnings statement shall satisfy in all respects the provisions of Section 11(a) of the Securities Act and Rule 158 promulgated thereunder;

(l) In the event of the issuance of any stop order suspending the effectiveness of a registration statement, or of any order suspending or preventing the use of any related prospectus or suspending the qualification of any Registrable Securities included in such registration statement for sale in any jurisdiction, the Company shall use its commercially reasonable efforts promptly to obtain the withdrawal of such order; and

(m) Use its commercially reasonable efforts to, within the time periods required by applicable law, file all documents and reports required to be filed with the Commission pursuant to Section 13(a), 13(c), 14 or 15(d) of the Exchange Act, and to take any and all other actions to ensure the availability of the use of Form S-3 to the Company and the Holders.

2.8 Termination of Registration Rights. A Holder's registration rights shall expire on the earlier of (a) the ten (10) year anniversary of the date the Company completed its Initial Public Offering and is subject to the provisions of the Exchange Act; or (b) the date that all Registrable Securities held by and issuable to such Holder may be sold pursuant to Rule 144(b)(1) under the Securities Act, but in no event prior to the third anniversary of the Company's Initial Public Offering.

2.9 Furnishing Information. It shall be a condition precedent to the obligations of the Company to take any action pursuant to Sections 2.2, 2.3 or 2.4 above that the selling Holders shall furnish to the Company such information regarding themselves, the Registrable Securities held by them and the intended method of disposition of such securities as shall be required to effect the registration of their Registrable Securities.

2.10 Indemnification .

(a) To the extent permitted by law, the Company will indemnify and hold harmless each Holder, each of its officers, member, directors, partners, stockholders, legal counsel, accountants, and any underwriter (as defined in the Securities Act) for such Holders and each person controlling such Holder within the meaning of Section 15 of the Securities Act, with respect to which registration, qualification or compliance has been effected pursuant to this Section 2, and each underwriter, if any, and each person who controls within the meaning of Section 15 of the Securities Act any underwriter, against all expenses, claims, losses, damages, and liabilities (or actions, proceedings or settlements in respect thereof) arising out of or based on (i) any untrue statement or alleged untrue statement of a material fact contained in any prospectus, offering circular, or other document, including any related registration statement, notification or the like, incident to any such registration, qualification or compliance, (ii) any omission or alleged omission to state therein a material fact required to be stated therein or necessary to make the statements therein not misleading, or (iii) any violation or alleged violation by the Company of the Securities Act, the Exchange Act, any state securities law, or any rule or regulation thereunder applicable to the Company and relating to action or inaction required of the Company in connection with any such registration, qualification or compliance, and will reimburse each such Holder, each of its officers, directors, partners, legal counsel, and accountants and each person controlling such Holder, each of its officers, directors and partners, legal counsel, and accountants and each person controlling such Holder within the meaning of Section 15 of the Securities Act or each such underwriter and each person who controls any such underwriter, for any legal and any other expenses reasonably incurred in connection with investigating and defending or settling any such claim, loss, damage, liability or action; provided , however , that the Company will not be liable in any such case to the extent that any such claim, loss, damage, liability or expense arises out of or is based on any untrue statement or omission based upon written information furnished to the Company by such Holder, each of its officers or underwriter and stated to be specifically for use therein. It is agreed that the indemnity agreement contained in this Section 2.10(a) shall not apply to amounts paid in settlement of any such loss, claim, damage, liability, or action if such settlement is effected without the consent of the Company (which consent shall not be unreasonably withheld).

(b) To the extent permitted by law, each Holder will, if Registrable Securities held by such Holder are included in the securities as to which such registration, qualification or compliance is being effected, indemnify the Company, each of its directors and officers, legal counsel and accountants, and each underwriter, if any, of the Company's securities covered by such a registration statement, each person who controls the Company or such underwriter within the meaning of Section 15 of the Securities Act, each other such Holder and each of its officers and directors, and each person controlling such other Holder, against all claims, losses, damages and liabilities (or actions in respect thereof) arising out of or based on (i) any untrue statement or alleged untrue statement of a material fact contained in any such registration statement, prospectus, offering circular or other document, or (ii) any omission or alleged omission to state therein a material fact required to be stated therein or necessary to make the statements therein not misleading, and will reimburse the Company and such Holders, directors, officers, legal counsel, accountants, persons, underwriters or control persons for any legal or any other expenses reasonably incurred in connection with investigating or defending any such claim, loss, damage, liability or action, in each case to the extent, but only to the extent, that such untrue statement or alleged untrue statement or omission or alleged omission is made in such registration statement, prospectus, offering circular or other document in reliance upon and in conformity with written information furnished to the Company by such Holder under an instrument duly executed by such Holder and stated to be in furnished by such Holder specifically for use therein; provided , however , that the obligations of such Holder hereunder shall not apply to amounts paid in settlement of any such claims, losses, damages or liabilities (or actions in respect thereof) if such settlement is effected without the written consent of such Holder (which consent shall not be unreasonably withheld); and provided further, that in no event shall any Holder's obligation to make an indemnity under this Section 2.10(b) exceed the gross proceeds from the offering received by such Holder (less any amounts paid, or for which such Holder is then liable to pay, by way of indemnity or contribution under Sections 2.10(b) or (d)).

(c) Each party entitled to indemnification under this Section 2.10 (the " Indemnified Party ") shall give notice to the party required to provide indemnification (the " Indemnifying Party ") promptly after such Indemnified Party has actual knowledge of any claim as to which indemnity may be sought, and shall permit the Indemnifying Party to assume the defense of such claim or any litigation resulting therefrom; provided , however , that legal counsel for the Indemnifying Party, who shall conduct the defense of such claim or any litigation resulting therefrom, shall be approved by the Indemnified Party (whose approval shall not be unreasonably withheld), and the Indemnified Party may participate in such defense at such party's expense; and, provided further , however , that the failure of any Indemnified Party to give notice as provided herein shall not relieve the Indemnifying Party of its obligations under this Section 2, to the extent such failure is not prejudicial. No Indemnifying Party, in the defense of any such claim or litigation, shall, except with the written consent of each Indemnified Party, consent to entry of any judgment or enter into any settlement that does not include as an unconditional term thereof the giving by the claimant or plaintiff to such Indemnified Party of a release from all liability in respect to such claim or litigation. Each Indemnified Party shall furnish such information regarding itself or the claim in question as the Indemnifying Party may reasonably request in writing and as shall be reasonably required in connection with defense of such claim and litigation resulting therefrom.

(d) If the indemnification provided for in this Section 2.10 is held by a court of competent jurisdiction to be unavailable to an Indemnified Party with respect to any loss, liability, claim, damage or expense referred to herein, then the Indemnifying Party, in lieu of indemnifying such Indemnified Party hereunder, shall contribute to the amount paid or payable by such Indemnified Party as a result of such loss, liability, claim, damage or expense in such proportion as is appropriate to reflect the relative fault of the Indemnifying Party on the one hand and of the Indemnified Party on the other in connection with the statements or omissions that resulted in such loss, liability, claim, damage or expense as well as any other relevant equitable considerations. The relative fault of the Indemnifying Party and of the Indemnified Party shall be determined by reference to, among other things, whether the untrue or alleged untrue statement of a material fact or the omission to state a material fact relates to information supplied by the Indemnifying Party or by the Indemnified Party and to such parties' relative intent, knowledge, access to information, and opportunity to correct or prevent such statement or omissions; provided that in no event shall any contribution by a Holder hereunder, when combined with any amounts paid by such Holder pursuant to Section 2.10(b), exceed the net proceeds from the offering received by such Holder.

(e) Notwithstanding the foregoing, to the extent that the provisions on indemnification and contribution contained in the underwriting agreement entered into in connection with an underwritten public offering of the Company's securities are in conflict with the foregoing provisions, the provisions in the underwriting agreement shall control.

(f) The obligations of the Company and Holders under this Section 2.10 shall survive completion of any offering of Registrable Securities in a registration statement and, with respect to liability arising from an offering to which this Section 2.10 would apply that is covered by a registration filed before termination of this Agreement, such termination. No indemnifying party, in the defense of any such claim or litigation, shall, except with the written consent of each Indemnified Party, consent to entry of any judgment or enter into any settlement which does not include as an unconditional term thereof the giving by the claimant or plaintiff to such Indemnified Party of a release from all liability in respect to such claim or litigation.

2.11 Transfer or Assignment of Registration Rights . The rights to cause the Company to register Registrable Securities pursuant to this Section 2 may be transferred or assigned by a Holder to a transferee or assignee of Registrable Securities that (a) is a partner, member or other equity owner or a former partner, retired member or other equity owner or the estate of any partner, member or other equity owner or retired partner, member or other equity holder of a Holder that is a partnership in accordance with partnership interests and made pursuant to the terms of such Holder's partnership agreement; (b) is a wholly-owned subsidiary of a Holder that is a corporation, a parent corporation that owns all of the capital stock of such Holder or the stockholders of the Holder in accordance with their ownership of the Holder; (c) is a member or former member of a Holder that is a limited liability company, in accordance with their interest in the limited liability company and made pursuant to the terms of such Holder's limited liability company agreement; (d) is a Family Member, or any custodian or trustee of any trust or any other corporation, partnership or limited liability company for the benefit of, or the ownership interests of which are owned wholly by such Holder or any such Holder's Family Members; (e) is an Affiliate of the Holder; (f) is an Affiliated partnership, limited liability company or fund managed by a Holder or any of their respective directors, officers, partners or members; or (g) acquires not less than ten percent (10%) of the Registrable Securities (as adjusted for stock dividends, combinations, splits, recapitalizations and the like) held by the transferring Holder measured as of the date such Holder became a party to this Agreement; provided , however , that (i) the transferor shall, within a reasonable time after such transfer, furnish to the Company written notice of the name and address of such transferee or assignee and the securities with respect to which such registration rights are being assigned and (ii) such transferee shall agree to be subject to all restrictions set forth in this Agreement. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, any transfer of the rights granted pursuant to this Section 2.11 shall be subject to the terms of Section 4.1 of the ROFR Agreement.

2.12 "Market Stand-Off" Agreement .

(a) If requested by the Company or an underwriter in connection with the Initial Public Offering, each Holder hereby agrees that such Holder shall not sell, transfer, make any short sale of, grant any option for the purchase of, enter into any hedging or similar transaction with the same economic effect as a sale or otherwise transfer or dispose of any Common Stock (or any other securities of the Company) held by such Holder (other than those included in the registration) for a period (the " Lock Up Period ") specified by the representative of the underwriters of the Common Stock (or any other securities) of the Company not to exceed one hundred eighty (180) calendar days following the effective date of a registration statement of the Company filed under the Securities Act in connection with such offering (the " Effective Date "), which period may be extended upon the request of the managing underwriter, to the extent required by any FINRA rules, for an additional period of up to fifteen (15) days if the Company issues or proposes to issue an earnings or other public release within fifteen (15) days of the expiration of the 180-day lockup period; provided that all current and future officers and directors of the Company and all current and future holders of at least one percent (1%) of the Company's voting securities are bound by and have entered into similar agreements. In the event of an early release of securities restricted pursuant to this Section 2.12, such securities will be released from such restriction on a pro rata basis among all Holders of the Registrable Securities; provided , however , that in no event shall any holders of the Company's securities be released from the restrictions pursuant to this Section 2.12 until all Holders of the Registrable Securities are released.

(b) Each Holder agrees to execute and deliver such other agreements as may be reasonably requested by the Company or the underwriter that are consistent with the Holder's obligations under this Section 2.12 or that are necessary to give further effect thereto. The obligations described in this Section 2.12 shall not apply to a Special Registration Statement. The Company may impose stop-transfer instructions with respect to the shares of Common Stock (or any other securities) subject to the foregoing restriction until the end of the relevant market stand-off period. Each Holder agrees that any transferee of any shares of Registrable Securities shall be bound by Sections 2.11 and 2.12. The underwriters of the Company's stock are intended third party beneficiaries of this Section 2.12 and shall have the right, power and authority to enforce the provisions hereof as though they were a party hereto.

2.13 Rule 144 Reporting . With a view to making available to the Holders the benefits of certain rules and regulations of the SEC that may permit the sale of the Registrable Securities to the public without registration after such time as a public market exists for the Common Stock, the Company agrees to use its commercially reasonable efforts to:

(a) Make and keep public information available, as those terms are understood and defined in Rule 144, at all times after the date that the Company becomes subject to the reporting requirements of the Securities Act and the Exchange Act;

(b) File with the SEC, in a timely manner, all reports and other documents required of the Company under the Exchange Act; and

(c) So long as a Holder owns any Registrable Securities required to bear the restrictive legends set forth in Section 2.1 above, furnish to such Holder forthwith upon request: (i) a written statement by the Company as to its compliance with the reporting requirements of Rule 144, and of the Exchange Act (at any time after it has become subject to such reporting requirements); (ii) a copy of the most recent annual or quarterly report of the Company filed with the SEC; and (iii) such other reports and documents as a Holder may reasonably request in connection with availing itself of any rule or regulation of the SEC allowing it to sell any such securities without registration.

2.14 Limitation on Subsequent Registration Rights . After the date of this Agreement, the Company shall not enter into any agreement with any holder or prospective holder of any securities of the Company that would grant such holder rights to demand the registration of shares of the Company's capital stock, or to include such shares in a registration statement that would reduce the number of shares includable by the Holders, without the written consent of (i) so long as at least fifty percent (50%) of the Shares issued and outstanding as of the date hereof remain outstanding, the Holders holding not less than fifty percent (50%) of the Shares then outstanding, voting together as a single class on an as-converted basis) and (ii) Landmark, so long as Landmark continues to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the shares of capital stock of the Company owned by Landmark as of the date hereof, as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, recapitalizations and the like, and otherwise, the Holders holding not less than a majority of the Landmark Registrable Securities then outstanding.

Covenants of the Company

3.1 Basic Financial Information and Reporting . The Company will maintain true books and records of account in which full and correct entries will be made of all its business transactions pursuant to a system of accounting established and administered in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles consistently applied (" GAAP "), and will set aside on their books all such proper accruals and reserves as shall be required under GAAP consistently applied.

(a) As soon as reasonably practicable after the end of each fiscal year of the Company, and in any event within one hundred twenty (120) calendar days after the end of each such fiscal year, the Company will furnish to each Holder of Shares or Registrable Securities, a consolidated balance sheet of the Company, as of the end of such fiscal year, and a consolidated statement of income and a statement of cash flows of the Company, for such year, all prepared in accordance with GAAP and setting forth in each case in comparative form the figures for the previous fiscal year, all in reasonable detail and audited and certified by (i) independent public accountants of national standing approved by the Board and (ii) the Chief Financial Officer or Chief Executive Officer of the Company.

(b) As soon as reasonably practicable after the end of the first three fiscal quarters of each fiscal year and in any event within forty-five (45) days thereafter (so long as reasonably practicable), the Company will furnish to (i) each stockholder who, with its Affiliates, owns not less than five percent (5%) of the Company's then outstanding Common Stock (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends and the like) on an as-converted basis, (ii) GE, so long as GE and its Affiliates continue to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the Series B Preferred (or Common Stock issued or issuable upon conversion of the Series B Preferred) outstanding as of the date hereof (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, recapitalizations and the like), (iii) NGP, so long as NGP continues to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the Shares (or Common Stock issued or issuable upon conversion of the Shares) held by NGP as of the date hereof (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, recapitalizations and the like), (iv) Angeleno, so long as Angeleno and its Affiliates continue to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the Shares (or Common Stock issued or issuable upon conversion of the Shares) held by Angeleno or its Affiliates as of the date hereof (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, recapitalizations and the like) and (v) Element, so long as Element and its Affiliates continue to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the Shares (or Common Stock issued or issuable upon conversion of the Shares) held by Element or its Affiliates as of the date hereof (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, recapitalizations and the like) (each, a " Major Investor "), an unaudited consolidated balance sheet of the Company as of the end of each such period, and an unaudited consolidated statement of income and an unaudited statement of cash flows of the Company for such period and for the current fiscal year to date, all certified by the Company's Chief Financial Officer or Chief Executive Officer, prepared in accordance with GAAP (with the exception that no notes need be attached to such statements and period-end audit adjustments may not have been made) and setting forth in each case in comparative form the figures from the previous fiscal quarter and from the Budget and Operating Plan (as defined below).

(c) As soon as reasonably practicable after each month, and in any event within thirty (30) calendar days after each such month, the Company will furnish to each Major Investor an unaudited consolidated balance sheet of the Company as of the end of each such period, and an unaudited consolidated statement of income and an unaudited statement of cash flows of the Company for such period and for the current fiscal year to date, all certified by the Company's Chief Financial Officer or Chief Executive Officer, prepared in accordance with GAAP (with the exception that no notes need be attached to such statements and period-end audit adjustments may not have been made) and setting forth in each case in comparative form the figures from the previous month and from the Budget and Operating Plan.

(d) The Company will furnish to each Major Investor at least thirty (30) calendar days prior to the beginning of each fiscal year a detailed business plan for the upcoming fiscal year that includes an operating budget for such year (the " Budget and Operating Plan ").

(e) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Section 3.1 to the contrary, the Company, in its reasonable discretion, shall have the right to exclude from any information provided by it to GE or its Affiliates pursuant to this Section 3.1 or elsewhere any information on any competitive aspect of the wind energy industry (including, without limitation, any information relating to a specific subsidiary, facility or portion thereof, customer or prospective customer); provided further that (i) any financial statements delivered to GE or its Affiliates by the Company pursuant to this Section 3.1 need only contain holding company consolidated reports, non-wind segment reports, and summary information and (ii) the Company will provide to GE the following information with respect to each new blade manufacturing facility developed by the Company on or after the date hereof (each such new facility, a " New Plant "): (A) total gross revenue on a quarterly basis for such New Plant, (B) EBITDA on a quarterly basis for such New Plant, (C) the date on which the ground breaking for such New Plant occurs, (D) the date on which such New Plant opens, (E) the date on which the first blade is shipped from such New Plant, (F) the approximate date on which such New Plant achieves fifty percent (50%) of such New Plant's planned capacity (the " 50% Planned Capacity "), (G) the aggregate investment schedule (the " Investment Schedule ") for the construction of such New Plant

(regardless of the source of funds) and (H) a quarterly report of such Investment Schedule will be provided until such time as such New Plant achieves 50% of its Planned Capacity, such report to consist of a statement as to whether the Company is on target with respect to such Investment Schedule (i.e., within plus or minus fifteen percent (15%) of such Investment Schedule) or, in the event the Company is not on target with respect to such Investment Schedule, an indication by the Company of the fifteen percent (15%) range by which the Company is not on target with respect to such Investment Schedule (e.g., if the Company is 25% under the Investment Schedule, then the Company will indicate that it is within 15%-30% under the Investment Schedule). The Company and GE will work together in good faith to determine if any additional financial metrics will be provided to GE or its Affiliates by the Company, which determination will be made on the basis of the type of information in question and in light of competitive considerations relating to the wind energy industry (including, without limitation, competitive considerations relating to the wind energy industry with respect to any specific subsidiary, facility or portion thereof, customer or prospective customer).

3.2 Inspection Rights and Confidentiality .

(a) The Major Investors (other than GE) shall have the right to visit and inspect any of the properties of the Company, and to discuss the affairs, finances and accounts of the Company with its officers, and to review such information as is reasonably requested all during normal business hours and upon reasonable notice. GE shall have the right to inspect, and the Company shall afford GE reasonable access to, any property of the Company where products are being manufactured for GE or its Affiliates; provided , however , that GE shall not have the right to inspect (A) any property of the Company where the products therein are being manufactured solely for customers of the Company other than GE or its Affiliates or (B) any portion of any properties of the Company where the products therein are being manufactured for customers of the Company other than GE or its Affiliates. In addition, GE shall have the right to inspect, and the Company shall afford GE reasonable access to, any property of the Company, among other things, to audit and inspect the Company's compliance with Environmental Law (as defined in the Purchase Agreement); provided , however , that GE shall not have the right to inspect (A) any property of the Company where the products therein are being manufactured solely for wind energy customers of the Company other than GE or its Affiliates or (B) any portion of any property of the Company where the products therein are being manufactured for wind energy customers of the Company other than GE or its Affiliates. The Company shall use commercially reasonable efforts to make its officers available to the Major Investors during all such visits and inspections.

(b) Each Holder agrees to keep confidential and not misuse any Company information that the Company identifies as being confidential or proprietary (so long as such information is not in the public domain) that is obtained by such Holder, except that such Holder may disclose such proprietary or confidential information (i) to any partner, member, subsidiary, parent or such other agent of such Holder for the purpose of evaluating its investment in the Company as long as such partner, member, subsidiary, parent or agent is advised of and bound to the confidentiality provisions of this Section 3.2(b) or comparable restrictions; (ii) at such time as it enters the public domain through no fault of such Holder; (iii) that is communicated to it free of any obligation of confidentiality; (iv) that is developed by such Holder or its agents independently of and without reference to any confidential information communicated by the Company; or (v) as required by applicable law. Nothing in this Section 3.2(b) shall in any way amend, alter, supersede, terminate or waive any provisions of the Confidentiality Agreement dated as of March 4, 2008, by and between TPI, Inc. and GE Capital Equity Capital Group, Inc., as amended (the " GE Confidentiality Agreement "), which shall remain in full force and effect in accordance with its terms and shall supersede the provisions of this Section 3.2(b) to the extent there are any conflicts between the GE Confidentiality Agreement and this Section 3.2(b). Nothing in this Section 3.2(b) shall in any way amend, alter, supersede, terminate or waive any provisions of the Confidentiality Agreement, dated as of April 20, 2009, by and between the Company and Element (the " Element Confidentiality Agreement "), which shall remain in full force and effect in accordance with its terms and shall supersede the provisions of this Section 3.2(b) to the extent there are any conflicts between the Element Confidentiality Agreement and this Section 3.2(b).

3.3 Board Observer .

(a) The Company shall allow one representative designated by NGP to attend all meetings of the Board in a nonvoting capacity (the " Observer Rights "), and in connection therewith, the Company shall give such representatives copies of all notices, minutes, consents and other materials, financial or otherwise, which the Company provides to its Board; provided, however , that such representative shall sign a confidentiality agreement in a form that is agreeable to both Angeleno and the Company; and provided further that the Company reserves the right to exclude such representative from access to any material or meeting or portion thereof if the Company believes upon advice of counsel that such exclusion is reasonably necessary to preserve the attorney-client privilege. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, if at any time an individual nominated by Angeleno pursuant to Section 5.3(b)(iii) of the ROFR Agreement is not a director of the Company, then at such time the Company shall allow one representative designated by Angeleno to have the same Observer Rights as provided to NGP under this Agreement, subject to fulfillment by such representative of the same conditions imposed upon the representative designated by NGP under this Agreement.

(b) GE shall be entitled to receive copies of all materials provided at regular or special meetings of the Board as and when such materials are provided to members of the Board, which such information may be redacted by the Company, in its reasonable discretion, in the same manner described in Section 3.1(e) above (the " GE Board Materials "). The Board shall invite up to three (3) representatives designated by GE to meet with management of the Company on each date the Board holds a meeting (such meetings to take place no less often than on a quarterly basis). On each such date, the Company shall cause management to be available to meet with GE for a period of time reasonably sufficient to discuss the GE Board Materials and any other business of the Company that the Company determines, in its reasonable discretion, does not relate to any competitive aspect of the wind energy industry (including, without limitation, any specific subsidiary, facility or portion thereof, customer or prospective customer that relates to the wind energy industry). In addition, the Board may invite one representative designated by GE to attend any meetings of the Board (and, if applicable, portions thereof) during which no matters relating to any competitive aspect of the wind energy industry (including, without limitation, any specific subsidiary, facility or portion thereof, customer or prospective customer that relates to the wind energy industry) will be discussed, in a nonvoting capacity; provided , however , that any information disclosed during such meetings (or, if applicable, portions thereof) shall be subject to the GE Confidentiality Agreement; and provided , further , that the Company reserves the right to exclude such representative from access to any material or meeting or portion thereof (A) if the Company believes upon advice of counsel that such exclusion is reasonably necessary to preserve the attorney-client privilege or (B) that relates to any competitive aspect of the wind energy industry (including, without limitation, any specific subsidiary, facility or portion thereof, customer or prospective customer that relates to the wind energy industry). Subject to signing a confidentiality agreement in a form that is reasonably agreeable to both the Holders of Series B Preferred and the Company, each Holder of Series B Preferred holding not less than one hundred (100) shares of Series B Preferred and each Holder of Series B-1 Preferred holding not less than one hundred (100) shares of Series B-1 Preferred (in each case, as adjusted for stock dividends, combinations, splits, recapitalizations and the like), in addition to the GE designee described above, shall be entitled to receive the GE Board Materials and to participate in any such meetings with members of management of the Company.

3.4 Expenses and Frequency of Meetings . The Company shall reimburse all reasonable out-of-pocket expenses incurred by any non-employee director of the Company and by individuals with Observer Rights in connection with attendance at Board meetings (including any meetings of committees of the Board) and any other meetings or events attended on behalf of the Company at the request of the Board. The Board will meet at least on a quarterly basis. The Company shall also reimburse all reasonable out-of-pocket expenses incurred by one representative of GE in connection with his or her attendance at Board meetings or meetings with management of the Company in connection with such Board meetings.

3.5 Directors' Liability, Indemnification and Insurance . The Restated Certificate and the Company's Bylaws, each as may be amended from time to time, shall provide (a) for the elimination of the liability of directors to the maximum extent permitted by law and (b) for indemnification of directors for acts on behalf of the Company to the maximum extent permitted by law. If not obtained prior to the Closing, the Company shall obtain and maintain director's and officer's liability insurance in the amount and on terms reasonably acceptable to the Board.

3.6 Reservation of Common Stock . The Company will at all times reserve and keep available, solely for issuance and delivery upon the conversion of the Shares, all Common Stock issuable from time to time upon such conversion.

3.7 Option Plan; Vesting; Stock Repurchase .

(a) Unless otherwise approved by the Board, all stock options and other stock equivalents granted or issued on or after the date of this Agreement to employees, directors, consultants, advisors and other service providers shall be subject to time-based vesting as follows: twenty percent (20%) of such stock shall vest at the one (1) year anniversary following the date of issuance, or such other date as determined by the Board, and one-forty eighth (1/48) of the remaining unvested portion shall vest each month thereafter until the five (5) year anniversary of the date of issuance, or such other date as determined by the Board; provided that the optionee remains a full-time service provider as of the end of each such vesting period.

(b) With respect to any shares of restricted stock issued on or after the date of this Agreement, the Company's repurchase option shall provide, unless otherwise determined by the Board, that upon such person's termination of employment or service with the Company, with or without cause, the Company or its assignee (to the extent permitted by applicable securities laws) shall have the option to purchase at the lower of cost and fair market value any unvested shares of stock owned by such person.

3.8 Confidential Information and Invention Assignment Agreement. The Company shall require all of its current and future officers, key employees and consultants to execute and deliver a Confidential Information and Invention Assignment Agreement in form and substance satisfactory to the Company's counsel or the Board.

3.9 Market Stand-Off Agreement. The Company shall cause (a) all entities and individuals that become stockholders of the Company after the Closing, (b) all employees, executives, consultants, advisors and other service providers to the Company who receive stock options of the Company after the Closing, and (c) all persons and entities who receive warrants or other rights to receive the Company's capital stock after the Closing to be bound by market stand-off restrictions substantially similar to the market stand-off agreement contained in Section 2.12 above.

3.10 Compliance with Laws.

(a) The Company shall comply in all material respects with all applicable laws, rules, regulations and orders, noncompliance with which could adversely affect the Company's business or condition, financial or otherwise including, without limitation, the filing of all tax returns and payment of all taxes and assessments when due by the Company unless such amounts are in dispute.

(b) The Company shall comply with all applicable Environmental Laws, the noncompliance with which could adversely affect the Company's business or condition, financial or otherwise; provided, however , that no failure to comply with an applicable Environmental Law that would otherwise be deemed a breach of this Section 3.10(b) will be deemed a breach of this Section 3.10(b) if (i) such breach is not material and (ii) such breach is cured by the Company within ninety (90) days after the Company becomes aware of the breach; provided further , that so long as the Company is using its reasonable best efforts to cure a breach described in (i) above, an Investor's sole and exclusive remedy (notwithstanding anything to the contrary set forth herein) for a breach of this Section 3.10(b) in connection with such breach shall be to bring a claim for specific performance.

3.11 Required Board Approvals. Until the consummation of a Qualified IPO, in addition to any other vote or consent required herein or by law, the affirmative vote or written consent of the Board (including the affirmative vote of the Series A Director) shall be required for the Company to:

(a) incur any expense or make capital expenditures in excess of 110% of the Board-approved capital expenditure budget in effect at such time;

(b) amend or modify the Company's equity incentive plans or adopt any new equity plan, or grant of any stock option or stock equivalent providing for vesting provisions that differ from the Company's standard vesting schedule or acceleration of vesting upon a Liquidation Event (as such term is defined in the Restated Certificate);

(c) establish or enter into any material joint venture or strategic creation of the partnership other than joint ventures or strategic partnerships relating to the next four new production facilities as contemplated by the Company's presentation to NGP on August 23, 2007 (including with respect to the financial projections per such presentation) (the " Contemplated Facilities ");

(d) approve the Budget and Operating Plan;

(e) transfer or license any of the Company's intellectual property other than in the ordinary course of business;

(f) make any acquisition or investments in any twelve (12) month period, the value of which is in excess of $5,000,000 in the aggregate, other than investments to expand the Company's current production facilities or investments to construct, outfit, or ramp-up production at the Contemplated Facilities;

(g) commence construction of any new manufacturing facility or manufacturing facility expansion other than at the Contemplated Facilities;

(h) create, assume or incur indebtedness other than (i) debt incurred in the ordinary course of the Company's business, (ii) debt incurred to expand any of the Company's current production facilities, as contemplated by the Budget and Operating Plan, or (iii) debt incurred to construct, outfit, or ramp-up production at the Contemplated Facilities, as contemplated by the Budget and Operating Plan; or

(i) declare bankruptcy, dissolve or voluntarily liquidate or wind up.

3.12 Termination of Covenants; Assignment of Covenants . Unless terminated earlier pursuant to the terms and provisions hereof, the covenants of the Company contained in this Section 3 shall terminate and be of no further force and effect upon the consummation of the Qualified IPO. The rights of the Investors and/or Major Investors contained in this Section 3 may be transferred or assigned by an Investor to a transferee or assignee of the Shares or Registrable Securities that (a) is a partner, member or other equity owner or a former partner, retired member or other equity owner of the estate of any partner, member or other equity owner or retired partner, member or other equity holder of an Investor or Major Investor that is a partnership, in accordance with partnership interests and made pursuant to the terms of such Investor's or Major Investor's partnership agreement; (b) is a wholly-owned subsidiary of an Investor or Major Investor that is a corporation, a parent corporation that owns all of the capital stock of such Investor or Major Investor or the stockholders of such Investor or Major Investor in accordance with their ownership of such Investor or Major Investor; (c) is a member or former member of an Investor or Major Investor that is a limited liability company, in accordance with their interest in the limited liability company and made pursuant to the terms of such an Investor's or Major Investor's limited liability company agreement; (d) is a Family Member, or any custodian or trustee of any trust or any other corporation, partnership or limited liability company for the benefit of, or the ownership interests of which are owned wholly by such Investor or Major Investor or any such Investor's or Major Investor's Family Members; (e) is an Affiliate of the Investor or Major Investor; (f) is an Affiliated partnership, limited liability company or fund managed by an Investor or Major Investor or any of their respective directors, officers, partners or members; or (g) acquires not less than ten percent (10%) of the Registrable Securities (as adjusted for stock dividends, combinations, splits, recapitalizations and the like) held by the transferring Investor or Major Investor measured as of the date of such Investor or Major Investor became a party to this Agreement; provided, however, that (i) the transferor shall, within a reasonable time after such transfer, furnish to the Company written notice of the name and address of such transferee or assignee and the securities with respect to which such rights and obligations are being assigned and (ii) such transferee shall agree in writing to be subject to all restrictions set forth in this Agreement. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, any transfer of the rights granted pursuant to this Section 3.12 shall be subject to the terms of Section 4.1 of the ROFR Agreement.

Rights of First Refusal

4.1 Subsequent Offerings. Each Major Investor shall have a right of first refusal to purchase up to its pro rata share of all New Securities (as defined below) that the Company may, from time to time, propose to sell and issue after the date of this Agreement. Each Major Investor's pro rata share shall be equal to the ratio of (a) the Common Stock issued and held, or issuable (directly or indirectly) upon conversion and/or exercise, as applicable, of the Shares and any other Derivative Securities then held by such Major Investor to (b) the Common Stock of the Company then outstanding (assuming full conversion and/or exercise, as applicable, of all Shares and other Derivative Securities) held by the Major Investors. The term " New Securities " shall, subject to Section 4.6 hereof, mean (i) any Common Stock, preferred stock or any other security of the Company, (ii) any security convertible into or exercisable or exchangeable for, with or without consideration, any Common Stock, preferred stock or any other security (including any option to purchase such a convertible security), (iii) any security carrying any warrant or right to subscribe to or purchase any Common Stock, preferred stock or any other security or (iv) any such warrant or right.

4.2 Exercise of Rights. If the Company proposes to issue any New Securities, it shall give each Major Investor written notice of its intention, describing the New Securities, the price and the terms and conditions upon which the Company proposes to issue the same. Each Major Investor shall have twenty (20) days from the giving of such notice to agree to purchase up to its pro rata share of the New Securities for the price and upon the terms and conditions specified in the notice by giving written notice to the Company and stating therein the quantity of New Securities to be purchased. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Company shall not be required to offer or sell such New Securities to any Major Investor who would cause the Company to be in violation of applicable federal securities laws by virtue of such offer or sale.

4.3 Issuance of New Securities to Other Persons. If not all of the Major Investors elect to purchase their pro rata share of the New Securities, then the Company shall promptly notify in writing the Major Investors (the " Exercising Major Investors ") who do so elect and shall offer such Exercising Major Investors the right to acquire such unsubscribed shares (the " Unsubscribed Shares "). Each such Exercising Major Investor shall have ten (10) days after receipt of such notice to notify the Company of its election to purchase up to its pro rata share of the Unsubscribed Shares which is equal to the proportion that the Common Stock issued and held, or issuable (directly or indirectly) upon conversion and/or exercise, as applicable, of the Shares and any other Derivative Securities then held by such Exercising Major Investor bears to the Common Stock issued and held, or issuable (directly or indirectly) upon conversion and/or exercise, as applicable, of the Shares and any other Derivative Securities then held by all Exercising Major Investors who wish to purchase such Unsubscribed Shares. If the Exercising Major Investors fail to exercise in full the rights of first refusal, the Company shall have ninety (90) days thereafter to sell the New Securities in respect of which the Major Investor's rights were not exercised, at a price and upon general terms and conditions not more favorable to the purchasers thereof than specified in the Company's notice to the Major Investors pursuant to Section 4.2 hereof. If the Company has not sold such New Securities within the ninety (90) day period following the expiration of the ten (10) day period for each Exercising Major Investor to elect to purchase the Unsubscribed Shares, the Company shall not thereafter issue or sell any New Securities, without first offering such securities to the Major Investors in the manner provided above.

4.4 Termination and Waiver of Rights of First Refusal . The rights of first refusal established by this Section 4 shall not apply to, and shall terminate upon the Company's Qualified IPO. The rights of first refusal or any provision established by this Section 4 may be amended, or any provision waived, with the written consent of (i) the Holders holding not less than seventy percent (70%) of the Series A Preferred then outstanding, (ii) GE, so long as GE continues to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the shares of Series B Preferred then outstanding, and otherwise, the Holders holding not less than a majority of the shares of Series B Preferred then outstanding, (iii) Element, so long as Element and its Affiliates continue to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the Series B-1 Preferred then outstanding, and otherwise, the Holders holding not less than a majority of the shares of Series B-1 Preferred then outstanding and (iv) Landmark, so long as Landmark continues to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the shares of capital stock of the Company owned by Landmark as of the date hereof (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, recapitalizations and the like), and otherwise, Holders of a majority of the Landmark Registrable Securities then outstanding. Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary contained in this Section 4, or Section 4 of the Existing Agreement, each Investor hereby waives such Investor's (and only such Investor's) right of first refusal set forth in Section 4 of the Existing Agreement with respect to the Series C Preferred sold and issued pursuant to the Purchase Agreement.

4.5 Transfer of Rights of First Refusal; Affiliates of Investors . The rights of first refusal of each Major Investor under this Section 4 may be assigned to the same parties, subject to the same restrictions, as any transfer of the rights pursuant to Section 3.12 above. Each Major Investor shall be entitled to apportion the right of first refusal hereby granted it among itself and its general partners, limited partners, members and Affiliates in such proportions as it deems appropriate. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, any transfer of the rights granted pursuant to this Section 4.5 shall be subject to the terms of Section 4.1 of the ROFR Agreement.

4.6 Excluded Securities . The rights of first refusal established by this Section 4 shall have no application to New Securities that are not determined to be or deemed to be "Additional Shares of Common Stock" as defined in the Restated Certificate.

SECTION 5

Miscellaneous

5.1 Amendment and Waiver .

(a) Except as otherwise expressly provided herein, the provisions of this Agreement, the obligations of the Company and the rights of the Holders may be amended, modified or waived only upon the written consent of (i) the Company, (ii) the Holders holding not less than fifty percent (50%) of the Series A Preferred then outstanding, (iii) GE, so long as GE continues to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the shares of Series B Preferred then outstanding, and otherwise, the Holders holding not less than a majority of the shares of Series B Preferred then outstanding, (iv) Element, so long as Element and its Affiliates continue to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the Series B-1 Preferred then outstanding, and otherwise, the Holders holding not less than a majority of the shares of Series B-1 Preferred then outstanding and (v) Landmark, so long as Landmark continues to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the shares of capital stock of the Company owned by Landmark as of the date hereof (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, recapitalizations and the like), and otherwise, the Holders holding not less than a majority of the Landmark Registrable Securities then outstanding; provided , however , the written consent of GE or the Holders of the Series B Preferred described in clause (iii) above and the written consent of Element or the Holders of the Series B-1 Preferred described in clause (iv) above shall not be required for any amendment or modification to this Agreement effected solely to afford rights to the Holders of a Permitted Security (as defined in the Company's Fourth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation) that are, individually and in the aggregate, not greater than nor senior to the rights afforded to GE or the Holders of the Series B Preferred (other than with respect to the granting of demand registration rights or granting rights under Sections 3.1(a), 3.1(b), 3.1(c), 3.1(d), 3.2(a), 3.3(b), 3.4 or 3.11 equivalent to those granted to the Series A Preferred herein) (such rights in the aggregate, the " GE Permitted Rights ") or Element or the Holders of the Series B-1 Preferred hereunder, as applicable, as of the date hereof (other than with respect to the granting rights under Sections 3.1(a), 3.1(b), 3.1(c), 3.1(d), 3.4 or 3.11 equivalent to those granted to the Series A Preferred herein) (such rights in the aggregate, the " Element Permitted Rights ," and together with the GE Permitted Rights, the " Permitted Rights "), so long as such amendment or modification does not contain provisions other than Permitted Rights and does not increase the obligations of GE or the Holders of the Series B Preferred or Element or the Holders of the Series B-1 Preferred hereunder, as the case may be; provided , further , that the written consent of GE or the Holders of the Series B Preferred described in clause (iii) above shall in any event be required to amend, waive, alter or repeal (i) the voting thresholds set forth in Sections 2.2(a), clause (i) of Section 2.14, clause (ii) of Section 4.4 or Section 5.1(a) as it applies to the voting thresholds of GE or the Series B Preferred, (ii) the definition of "Major Investor," as that term is used in Sections 3.1 and 3.2 (other than in connection with the granting of Permitted Rights), (iii) the second sentence of Section 3.2(a), (iv) the penultimate sentence of Section 3.2(b), (v) Section 3.3(b), (vi) Section 2.4(ii)(C) (as it applies to the right of the Series B Preferred to obligate the Company to effect one (1) registration on Form S-3) and (vii) any other provision in this Agreement if such amendment, waiver, alteration, or repeal will have a material adverse effect upon any of the rights, privileges, preferences, or obligations of GE or the Holders of the Series B Preferred that is disproportionate from the effect of such amendment, waiver, alteration, or repeal on any other Holder of Shares (it being understood that the grant of demand registration rights or rights under Sections 3.1(a), 3.1(b), 3.1(c), 3.1(d), 3.2(a), 3.3(a), 3.4 or 3.11 equivalent to those granted to the Series A Preferred or the Series B-1 Preferred herein shall not be deemed to have a material adverse effect upon any of the rights, privileges, preferences or obligations of GE or the Holders of Series B Preferred); provided, further , that the written consent of the Holders holding not less than seventy percent (70%) of the Series A Preferred then outstanding shall be required to amend, waive, alter or repeal (i) the voting thresholds set forth in Sections 2.2(a), clause (i) of 2.14, 4.4, or 5.1(a), (ii) the definition of "Major Investor," as that term is used in Sections 3.1 and 3.2 (other than in connection with the granting of Permitted Rights), (iii) any of the provisions in Sections 3.3 or 3.4, (iv) Section 2.4 to add a voting threshold, (v) Section 2.4(ii)(C) (as it applies to the right of the Series A Preferred to obligate the Company to effect one (1) registration on Form S-3), or (vi) any other provision in this Agreement if such amendment, waiver, alteration, or repeal will have a material adverse effect upon any of the rights, privileges, preferences, or obligations of Angeleno or its Affiliates that is disproportionate from the effect of such amendment, waiver, alteration, or repeal on any other Holder of Shares; provided , further , that the written consent of Element or the Holders of the Series B-1 Preferred described in clause (iv) above shall be required to amend, waive, alter or repeal (i) the voting thresholds set forth in Sections 2.2(a), clause (i) of 2.14, 4.4, or 5.1(a), (ii) the definition of "Major Investor," as that term is used in Sections 3.1 and 3.2 (other than in connection with the granting of Permitted Rights), (iii) any of the provisions in Sections 3.3 or 3.4, (iv) Section 2.4 to add a voting threshold, (v) Section 2.4(ii)(C) (as it applies to the right of the Series B-1 Preferred to obligate the Company to effect one (1) registration on Form S-3), or (vi) any other provision in this Agreement if such amendment, waiver, alteration, or repeal will have a material adverse effect upon any of the rights, privileges, preferences, or obligations of Element or its Affiliates or the Holders of the Series B-1 Preferred that is disproportionate from the effect of such amendment, waiver, alteration, or repeal on any other Holder of Shares (it being understood that the grant of rights under Sections 3.1(a), 3.1(b), 3.1(c), 3.1(d), 3.4 or 3.11 equivalent to those granted to the Series A Preferred or the Series B Preferred herein shall not be deemed to have a material adverse effect upon any of the rights, privileges, preferences or obligations of Element or the Holders of Series B-1 Preferred); provided , further , that the written consent of the holders of at least seventy percent (70%) of the Holders of the Series C Preferred shall be required to amend, waive, alter or repeal any other provision in this Agreement if such amendment, waiver, alteration, or repeal will have a material adverse effect upon any of the rights, privileges, preferences, or obligations of the Holders of the Series C Preferred that is disproportionate from the effect of such amendment, waiver, alteration, or repeal on any other Holder of Shares.

(b) Any amendment or waiver effected in accordance with this Agreement shall be binding upon each Investor and Holder of Registrable Securities in accordance with the terms hereof.

(c) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, if the Company shall issue additional shares of Series C Preferred pursuant to the Purchase Agreement, any purchaser of such shares of Series C Preferred may become a party to this Agreement by executing and delivering an additional counterpart signature page to this Agreement and shall be deemed (i) an "Investor," (ii) if agreed to by the Company, a "Major Investor" and (iii) a party hereunder.

5.2 Governing Law. This Agreement shall be governed in all respects by and construed under the internal laws of the State of Delaware as such laws are applied to agreements that are entered into by and among Delaware residents while located in Delaware and that are to be performed entirely within Delaware, without regard to principles of conflicts of law.

5.3 Jurisdiction; Venue. The parties (a) hereby irrevocably and unconditionally submit to the jurisdiction of the federal and state courts located within the geographic boundaries of the United States District Court for the District of Delaware for the purpose of any suit, action or other proceeding arising out of or based upon this Agreement, (b) agree not to commence any suit, action or other proceeding arising out of or based upon this Agreement except in the federal and state courts located within the geographic boundaries of the United States District Court for the District of Delaware, and (c) hereby waive, and agree not to assert, by way of motion, as a defense, or otherwise, in any such suit, action or proceeding, any claim that it is not subject personally to the jurisdiction of the above-named courts, that its property is exempt or immune from attachment or execution, that the suit, action or proceeding is brought in an inconvenient forum, that the venue of the suit, action or proceeding is improper or that this Agreement or the subject matter hereof may not be enforced in or by such court.

5.4 Waiver of Jury Trial. EACH OF THE PARTIES HERETO HEREBY VOLUNTARILY AND IRREVOCABLY WAIVES TRIAL BY JURY IN ANY ACTION OR OTHER PROCEEDING BROUGHT IN CONNECTION WITH THIS AGREEMENT, ANY OF THE OTHER TRANSACTION DOCUMENTS OR ANY OF THE TRANSACTIONS CONTEMPLATED HEREBY OR THEREBY.

5.5 Equitable Remedies. The parties hereto agree that irreparable harm would occur in the event that any of the terms and provisions of this Agreement were not performed fully by the parties hereto in accordance with their specific terms or conditions or were otherwise breached, and that money damages are an inadequate remedy for breach of this Agreement because of the difficulty of ascertaining and quantifying the amount of damage that will be suffered by the parties hereto in the event that this Agreement is not performed in accordance with its terms or conditions or is otherwise breached. It is accordingly hereby agreed that the parties hereto shall be entitled to seek an injunction or injunctions to restrain, enjoin and prevent breaches of this Agreement by the other parties and to enforce specifically the terms and provisions of this Agreement in any court of the United States or any state having jurisdiction, such remedy being in addition to and not in lieu of, any other rights and remedies to which the parties are entitled to at law or in equity.

5.6 Successors and Assigns. Except as otherwise expressly provided herein, the provisions hereof shall inure to the benefit of, and be binding upon, the successors, assigns, heirs, executors, and administrators of the parties hereto and shall inure to the benefit of and be enforceable by each person who shall be a holder of Registrable Securities from time to time.

5.7 Entire Agreement. This Agreement (including the exhibit hereto), the ROFR Agreement, the Purchase Agreement (including the exhibits and schedules thereto), the GE Confidentiality Agreement and the Element Confidentiality Agreement, constitute the full and entire understanding and agreement among the parties hereto with regard to the subjects hereof and thereof, and no party shall be liable or bound to any other party in any manner with regard to the subjects hereof or thereof by any warranties, representations or covenants except as specifically set forth herein and therein.

5.8 Severability. In the event one or more of the provisions of this Agreement should, for any reason, be held to be invalid, illegal or unenforceable in any respect, such invalidity, illegality, or unenforceability shall not affect any other provisions of this Agreement, and this Agreement shall be construed as if such invalid, illegal or unenforceable provision had never been contained herein.

5.9 Delays or Omissions. It is agreed that no delay or omission to exercise any right, power, or remedy accruing to any Holder, upon any breach, default or noncompliance of the Company under this Agreement shall impair any such right, power or remedy, nor shall it be construed to be a waiver of any such breach, default or noncompliance, or any acquiescence therein, or of any similar breach, default or noncompliance thereafter occurring. It is further agreed that any waiver, permit, consent or approval of any kind or character on any Holder's part of any breach, default or noncompliance under this Agreement or any waiver on such Holder's part of any provisions or conditions of this Agreement must be in writing and shall be effective only to the extent specifically set forth in such writing. All remedies, either under this Agreement, by law, or otherwise afforded to Holders, shall be cumulative and not alternative.

5.10 Notices. All notices and other communications required or permitted hereunder shall be in writing and shall be mailed by registered or certified mail, postage prepaid, sent by facsimile or otherwise:

(a) if to the Company, one copy should be sent to its address or facsimile number set forth on the signature pages hereof and addressed to the attention of the Chief Executive Officer, or at such other address or facsimile number as the Company shall have furnished to the Investors, with a copy to (which shall not constitute notice) to H. David Henken, Esq., Goodwin Procter LLP, Exchange Place, 53 State Street, Boston, MA 02109;

(b) if to an Investor, at the Investor's address, facsimile number or electronic mail address as shown in the Company's records, as may be updated in accordance with the provisions hereof, with, (i) in the case of NGP, a copy (which shall not constitute notice) to Robert D. Sanchez, Esq., Wilson Sonsini Goodrich & Rosati, P.C., 1700 K Street, N.W., Fifth Floor, Washington, D.C. 20006, (ii) in the case of Landmark, a copy (which shall not constitute notice) to H. David Henken, Esq., Goodwin Procter LLP, Exchange Place, 53 State Street, Boston, MA 02109, (iii) in the case of Angeleno, a copy (which shall not constitute notice) to Franklin Reddick, Esq., Akin Gump Strauss Hauer & Feld LLP, 2029 Century Park East, Suite 2400, Los Angeles, CA 90067, (iv) in the case of GE, a copy (which shall not constitute notice) to General Counsel-Equity and Account Manager TPI, GE Capital Equity, 201 Merritt 7, P.O. Box 52011, Norwalk, CT 06856, and (v) in the case of Element, a copy (which shall not constitute notice) to Andrew Hamilton, Morgan, Lewis & Bockius LLP, 1701 Market Street, Philadelphia, PA 19103.

(c) if to any other Holder, at such address, facsimile number or electronic mail address as shown in the Company's records, or, until any such Holder so furnishes an address, facsimile number or electronic mail address to the Company, then to and at the address of the last Holder of such Registrable Securities for which the Company has contact information in its records.

Each such notice or other communication shall for all purposes of this Agreement be treated as effective or as having been given: (a) upon delivery, if personally delivered; (b) three (3) business days after pre-paid deposit for next business day delivery with a commercial courier service (e.g. , DHL or FedEx); (c) five (5) business days after deposit, postage pre-paid, with first class airmail (which airmail must be certified or registered); or (d) upon confirmation of facsimile transfer or electronic mail when sent by facsimile or electronic mail with a confirmation copy delivered by one of the other acceptable means of delivery.

5.11 Titles and Subtitles . The titles of the sections and subsections of this Agreement are for convenience of reference only and are not to be considered in construing this Agreement.

5.12 Non-Business Days . Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, in the event that any calendar day referred to in this Agreement falls on a Saturday, a Sunday or a U.S. holiday (each a " Non-Business Day "), then any transaction or notice that must be effected or delivered on such a Non-Business Day will instead be required to be effected or delivered on the next day that is not a Non-Business Day.

5.13 Counterparts . This Agreement may be executed in any number of counterparts, each of which shall be an original, but all of which together shall constitute one instrument.

5.14 Telecopy Execution and Delivery . A facsimile, telecopy or other reproduction of this Agreement may be executed by one or more parties hereto, and an executed copy of this Agreement may be delivered by one or more parties hereto by facsimile or similar electronic transmission device pursuant to which the signature of or on behalf of such party can be seen, and such execution and delivery shall be considered valid, binding and effective for all purposes. At the request of any party hereto, all parties hereto agree to execute an original of this Agreement as well as any facsimile, telecopy or other reproduction hereof.

5.15 Aggregation of Stock . All Shares and Common Stock of the Company held or acquired by affiliated entities or persons of a Holder or Investor (including but not limited to: (a) a partner, member or other equity owner or a former partner, member or other equity owner or the estate of any partner, member or other equity owner or retired partner, member or other equity holder of a Holder or Investor that is a partnership; (b) a wholly-owned subsidiary of such Holder or Investor that is a corporation, a parent corporation that owns all of the capital stock of such Holder or Investor or the stockholders of such Holder or Investor; (c) a Family Member, or any custodian or trustee of any trust or any other corporation partnership or limited liability company for the benefit of, or the ownership interests of which are owned wholly by such Holder or Investor or any such Holder or Investor's Family Members; (d) a member or former member of an Investor that is a limited liability company; (e) an Affiliate of such Holder or Investor; or (f) funds under common management) shall be aggregated together for the purpose of determining the availability of any rights under this Agreement which are triggered by the beneficial ownership of a threshold number of shares of the Company's capital stock.

5.16 Restatement of Existing Agreement. This Agreement amends and restates, in its entirety, the Existing Agreement, which as of the date hereof shall have no further force and effect.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto have executed this Third Amended and Restated Investor Rights Agreement as of the date set forth in the first paragraph hereof.

EXECUTION VERSION

AMENDMENT NO. 1 TO THE THIRD AMENDED AND RESTATED INVESTOR RIGHTS AGREEMENT

This Amendment No. 1 to the Third Amended and Restated Investor Rights Agreement (this " Amendment ") is made as of June 30, 2014, by and among TPI Composites, Inc., a Delaware corporation (the " Company "), and the parties listed on the signature pages hereto. Capitalized terms used herein and not otherwise defined herein shall have the meanings ascribed to such terms in the Third Amended and Restated Investor Rights Agreement, dated as of June 17, 2010, by and among the Company and the parties named therein (the " Agreement ").

WHEREAS, pursuant to Section 16 of the Agreement, and subject to the qualifications set forth therein, the Agreement may be amended by a written instrument executed by (a) the Company, (b) the Holders holding not less than fifty percent (50%) of the outstanding Series A Preferred, (c) GE, so long as GE continues to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the shares of outstanding Series B Preferred, (d) Element, so long as Element and its Affiliates continue to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the outstanding Series B-1 Preferred then outstanding, and (e) Landmark, so long as Landmark continues to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the shares of capital stock of the Company owned by Landmark as of the date of the Agreement (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, recapitalizations and the like); and

WHEREAS, any such amendment so effected shall be binding on all parties to the Agreement.

NOW, THEREFORE, for good and valuable consideration, the receipt and sufficiency of which are hereby acknowledged, the undersigned hereby agree as follows:

1. The Agreement is hereby amended by the addition of the following new Section 2.15:

" 2.15 Sale of Secondary Shares in an IPO . Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, in connection with the Initial Public Offering, subject to the approval of the managing underwriter of the Initial Public Offering and compliance with all applicable laws and regulations, in the event that there is an opportunity for so-called "secondary shares" to be sold in connection with the Initial Public Offering, the total amount of secondary shares of Common Stock available to be sold shall be allocated as follows: 15.18% to Angeleno, 32.54% to Element Partners II, L.P., 0.50% to Element Partners II Intrafund, L.P., 1.79% to GE and the remaining 50% should be allocated to all the Investors pro rata based upon the aggregate number of shares of capital stock of the Company held by each such Investor on a fully-diluted basis immediately prior to the Initial Public Offering."

2. Except as expressly amended herein, the Agreement shall remain in full force and effect.

3. This Amendment shall be governed in all respects by and construed under the internal laws of the State of Delaware as such laws are applied to agreements that are entered into by and among Delaware residents while located in Delaware and that are to be performed entirely within Delaware, without regard to principles of conflicts of law.

4. This Amendment may be executed in two or more counterparts, each of which shall be deemed an original, but all of which together shall constitute one and the same instrument. This Amendment may also be executed and delivered by facsimile signature (or execution by other electronic means) and in two or more counterparts, each of which shall be deemed an original, but all of which together shall constitute one and the same instrument.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties have executed this Amendment as of the date first above written.

AGREEMENT

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the foregoing recitals and the mutual promises, representations, warranties and covenants hereinafter set forth and for other good and valuable consideration, the receipt and sufficiency of which are hereby acknowledged, the parties hereto agree as follows:

1. CERTAIN DEFINITIONS

1.1 " Affiliate " shall mean, with respect to a party hereto (or such party's successors and assigns), any person or entity that directly or indirectly, through one or more intermediaries, controls, is controlled by or is under common control with such person or entity (or such person's or entity's successors and assigns). For purposes of this definition, a person or entity shall be deemed to be "controlled by" another person or entity if the other possesses, directly or indirectly, power either (i) to vote fifty percent (50%) or more of the securities having ordinary voting power for the election of directors of such person or entity, or (ii) to direct or cause the direction of the management and policies of such person or entity whether by contract or otherwise; provided , however , that for purposes of clarity, in addition to the foregoing, with respect to any venture capital investor, "Affiliate" shall include any partnership, limited liability company or fund sharing a common management company or similar entity.

1.2 " Angeleno " shall mean Angeleno Investors II, L.P.

1.3 " Capital Stock " shall mean shares of the Company's Common Stock, par value $0.01 per share (the " Common Stock "), shares of the Company's Preferred Stock, par value $0.01 per share (the " Preferred Stock "), including the Series A Preferred, the Series B Preferred, the Series B-1 Preferred and the Series C Preferred, and any other shares of the Company's Common Stock or Preferred Stock issued or issuable upon exercise or conversion of any option, warrant or other security or right of any kind convertible into or exchangeable for such Common Stock or Preferred Stock.

1.4 " Derivative Securities " shall mean any securities or rights convertible into, or exercisable or exchangeable for (in each case, directly or indirectly), Common Stock, including options and warrants.

1.5 " Element " shall mean Element Partners II, L.P., Element Partners II Intrafund II, L.P. and their Affiliates.

1.6 " Eligible Investor " shall mean (i) any Investor who or which, at the time in question, holds at least five percent (5%) of the then outstanding shares of Capital Stock on an as-converted to Common Stock basis, (ii) GE, so long as GE and its Affiliates continue to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the Series B Preferred (or Common Stock issued or issuable upon conversion of the Series B Preferred) outstanding as of the date hereof (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, recapitalizations and the like), (iii) NGP, so long as NGP and its Affiliates continue to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the Preferred Stock held by NGP as of the date hereof (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, recapitalizations and the like), (iv) Angeleno, so long as Angeleno and its Affiliates continue to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the Preferred Stock held by Angeleno as of the date hereof (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, recapitalizations and the like) and (v) Element, so long as Element and its Affiliates continue to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the Preferred Stock held by Element as of the date hereof (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, recapitalizations and the like).

1.7 " GE " shall mean GE Capital Equity Investments, Inc.

1.8 " Landmark " shall mean Landmark IAM Growth Capital, L.P. and Landmark Growth Capital Partners, L.P. and their Affiliates.

1.9 " Liquidation Event " shall have the meaning ascribed to it in the Restated Certificate.

1.10 " Liquid Securities " shall mean (i) any security that can be immediately sold to the general public without the necessity of any federal, state or local government consent, approval or filing (other than any notice filings of the type required pursuant to Rule 144(h) under the Securities Act or Section 13 or 16 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended) and (ii) such security is listed on a national securities exchange (including NASDAQ).

1.11 " NGP " shall mean NGP Energy Technology Partners, L.P., and its Affiliates.

1.12 " Qualified IPO " shall have the meaning ascribed to it in the Restated Certificate.

1.13 " Right of First Refusal " means the rights of first refusal provided to the Company and the Eligible Investors in Sections 2.2 and 2.3 of this Agreement, and "Rights of First Refusal" shall mean more than one of the foregoing.

1.14 " Selling Holders " shall mean the Restricted Stockholders listed on Exhibit B attached hereto and the Investors and any successors and assigns thereof.

1.15 " Transfer " shall include any sale, transfer, exchange, assignment, encumbrance, hypothecation, pledge, conveyance in trust, gift, transfer by bequest, devise or descent or other transfer or disposition of any kind including, but not limited to, transfers to receivers, levying creditors, trustees or receivers in bankruptcy proceedings or general assignees for the benefit of creditors, whether voluntary or by operation of law, directly or indirectly, of any shares of Capital Stock.

Capitalized words not otherwise defined herein shall have the meaning given them in the Purchase Agreement.

2. TRANSFERS BY SELLING HOLDERS

2.1 Notice of Transfer . Before a Selling Holder may Transfer any shares of Capital Stock, such Selling Holder must comply with the provisions of this Section 2. If a Selling Holder proposes to Transfer any shares of Capital Stock, then such Selling Holder shall promptly give written notice (the " Transfer Notice ") simultaneously to the Company and to each of the Eligible Investors. The Transfer Notice shall describe in reasonable detail the proposed Transfer including, without limitation, the Selling Holder's bona fide intention to Transfer the shares of Capital Stock, the number of shares of Capital Stock to be Transferred, the nature of such Transfer, the bona fide cash price or, in reasonable detail, such other consideration for which the Selling Holder proposes to Transfer the shares (the " Offered Price ") and the name and address of each prospective purchaser or transferee. In the event that the proposed Transfer is being made pursuant to the provisions of Section 3.1 below, the Transfer Notice shall state under which provision of Section 3.1 the proposed Transfer is being made. Whenever a Selling Holder proposes to Transfer any shares of Capital Stock for consideration other than cash, the value of such non-cash consideration shall be the fair market value as determined in accordance with Section 2.4. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, any Transfer of shares of Capital Stock pursuant to this Section 2 shall be subject to the terms of Section 4.1 below.

2.2 Eligible Investor Right of First Refusal .

(a) Each Eligible Investor shall have the right, for a period of fifteen (15) calendar days following receipt of the Transfer Notice, exercisable upon written notice to the Selling Holder (the " Stockholder Notice "), to purchase such Eligible Investor's pro rata share of the Capital Stock subject to the Transfer Notice and on the same terms and conditions as set forth therein. Except as set forth in Section 2.2(c) below, such Eligible Investors that so exercise their rights (the " Participating Investors, " and each, a " Participating Investor ") shall effect the purchase of the Capital Stock, including payment of the purchase price, not more than ten (10) calendar days after delivery of the Stockholder Notice, and at such time the Selling Holder shall deliver to the Participating Investors the certificate(s) representing the Capital Stock to be purchased by the Participating Investors, each such certificate properly endorsed for transfer.

(b) Each Participating Investor's pro rata share shall be equal to the product obtained by multiplying (i) the aggregate number of shares of Capital Stock covered by the Transfer Notice by (ii) a fraction, the numerator of which is the number of shares of Common Stock issued and held, or issuable (directly or indirectly) upon conversion and/or exercise, as applicable, of the Preferred Stock and any other Derivative Securities then held at the time of the proposed Transfer by such Participating Investor and the denominator of which is the total number of shares of Common Stock (assuming full conversion and/or exercise, as applicable, of all Preferred Stock and other Derivative Securities) held by all Eligible Investors (other than the Selling Holder) at the time of the proposed Transfer described in the Transfer Notice. Subject to Section 4.1, each Participating Investor shall be entitled to apportion the right of first refusal hereby granted it among itself and its general partners, limited partners, members and Affiliates in such proportions as it deems appropriate.

(c) In the event that not all of the Eligible Investors elect to purchase their pro rata share of the Capital Stock available pursuant to their rights under Section 2.2(a) above within the time period set forth therein, then the Selling Holder shall promptly give written notice to each of the Participating Investors (the " Selling Holder's Overallotment Notice ") who purchased all of their pro rata share of such available Capital Stock (each, a " Fully Participating Investor "), which shall set forth the number of shares of Capital Stock not purchased by the Eligible Investors, and shall offer such Fully Participating Investors the right to acquire such unsubscribed shares. Each Fully Participating Investor shall have five (5) calendar days after receipt of the Selling Holder's Overallotment Notice to deliver a written notice to the Selling Holder (the " Fully Participating Investor's Overallotment Notice ") of its election to purchase its pro rata share of the unsubscribed shares on the same terms and conditions as set forth in the Selling Holder's Overallotment Notice; provided , however , that for purposes of this Section 2.2(c), the denominator described in clause (ii) of Section 2.2(b) above shall be the total number of shares of Common Stock (assuming full conversion and/or exercise, as applicable, of all Preferred Stock and other Derivative Securities) held by all Fully Participating Investors at the time of the proposed Transfer described in the Transfer Notice. Each Fully Participating Investor shall then effect the purchase of the Capital Stock, including payment of the Offered Price, not more than five (5) calendar days after delivery of its Fully Participating Investor's Overallotment Notice, and at such time, the Selling Holder shall deliver to the Fully Participating Investor the certificate(s) representing the Capital Stock to be purchased by the Fully Participating Investor, each such certificate properly endorsed for transfer.

2.3 Company Right of Refusal . If the Eligible Investors fail to provide notice of their election to exercise their right to purchase all of the Capital Stock subject to the Transfer Notice within the fifteen (15) day period set forth in Section 2.2 above, or if the Eligible Investors exercise the right to purchase less than all of the Capital Stock subject to the Transfer Notice, then the Selling Holder shall give prompt notice to the Company (the " Second Transfer Notice ") which shall set forth the number of shares of Capital Stock not purchased by the Eligible Investors and shall offer such shares to the Company. The Company shall have fifteen (15) calendar days after receipt of the Second Transfer Notice to deliver a written notice to the Selling Holder (the " Company Notice ") of its election to purchase any or all of the Capital Stock subject to the Second Transfer Notice on the same terms and conditions as set forth in the Transfer Notice. To the extent the Company elects to purchase such shares, it shall then effect the purchase of the Capital Stock, including payment of the purchase price, not more than ten (10) calendar days after delivery of the Company Notice, and at such time, the Selling Holder shall deliver to the Company the certificate(s) representing the Capital Stock to be purchased by the Company, each such certificate properly endorsed for transfer. To the extent the rights of the Company under this paragraph are inconsistent with those set forth in the Company's Bylaws, the rights under this paragraph shall prevail.

2.4 Purchase Price.

(a) The purchase price for the offered shares to be purchased by the Company or by an Eligible Investor exercising its Right of First Refusal will be the Offered Price, and will be payable as set forth in Section 2.4(b) below. If the consideration proposed to be paid for the Capital Stock is in property, services or other non-cash consideration, the fair market value of the consideration shall be as determined in good faith by the Board. If the Company or any Participating Investor cannot for any reason pay for the Capital Stock in the same form of non-cash consideration, the Company or such Participating Investor may pay the cash value equivalent thereof, as determined in good faith by the Board.

(b) Payment of the Offered Price will be made, at the option of the party exercising its Right of First Refusal, (i) in cash (by check), (ii) by wire transfer or (iii) by cancellation of all or a portion of any outstanding indebtedness of the Selling Holder to the Company or the Eligible Investor, as the case may be, or (iv) by any combination of the foregoing.

2.5 Right of Co-Sale .

(a) If the Eligible Investors and the Company fail to exercise their rights to purchase all of the Capital Stock pursuant to Sections 2.2 and 2.3 above, then following the exercise or expiration of the rights of purchase set forth in Sections 2.2 and 2.3, the Selling Holder shall deliver to the Company and each Eligible Investor (for all purposes of this Section 2.5, other than Participating Investors) written notice (the " Co-Sale Notice ") that each such Eligible Investor shall have the right, exercisable upon written notice to such Selling Holder with a copy to the Company within ten (10) calendar days after receipt of the Co-Sale Notice, to participate in such proposed Transfer of Capital Stock on the same terms and conditions as the Selling Holder. Such notice shall indicate the number of shares of Capital Stock up to that number of shares determined under Section 2.5(b) that such Eligible Investor wishes to sell under such Eligible Investor's right to participate. To the extent one or more of such Eligible Investors exercise such right of participation in accordance with the terms and conditions set forth below, the number of shares of Capital Stock that such Selling Holder may sell in the transaction shall be correspondingly reduced.

(b) Each such Eligible Investor may sell all or any part of that number of shares of Capital Stock equal to the product obtained by multiplying (i) the aggregate number of shares of Capital Stock covered by the Co-Sale Notice (which shall be the number of shares of Capital Stock set forth in the Transfer Notice not purchased by the Company pursuant to Section 2.3 above or by the Eligible Investors pursuant to Section 2.2 above) by (ii) a fraction, the numerator of which is the number of shares of Common Stock issued and held, or issuable (directly or indirectly) upon conversion and/or exercise, as applicable, of the Preferred Stock and any other Derivative Securities then held at the time of the proposed Transfer by such Eligible Investor and the denominator of which is the total number of shares of Common Stock (assuming full conversion and/or exercise, as applicable, of all Preferred Stock and other Derivative Securities) held by all Eligible Investors at the time of the proposed Transfer and the Selling Holder (provided that the Selling Holder is not an Eligible Investor). If not all of such Eligible Investors elect to sell their shares of Capital Stock proposed to be Transferred within such ten (10) calendar day period, then the Selling Holder shall promptly notify in writing the Eligible Investors who do so elect and shall offer such Eligible Investors the additional right to participate in the sale of such additional shares of Capital Stock proposed to be Transferred on the same percentage basis as set forth above in this Section 2.5(b); provided , however , that the denominator described in clause (ii) of this Section 2.5(b) shall be the total number of shares of Common Stock (assuming full conversion and/or exercise, as applicable, of all Preferred Stock and other Derivative Securities) held by all Eligible Investors electing to participate in the proposed Transfer pursuant to this Section 2.5 (each a " Co-Sale Participant ") and the Selling Holder (provided that the Selling Holder is not an Eligible Investor). Each Co-Sale Participant shall have five (5) calendar days after receipt of such notice to notify the Selling Holder in writing with a copy to the Company of its election to sell all or a portion thereof of the unsubscribed shares. Each Co-Sale Participant shall be entitled to apportion the right of first refusal hereby granted it among itself and its general partners, limited partners, members and Affiliates in such proportions as it deems appropriate.

(c) Each Co-Sale Participant shall effect its participation in the proposed Transfer by promptly delivering to the Selling Holder for transfer to the prospective purchaser one or more certificates (or, if such Co-Sale Participant alleges that such certificate has been lost, stolen or destroyed, a lost certificate affidavit and agreement reasonably acceptable to the Company to indemnify the Company against any claim that may be made against the Company on account of the alleged loss, theft or destruction of such certificate), properly endorsed for transfer, which represent the type and number of shares of Capital Stock that such Co-Sale Participant elects to sell. In the event that the prospective purchaser objects to the delivery of Preferred Stock of the Company in lieu of Common Stock, such Co-Sale Participant shall convert such Preferred Stock into Common Stock and deliver Common Stock to the prospective purchaser. The Company agrees to make any such conversion concurrent with and contingent upon the actual transfer of such shares to the purchaser.

(d) The stock certificate or certificates (or lost certificate affidavit and agreement) that the Co-Sale Participant delivers to such Selling Holder pursuant to Section 2.5(c) above shall be transferred to the prospective purchaser in consummation of the sale of the Capital Stock pursuant to the terms and conditions specified in the Co-Sale Notice, and the Selling Holder shall concurrently therewith remit to such Co-Sale Participant that portion of the sale proceeds to which such Co-Sale Participant is entitled by reason of its participation in such sale. To the extent that any prospective purchaser prohibits such assignment or otherwise refuses to purchase shares or other securities from a Co-Sale Participant exercising its rights of co-sale hereunder, such Selling Holder shall not sell to such prospective purchaser any Capital Stock unless and until, simultaneously with such sale, such Selling Holder shall purchase such shares or other securities from such Co-Sale Participant on the same terms and conditions specified in the Co-Sale Notice.

(e) The exercise or non-exercise of the rights of any Eligible Investor hereunder to participate in one or more Transfers of Capital Stock made by any Selling Holder shall not adversely affect such Eligible Investor's right to participate in subsequent Transfers of Capital Stock subject to this Section 2.

(f) To the extent that (i) the Eligible Investors and/or the Company fail to exercise their rights to purchase all of the Capital Stock pursuant to Sections 2.2 and 2.3 above and (ii) the Eligible Investors do not elect to participate in the sale of the Capital Stock subject to the Co-Sale Notice, such Selling Holder may, not later than forty-five (45) calendar days following delivery to the Company of the Co-Sale Notice, enter into an agreement providing for the closing of the Transfer of such Capital Stock covered by the Co-Sale Notice (and not otherwise reduced as a result of the application of the co-sale provisions herein) within thirty (30) calendar days of such agreement on terms and conditions not more favorable to the transferor than those described in the Co-Sale Notice. Any proposed Transfer on terms and conditions more favorable than those described in the Co-Sale Notice, as well as any subsequent proposed Transfer of any of the Capital Stock by a Selling Holder, shall again be subject to the first refusal and co-sale rights of the Company and/or the Eligible Investors and shall require compliance by a Selling Holder with the procedures described in this Section 2.

3. EXEMPT TRANSFERS

3.1 Exempted Transfers . Notwithstanding the foregoing, the first refusal and co-sale rights of the Eligible Investors and the Company set forth in Section 2 above shall not apply to any Transfer by a Selling Holder to an individual or entity that (a) is a partner, member, or other equity owner or retired partner, member or other equity owner of a Selling Holder that is a partnership so long as such Transfer is in accordance with partnership interests and made pursuant to the terms of such Selling Holder's partnership agreement; (b) is a wholly-owned subsidiary of a Selling Holder that is a corporation, a parent corporation that owns all of the capital stock of the Selling Holder or the stockholders of such Selling Holder in accordance with their ownership of such Selling Holder; (c) is a member or former member of any Selling Holder that is a limited liability company so long as such Transfer is in accordance with their interest in the limited liability company and made pursuant to the terms of such Selling Holder's limited liability company agreement; (d) is a spouse, child (natural or adopted), or any other direct lineal descendants of such Selling Holder (or his or her spouse) (each, a " Family Member "), or any custodian or trustee of any trust or any other corporation, partnership or limited liability company for the benefit of, or the ownership interests of which are owned wholly by such Selling Holder or any such Selling Holder's Family Members; (e) subject to applicable securities laws, is an Affiliate of such Selling Holder; (f) subject to applicable securities laws, is an Affiliated partnership, limited liability company or fund managed by a Selling Holder or any of their respective directors, officers, partners or members; or (g) does not involve any change in beneficial ownership; provided , however , that in the event of any Transfer made pursuant to one of the exemptions provided above, (i) the Selling Holder shall inform the Company and the Eligible Investors of such Transfer prior to effecting it, and (ii) the transferee shall enter into a written agreement to be bound by and comply with all provisions of this Agreement as if such transferee were an original Selling Holder hereunder, including without limitation Section 2 above. Such transferee shall be treated as a "Selling Holder" for purposes of this Agreement and such Capital Stock and Selling Holder shall be subject to all obligations and restrictions contained herein to the extent such obligations and restrictions including, without limitation, the first refusal and the co-sale obligations contained herein, apply to shares of Capital Stock and to Selling Holders pursuant to the terms of this Agreement. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, any Transfer of shares of Capital Stock pursuant to this Section 3.1 shall be subject to the terms of Section 4.1 below.

3.2 Exempted Offerings . Notwithstanding the foregoing, the first refusal and co-sale rights of the Stockholders and the Company set forth in Section 2 above shall not apply to (a) the sale of any Capital Stock to the public pursuant to a registration statement filed with, and declared effective by, the Securities and Exchange Commission under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the " Securities Act "), or (b) any Transfer to the Company or a Stockholder pursuant to the terms of this Agreement.

4. PROHIBITED TRANSFERS; PUT OPTION

4.1 Prohibited Transfers .

(a) No Selling Holder shall Transfer any Capital Stock (or assign any rights hereunder) to any Competitor or Customer of the Company without the Company's prior written consent.

(b) A " Competitor " means (i) any person or entity that, either directly or indirectly, for its own account (whether alone or jointly with others), or as the holder of a 25% or greater ownership interest in any entity, engages in any business activity that competes in the wind energy business or manufactures a brand or type of wind blades that competes with those of the Company and/or its subsidiaries, including, without limitation, GE Energy Infrastructure, a division of General Electric Company, Aerpac, Vestas, Nordex, LM Glasfiber and Abeking & Rasmussen, Toray (an " Actual Competitor ") or (ii) any Affiliate of an Actual Competitor (a " Competitor Affiliate "); provided , however , that a Competitor Affiliate shall not be deemed a Competitor hereunder if (x) such Competitor Affiliate is not itself an Actual Competitor, (y) such Competitor Affiliate is only a Competitor Affiliate by virtue of it being under "common control" with an Actual Competitor and (z) the Company has entered into a confidentiality agreement (an " Affiliate Confidentiality Agreement ") with such Competitor Affiliate preventing the disclosure of confidential information by such Competitor Affiliate to its Affiliate that is an Actual Competitor. If an Eligible Investor requests in writing that the Company enter into an Affiliate Confidentiality Agreement with a Competitor Affiliate that meets the requirements set forth in clauses (x) and (y) above, the Company shall do so unless the holders of a majority of the outstanding Series A Preferred (excluding such Eligible Investor for all purposes of such vote), the holders of a majority of the outstanding Series B Preferred (excluding such Eligible Investor for all purposes of such vote), the holders of a majority of the outstanding Series B-1 Preferred (excluding such Eligible Investor for all purposes of such vote) and the holders of a majority of the outstanding Common Stock (excluding such Eligible Investor for all purposes of such vote), each voting as a separate class, determine that such Competitor Affiliate is an Actual Competitor. The Company shall provide written notice of a request by an Eligible Investor that the Company enter into an Affiliate Confidentiality Agreement to all holders of outstanding Common Stock, Series A Preferred, Series B Preferred and Series B-1 Preferred within ten (10) days of its receipt of such request. The parties hereto acknowledge and agree that as of the date hereof GE is neither an Actual Competitor nor is it otherwise deemed to be a Competitor by virtue of it having signed an Affiliate Confidentiality Agreement and satisfying the aforementioned requirements not to be deemed to be a Competitor.

(c) A " Customer " means (i) any person or entity that, either directly or indirectly, for its own account (whether alone or jointly with others), or as the holder of a 25% or greater ownership interest in any entity, purchases any products or services produced and sold by the Company (an " Actual Customer ") or (ii) any Affiliate of an Actual Customer (a " Customer Affiliate "); provided , however , that a Customer Affiliate shall not be deemed a Customer hereunder if (x) such Customer Affiliate is not itself an Actual Customer, (y) such Customer Affiliate is only a Customer Affiliate by virtue of it being under "common control" with an Actual Customer and (z) the Company has entered into an Affiliate Confidentiality Agreement with such Customer Affiliate preventing the disclosure of confidential information by such Customer Affiliate to its Affiliate that is an Actual Customer. If an Eligible Investor requests in writing that the Company enter into an Affiliate Confidentiality Agreement with a Customer Affiliate that meets the requirements set forth in clauses (x) and (y) above, the Company shall do so unless the holders of a majority of the outstanding Series A Preferred (excluding such Eligible Investor for all purposes of such vote), the holders of a majority of the outstanding Series B Preferred (excluding such Eligible Investor for all purposes of such vote), the holders of a majority of the outstanding Series B-1 Preferred (excluding such Eligible Investor for all purposes of such vote) and the holders of a majority of the outstanding Common Stock (excluding such Eligible Investor for all purposes of such vote), each voting as a separate class, determine that such Customer Affiliate is an Actual Customer. The Company shall provide written notice of a request by an Eligible Investor that the Company enter into an Affiliate Confidentiality Agreement to all holders of outstanding Common Stock, Series A Preferred, Series B Preferred and Series B-1 Preferred within ten (10) days of its receipt of such request. The parties hereto acknowledge and agree that as of the date hereof GE is neither an Actual Customer nor is it otherwise deemed to be a Customer by virtue of it having signed an Affiliate Confidentiality Agreement and satisfying the aforementioned requirements not to be deemed to be a Customer.

(d) Notwithstanding anything contained herein to the contrary, GE shall be permitted to Transfer any Capital Stock (or assign any rights hereunder) to any entity that is controlled by General Electric Capital Corporation or its subsidiaries so long as (i) such entity is not an Actual Competitor or an Actual Customer and (ii) such entity enters into or becomes a party to an Affiliate Confidentiality Agreement with the Company or becomes a party to the Confidentiality Agreement dated as of March 4, 2008 by and between TPI, Inc. (" TPI , Inc. ") and GE Capital Equity Capital Group, Inc., as amended (the " GE Confidentiality Agreement ") by signing a joinder agreement with TPI, Inc., which such joinder agreement TPI, Inc. shall sign promptly following a request to do so, so long as the party being added to the GE Confidentiality Agreement pursuant to the joinder agreement is General Electric Capital Corporation or one of its subsidiaries; provided , however , that in no event shall GE Energy Infrastructure, a division of General Electric Company, or its subsidiaries directly or indirectly hold any equity securities in any such entity or the Company without the prior written consent of the Company.

(e) In the event that a Selling Holder should Transfer any Capital Stock in contravention of the co-sale rights of each Eligible Investor under Section 2.5 above, or in violation of the terms of this Section 4.1 (a " Prohibited Transfer "), each such Eligible Investor, in addition to such other remedies as may be available at law, in equity or hereunder, shall have the put option provided below, and such Selling Holder shall be bound by the applicable provisions of such option.

4.2 Put Option . In the event of a Prohibited Transfer, each such Eligible Investor shall have the right, in addition to such remedies as may be available by law, in equity or hereunder, to sell to such Selling Holder and such Selling Holder shall have the obligation to purchase the type and number of shares of Capital Stock equal to the number of shares each such Eligible Investor would have been entitled to Transfer to the purchaser under Section 2.5 above had the Prohibited Transfer been effected pursuant to and in compliance with the terms hereof. Such sale shall be made on the following terms and conditions:

(a) The price per share at which the shares of Capital Stock are to be sold to the Selling Holder shall be equal to the price per share paid by the purchaser to such Selling Holder in such Prohibited Transfer. The Selling Holder shall also reimburse each Eligible Investor for any and all fees and expenses, including legal fees and expenses, incurred in connection with the exercise or the attempted exercise of the Eligible Investor's rights under this section.

(b) Within ninety (90) calendar days after the date on which an Eligible Investor received notice of the Prohibited Transfer or otherwise became aware of the Prohibited Transfer, such Eligible Investor shall, if exercising the option created hereby, deliver to the Selling Holder the certificate or certificates (or lost certificate affidavit and agreement) representing the shares to be sold, each such certificate properly endorsed for transfer.

(c) Such Selling Holder shall, upon receipt of the certificate or certificates (or lost certificate affidavit and agreement) for the shares to be sold by an Eligible Investor, pursuant to this Section 4, pay the aggregate purchase price therefor and the amount of reimbursable fees and expenses, as specified in Section 4.2(a) above, in cash or by other means acceptable to the Investor.

5. DIRECTOR VOTING AGREEMENTS; DRAG ALONG; VOTING AGREEMENT

5.1 Agreement to Vote . Each Investor hereby agrees to hold all of the shares of voting Capital Stock of the Company registered in its name or beneficially owned by them (and any securities of the Company issued with respect to, upon conversion of, or in exchange or substitution of such voting Capital Stock, and any other voting securities of the Company subsequently acquired by such Investor) (hereinafter collectively referred to as the " Investor Shares ") subject to, and to vote the Investor Shares at a regular or special meeting of the stockholders of the Company (or by written consent) in accordance with, the provisions of this Agreement. Each Restricted Stockholder hereby agrees on behalf of himself or itself to hold all of the shares of voting Capital Stock registered in its name or beneficially owned by it (and any securities of the Company issued with respect to, upon conversion of, or in exchange or substitution for such securities, and any other voting securities of the Company subsequently acquired by such Restricted Stockholder) (hereinafter collectively referred to as the " Common Stockholder Shares ," together with the Investor Shares, the " Voting Securities ") subject to, and to vote the Common Stockholder Shares at a regular or special meeting of Stockholders (or by written consent) in accordance with, the provisions of this Agreement.

5.2 Board Size . The holders of Investor Shares and Common Stockholder Shares shall vote at a regular or special meeting of Stockholders (or by written consent) the Voting Securities owned by such Stockholders to ensure that the size of the Board shall be set and remain at nine (9) directors; provided , however , that such Board size (i) may be subsequently increased or decreased pursuant to an amendment of this Agreement in accordance with Section 8.6 hereof and the Company's Restated Certificate or (ii) may be increased or decreased in connection with the election or removal of any Joint Designees.

5.3 Election of Directors .

(a) At each annual meeting of the stockholders of the Company, or at any meeting of the stockholders of the Company at which members of the Board are to be elected or whenever members of the Board are to be elected by written consent of the stockholders of the Company, the Stockholders agree to vote or act with respect to the Voting Securities so as to elect, the following individuals:

(i) The one (1) Series A Designee (as defined below) as the Series A Director; and

(ii) The one (1) Series B-1 Designee (as defined below) as the Series B-1 Director; and

(iii) The one (1) Series C Designee (as defined below) as the Series C Director; and

(iv) The four (4) Common Designees (as defined below) as the Common Directors; and

(v) The one (1) CEO Designee (as defined below) as the Mutual Director; and

(vi) Any Joint Designees (as defined below) as the Joint Directors.

(b) Designation of Directors .

The designees to the Board described above (each, a " Designee ") shall be selected as follows:

(i) The " Series A Designee " shall be chosen by NGP for so long as NGP holds not less than twenty percent (20%) of the shares of Series A Preferred and/or Common Stock issued upon conversion thereof originally issued to NGP (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, recapitalizations and the like). It is understood that for so long as NGP shall be entitled to such nominee on the Board pursuant to this Section 5.3(b)(i), then such Series A Designee shall be elected as the Series A Director. As of the date hereof, the Series A Designee is Philip Deutch.

(ii) The " Series B-1 Designee " shall be chosen by Element for so long as Element holds not less than fifty percent (50%) of the shares of Series B-1 Preferred owned by Element as of the date hereof (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, recapitalizations and the like). It is understood that for so long as Element shall be entitled to such nominee on the Board pursuant to this Section 5.3(b)(ii), then such Series B-1 Designee shall be elected as the Series B-1 Director. The obligation of the Stockholders to vote or act with respect to the Voting Securities so as to elect the Series B-1 Designee shall remain in effect even if less than twenty percent (20%) of the shares of Series A Preferred originally issued remain outstanding. As of the date hereof, the Series B-1 Designee is Michael DeRosa.

(iii) The " Series C Designee " shall be chosen by Angeleno for so long as Angeleno holds not less than fifty percent (50%) of the shares of Series C Preferred owned by Angeleno as of the date hereof (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, recapitalizations and the like). It is understood that for so long as Angeleno shall be entitled to such nominee on the Board pursuant to this Section 5.3(b)(iii), then such Series C Designee shall be elected as the Series C Director. The obligation of the Stockholders to vote or act with respect to the Voting Securities so as to elect the Series C Designee shall remain in effect even if less than twenty percent (20%) of the shares of Series A Preferred originally issued remain outstanding. As of the date hereof, the Series C Designee is Daniel Weiss.

(iv) The " Common Designees " shall be chosen by Investors associated with Landmark for so long as Landmark holds not less than fifty percent (50%) of the shares of Common Stock owned by Landmark as of the date hereof (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, recapitalizations and the like), and otherwise, by the holders of not less than a majority of the shares of Common Stock then outstanding. As of the date hereof, three (3) of the Common Designees are Paul Giovacchini, Scott Humber and Wayne Monie. It is understood that for so long as Landmark shall be entitled to such nominees on the Board pursuant to this Section 5.3(b)(iv), then the Common Designees shall be elected in their capacity as the Common Directors.

(v) The " CEO Designee " shall be the Company's then-current Chief Executive Officer. In the event that the person serving as the CEO Designee ceases to serve as the Chief Executive Officer of the Company, each Stockholder, on behalf of itself and any transferee or assignee of any shares of the Company's Voting Securities, agrees to (A) vote all Voting Securities for the removal of such director at the request of a majority of the Board excluding the director to be so removed and (B) upon any such removal, elect such person's replacement as Chief Executive Officer of the Company as the new CEO Designee.

(vi) The " Joint Designees " shall be chosen, subject to the terms of Section C.5(b)(vi) of Article IV of the Restated Certificate, by Investors holding a majority of the outstanding shares of Series A Preferred and a majority of the outstanding shares of Common Stock, each voting as a separate class. As of the date hereof, the Joint Designees are Jack Henry and Pat Wood, III.

5.4 Drag Along .

(a) If, on or before October 9, 2012, the Company has not been subject to a Liquidation Event or a Qualified IPO (each, a " Liquidity Event "), the Board shall actively pursue a Liquidity Event if so requested by (i) the holders of at least fifty percent (50%) of the then outstanding shares of the Preferred Stock (including the Common Stock issued or issuable upon conversion of the Preferred Stock) or (ii) the holders of a majority of the then outstanding shares of Common Stock. If the Company obtains the requisite approval from (x) the Board and (y) the Company's stockholders (as required by Delaware law and the Restated Certificate) for a Liquidity Event, then each Stockholder agrees that such Stockholder shall: (i) vote any and all Voting Securities held by such Stockholder, or as to which such Stockholder has voting power, in favor of the consummation of the proposed Liquidity Event, at any meeting of stockholders of the Company at which such transactions are considered, by proxy or in any written consent of stockholders of the Company relating thereto, (ii) if applicable, tender all shares of Capital Stock held by such Stockholder, or as to which such Stockholder has power of disposition, which are the subject of such proposed Liquidity Event in accordance with the terms of the proposed Liquidity Event, (iii) consent to and raise no objection against the proposed Liquidity Event, (iv) if applicable, waive any dissenters' rights, preemptive rights, appraisal rights or similar rights, as the case may be, and (v) use its reasonable efforts to take all other actions, including entering into appropriate agreements and other documents, reasonably required in order to effectuate fully the Liquidity Event.

(b) Notwithstanding the foregoing, a holder of Series A Preferred will not be required to comply with Section 5.4(a) if the amount of cash proceeds or Liquid Securities per share of Series A Preferred received by such holder upon the Liquidity Event is less than the Series A Liquidation Amount (as such term is defined in the Restated Certificate). Notwithstanding the foregoing, a holder of Series B Preferred will not be required to comply with Section 5.4(a) if the amount of cash proceeds or Liquid Securities per share of Series B Preferred received by such holder upon the Liquidity Event is less than the Series B Liquidation Amount (as such term is defined in the Restated Certificate). Notwithstanding the foregoing, a holder of Series B-1 Preferred will not be required to comply with Section 5.4(a) if the amount of cash proceeds or Liquid Securities per share of Series B-1 Preferred received by such holder upon the Liquidity Event is less than the Series B-1 Liquidation Amount (as such term is defined in the Restated Certificate). Notwithstanding the foregoing, a holder of Series C Preferred will not be required to comply with Section 5.4(a) if the amount of cash proceeds or Liquid Securities per share of Series C Preferred received by such holder upon the Liquidity Event is less than the Series C Liquidation Amount (as such term is defined in the Restated Certificate).

(c) Notwithstanding the foregoing, a Stockholder will not be required to comply with Section 5.4(a) above in connection with any proposed Liquidation Event (the " Proposed Sale ") unless:

(i) any representations and warranties to be made by such Stockholder in connection with the Proposed Sale are limited to customary representations and warranties related to authority, ownership and the ability to convey title to such shares of as follows: (A) the Stockholder holds all right, title and interest in and to the shares of Capital Stock such Stockholder purports to hold, free and clear of all liens and encumbrances, (B) the obligations of the Stockholder in connection with the transaction have been duly authorized, if applicable, (C) the documents to be entered into by the Stockholder have been duly executed by the Stockholder and delivered to the acquirer and are enforceable against the Stockholder in accordance with their respective terms, (D) neither the execution and delivery of documents to be entered into in connection with the transaction, nor the performance of the Stockholder's obligations thereunder, will cause a breach or violation of the terms of any material agreement, law or judgment, order or decree of any court or governmental agency, and (E) any other reasonably requested customary representations and warranties for such Stockholders;

(ii) the Stockholder shall not be liable for the inaccuracy of any representation or warranty made by any other person or entity in connection with the Proposed Sale, other than the Company on a pro rata basis as described below (except to the extent that funds may be paid out of an escrow established to cover breaches of representations, warranties and covenants of the Company as well as breaches by any stockholder of any of identical representations, warranties and covenants provided by all stockholders);

(iii) the liability for indemnification, if any, of such Stockholder in the Proposed Sale and for the inaccuracy of any representations and warranties made by the Company in connection with such Proposed Sale, is several and not joint with any other person (except to the extent that funds may be paid out of an escrow established to cover breaches of representations, warranties and covenants of the Company as well as breaches by any stockholder of any of identical representations, warranties and covenants provided by all stockholders, and is pro rata in proportion to the amount of consideration paid to such Stockholder in connection with such Proposed Sale (in accordance with the provisions of the Restated Certificate);

(iv) liability shall be limited to such Stockholder's applicable share (determined based on the respective proceeds payable to each Stockholder in connection with such Proposed Sale in accordance with the provisions of the Restated Certificate) of a negotiated aggregate indemnification amount that applies to all stockholders on a pro rata basis

but that in no event exceeds the amount of consideration otherwise payable to such Stockholder in connection with such Proposed Sale, except with respect to claims related to fraud by such Stockholder, the liability for which need not be limited as to such Stockholder; and

(v) the dollar amount of the escrow, if any, in connection with such Proposed Sale is (A) less than or equal to fifteen percent (15%) of the aggregate consideration payable in connection with such Proposed Sale and (B) less than or equal to thirty percent (30%) of the aggregate consideration payable to the equityholders of the Company in connection with such Proposed Sale.

(d) The Company shall cause to be included in all instruments (including the Company's stock incentive plans and all future grants and/or agreements thereunder and all future agreements pursuant to which the Company issues any securities) pursuant to which it issues shares of Capital Stock or other securities, including, without limitation, issuances of restricted stock, stock options, convertible securities and warrants, (i) "drag-along" provisions substantially identical to those provided for in this Section 5.4 and (ii) "market stand-off provisions" substantially identical to those provided for in the Company's Third Amended and Restated Investor Rights Agreement of even date herewith, by and among the Company and the parties thereto (the " Investor Rights Agreement "). In addition, the Company shall cause each future holder of at least one percent (1%) of the Company's then outstanding shares of Capital Stock to become a party to this Agreement as a "Restricted Stockholder."

(e) If the Company or the holders of any of the Company's securities enter into any negotiation or transaction for which Rule 506 (or any similar rule then in effect) promulgated by the Securities Exchange Commission under the Securities Act may be available with respect to such negotiation or transaction (including, without limitation, a merger, consolidation or other reorganization), all holders of Voting Securities who are not "accredited investors" (as such term is defined in Rule 501 (or any similar rule then in effect) promulgated by the Securities Exchange Commission under the Securities Act (" Rule 501 ") will, at the request of the Company, consent to the appointment of a purchaser representative as defined in Rule 501 on their behalf, which purchaser representative shall be acceptable to the Company. The fees and expenses of such purchaser representative shall be paid from the proceeds to be distributed to such holders of Voting Securities.

5.5 Irrevocability of Votes; Proxy . The voting agreements contained herein are coupled with an interest and may not be revoked during the term of this Agreement. To secure the Stockholders' obligations to vote (including by written consent) their respective shares in accordance with this Agreement, each Stockholder hereby appoints the Chairman of the Board or the Chief Executive Officer, or either of their respective designees, as such Stockholder's true and lawful proxy and attorney, with the power to act alone and with full power of substitution, to vote (including by written consent) all of such Stockholder's Voting Securities in favor of the matters set forth in this Agreement, if and only if, such Stockholder fails to vote (including by written consent) all of such Stockholder's Voting Securities in accordance with the provisions of this Agreement within five (5) days of the Company's or any other party's written request for such Stockholder's written consent or signature. The proxy and power granted by each Stockholder pursuant to this section are coupled with an interest and are given to secure the performance of such party's duties under this Agreement. Each such proxy and power will be irrevocable for the term hereof. The proxy and power, so long as any party hereto is an individual, will survive the death, incompetency and disability of such party or any other individual holder of the shares and, so long as any party hereto is an entity, will survive the merger or reorganization of such party or any other entity holding any shares of Capital Stock of each Stockholder.

5.6 Additional Shares. In the event that subsequent to the date of this Agreement any shares or other securities (other than pursuant to a Liquidation Event) are issued on, or in exchange for, any of the Voting Securities by reason of any stock dividend, stock split, consolidation of shares, reclassification or consolidation involving the Company, such shares or securities shall be deemed to be Voting Securities for purposes of this Agreement.

5.7 Replacement and Removal of Designees.

(a) In the event that any Stockholder or group of Stockholders shall determine to remove from office any Designee of such Stockholder or group of Stockholders in accordance with Section 5.3 above, for any or no reason, with or without cause, each and every one of the Stockholders shall take all actions necessary to cause such removal to be effected promptly.

(b) In the event of the death, termination, removal or resignation of any member of the Board (including the Mutual Director), each and every one of the Stockholders shall take all actions necessary and appropriate to cause such vacancy to be filled by an individual designated by the Stockholder or group of Stockholders entitled to designate a Board member to fill such vacancy.

(c) The Stockholders will not vote any Voting Securities of the Company owned directly or indirectly by them to elect or remove any director in contravention of any other provision of this Agreement.

5.8 Termination. The provisions in Section 5 of this Agreement shall terminate upon the earlier to occur of (a) the consummation of a Liquidation Event, (b) the closing of a Qualified IPO or (c) upon the written consent of (i) the Company, (ii) Landmark, so long as Landmark continues to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the shares of Common Stock owned by Landmark as of the date hereof (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, recapitalizations and the like), and otherwise, the holders holding not less than a majority of the shares of Common Stock then outstanding, (iii) the holders of at least seventy percent (70%) of the then outstanding shares of Series A Preferred (or Common Stock issued or issuable upon conversion of the Series A Preferred), so long as at least twenty percent (20%) of the shares of Series A Preferred (or Common Stock issued or issuable upon conversion of the Series A Preferred) issued as of the date hereof remain outstanding (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, recapitalizations and the like), (iv) GE, so long as GE and its Affiliates continue to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the Series B Preferred (or Common Stock issued or issuable upon conversion of the Series B Preferred) then outstanding, and otherwise, the holders of at least fifty percent (50%) of the then outstanding shares of Series B Preferred and (v) Element, so long as Element and its Affiliates continue to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the Series B-1

Preferred then outstanding, and otherwise, the holders of at least fifty percent (50%) of the then outstanding shares of Series B-1 Preferred.

6. LEGENDS

6.1 Shares held by Selling Holders. All certificates representing any shares of Capital Stock held by Selling Holders subject to the provisions of this Agreement shall, in addition to such other legends as may be required, have endorsed thereon a legend to substantially the following effect:

> THE RIGHT TO SELL, TRANSFER OR OTHERWISE DISPOSE OF OR PLEDGE THE SECURITIES REPRESENTED BY THIS CERTIFICATE IS SUBJECT TO CERTAIN RESTRICTIONS, WHICH INCLUDE RIGHT OF FIRST REFUSAL AND CO-SALE RESTRICTIONS ON THE SALE OF THE SECURITIES, SET FORTH IN A THIRD AMENDED AND RESTATED RIGHT OF FIRST REFUSAL, CO-SALE AND VOTING AGREEMENT. A COPY OF SUCH AGREEMENT IS ON FILE AT THE ISSUER'S PRINCIPAL PLACE OF BUSINESS.

6.2 Stockholder Stock. All certificates representing any shares of (or held by) a Stockholder subject to the provisions of this Agreement shall, in addition to such other legends as may be required, have endorsed thereon a legend to substantially the following effect:

> THE SECURITIES REPRESENTED BY THIS CERTIFICATE ARE SUBJECT TO CERTAIN COVENANTS AS SET FORTH IN A THIRD AMENDED AND RESTATED RIGHT OF FIRST REFUSAL, CO-SALE AND VOTING AGREEMENT. A COPY OF SUCH AGREEMENT IS ON FILE AT THE ISSUER'S PRINCIPAL PLACE OF BUSINESS.

6.3 Certificate Endorsement. Each Stockholder holding certificate(s) that are to be endorsed with the legend(s) set forth above shall take any and all actions, and shall cause any transferee or any other holder of said certificate(s) (as the case may be) to take any and all actions, to cause such certificates to be so endorsed, including without limitation the return of such certificate(s) to the Company for proper endorsement.

7. TRANSFER OF STOCK

7.1 General. To ensure compliance with the restrictions referred to herein, each Stockholder agrees that the Company may issue appropriate "stop-transfer" instructions. The Company shall not (a) permit any transfer on its books of any of its shares which shall have been Transferred in violation of any of the provisions set forth in this Agreement or (b) treat as owner of such shares or to accord the right to vote as owner or to pay dividends to any transferee to whom such shares shall have been Transferred in violation of any of the provisions set forth in this Agreement.

7.2 Transfers by Stockholders. Without limiting any other provision of this Agreement, in the event of any Transfer of Capital Stock by a Stockholder, the transferee shall enter into a written agreement to be bound by and comply with all provisions of this Agreement, as if such transferee were an original Stockholder hereunder. Such transferee shall be treated either as an "Eligible Investor" or as a "Selling Holder", as applicable (based upon whether the Capital Stock was Transferred by a Selling Holder or Eligible Investor) for purposes of this Agreement and shall be subject to all obligations and restrictions contained herein to the extent such obligations and restrictions apply to Selling Holders pursuant to the terms of this Agreement.

8. MISCELLANEOUS

8.1 Governing Law. This Agreement shall be governed in all respects by and construed under the internal laws of the State of Delaware as such laws are applied to agreements that are entered into by and among Delaware residents while located in Delaware and that are to be performed entirely within Delaware, without regard to principles of conflicts of law.

8.2 Jurisdiction; Venue. The parties (a) hereby irrevocably and unconditionally submit to the jurisdiction of the federal and state courts located within the geographic boundaries of the United States District Court for the District of Delaware for the purpose of any suit, action or other proceeding arising out of or based upon this Agreement, (b) agree not to commence any suit, action or other proceeding arising out of or based upon this Agreement except in the federal and state courts located within the geographic boundaries of the United States District Court for the District of Delaware, and (c) hereby waive, and agree not to assert, by way of motion, as a defense, or otherwise, in any such suit, action or proceeding, any claim that it is not subject personally to the jurisdiction of the above-named courts, that its property is exempt or immune from attachment or execution, that the suit, action or proceeding is brought in an inconvenient forum, that the venue of the suit, action or proceeding is improper or that this Agreement or the subject matter hereof may not be enforced in or by such court.

8.3 Waiver of Jury Trial. EACH OF THE PARTIES HERETO HEREBY VOLUNTARILY AND IRREVOCABLY WAIVES TRIAL BY JURY IN ANY ACTION OR OTHER PROCEEDING BROUGHT IN CONNECTION WITH THIS AGREEMENT, ANY OF THE OTHER AGREEMENTS OR ANY OF THE TRANSACTIONS CONTEMPLATED HEREBY OR THEREBY.

8.4 Equitable Remedies. Each of the parties hereto acknowledges and agrees that irreparable harm would occur in the event that any of the terms and provisions of this Agreement, including but not limited to those of Section 5 hereof, were not performed fully by the parties hereto in accordance with their specific terms or conditions or were otherwise breached, and that money damages are an inadequate remedy for breach of this Agreement because of the difficulty of ascertaining and quantifying the amount of damage that will be suffered by the parties hereto in the event that this Agreement is not performed in accordance with its terms or conditions or is otherwise breached. It is accordingly hereby agreed that the parties hereto shall be entitled to seek a temporary or permanent injunction or temporary or permanent injunctions to restrain, enjoin and prevent breaches of this Agreement by the other parties and to enforce specifically such terms and provisions of this Agreement in any court of the United States or any state having jurisdiction, such remedy being cumulative and in addition to (and not in lieu of) any other rights and remedies to which the parties are entitled to at law or in equity. Each party hereto specifically waives any claim or defense that there is an adequate remedy at law for any breach or threatened breach of Section 5 hereof.

8.5 Assignment of Rights. Subject to the provisions of this Agreement, this Agreement and the rights and obligations of the parties hereunder shall inure to the benefit of, and be binding upon, their respective successors, assigns and legal representatives. In furtherance and not in limitation of the foregoing, the rights of the Eligible Investors contained in this Agreement may be transferred or assigned by an Eligible Investor to a transferee or assignee of Capital Stock that (a) is a partner, member, or other equity owner or retired partner, member or other equity owner of an Eligible Investor that is a partnership so long as such Transfer is in accordance with partnership interests and made pursuant to the terms of such Eligible Investor's partnership agreement; (b) is a wholly owned subsidiary of an Eligible Investor that is a corporation, a parent corporation that owns all of the capital stock of such Eligible Investor or the stockholders of such Eligible Investor in accordance with their ownership of such Eligible Investor; (c) is a member or former member of any Eligible Investor that is a limited liability company so long as such Transfer is in accordance with their interest in the limited liability company and made pursuant to the terms of such Eligible Investor's limited liability company agreement; (d) is a Family Member or any custodian or trustee of any trust or any other corporation, partnership or limited liability company for the benefit of, or the ownership interests of which are owned wholly by such Eligible Investor or any such Eligible Investor's Family Members; (e) is an Affiliate of such Eligible Investor; (f) is an Affiliated partnership, limited liability company or fund managed by an Eligible Investor or any of their respective directors, officers, partners or members; or (g) acquires not less than ten percent (10%) of the shares of Capital Stock (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, recapitalizations and the like) held by the Eligible Investor measured as of the date such Eligible Investor became a party to this Agreement; provided , however , that (i) the transferor shall, within a reasonable time after such transfer, furnish to the Company written notice of the name and address of such transferee or assignee and the securities with respect to which such transfer or assignment is being made and (ii) such transferee shall agree to be subject to all restrictions set forth in this Agreement. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, any assignment of rights or obligations pursuant to this Section 8.5 shall be subject to the terms of Section 4.1 above.

8.6 Amendment and Waiver.

(a) Any provision of this Agreement may be amended and the observance thereof may be waived (either generally or in a particular instance and either retroactively or prospectively) or this Agreement terminated, only by the written consent of (i) the Company, (ii) Landmark, so long as Landmark continues to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the shares of Capital Stock owned by Landmark as of the date hereof (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, recapitalizations and the like), and otherwise, the holders holding not less than a majority of the shares of Common Stock then outstanding, (iii) the holders of at least a majority of the then outstanding shares of Series A Preferred and/or Common Stock issued upon the conversion thereof, (iv) GE, so long as GE continues to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the shares of Series B Preferred then outstanding, and otherwise, the holders of at least a majority of the then outstanding shares of Series B Preferred and (v) Element, so long as

Element and its Affiliates continue to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the Series B-1 Preferred then outstanding, and otherwise, the holders of at least fifty percent (50%) of the then outstanding shares of Series B-1 Preferred; provided, however , the written consent of GE, the holders of Series B Preferred, Element and the holders of Series B-1 Preferred, as the case may be, described in clauses (iv) and (v) above shall not be required for any amendment or modification to this Agreement effected solely to afford rights to the holders of a Permitted Security (as defined in the Company's Fifth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation) that are, individually and in the aggregate, not greater than nor senior to the rights afforded to GE, the holders of the Series B Preferred, Element or the holders of the Series B-1 Preferred, respectively, hereunder as of the date hereof (other than with respect to any entitlement to designate or elect one or more directors) (such rights in the aggregate, the " Permitted Rights "), so long as such amendment or modification does not contain provisions other than Permitted Rights and does not increase the obligations of GE, the holders of the Series B Preferred, Element or the holders of the Series B-1 Preferred hereunder; provided, further, that the written consent of holders holding not less than seventy percent (70%) of the then outstanding shares of Series A Preferred and/or Common Stock issued upon the conversion thereof shall be required to amend, waive, alter, or repeal (i) the voting thresholds in Sections 5.4(a), the provisions of the first sentence of 5.4(b), 5.4(c) as applicable to the Series A Preferred, 5.8, 8.6(a) or 8.7 or the definition of "Eligible Investor" as it applies to the Holders of the Series A Preferred, or (ii) any other provision in this Agreement if such amendment, waiver, alteration, or repeal will have a material adverse effect upon any of the rights, privileges, preferences, or obligations of Angeleno or its Affiliates that is disproportionate from the effect of such amendment, waiver, alteration, or repeal on any other holders of shares of Preferred Stock provided, further, that the written consent of GE or the holders of the Series B Preferred described in clause (iv) above shall in any event be required to amend, waive, alter or repeal (i) the provisions of Section 4.1 as they apply to GE or the Series B Preferred, (ii) the provisions of the second sentence of Section 5.4(b) and Section 5.4(c) as applicable to GE or the Series B Preferred, (iii) the voting thresholds of Sections 8.6(a) or 8.7, as applicable to GE or the Series B Preferred, (iv) the definition of "Eligible Investor" as it applies to GE or the Holders of the Series B Preferred; and (v) any other provision in this Agreement if such amendment, waiver, alteration, or repeal will have a material adverse effect upon any of the rights, privileges, preferences, or obligations of GE or the Holders of the Series B Preferred that is disproportionate from the effect of such amendment, waiver, alteration, or repeal on any other holders of shares of Preferred Stock; provided, further, that the written consent of Element or the Holders of the Series B-1 Preferred described in clause (v) above shall in any event be required to amend, waive, alter or repeal (i) the voting thresholds in Sections 5.4(a), the provisions of the third sentence of 5.4(b), 5.4(c) as applicable to Element or the Series B-1 Preferred, 5.8, 8.6(a) or 8.7, or the definition of "Eligible Investor" as it applies to Element or the Holders of the Series B-1 Preferred, or (ii) any other provision in this Agreement if such amendment, waiver, alteration, or repeal will have a material adverse effect upon any of the rights, privileges, preferences, or obligations of Element or the Holders of the Series B-1 Preferred that is disproportionate from the effect of such amendment, waiver, alteration, or repeal on any other holders of shares of Preferred Stock; provided, further, that the written consent of the holders of at least seventy percent (70%) of the then outstanding shares of Series C Preferred shall in any event be required to amend, waive, alter or repeal (i) the provisions of the fourth sentence of Section 5.4(b) or this proviso of Section 8.6(a), or (ii) any other provision in this Agreement if such amendment, waiver, alteration, or repeal will have a material adverse effect upon any of the rights, privileges, preferences, or obligations of the holders of the Series C Preferred that is disproportionate from the effect of such amendment, waiver, alteration, or repeal on any other holders of shares of Preferred Stock; provided , further , that (w) the provisions of Section 5.3(a)(i) and 5.3(b)(i) may not be amended or terminated without the written consent of NGP, so long as NGP continues to own at least twenty percent (20%) of the shares of Series A Preferred and/or Common Stock issued upon the conversion thereof originally issued to NGP (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, recapitalizations and the like), (x) the provisions of Section 5.3(a)(ii) and 5.3(b)(ii) may not be amended or terminated without the written consent of Element, so long as Element continues to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the shares of Series B-1 Preferred owned by Element as of the date hereof (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, recapitalizations and the like), (y) the provisions of Section 5.3(a)(iii) and 5.3(b)(iii) may not be amended or terminated without the written consent of Angeleno, so long as Angeleno continues to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the shares of Series C Preferred owned by Angeleno as of the date hereof (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, recapitalizations and the like), and (z) the provisions of Section 5.3(a)(iv) and 5.3(b)(iv) may not be amended or terminated without the written consent of Landmark, so long as Landmark continues to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the shares of Capital Stock owned by Landmark as of the date hereof (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, recapitalizations and the like), and otherwise, the holders holding not less than a majority of the shares of Common Stock then outstanding.

(b) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, if the Company shall issue additional shares of its Preferred Stock pursuant to the Purchase Agreement, any purchaser of such shares of Preferred Stock may become a party to this Agreement by executing and delivering an additional counterpart signature page to this Agreement and shall be deemed (i) an "Investor," (ii) if agreed to by the Company, an "Eligible Investor" and (iii) a party hereunder.

(c) In addition, the Company shall cause any and all future holders of at least one percent (1%) of the Company's then outstanding shares of Capital Stock who are not parties to this Agreement, to become party to this Agreement by executing a joinder agreement and be listed on Exhibit B attached hereto at the time or immediately after the time they become such stockholders of the Company (in which case no consent of any Stockholders shall be required). In furtherance of this obligation, the Company shall require, pursuant to its Stock Plan (as such term is defined in the Purchase Agreement), that any holder of an option, warrant or other right to receive Common Stock, as a condition to receipt of the Common Stock underlying such option, warrant or right, become party to this Agreement.

(d) Any amendment or waiver effected in accordance with this Section 8.6 shall be binding upon the Company, each Stockholder and its successors and assigns.

8.7 Term . The rights granted to the Eligible Investors in Sections 2, 3 and 4 hereof shall terminate upon the earliest to occur of (i) the closing of a Qualified IPO, (ii) a Liquidation Event (as such term is defined in the Restated Certificate) or (iii) the date on which this Agreement is terminated by a writing executed by (w) the holders of at least seventy percent (70%) of the then outstanding shares of Series A Preferred (or shares of Common Stock issued or issuable upon conversion thereof), (x) the holders of at least fifty percent (50%) of the then outstanding shares of Series B Preferred (or shares of Common Stock issued or issuable upon conversion thereof), (y) the holders of at least fifty percent (50%) of the then outstanding shares of Series B-1 Preferred (or shares of Common Stock issued or issuable upon conversion thereof) and (z) Landmark, so long as Landmark continues to own at least fifty percent (50%) of the shares of Capital Stock owned by Landmark as of the date hereof (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, recapitalizations and the like), and otherwise, the holders holding not less than a majority of the shares of Common Stock then outstanding. The Company's Right of First Refusal shall terminate upon the earliest to occur of (i) a written election of the Company pursuant to an action by the Board, or (ii) the occurrence of (ii) in the preceding sentence.

8.8 Notices . All notices and other communications required or permitted hereunder shall be in writing and shall be mailed by registered or certified mail, postage prepaid, sent by facsimile or otherwise:

(a) if to the Company, one copy should be sent to its address or facsimile number set forth on the signature pages hereof and addressed to the attention of the Chief Executive Officer, or at such other address or facsimile number as the Company shall have furnished to the Investors, with a copy (which shall not constitute notice) to H. David Henken, Esq., Goodwin Procter LLP, Exchange Place, 53 State Street, Boston, MA 02109; and

(b) if to a Stockholder, at the Stockholder's address, facsimile number or electronic mail address as shown in the Company's records, as may be updated in accordance with the provisions hereof, with, (i) in the case of NGP, a copy (which shall not constitute notice) to Robert D. Sanchez, Esq., Wilson Sonsini Goodrich & Rosati, P.C., 1700 K Street, N.W., Fifth Floor, Washington, D.C. 20006, (ii) in the case of Landmark, a copy (which shall not constitute notice) to H. David Henken, Esq., Goodwin Procter LLP, Exchange Place, 53 State Street, Boston, MA 02109, (iii) in the case of Angeleno, a copy (which shall not constitute notice) to Franklin Reddick, Esq., Akin Gump Strauss Hauer & Feld LLP, 2029 Century Park East, Suite 2400, Los Angeles, CA 90067, (iv) in the case of GE, a copy (which shall not constitute notice) to General Counsel-Equity and Account Manager TPI, GE Capital Equity, 201 Merritt 7, P.O. Box 52011, Norwalk, CT 06856, and (v) in the case of Element, a copy (which shall not constitute notice) to Andrew Hamilton, Morgan, Lewis & Bockius LLP, 1701 Market Street, Philadelphia, PA 19103.

Each such notice or other communication shall for all purposes of this Agreement be treated as effective or as having been given: (i) upon delivery, if personally delivered; (ii) three (3) business days after pre-paid deposit for next business day delivery with a commercial courier service (e.g. , DHL or FedEx); (iii) five (5) business days after deposit, postage pre-paid, with first class airmail (which airmail must be certified or registered); or (iv) upon confirmation of facsimile transfer or electronic mail when sent by facsimile or electronic mail, with a confirmation copy delivered by one of the other acceptable means of delivery.

8.9 Severability . In the event one or more of the provisions of this Agreement should, for any reason, be held to be invalid, illegal or unenforceable in any respect, such invalidity, illegality, or unenforceability shall not affect any other provisions of this Agreement, and this Agreement shall be construed as if such invalid, illegal or unenforceable provision had never been contained herein.

8.10 Entire Agreement . This Agreement and the exhibits hereto, the Investor Rights Agreement, the Purchase Agreement, the Restated Certificate and the GE Confidentiality Agreement, constitute the full and entire understanding and agreement between the parties with regard to the subjects hereof and thereof and no party shall be liable or bound to any other in any manner by any representations, warranties, covenants and agreements except as specifically set forth herein and therein. Any and all previous agreements among the parties relative to the specific subject matter hereof are superseded by this Agreement.

8.11 Titles and Subtitles . The titles of sections and subsections of this Agreement are for convenience of reference only and are not to be considered in construing this Agreement.

8.12 Non-Business Days . Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, in the event that any calendar day referred to in this Agreement falls on a Saturday, a Sunday or a U.S. holiday (each a " Non-Business Day "), then any transaction or notice that must be effected or delivered on such a Non-Business Day will instead be required to be effected or delivered on the next day that is not a Non-Business Day.

8.13 Counterparts . This Agreement may be executed in two or more counterparts, each of which shall be deemed an original, but all of which together shall constitute one and the same instrument.

8.14 Telecopy Execution and Delivery . A facsimile, telecopy or other reproduction of this Agreement may be executed by one or more parties hereto, and an executed copy of this Agreement may be delivered by one or more parties hereto by facsimile or similar electronic transmission device pursuant to which the signature of or on behalf of such party can be seen, and such execution and delivery shall be considered valid, binding and effective for all purposes. At the request of any party hereto, all parties hereto agree to execute an original of this Agreement as well as any facsimile, telecopy or other reproduction hereof.

8.15 Aggregation of Stock . For the purposes of determining the availability of any rights under this Agreement, all shares of Capital Stock held or acquired by Affiliated or related entities or persons of a Stockholder (including but not limited to: (a) a partner, member or other equity owner or a former partner, member or other equity owner or the estate of any partner, member or other equity owner or retired partner, member or other equity holder of a Stockholder that is a partnership; (b) a wholly owned subsidiary of a Stockholder that is a corporation, a parent corporation that owns all of the capital stock of such Stockholder or the stockholders of the Stockholder; (c) a Family Member, or any custodian or trustee of any trust or any other corporation, partnership or limited liability company for the benefit of, or the ownership interests of which are owned wholly by such Stockholder or any such Stockholder's Family Members; (d) a member or former member of a Stockholder that is a limited liability company; (e) an Affiliate of the Stockholder; or (f) funds under common management) shall be aggregated together for the purpose of determining the availability of any rights under this Agreement which are triggered by the beneficial ownership of a threshold number of shares of the Company's Capital Stock.

8.16 Restatement of Existing Agreement . This Agreement amends and restates in its entirety the Existing Agreement which, as of the date hereof shall have no further force and effect.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto have executed this Third Amended and Restated Right of First Refusal, Co-Sale and Voting Agreement as of the date set forth in the first paragraph hereof.

TPI COMPOSITES, INC.

Consent and Amendment

This CONSENT AND AMENDMENT, dated as of August 11, 2010, is made by and among (a) the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of Common Stock, par value $0.01 per share, of TPI Composites, Inc., a Delaware corporation (the " Company "), (b) the holders of at least seventy percent (70%) of the outstanding shares of Series A Convertible Preferred Stock, par value $0.01 per share, of the Company, (c) the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of Series B Convertible Preferred Stock, par value $0.01 per share, of the Company, (d) the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of Series B-l Convertible Preferred Stock, par value $0.01 per share, of the Company, (e) the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of Series C Convertible Preferred Stock, par value $0.01 per share, of the Company, each voting as a separate class and (f) the Company.

WHEREAS, the Company's Board of Directors (the " Board ") desires to increase the size of the Board from nine (9) directors to ten (10) directors in accordance with Article II, Section 2 of the Amended and Restated By-Laws of the Company;

WHEREAS, in accordance with Section 8.6 of that certain Third Amended and Restated Right of First Refusal, Co-Sale and Voting Agreement, dated as of June 17, 2010, by and among the Company and the other parties listed therein (the " Voting Agreement "), the parties hereto desire to amend Section 5.2 of the Voting Agreement in connection with the foregoing increase; and

WHEREAS, the undersigned holders of Common Stock of the Company desire that Stephen Bransfield be appointed by the Board as a director (and a Common Designee (as defined in the Voting Agreement)) to fill the directorship created by the increase in the size of the Board.

NOW, THEREFORE:

1. The Company and the undersigned holders of capital stock of the Company hereby agree that Section 5.2 of Voting Agreement is hereby amended and restated in its entirety as follows:

" Board Size . The holders of Investor Shares and Common Stockholder Shares shall vote at a regular or special meeting of Stockholders (or by written consent) the Voting Securities owned by such Stockholders to ensure that the size of the Board shall be set and remain at ten (10) directors; provided, however, that such Board size (i) may be subsequently increased or decreased pursuant to an amendment of this Agreement in accordance with Section 8.6 hereof and the Company's Restated Certificate or (ii) may be increased or decreased in connection with the election or removal of any Joint Designees."

2. The undersigned holders of Series A Convertible Preferred Stock of the Company hereby consent, pursuant to the Article IV, Part C, Section 5(c)(v) of the Company's Fifth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation, as amended (the " Charter "), to the increase in the size of the Board from nine (9) directors to ten (10) directors.

3. The undersigned holders of Common Stock of the Company hereby request that, pursuant to Section 223 of the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware and Article II, Section 3 of the Amended and Restated Bylaws of the Company, the Board elect and appoint Stephen Bransfield to the Board as a director of the Company (and a Common Designee) to fill the directorship created by the increase in the size of the Board.

4. For purposes of clarity, and after giving effect to the election of Stephen Bransfield as a director of the Company (and a Common Designee), the undersigned holders of Common Stock, Series A Convertible Preferred Stock, Series B-l Convertible Preferred Stock and Series C Convertible Preferred Stock of the Company hereby acknowledge that, immediately upon the effectiveness of this Consent and Amendment, (a) the Board of Directors shall consist of ten (10) members and (b) (i) Philip Deutch is the Series A Designee (as defined in the Voting Agreement), (ii) Michael DeRosa is the Series B-l Designee, (iii) Daniel Weiss is the Series C Designee, (iv) Paul Giovacchini, Scott Humber, Wayne Monie and Stephen Bransfield are the Common Designees, (v) Steven Lockard is the CEO Designee (as defined in the Voting Agreement) and (vi) Jack Henry and Pat Wood III are the Joint Designees.

5. That the officers of the Company, and each of them acting singly, be and hereby are, authorized, empowered and directed (a) to execute, enseal and deliver in the name of and on behalf of the Company any and all documents, agreements and instruments to effectuate any of the foregoing approvals, all with such changes therein as any of such officers may deem reasonably necessary or desirable and in the best interests of the Company and (b) to take such action, or to cause the Company or any other person to take such action as may in the judgment of the officer so acting be reasonably necessary or desirable in connection with, or in furtherance of, any of the foregoing approvals, and in the best interests of the Company and the execution and delivery of any such document, agreement or instrument or the taking of any such action shall be conclusive evidence of such officer's authority hereunder to so act.

6. That this Consent and Amendment may be executed in counterparts, including by facsimile or other electronic transmission, each of which shall be deemed to be an original, but all of which taken together shall constitute one and the same instrument.

7. That this Consent and Amendment shall be filed with the records of stockholders of the Company.

FINAL FORM

THESE SECURITIES HAVE NOT BEEN REGISTERED UNDER THE SECURITIES ACT OF 1933, AS AMENDED, OR ANY STATE SECURITIES LAWS. THEY MAY NOT BE SOLD, OFFERED FOR SALE, PLEDGED, OR HYPOTHECATED IN THE ABSENCE OF AN EFFECTIVE REGISTRATION STATEMENT RELATED THERETO OR AN OPINION OF COUNSEL (WHICH MAY BE COMPANY COUNSEL) REASONABLY SATISFACTORY TO THE COMPANY THAT SUCH REGISTRATION IS NOT REQUIRED UNDER THE SECURITIES ACT OF 1933, AS AMENDED, OR ANY APPLICABLE STATE SECURITIES LAWS.

WARRANT AGREEMENT

To Purchase Shares of Preferred Stock of

TPI COMPOSITES, INC.

Dated as of [•] (the " Effective Date ")

WHEREAS, TPI COMPOSITES, INC., a Delaware corporation, has entered into a Super Senior Redeemable Preferred Stock Purchase Agreement dated as of the date hereof (the " Purchase Agreement ") with [•], a Delaware limited partnership (the " Warrantholder ");

WHEREAS, the Company (as defined below) desires to grant to Warrantholder, in consideration for, among other things, the financial accommodations provided for in the Purchase Agreement, the right to purchase shares of Preferred Stock pursuant to this Warrant Agreement (the " Agreement ");

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the Warrantholder executing and delivering the Purchase Agreement and providing the financial accommodations contemplated therein, and in consideration of the mutual covenants and agreements contained herein, the Company and Warrantholder agree as follows:

SECTION 1. GRANT OF THE RIGHT TO PURCHASE PREFERRED STOCK.

For value received, the Company hereby grants to the Warrantholder, and the Warrantholder is entitled, upon the terms and subject to the conditions hereinafter set forth, to subscribe for and purchase, from the Company, an aggregate number of fully paid and nonassessable Preferred Stock equal to the quotient derived by dividing the Warrant Coverage Amount (as defined below) by the Exercise Price. As used herein, the following terms shall have the following meanings:

" Act " means the Securities Act of 1933, as amended;

" Company " means TPI COMPOSITES, INC., a Delaware corporation, and any successor or surviving entity that assumes the obligations of the Company under this Agreement pursuant to Section 8(a);

" Charter " means the Seventh Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation, as amended, or other constitutional document, as may be amended from time to time;

" Common Stock " means the Company's common stock;

" Equity Round " means any non-public offering of equity securities by the Company, after the Effective Date but prior to the consummation of an Initial Public Offering in a transaction or series of related transactions principally for equity financing purposes in which the cash is received by the Company and/or debt of the Company is cancelled or converted in exchange for equity securities of the Company;

" Exercise Price " means (a) if Preferred Stock means Series B Preferred Stock, $8,748.81 per share, or (b) if Preferred Stock means Next Round Stock, the lowest price per share of Next Round Stock paid by investors in the Next Round (including any discounts provided to other stockholders), in either case subject to adjustment pursuant to Section 8;

" Initial Public Offering " means the initial underwritten public offering of the Company's Common Stock pursuant to a registration statement under the Act, which public offering has been declared effective by the Securities and Exchange Commission (" SEC ");

" IRA Agreement " has the meaning ascribed thereto in Section 3(c);

" Liquidation Event " shall have the meaning set forth in the Voting Agreement;

" Merger Event " means any sale, lease or other transfer of all of the Equity Securities of the Company or all or substantially all assets of the Company or any merger or consolidation involving the Company in which the Company is not the surviving entity, or in which the outstanding shares of the Company's capital stock are otherwise converted into or exchanged for shares of preferred stock, other securities or property of another entity or any Liquidation Event;

" Next Round " means the next Equity Round in which the Company issues and sells shares of its preferred stock for aggregate proceeds of at least $5,000,000 that is consummated before the second anniversary of the Effective Date;

" Preferred Stock " means, at the sole election of the Warrantholder (which such election must be made not later than five (5) business days prior to the closing of the Next Round), (A) the Series B Preferred Stock of the Company, or (B) upon the closing of the Next Round, the class and series of the preferred stock of the Company issued in Next Round (such stock, the " Next Round Stock "), and, to the extent provided in Sections 8(a) and (b),any other stock into or for which such Preferred Stock may be converted or exchanged; provided that upon and after the occurrence of an event which results in the automatic or voluntary conversion, redemption or retirement of all (but not less than all) of the outstanding shares of such Preferred Stock, including, without limitation, the consummation of an Initial Public Offering of the Common Stock in which such a conversion occurs, then from and after the date upon which such outstanding shares are so converted, redeemed or retired, "Preferred Stock" shall mean the Common Stock;

" Purchase Price " means, with respect to any exercise of this Agreement, an amount equal to the Exercise Price as of the relevant time multiplied by the number of shares of Preferred Stock requested to be exercised under this Agreement pursuant to such exercise; and

" Voting Agreement " has the meaning ascribed thereto in Section 3(c).

" Warrant Coverage Amount " shall mean $[•].

SECTION 2. TERM OF THE AGREEMENT.

Except as otherwise provided for herein, the term of this Agreement and the right to purchase Preferred Stock as granted herein (the " Warrant ") shall commence on the Effective Date and shall be exercisable for a period (the " Exercise Period ") ending upon the earliest to occur of (i) the eighth anniversary of the Effective Date, (ii) the date of the Initial Public Offering, or (iii) the date of the Merger Event. In the event that Company is contemplating the Initial Public Offering or Merger Event and the Exercise Period will conclude as a result, the Company shall give the Warrantholder thirty (30) days' written notice, waivable in writing by the Warrantholder, of the contemplated date of the Initial Public Offering or Merger Event, during which period the Warrantholder shall be entitled to exercise.

SECTION 3. EXERCISE OF THE PURCHASE RIGHTS.

(a) Exercise . The purchase rights set forth in this Agreement are exercisable by the Warrantholder, in whole or in part, at any time, or from time to time, prior to the expiration of the term set forth in Section 2, by tendering to the Company at its principal office a notice of exercise in the form attached hereto as Exhibit I (the " Notice of Exercise "), duly completed and executed. Promptly upon receipt of the Notice of Exercise and the payment of the Purchase Price in accordance with the terms set forth below, and in no event later than three (3) days thereafter, the Company shall issue to the Warrantholder a certificate for the number of shares of Preferred Stock purchased and shall execute the acknowledgment of exercise in the form attached hereto as Exhibit II (the " Acknowledgment of Exercise ") indicating the number of shares which remain subject to future purchases, if any.

The Purchase Price may be paid at the Warrantholder's election either (i) by cash or check, or (ii) by surrender of all or a portion of the Warrant for shares of Preferred Stock to be exercised under this Agreement and, if applicable, an amended Agreement representing the remaining number of shares purchasable hereunder, as determined below (" Net Issuance "). If the Warrantholder elects the Net Issuance method, the Company will issue Preferred Stock in accordance with the following formula:

$$X = \frac{Y(A-B)}{A}$$

Where: X = the number of shares of Preferred Stock to be issued to the Warrantholder.

Y = the number of shares of Preferred Stock requested to be exercised under this Agreement.

A = the fair market value of one (1) share of Preferred Stock at the time of issuance of such shares of Preferred Stock.

B = the Exercise Price.

For purposes of the above calculation, current fair market value of Preferred Stock shall mean with respect to each share of Preferred Stock:

(i) if the exercise is in connection with an Initial Public Offering, and if the Company's registration statement relating to such Initial Public Offering has been declared effective by the SEC, then the fair market value per share shall be the product of (x) the midpoint of the range of offering prices of the Common Stock specified in the registration statement with respect to the offering and (y) the number of shares of Common Stock into which each share of Preferred Stock is convertible at the time of such exercise;

(ii) if at any time the Common Stock is not listed on any securities exchange or quoted in the NASDAQ National Market or the over-the-counter market, the current fair market value of Preferred Stock shall be the product of (x) the highest price per share which the Company could obtain from a willing buyer (not a current employee or director) for shares of Common Stock sold by the Company, from authorized but unissued shares, as determined in good faith by its Board of Directors and (y) the number of shares of Common Stock into which each share of Preferred Stock is convertible at the time of such exercise, unless the Company shall become subject to a Merger Event, in which case the fair market value of Preferred Stock shall be deemed to be the per share value to be received by the holders of the Company's Preferred Stock on a common equivalent basis pursuant to such Merger Event.

Upon partial exercise by either cash or Net Issuance, the Company shall promptly issue an amended Agreement representing the remaining number of shares purchasable hereunder. All other terms and conditions of such amended Agreement shall be identical to those contained herein, including, but not limited to the Effective Date hereof.

(b) Exercise Prior to Expiration . To the extent this Agreement is not previously exercised as to all Preferred Stock subject hereto, and if the fair market value of one share of the Preferred Stock is greater than the Exercise Price then in effect, this Agreement shall be deemed automatically exercised pursuant to the Net Issuance provisions of Section 3(a) (even if not surrendered) immediately before its expiration. For purposes of such automatic exercise, the fair market value of one share of the Preferred Stock upon such expiration shall be determined pursuant to Section 3(a). To the extent this Agreement or any portion thereof is deemed automatically exercised pursuant to this Section 3(b), the Company agrees to promptly notify the Warrantholder of the number of shares of Preferred Stock, if any, the Warrantholder is to receive by reason of such automatic exercise.

(c) Conditions to Exercise . Simultaneously with and as a condition to the consummation of any exercise of all or any portion of the warrant contemplated by this Agreement, the Warrantholder shall enter into joinder agreements to become a party to (i) the Company's Third Amended and Restated Right of First Refusal, Co-Sale and Voting Agreement dated as of June 17, 2010, as the same may be amended from time to time (the " Voting Agreement ") to become an "Investor" thereunder and (ii) the Company's Third Amended and Restated Investor Rights Agreement dated June 17, 2010, as the same may be amended from time to time (the " IRA Agreement ") to become an "Investor" thereunder such that the Preferred Stock will be "Registrable Securities" thereunder.

SECTION 4. RESERVATION OF SHARES.

The Company shall amend its Charter as of the date hereof to authorize and reserve a sufficient number of shares of its Preferred Stock to provide for the exercise of the rights to purchase Preferred Stock as provided for herein, and shall authorize and reserve a sufficient number of shares of its Common Stock to provide for conversion of the Preferred Shares available hereunder.

SECTION 5. NO FRACTIONAL SHARES OR SCRIP.

No fractional shares or scrip representing fractional shares shall be issued upon the exercise of this Agreement, but in lieu of such fractional shares the Company shall make a cash payment therefor upon the basis of the Exercise Price then in effect.

SECTION 6. NO RIGHTS AS STOCKHOLDER.

This Agreement does not entitle the Warrantholder to any voting rights or other rights as a stockholder of the Company prior to the exercise of this Agreement.

SECTION 7. WARRANTHOLDER REGISTRY.

The Company shall maintain a registry showing the name and address of the registered holder of this Agreement. Warrantholder's initial address, for purposes of such registry, is set forth below Warrantholder's signature on this Agreement. Warrantholder may change such address by giving written notice of such changed address to the Company.

SECTION 8. ADJUSTMENT RIGHTS.

The Exercise Price and the number of shares of Preferred Stock purchasable hereunder are subject to adjustment, as follows:

(a) Merger Event . In connection with a Merger Event, the Company shall cause any part of this Warrant Agreement that has not yet been exercised to be exchanged for the consideration that Warrantholder would have received if Warrantholder chose to exercise its right to have shares issued pursuant to the Net Issuance provisions of this Warrant Agreement without actually exercising such right, acquiring such shares and exchanging such shares for such consideration, and in connection therewith, this Warrant Agreement shall terminate.

(b) Reclassification of Shares . Except for Merger Events subject to Section 8(a), if the Company at any time shall, by combination, reclassification, exchange or subdivision of securities or otherwise, change any of the securities as to which purchase rights under this Agreement exist into the same or a different number of securities of any other class or classes, this Agreement shall thereafter represent the right to acquire such number and kind of securities as would have been issuable as the result of such change with respect to the securities which were subject to the purchase rights under this Agreement immediately prior to such combination, reclassification, exchange, subdivision or other change. The provisions of this Section 8(b) shall similarly apply to successive combination, reclassification, exchange, subdivision or other change.

(c) Subdivision or Combination of Shares . If the Company at any time shall combine or subdivide its Preferred Stock, (i) in the case of a subdivision, the Exercise Price shall be proportionately decreased, , or (ii) in the case of a combination, the Exercise Price shall be proportionately increased,.

(d) Stock Dividends . If the Company at any time while this Agreement is outstanding and unexpired shall:

(i) pay a dividend with respect to the Preferred Stock payable in Preferred Stock, then the Exercise Price shall be adjusted, from and after the date of determination of stockholders entitled to receive such dividend or distribution, to that price determined by multiplying the Exercise Price in effect immediately prior to such date of determination by a fraction (A) the numerator of which shall be the total number of shares of Preferred Stock outstanding immediately prior to such dividend or distribution, and (B) the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of Preferred Stock outstanding immediately after such dividend or distribution; or

(ii) make any other distribution with respect to Preferred Stock (or stock into which the Preferred Stock is convertible), except any distribution specifically provided for in any other clause of this Section 8, then, in each such case, provision shall be made by the Company such that the Warrantholder shall receive upon exercise or conversion of this Warrant a proportionate share of any such distribution as though it were the holder of the Preferred Stock (or other stock for which the Preferred Stock is convertible) as of the record date fixed for the determination of the stockholders of the Company entitled to receive such distribution.

(e) Antidilution Rights . Additional antidilution rights applicable to the Preferred Stock purchasable hereunder are as set forth in the Charter and shall be applicable with respect to the Preferred Stock issuable hereunder. The Company shall promptly provide the Warrantholder with any restatement, amendment, modification or waiver of the Charter; provided , that no such amendment, modification or waiver shall impair or reduce the antidilution rights applicable to the Preferred Stock as of the date hereof unless such amendment, modification or waiver affects the rights of Warrantholder with respect to the Preferred Stock in the same manner as it affects all other holders of Preferred Stock. The Company shall provide Warrantholder with prior written notice of any issuance of its stock or other equity security to occur after the Effective Date of this Agreement, which notice shall include (a) the price at which such stock or security is to be sold, (b) the number of shares to be issued, and (c) such other information as necessary for Warrantholder to determine if a dilutive event has occurred. For the avoidance of doubt, there shall be no duplicate anti-dilution adjustment pursuant to this subsection (e), the forgoing subsection (d) and the Charter.

(f) Notice of Adjustments . If: (i) the Company shall declare any dividend or distribution upon its stock, whether in stock, cash, property or other securities (assuming Warrantholder consents to a dividend involving cash, property or other securities); (ii) there shall be any Merger Event; (iii) there shall be an Initial Public Offering; (iv) the Company shall sell, lease, license or otherwise transfer all or substantially all of its assets; or (v) there shall be any voluntary dissolution, liquidation or winding up of the Company; then, in connection with each such event, the Company shall send to the Warrantholder: (A) at least five (5) business days' prior written notice of the date on which the books of the Company shall close or a record shall be taken for such dividend, distribution, subscription rights (specifying the date on which the holders of Preferred Stock shall be entitled thereto) or for determining rights to vote in respect of such Merger Event, dissolution, liquidation or winding up; (B) in the case of any such Merger Event, sale, lease, license or other transfer of all or substantially all assets, dissolution, liquidation or winding up, at least five (5) business days' prior written notice of the date when the same shall take place (and specifying the date on which the holders of Preferred Stock shall be entitled to exchange their Preferred Stock for securities or other property deliverable upon such Merger Event, dissolution, liquidation or winding up); and (C) in the case of an Initial Public Offering, the Company shall give the Warrantholder at least five (5) business days' written notice prior to the effective date thereof. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Company shall have no liability for failing to timely give such notice, except to the extent the Warrantholder is materially and adversely affected by such failure.

Each such written notice shall set forth, in reasonable detail, (i) the event requiring the notice, and (ii) if any adjustment is required to be made, (A) the amount of such adjustment, (B) the method by which such adjustment was calculated, (C) the adjusted Exercise Price (if the Exercise Price has been adjusted), and (D) the number of shares subject to purchase hereunder after giving effect to such adjustment, and shall be given by first class mail, postage prepaid, or by reputable overnight courier with all charges prepaid, addressed to the Warrantholder at the address for Warrantholder set forth in the registry referred to in Section 7.

SECTION 9. REPRESENTATIONS, WARRANTIES AND COVENANTS OF THE COMPANY.

(a) Reservation of Preferred Stock . The Preferred Stock issuable upon exercise of the Warrantholder's rights will be duly and validly reserved and, when issued in accordance with the provisions of this Agreement, will be validly issued, fully paid and non-assessable, and will be free of any taxes, liens, charges or encumbrances of any nature whatsoever; provided , that the Preferred Stock issuable pursuant to this Agreement may be subject to restrictions on transfer under state and/or federal securities laws and as provided in the Voting Agreement and IRA Agreement. The Company has made available to the Warrantholder true, correct and complete copies of its Charter and current bylaws. The issuance of certificates for shares of Preferred Stock upon exercise of this Agreement shall be made without charge to the Warrantholder for any issuance tax in respect thereof, or other cost incurred by the Company in connection with such exercise and the related issuance of shares of Preferred Stock; provided , that the Company shall not be required to pay any tax which may be payable in respect of any transfer and the issuance and delivery of any certificate in a name other than that of the Warrantholder.

(b) Due Authority . The execution and delivery by the Company of this Agreement and the performance of all obligations of the Company hereunder, including the issuance to Warrantholder of the right to acquire the shares of Preferred Stock and the Common Stock into which it may be converted, have been duly authorized by all necessary corporate action on the part of the Company. Subject to amending the Charter to authorize the Preferred Stock, this Agreement: (1) does not violate the Company's Charter or current bylaws; (2) does not contravene any law or governmental rule, regulation or order applicable to it; and (3) does not and will not contravene any provision of, or constitute a default under, any indenture, mortgage, contract or other instrument to which it is a party or by which it is bound. This Agreement constitutes a legal, valid and binding agreement of the Company, enforceable in accordance with its terms.

(c) Consents and Approvals . No consent or approval of, giving of notice to, registration with, or taking of any other action in respect of any state, federal or other governmental authority or agency is required with respect to the execution, delivery and performance by the Company of its obligations under this Agreement, except for the filing of notices pursuant to Regulation D under the Act and any filing required by applicable state securities law, which filings will be effective by the time required thereby.

(d) Issued Securities . As of the date hereof:

(i) The authorized capital of the Company consists of (A) 30,000 shares of Common Stock, of which 11,773.5963 shares are issued and outstanding, and (B) 13,737 shares of Preferred Stock, of which 12,611.6018 shares are issued and outstanding.

(ii) The Company has reserved 1,439 shares of Common Stock for issuance under its 2004 Stock Option and Grant Plan, as amended, of which 1,126.2337 shares of restricted stock and no options have been granted to date and of which no shares of Common Stock are available for future grant; and the Company has reserved 2,968.4904 shares of Common Stock for issuance under its 2008 Stock Option and Grant Plan, as amended (the " 2008 Plan "), of which options to acquire 99.1825 shares of Common Stock have been granted to date and are outstanding and of which 2,869.3079 shares of Common Stock are available for future grant. Stock appreciation rights for 2,146.3269 shares of Common Stock have expired and the shares have been added back into the available reserved pool pursuant to the terms of the 2008 Plan. The Company has authorized warrants for the purchase of 250 shares of Series B Preferred Stock, of which 176.79 are outstanding. There are no other options, warrants, conversion privileges or other rights presently outstanding to purchase or otherwise acquire any authorized but unissued shares of the Company's capital stock or other securities of the Company. The Company has no outstanding loans to any employee, officer or director of the Company, and the Company agrees not to enter into any such loan or otherwise guarantee the payment of any loan made to an employee, officer or director by a third party.

(e) Other Commitments to Register Securities . Except as set forth in this Agreement and in the IRA Agreement, the Company is not, pursuant to the terms of any other agreement currently in existence, under any obligation to register under the Act any of its presently outstanding securities or any of its securities which may hereafter be issued.

(f) Exempt Transaction . Subject to the accuracy of the Warrantholder's representations in Section 10, the issuance of the Preferred Stock upon exercise of this Agreement, and the issuance of the Common Stock upon conversion of the Preferred Stock, will each constitute a transaction exempt from (i) the registration requirements of Section 5 of the Act, in reliance upon Section 4(2) thereof, and (ii) the qualification requirements of the applicable state securities laws.

(g) Information Rights . During the term of this Warrant, Warrantholder shall be entitled to the information rights contained in Section 3.1 of the IRA Agreement, and Section 3.1 of the IRA Agreement is hereby incorporated into this Agreement by this reference as though fully set forth herein.

SECTION 10. REPRESENTATIONS AND COVENANTS OF THE WARRANTHOLDER.

This Agreement has been entered into by the Company in reliance upon the following representations and covenants of the Warrantholder:

(a) Investment Purpose . The right to acquire Preferred Stock is being acquired for investment and not with a view to the sale or distribution of any part thereof, and the Warrantholder has no present intention of selling or engaging in any public distribution of such rights or the Preferred Stock except pursuant to an effective registration statement or an exemption from the registration requirements of the Act.

(b) Private Issue . The Warrantholder understands (i) that the Preferred Stock issuable upon exercise of this Agreement is not registered under the Act or qualified under applicable state securities laws on the ground that the issuance contemplated by this Agreement will be exempt from the registration and qualifications requirements thereof, and (ii) that the Company's reliance on such exemption is predicated on the representations set forth in this Section 10.

(c) Financial Risk . The Warrantholder has such knowledge and experience in financial and business matters as to be capable of evaluating the merits and risks of its investment, and has the ability to bear the economic risks of its investment.

(d) Risk of No Registration . The Warrantholder understands that if the Company does not register with the SEC pursuant to Section 12 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the " 1934 Act "), or file reports pursuant to Section 15(d) of the 1934 Act, or if a registration statement covering the securities under the Act is not in effect when it desires to sell (i) the rights to purchase Preferred Stock pursuant to this Agreement or (ii) the Preferred Stock issuable upon exercise of the right to purchase, it may be required to hold such securities for an indefinite period. The Warrantholder also understands that any sale of (A) its rights hereunder to purchase Preferred Stock or (B) Preferred Stock issued or issuable hereunder which might be made by it in reliance upon Rule 144 under the Act may be made only in accordance with the terms and conditions of that Rule.

(e) Accredited Investor . Warrantholder is an "accredited investor" within the meaning of the Securities and Exchange Rule 501 of Regulation D, as presently in effect.

SECTION 11 . TRANSFERS.

Subject to compliance with applicable federal and state securities laws, this Agreement and all rights hereunder are, with the consent of the Company (other than with respect to a transfer to an affiliate of the Warrantholder, in which case the consent of the Company shall not be required), transferable, in whole or in part, without charge to the holder hereof (except for transfer taxes) upon surrender of this Agreement properly endorsed. Each taker and holder of this Agreement, by taking or holding the same, consents and agrees that this Agreement, when endorsed in blank, shall be deemed negotiable, and that the holder hereof, when this Agreement shall have been so endorsed and its transfer recorded on the Company's books, shall be treated by the Company and all other persons dealing with this Agreement as the absolute owner hereof for any purpose and as the person entitled to exercise the rights represented by this Agreement. The transfer of this Agreement in accordance with this Section 11 shall be recorded on the books of the Company upon receipt by the Company of a notice of transfer in the form attached hereto as Exhibit III (the " Transfer Notice "), at its principal offices and the payment to the Company of all transfer taxes and other governmental charges imposed on such transfer. Until the Company receives such Transfer Notice, the Company may treat the registered owner hereof as the owner for all purposes.

SECTION 12. MISCELLANEOUS.

(a) Effective Date . The provisions of this Agreement shall be construed and shall be given effect in all respects as if it had been executed and delivered by the Company on the date hereof. This Agreement shall be binding upon any successors or assigns of the Company.

(b) Remedies . In the event of any default hereunder, the non-defaulting party may proceed to protect and enforce its rights either by suit in equity and/or by action at law, including but not limited to an action for damages as a result of any such default, and/or an action for specific performance for any default where Warrantholder will not have an adequate remedy at law and where damages will not be readily ascertainable. The Company expressly agrees that it shall not oppose an application by the Warrantholder or any other person entitled to the benefit of this Agreement requiring specific performance of any or all provisions hereof or enjoining the Company from continuing to commit any such breach of this Agreement.

(c) No Impairment of Rights . The Company will not, by amendment of its Charter or through any other means, avoid or seek to avoid the observance or performance of any of the terms of this Agreement, but will at all times in good faith assist in the carrying out of all such terms and in the taking of all such actions as may be necessary or appropriate in order to protect the rights of the Warrantholder against impairment.

(d) Additional Documents . The Company shall supply such other documents as the Warrantholder may from time to time reasonably request.

(e) Attorney's Fees . In any litigation, arbitration or court proceeding between the Company and the Warrantholder relating hereto, the prevailing party shall be entitled to attorneys' fees and expenses and all costs of proceedings incurred in enforcing this Agreement. For the purposes of this Section 12(e), attorneys' fees shall include without limitation fees incurred in connection with the following: (i) contempt proceedings; (ii) discovery; (iii) any motion, proceeding or other activity of any kind in connection with an insolvency proceeding; (iv) garnishment, levy, and debtor and third party examinations; and (v) post-judgment motions and proceedings of any kind, including without limitation any activity taken to collect or enforce any judgment.

(f) Severability . In the event any one or more of the provisions of this Agreement shall for any reason be held invalid, illegal or unenforceable, the remaining provisions of this Agreement shall be unimpaired, and the invalid, illegal or unenforceable provision shall be replaced by a mutually acceptable valid, legal and enforceable provision, which comes closest to the intention of the parties underlying the invalid, illegal or unenforceable provision.

(g) Notices . Except as otherwise provided herein, any notice, demand, request, consent, approval, declaration, service of process or other communication that is required, contemplated, or permitted under this Agreement or with respect to the subject matter hereof shall be in writing, and shall be deemed to have been validly served, given, delivered, and received upon the earlier of: (i) the day of transmission by facsimile or hand delivery if transmission or delivery occurs on a business day at or before 5:00 pm in the time zone of the recipient, or, if transmission or delivery occurs on a non-business day or after such time, the first business day thereafter, or the first business day after deposit with an overnight express service or overnight mail delivery service; or (ii) the third calendar day after deposit in the United States mails, with proper first class postage prepaid, and shall be addressed to the party to be notified as follows:

(h) Entire Agreement; Amendments . This Agreement constitute the entire agreement and understanding of the parties hereto in respect of the subject matter hereof, and supersede and replace in their entirety any prior proposals, term sheets, letters, negotiations or other documents or agreements, whether written or oral, with respect to the subject matter hereof. None of the terms of this Agreement may be amended except by an instrument executed by each of the parties hereto.

(i) Headings . The various headings in this Agreement are inserted for convenience only and shall not affect the meaning or interpretation of this Agreement or any provisions hereof.

(j) No Strict Construction . The parties hereto have participated jointly in the negotiation and drafting of this Agreement. In the event an ambiguity or question of intent or interpretation arises, this Agreement shall be construed as if drafted jointly by the parties hereto and no presumption or burden of proof shall arise favoring or disfavoring any party by virtue of the authorship of any provisions of this Agreement.

(k) No Waiver . No omission or delay by Warrantholder at any time to enforce any right or remedy reserved to it, or to require performance of any of the terms, covenants or provisions hereof by the Company at any time designated, shall be a waiver of any such right or remedy to which Warrantholder is entitled, nor shall it in any way affect the right of Warrantholder to enforce such provisions thereafter.

(l) Survival . All agreements, representations and warranties contained in this Agreement or in any document delivered pursuant hereto shall be for the benefit of Warrantholder and shall survive the execution and delivery of this Agreement and the expiration or other termination of this Agreement.

(m) Governing Law . This Agreement have been negotiated and delivered to Warrantholder in the State of California, and shall have been accepted by Warrantholder in the State of California. Delivery of Preferred Stock to Warrantholder by the Company under this Agreement is due in the State of California. Except with respect to corporate law matters and related matters which shall be governed by Delaware corporate law, this Agreement shall be governed by, and construed and enforced in accordance with, the laws of the State of California, excluding conflict of laws principles that would cause the application of laws of any other jurisdiction.

(n) Consent to Jurisdiction and Venue . All judicial proceedings arising in or under or related to this Agreement may be brought in any state or federal court of competent jurisdiction located in the State of California. By execution and delivery of this Agreement, each party hereto generally and unconditionally: (a) consents to personal jurisdiction in Santa Clara County, State of California; (b) waives any objection as to jurisdiction or venue in Santa Clara County, State of California; (c) agrees not to assert any defense based on lack of jurisdiction or venue in the aforesaid courts; and (d) irrevocably agrees to be bound by any judgment rendered thereby in connection with this Agreement. Service of process on any party hereto in any action arising out of or relating to this Agreement shall be effective if given in accordance with the requirements for notice set forth in Section 12(g), and shall be deemed effective and received as set forth in Section 12(g). Nothing herein shall affect the right to serve process in any other manner permitted by law or shall limit the right of either party to bring proceedings in the courts of any other jurisdiction.

(o) Mutual Waiver of Jury Trial . Because disputes arising in connection with complex financial transactions are most quickly and economically resolved by an experienced and expert person and the parties wish applicable state and federal laws to apply (rather than arbitration rules), the parties desire that their disputes be resolved by a judge applying such applicable laws. EACH OF THE COMPANY AND WARRANTHOLDER SPECIFICALLY WAIVES ANY RIGHT IT MAY HAVE TO TRIAL BY JURY OF ANY CAUSE OF ACTION, CLAIM, CROSS-CLAIM, COUNTERCLAIM, THIRD PARTY CLAIM OR ANY OTHER CLAIM (COLLECTIVELY, "CLAIMS") ASSERTED BY THE COMPANY AGAINST WARRANTHOLDER OR ITS ASSIGNEE OR BY WARRANTHOLDER OR ITS ASSIGNEE AGAINST THE COMPANY. This waiver extends to all such Claims, including Claims that involve Persons other than Borrower and Lender; Claims that arise out of or are in any way connected to the relationship between the Company and Warrantholder; and any Claims for damages, breach of contract, specific performance, or any equitable or legal relief of any kind, arising out of this Agreement.

(p) Judicial Reference . If the waiver of jury trial set forth above is ineffective or unenforceable, the parties agree that all Claims shall be resolved by reference to a private judge sitting without a jury, pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure Section 638, before a mutually acceptable referee or, if the parties cannot agree, a referee selected by the Presiding Judge of the Santa Clara County, California. Such proceeding shall be conducted in Santa Clara County, California, with California rules of evidence and discovery applicable to such proceeding. In the event Claims are to be resolved by judicial reference, either party may seek from a court identified in Section 12(n), any prejudgment order, writ or other relief and have such prejudgment order, writ or other relief enforced to the fullest extent permitted by law notwithstanding that all Claims are otherwise subject to resolution by judicial reference.

(q) Counterparts . This Agreement and any amendments, waivers, consents or supplements hereto may be executed in any number of counterparts, and by different parties hereto in separate counterparts, each of which when so delivered shall be deemed an original, but all of which counterparts shall constitute but one and the same instrument.

(r) Specific Performance . The parties hereto hereby declare that it is impossible to measure in money the damages which will accrue to Warrantholder by reason of the Company's failure to perform any of the obligations under this Agreement and agree that the terms of this Agreement shall be specifically enforceable by Warrantholder. If Warrantholder institutes any action or proceeding to specifically enforce the provisions hereof, any person against whom such action or proceeding is brought hereby waives the claim or defense therein that Warrantholder has an adequate remedy at law, and such person shall not offer in any such action or proceeding the claim or defense that such remedy at law exists.

THESE SECURITIES HAVE NOT BEEN REGISTERED UNDER THE SECURITIES ACT OF 1933, AS AMENDED, OR ANY STATE SECURITIES LAWS. THEY MAY NOT BE SOLD, OFFERED FOR SALE, PLEDGED, OR HYPOTHECATED IN THE ABSENCE OF AN EFFECTIVE REGISTRATION STATEMENT RELATED THERETO OR AN OPINION OF COUNSEL (WHICH MAY BE COMPANY COUNSEL) REASONABLY SATISFACTORY TO THE COMPANY THAT SUCH REGISTRATION IS NOT REQUIRED UNDER THE SECURITIES ACT OF 1933, AS AMENDED, OR ANY APPLICABLE STATE SECURITIES LAWS.

WARRANT AGREEMENT

To Purchase Shares of Common Stock of

TPI COMPOSITES, INC.

Dated as of [•] (the " Effective Date ")

WHEREAS, TPI COMPOSITES, INC., a Delaware corporation, has entered into a Note and Warrant Purchase Agreement dated as of the date hereof (the " Purchase Agreement ") with [•] (the " Warrantholder ");

WHEREAS, the Company (as defined below) desires to grant to Warrantholder, in consideration for, among other things, the financial accommodations provided for in the Purchase Agreement, the right to purchase shares of Common Stock pursuant to this Warrant Agreement (the " Agreement ");

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the Warrantholder executing and delivering the Purchase Agreement and providing the financial accommodations contemplated therein, and in consideration of the mutual covenants and agreements contained herein, the Company and Warrantholder agree as follows:

SECTION 1. GRANT OF THE RIGHT TO PURCHASE COMMON STOCK.

For value received, the Company hereby grants to the Warrantholder, and the Warrantholder is entitled, upon the terms and subject to the conditions hereinafter set forth, to subscribe for and purchase, from the Company, an aggregate number of fully paid and nonassessable Common Stock equal to the quotient derived by dividing the Warrant Coverage Amount (as defined below) by the Exercise Price. As used herein, the following terms shall have the following meanings:

" Act " means the Securities Act of 1933, as amended;

" Company " means TPI COMPOSITES, INC., a Delaware corporation, and any successor or surviving entity that assumes the obligations of the Company under this Agreement pursuant to Section 8(a);

" Charter " means the Ninth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation, as amended, or other constitutional document, as may be amended from time to time;

" Common Stock " means the Company's common stock;

" Exercise Price " means the lesser of (a) 85% of the price per share in the Initial Public Offering (i.e. , before underwriter discounts and commissions)(the " IPO Price ") or (b) $8,748.81, subject to adjustment pursuant to Section 8;

" Initial Public Offering " means the initial underwritten public offering of the Company's Common Stock pursuant to a registration statement under the Act, which public offering has been declared effective by the Securities and Exchange Commission (" SEC ");

" IRA Agreement " has the meaning ascribed thereto in Section 3(c);

" Liquidation Event " shall have the meaning set forth in the Voting Agreement;

" Merger Event " means any sale, lease or other transfer of all of the equity securities of the Company or all or substantially all assets of the Company or any merger or consolidation involving the Company in which the Company is not the surviving entity, or in which the outstanding shares of the Company's capital stock are otherwise converted into or exchanged for shares of preferred stock, other securities or property of another entity or any Liquidation Event;

" Note " means the unsecured convertible promissory note for $[•] issued by the Company to the Warrantholder as of the date hereof;

" Preferred Stock " means the Company's preferred stock;

" Purchase Price " means, with respect to any exercise of this Agreement, an amount equal to the Exercise Price as of the relevant time multiplied by the number of shares of Common Stock requested to be exercised under this Agreement pursuant to such exercise;

" Voting Agreement " has the meaning ascribed thereto in Section 3(c); and

" Warrant Coverage Amount " shall mean $[•].

SECTION 2. TERM OF THE AGREEMENT.

Except as otherwise provided for herein, the term of this Agreement and the right to purchase Common Stock as granted herein (the " Warrant ") shall commence on the Effective Date and shall be exercisable for a period (the " Exercise Period ") ending upon the earliest to occur of (i) the eighth anniversary of the Effective Date, (ii) two (2) years following the effective date of the Initial Public Offering, or (iii) the date of the Merger Event. In the event that Company is contemplating a Merger Event and the Exercise Period will conclude as a result, the Company shall give the Warrantholder thirty (30) days' written notice, waivable in writing by the Warrantholder, of the contemplated date of such Merger Event, during which period the Warrantholder shall be entitled to exercise.

SECTION 3. EXERCISE OF THE PURCHASE RIGHTS.

(a) Exercise . The purchase rights set forth in this Agreement are exercisable by the Warrantholder, in whole or in part, at any time, or from time to time, prior to the expiration of the term set forth in Section 2, by tendering to the Company at its principal office a notice of exercise in the form attached hereto as Exhibit I (the " Notice of Exercise "), duly completed and executed. Promptly upon receipt of the Notice of Exercise and the payment of the Purchase Price in accordance with the terms set forth below, and in no event later than three (3) days thereafter, the Company shall issue to the Warrantholder a certificate for the number of shares of Common Stock purchased and shall execute the acknowledgment of exercise in the form attached hereto as Exhibit II (the " Acknowledgment of Exercise ") indicating the number of shares which remain subject to future purchases, if any.

The Purchase Price may be paid at the Warrantholder's election either (i) by cash or check, or (ii) by surrender of all or a portion of the Warrant for shares of Common Stock to be exercised under this Agreement and, if applicable, an amended Agreement representing the remaining number of shares purchasable hereunder, as determined below (" Net Issuance "). If the Warrantholder elects the Net Issuance method, the Company will issue Common Stock in accordance with the following formula:

$$X = \frac{Y(A-B)}{A}$$

Where: X = the number of shares of Common Stock to be issued to the Warrantholder.

Y = the number of shares of Common Stock requested to be exercised under this Agreement.

A = the fair market value of one (1) share of Common Stock at the time of issuance of such shares of Common Stock.

B = the Exercise Price.

For purposes of the above calculation, current fair market value of Common Stock shall mean with respect to each share of Common Stock:

(i) if the exercise is in connection with an Initial Public Offering, and if the Company's registration statement relating to such Initial Public Offering has been declared effective by the SEC, then the fair market value per share shall be the IPO Price;

(ii) If the Common Stock is listed on a recognized national stock exchange, such as Nasdaq Global Market, the per share fair market value shall be the closing price of Common Stock on such recognized national stock exchange on the most recent trading day prior to the exercise date of this Warrant; for the purposes of sentence, "Closing Price" means the final price at which one share of Common Stock is traded during any trading day;

(iii) if at any time the Common Stock is not listed on any securities exchange or quoted in the Nasdaq Global Market or the over-the-counter market, the current fair market value of Common Stock shall be the product of the highest price per share which the Company could obtain from a willing buyer (not a current employee or director) for shares of Common Stock sold by the Company, from authorized but unissued shares, as determined in good faith by its Board of Directors, unless the Company shall become subject to a Merger Event, in which case the fair market value of Common Stock shall be deemed to be the per share value to be received by the holders of Common Stock on a common equivalent basis pursuant to such Merger Event.

Upon partial exercise by either cash or Net Issuance, the Company shall promptly issue an amended Agreement representing the remaining number of shares purchasable hereunder. All other terms and conditions of such amended Agreement shall be identical to those contained herein, including, but not limited to the Effective Date hereof.

(b) Exercise Prior to Expiration . To the extent this Agreement is not previously exercised as to all Common Stock subject hereto, and if the fair market value of one share of the Common Stock is greater than the Exercise Price then in effect, this Agreement shall be deemed automatically exercised pursuant to the Net Issuance provisions of Section 3(a) (even if not surrendered) immediately before its expiration. For purposes of such automatic exercise, the fair market value of one share of the Common Stock upon such expiration shall be determined pursuant to Section 3(a). To the extent this Agreement or any portion thereof is deemed automatically exercised pursuant to this Section 3(b), the Company agrees to promptly notify the Warrantholder of the number of shares of Common Stock, if any, the Warrantholder is to receive by reason of such automatic exercise.

(c) Conditions to Exercise . Simultaneously with and as a condition to the consummation of any exercise of all or any portion of the warrant contemplated by this Agreement, the Warrantholder shall enter into joinder agreements to become a party, to the extent the following agreements are still in effect, to (i) the Company's Third Amended and Restated Right of First Refusal, Co-Sale and Voting Agreement dated as of June 17, 2010, as the same may be amended from time to time (the " Voting Agreement ") to become an "Restricted Stockholder" thereunder and (ii) the Company's Third Amended and Restated Investor Rights Agreement dated June 17, 2010, as the same may be amended from time to time (the " IRA Agreement ") to become an "Investor" thereunder such that the Common Stock will be "Registrable Securities" thereunder.

SECTION 4. RESERVATION OF SHARES.

The Company shall amend its Charter as of the date hereof to authorize and reserve a sufficient number of shares of its Common Stock to provide for the exercise of the rights to purchase Common Stock as provided for herein.

SECTION 5. NO FRACTIONAL SHARES OR SCRIP.

No fractional shares or scrip representing fractional shares shall be issued upon the exercise of this Agreement, but in lieu of such fractional shares the Company shall make a cash payment therefor upon the basis of the Exercise Price then in effect.

SECTION 6. NO RIGHTS AS STOCKHOLDER.

This Agreement does not entitle the Warrantholder to any voting rights or other rights as a stockholder of the Company prior to the exercise of this Agreement.

SECTION 7. WARRANTHOLDER REGISTRY.

The Company shall maintain a registry showing the name and address of the registered holder of this Agreement. Warrantholder's initial address, for purposes of such registry, is set forth below Warrantholder's signature on this Agreement. Warrantholder may change such address by giving written notice of such changed address to the Company.

SECTION 8. ADJUSTMENT RIGHTS.

The Exercise Price and the number of shares of Common Stock purchasable hereunder are subject to adjustment, as follows:

(a) Merger Event . In connection with a Merger Event, the Company shall cause any part of this Warrant Agreement that has not yet been exercised to be exchanged for the consideration that Warrantholder would have received if Warrantholder chose to exercise its right to have shares issued pursuant to the Net Issuance provisions of this Warrant Agreement without actually exercising such right, acquiring such shares and exchanging such shares for such consideration, and in connection therewith, this Warrant Agreement shall terminate.

(b) Reclassification of Shares . Except for Merger Events subject to Section 8(a), if the Company at any time shall, by combination, reclassification, exchange or subdivision of securities or otherwise, change any of the securities as to which purchase rights under this Agreement exist into the same or a different number of securities of any other class or classes, this Agreement shall thereafter represent the right to acquire such number and kind of securities as would have been issuable as the result of such change with respect to the securities which were subject to the purchase rights under this Agreement immediately prior to such combination, reclassification, exchange, subdivision or other change. The provisions of this Section 8(b) shall similarly apply to successive combination, reclassification, exchange, subdivision or other change.

(c) Subdivision or Combination of Shares . If the Company at any time shall combine or subdivide its Common Stock, (i) in the case of a subdivision, the Exercise Price shall be proportionately decreased, or (ii) in the case of a combination, the Exercise Price shall be proportionately increased.

(d) Stock Dividends . If the Company at any time while this Agreement is outstanding and unexpired shall:

(i) pay a dividend with respect to the Common Stock payable in Common Stock, then the Exercise Price shall be adjusted, from and after the date of determination of stockholders entitled to receive such dividend or distribution, to that price determined by multiplying the Exercise Price in effect immediately prior to such date of determination by a fraction (A) the numerator of which shall be the total number of shares of Common Stock outstanding immediately prior to such dividend or distribution, and (B) the denominator of which shall be the total number of shares of Common Stock outstanding immediately after such dividend or distribution; or

(ii) make any other distribution with respect to Common Stock, except any distribution specifically provided for in any other clause of this Section 8, then, in each such case, provision shall be made by the Company such that the Warrantholder shall receive upon exercise or conversion of this Warrant a proportionate share of any such distribution as though it were the holder of the Common Stock as of the record date fixed for the determination of the stockholders of the Company entitled to receive such distribution.

(e) Notice of Adjustments . If: (i) the Company shall declare any dividend or distribution upon its stock, whether in stock, cash, property or other securities (assuming Warrantholder consents to a dividend involving cash, property or other securities); (ii) there shall be any Merger Event; (iii) there shall be an Initial Public Offering; (iv) the Company shall sell, lease, license or otherwise transfer all or substantially all of its assets; or (v) there shall be any voluntary dissolution, liquidation or winding up of the Company; then, in connection with each such event, the Company shall send to the Warrantholder: (A) at least five (5) business days' prior written notice of the date on which the books of the Company shall close or a record shall be taken for such dividend, distribution, subscription rights (specifying the date on which the holders of Common Stock shall be entitled thereto) or for determining rights to vote in respect of such Merger Event, dissolution, liquidation or winding up; (B) in the case of any such Merger Event, sale, lease, license or other transfer of all or substantially all assets, dissolution, liquidation or winding up, at least five (5) business days' prior written notice of the date when the same shall take place (and specifying the date on which the holders of Common Stock shall be entitled to exchange their Common Stock for securities or other property deliverable upon such Merger Event, dissolution, liquidation or winding up); and (C) in the case of an Initial Public Offering, the Company shall give the Warrantholder at least five (5) business days' written notice prior to the effective date thereof. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Company shall have no liability for failing to timely give such notice, except to the extent the Warrantholder is materially and adversely affected by such failure.

Each such written notice shall set forth, in reasonable detail, (i) the event requiring the notice, and (ii) if any adjustment is required to be made, (A) the amount of such adjustment, (B) the method by which such adjustment was calculated, (C) the adjusted Exercise Price (if the Exercise Price has been adjusted), and (D) the number of shares subject to purchase hereunder after giving effect to such adjustment, and shall be given by first class mail, postage prepaid, or by reputable overnight courier with all charges prepaid, addressed to the Warrantholder at the address for Warrantholder set forth in the registry referred to in Section 7.

SECTION 9. REPRESENTATIONS, WARRANTIES AND COVENANTS OF THE COMPANY.

(a) Reservation of Common Stock . The Common Stock issuable upon exercise of the Warrantholder's rights will be duly and validly reserved and, when issued in accordance with the provisions of this Agreement, will be validly issued, fully paid and non-assessable, and will be free of any taxes, liens, charges or encumbrances of any nature whatsoever; provided , that the Common Stock issuable pursuant to this Agreement may be subject to restrictions on transfer under state and/or federal securities laws and as provided in the Voting Agreement and IRA Agreement. The Company has made available to the Warrantholder true, correct and complete copies of its Charter and current bylaws. The issuance of certificates for shares of Common Stock upon exercise of this Agreement shall be made without charge to the Warrantholder for any issuance tax in respect thereof, or other cost incurred by the Company in connection with such exercise and the related issuance of shares of Common Stock; provided , that the Company shall not be required to pay any tax which may be payable in respect of any transfer and the issuance and delivery of any certificate in a name other than that of the Warrantholder.

(b) Due Authority . The execution and delivery by the Company of this Agreement and the performance of all obligations of the Company hereunder, including the issuance to Warrantholder of the right to acquire the shares of Common Stock, have been duly authorized by all necessary corporate action on the part of the Company. Subject to amending the Charter to authorize the Common Stock, this Agreement: (1) does not violate the Company's Charter or current bylaws; (2) does not contravene any law or governmental rule, regulation or order applicable to it; and (3) does not and will not contravene any provision of, or constitute a default under, any indenture, mortgage, contract or other instrument to which it is a party or by which it is bound. This Agreement constitutes a legal, valid and binding agreement of the Company, enforceable in accordance with its terms.

(c) Consents and Approvals . No consent or approval of, giving of notice to, registration with, or taking of any other action in respect of any state, federal or other governmental authority or agency is required with respect to the execution, delivery and performance by the Company of its obligations under this Agreement, except for the filing of notices pursuant to Regulation D under the Act and any filing required by applicable state securities law, which filings will be effective by the time required thereby.

(d) Issued Securities . As of the date hereof:

(i) The authorized capital of the Company consists of (A) 86,400 shares of Common Stock, of which 11,773.5963 shares are issued and outstanding, and (B) 14,044 shares of Preferred Stock, of which 12,771.6018 shares are issued and outstanding.

(ii) The Company has reserved 1,439 shares of Common Stock for issuance under its 2004 Stock Option and Grant Plan, as amended, of which 1,126.2337 shares of restricted stock and no options have been granted to date and of which no shares of Common Stock are available for future grant; and the Company has reserved 2,968.4904 shares of Common Stock for issuance under its 2008 Stock Option and Grant Plan, as amended (the " 2008 Plan "), of which options to acquire 99.1825 shares of Common Stock have been granted to date and are outstanding and of which 2,869.3079 shares of Common Stock are available for future grant. Stock appreciation rights for 2,146.3269 shares of Common Stock have expired and the shares have been added back into the available reserved pool pursuant to the terms of the 2008 Plan. There are no other options, warrants, conversion privileges or other rights presently outstanding to purchase or otherwise acquire any authorized but unissued shares of the Company's capital stock or other securities of the Company. The Company has no outstanding loans to any employee, officer or director of the Company, and the Company agrees not to enter into any such loan or otherwise guarantee the payment of any loan made to an employee, officer or director by a third party.

(e) Other Commitments to Register Securities . Except as set forth in this Agreement and in the IRA Agreement, the Company is not, pursuant to the terms of any other agreement currently in existence, under any obligation to register under the Act any of its presently outstanding securities or any of its securities which may hereafter be issued.

(f) Exempt Transaction . Subject to the accuracy of the Warrantholder's representations in Section 10, the issuance of the Common Stock upon exercise of this Agreement will constitute a transaction exempt from (i) the registration requirements of Section 5 of the Act, in reliance upon Section 4(2) thereof, and (ii) the qualification requirements of the applicable state securities laws.

(g) Information Rights . During the term of this Warrant, Warrantholder shall be entitled to the information rights contained in Section 3.1 of the IRA Agreement, and Section 3.1 of the IRA Agreement is hereby incorporated into this Agreement by this reference as though fully set forth herein.

SECTION 10. REPRESENTATIONS AND COVENANTS OF THE WARRANTHOLDER.

This Agreement has been entered into by the Company in reliance upon the following representations and covenants of the Warrantholder:

(a) Investment Purpose . The right to acquire Common Stock is being acquired for investment and not with a view to the sale or distribution of any part thereof, and the Warrantholder has no present intention of selling or engaging in any public distribution of such rights or the Common Stock except pursuant to an effective registration statement or an exemption from the registration requirements of the Act.

(b) Private Issue . The Warrantholder understands (i) that the Common Stock issuable upon exercise of this Agreement is not registered under the Act or qualified under applicable state securities laws on the ground that the issuance contemplated by this Agreement will be exempt from the registration and qualifications requirements thereof, and (ii) that the Company's reliance on such exemption is predicated on the representations set forth in this Section 10.

(c) Financial Risk . The Warrantholder has such knowledge and experience in financial and business matters as to be capable of evaluating the merits and risks of its investment, and has the ability to bear the economic risks of its investment.

(d) Risk of No Registration . The Warrantholder understands that if the Company does not register with the SEC pursuant to Section 12 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the " 1934 Act "), or file reports pursuant to Section 15(d) of the 1934 Act, or if a registration statement covering the securities under the Act is not in effect when it desires to sell (i) the rights to purchase Common Stock pursuant to this Agreement or (ii) the Common Stock issuable upon exercise of the right to purchase, it may be required to hold such securities for an indefinite period. The Warrantholder also understands that any sale of (A) its rights hereunder to purchase Common Stock or (B) Common Stock issued or issuable hereunder which might be made by it in reliance upon Rule 144 under the Act may be made only in accordance with the terms and conditions of that Rule.

(e) Accredited Investor . Warrantholder is an "accredited investor" within the meaning of the Securities and Exchange Rule 501 of Regulation D, as presently in effect.

SECTION 11. TRANSFERS.

Subject to compliance with applicable federal and state securities laws, this Agreement and all rights hereunder are, with the consent of the Company (other than with respect to a transfer to an affiliate of the Warrantholder, in which case the consent of the Company shall not be required), transferable, in whole or in part, without charge to the holder hereof (except for transfer taxes) upon surrender of this Agreement properly endorsed. Each taker and holder of this Agreement, by taking or holding the same, consents and agrees that this Agreement, when endorsed in blank, shall be deemed negotiable, and that the holder hereof, when this Agreement shall have been so endorsed and its transfer recorded on the Company's books, shall be treated by the Company and all other persons dealing with this Agreement as the absolute owner hereof for any purpose and as the person entitled to exercise the rights represented by this Agreement. The transfer of this Agreement in accordance with this Section 11 shall be recorded on the books of the Company upon receipt by the Company of a notice of transfer in the form attached hereto as Exhibit III (the " Transfer Notice "), at its principal offices and the payment to the Company of all transfer taxes and other governmental charges imposed on such transfer. Until the Company receives such Transfer Notice, the Company may treat the registered owner hereof as the owner for all purposes.

SECTION 12. MISCELLANEOUS.

(a) Effective Date . The provisions of this Agreement shall be construed and shall be given effect in all respects as if it had been executed and delivered by the Company on the date hereof. This Agreement shall be binding upon any successors or assigns of the Company.

(b) Remedies . In the event of any default hereunder, the non-defaulting party may proceed to protect and enforce its rights either by suit in equity and/or by action at law, including but not limited to an action for damages as a result of any such default, and/or an action for specific performance for any default where Warrantholder will not have an adequate remedy at law and where damages will not be readily ascertainable. The Company expressly agrees that it shall not oppose an application by the Warrantholder or any other person entitled to the benefit of this Agreement requiring specific performance of any or all provisions hereof or enjoining the Company from continuing to commit any such breach of this Agreement.

(c) No Impairment of Rights . The Company will not, by amendment of its Charter or through any other means, avoid or seek to avoid the observance or performance of any of the terms of this Agreement, but will at all times in good faith assist in the carrying out of all such terms and in the taking of all such actions as may be necessary or appropriate in order to protect the rights of the Warrantholder against impairment.

(d) Additional Documents . The Company shall supply such other documents as the Warrantholder may from time to time reasonably request.

(e) Attorney's Fees . In any litigation, arbitration or court proceeding between the Company and the Warrantholder relating hereto, the prevailing party shall be entitled to attorneys' fees and expenses and all costs of proceedings incurred in enforcing this Agreement. For the purposes of this Section 12(e), attorneys' fees shall include without limitation fees incurred in connection with the following: (i) contempt proceedings; (ii) discovery; (iii) any motion, proceeding or other activity of any kind in connection with an insolvency proceeding; (iv) garnishment, levy, and debtor and third party examinations; and (v) post-judgment motions and proceedings of any kind, including without limitation any activity taken to collect or enforce any judgment.

(f) Severability . In the event any one or more of the provisions of this Agreement shall for any reason be held invalid, illegal or unenforceable, the remaining provisions of this Agreement shall be unimpaired, and the invalid, illegal or unenforceable provision shall be replaced by a mutually acceptable valid, legal and enforceable provision, which comes closest to the intention of the parties underlying the invalid, illegal or unenforceable provision.

(g) Notices . Except as otherwise provided herein, any notice, demand, request, consent, approval, declaration, service of process or other communication that is required, contemplated, or permitted under this Agreement or with respect to the subject matter hereof shall be in writing, and shall be deemed to have been validly served, given, delivered, and received upon the earlier of: (i) the day of transmission by facsimile or hand delivery if transmission or delivery occurs on a business day at or before 5:00 pm in the time zone of the recipient, or, if transmission or delivery occurs on a non-business day or after such time, the first business day thereafter, or the first business day after deposit with an overnight express service or overnight mail delivery service; or (ii) the third calendar day after deposit in the United States mails, with proper first class postage prepaid, and shall be addressed to the party to be notified as follows:

None of the terms of this Agreement may be amended except by an instrument executed by each of the parties hereto.

(i) Headings . The various headings in this Agreement are inserted for convenience only and shall not affect the meaning or interpretation of this Agreement or any provisions hereof.

(j) No Strict Construction . The parties hereto have participated jointly in the negotiation and drafting of this Agreement. In the event an ambiguity or question of intent or interpretation arises, this Agreement shall be construed as if drafted jointly by the parties hereto and no presumption or burden of proof shall arise favoring or disfavoring any party by virtue of the authorship of any provisions of this Agreement.

(k) No Waiver . No omission or delay by Warrantholder at any time to enforce any right or remedy reserved to it, or to require performance of any of the terms, covenants or provisions hereof by the Company at any time designated, shall be a waiver of any such right or remedy to which Warrantholder is entitled, nor shall it in any way affect the right of Warrantholder to enforce such provisions thereafter.

(l) Survival . All agreements, representations and warranties contained in this Agreement or in any document delivered pursuant hereto shall be for the benefit of Warrantholder and shall survive the execution and delivery of this Agreement and the expiration or other termination of this Agreement.

(m) Governing Law . This Agreement have been negotiated and delivered to Warrantholder in the State of California, and shall have been accepted by Warrantholder in the State of California. Delivery of Common Stock to Warrantholder by the Company under this Agreement is due in the State of California. Except with respect to corporate law matters and related matters which shall be governed by Delaware corporate law, this Agreement shall be governed by, and construed and enforced in accordance with, the laws of the State of California, excluding conflict of laws principles that would cause the application of laws of any other jurisdiction.

(n) Consent to Jurisdiction and Venue . All judicial proceedings arising in or under or related to this Agreement may be brought in any state or federal court of competent jurisdiction located in the State of California. By execution and delivery of this Agreement, each party hereto generally and unconditionally: (a) consents to personal jurisdiction in Santa Clara County, State of California; (b) waives any objection as to jurisdiction or venue in Santa Clara County, State of California; (c) agrees not to assert any defense based on lack of jurisdiction or venue in the aforesaid courts; and (d) irrevocably agrees to be bound by any judgment rendered thereby in connection with this Agreement. Service of process on any party hereto in any action arising out of or relating to this Agreement shall be effective if given in accordance with the requirements for notice set forth in Section 12(g), and shall be deemed effective and received as set forth in Section 12(g). Nothing herein shall affect the right to serve process in any other manner permitted by law or shall limit the right of either party to bring proceedings in the courts of any other jurisdiction.

(o) Mutual Waiver of Jury Trial . Because disputes arising in connection with complex financial transactions are most quickly and economically resolved by an experienced and expert person and the parties wish applicable state and federal laws to apply (rather than arbitration rules), the parties desire that their disputes be resolved by a judge applying such applicable laws. EACH OF THE COMPANY AND WARRANTHOLDER SPECIFICALLY WAIVES ANY RIGHT IT MAY HAVE TO TRIAL BY JURY OF ANY CAUSE OF ACTION, CLAIM, CROSS-CLAIM, COUNTERCLAIM, THIRD PARTY CLAIM OR ANY OTHER CLAIM (COLLECTIVELY, " CLAIMS ") ASSERTED BY THE COMPANY AGAINST WARRANTHOLDER OR ITS ASSIGNEE OR BY WARRANTHOLDER OR ITS ASSIGNEE AGAINST THE COMPANY. This waiver extends to all such Claims, including Claims that involve Persons other than the Company and the Warrantholder; Claims that arise out of or are in any way connected to the relationship between the Company and Warrantholder; and any Claims for damages, breach of contract, specific performance, or any equitable or legal relief of any kind, arising out of this Agreement.

(p) Judicial Reference . If the waiver of jury trial set forth above is ineffective or unenforceable, the parties agree that all Claims shall be resolved by reference to a private judge sitting without a jury, pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure Section 638, before a mutually acceptable referee or, if the parties cannot agree, a referee selected by the Presiding Judge of the Santa Clara County, California. Such proceeding shall be conducted in Santa Clara County, California, with California rules of evidence and discovery applicable to such proceeding. In the event Claims are to be resolved by judicial reference, either party may seek from a court identified in Section 12(n), any prejudgment order, writ or other relief and have such prejudgment order, writ or other relief enforced to the fullest extent permitted by law notwithstanding that all Claims are otherwise subject to resolution by judicial reference.

(q) Counterparts . This Agreement and any amendments, waivers, consents or supplements hereto may be executed in any number of counterparts, and by different parties hereto in separate counterparts, each of which when so delivered shall be deemed an original, but all of which counterparts shall constitute but one and the same instrument.

(r) Specific Performance . The parties hereto hereby declare that it is impossible to measure in money the damages which will accrue to Warrantholder by reason of the Company's failure to perform any of the obligations under this Agreement and agree that the terms of this Agreement shall be specifically enforceable by Warrantholder. If Warrantholder institutes any action or proceeding to specifically enforce the provisions hereof, any person against whom such action or proceeding is brought hereby waives the claim or defense therein that Warrantholder has an adequate remedy at law, and such person shall not offer in any such action or proceeding the claim or defense that such remedy at law exists.

Exhibit 10.1

LCSI HOLDING, INC.

2008 STOCK OPTION AND GRANT PLAN

SECTION 1. GENERAL PURPOSE OF THE PLAN; DEFINITIONS

The name of the plan is the LCSI Holding, Inc. 2008 Stock Option and Grant Plan (the "Plan"). The purpose of the Plan is to encourage and enable the officers, employees, directors and other key persons (including prospective employees, but conditioned on their employment, and consultants) of LCSI Holding, Inc., a Delaware corporation (including any successor entity, the "Company") and any Subsidiary, upon whose judgment, initiative and efforts the Company largely depends for the successful conduct of its business, to acquire a proprietary interest in the Company. It is anticipated that providing such persons with a direct stake in the Company's welfare will assure a closer identification of their interests with those of the Company and its stockholders, thereby stimulating their efforts on the Company's behalf and strengthening their desire to remain with the Company.

The following terms shall be defined as set forth below:

" Act " means the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and the rules and regulations thereunder.

" Award " or "Awards," except where referring to a particular category of grant under the Plan, shall include Incentive Stock Options, Non-Qualified Stock Options, Stock Appreciation Rights, Restricted Stock Awards, Unrestricted Stock Awards, Restricted Stock Units or any combination of the foregoing.

"Award Agreement" means a written or electronic agreement setting forth the terms and provisions applicable to an Award granted under the Plan. Each Award Agreement may contain terms and conditions in addition to those set forth in the Plan; provided, however, that except to the extent explicitly provided to the contrary, in the event of any conflict in the terms of the Plan and the Award Agreement, the terms of the Plan shall govern.

" Board " means the Board of Directors of the Company.

" Cause " shall have the meaning as set forth in the Award Agreement(s). In the case that any Award Agreement does not contain a definition of "Cause," it shall have the meaning as determined in good faith by the Board.

"Chief Executive Officer" means the Chief Executive Officer of the Company or, if there is no Chief Executive Officer, then the President of the Company.

" Code " means the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, and any successor Code, and related rules, regulations and interpretations.

" Committee " means the Committee referred to in Section 2.

" Deferral Period " means, with respect to a Restricted Stock Unit, the period of time between the date of grant of such Restricted Stock Unit and the date on which such Restricted Stock Unit is due to be settled in accordance with its terms.

" Effective Date " means the date on which the Plan is approved by stockholders as set forth on the final page of the Plan.

" Exchange Act " means the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, and the rules and regulations thereunder.

" Fair Market Value " of the Stock on any given date means the fair market value of the Stock determined in good faith by the Committee based on the reasonable application of a reasonable valuation method not inconsistent with Section 409A of the Code. If the Stock is admitted to quotation on a national securities exchange, the determination shall be made by reference to market quotations. If the date for which Fair Market Value is determined is the first day when trading prices for the Stock are reported on a national securities exchange, the Fair Market Value shall be the "Price to the Public" (or equivalent) set forth on the cover page for the final prospectus relating to the Company's Initial Public Offering.

" Incentive Stock Option " means any Stock Option designated and qualified as an "incentive stock option" as defined in Section 422 of the Code.

" Initial Public Offering " means the consummation of the first fully underwritten, firm commitment public offering pursuant to an effective registration statement under the Act covering the offer and sale by the Company of its equity securities, as a result of or following which the Stock shall be publicly held.

" NASDAQ " means the NASDAQ Stock Market LLC.

" Non-Qualified Stock Option " means any Stock Option that is not an Incentive Stock Option.

" Option " or " Stock Option " means any option to purchase shares of Stock granted pursuant to Section 5.

" Restricted Stock Award " means an Award granted pursuant to Section 7 entitling the recipient to acquire, at such purchase price (which may be zero) as determined by the Committee, shares of Stock subject to such restrictions and conditions as the Committee may determine at the time of grant, which purchase price shall be payable in cash or other form of consideration acceptable to the Committee.

" Restricted Stock Unit " means an Award of phantom stock units to a grantee, which may be settled in cash or stock as determined by the Committee, pursuant to Section 9.

"Sale Event" shall mean and include any of the following: (a) consummation of a merger or consolidation of the Company with or into any other corporation or other entity in which holders of the Company's voting securities immediately prior to such merger or consolidation will not, directly or indirectly, continue to hold at least a majority of the outstanding voting securities of the Company; (b) a sale, lease, exchange or other transfer (in one transaction or a related series of transactions) of all or substantially all of the Company's and its Subsidiaries' assets on a consolidated basis to an unrelated person or entity; (c) the acquisition by any person or any group of persons, acting together in any transaction or related series of transactions, of such quantity of the Company's voting securities as causes such person, or group of persons, to own beneficially, directly or indirectly, as of the time immediately after such transaction or related series of transactions, 50 percent or more of the combined voting power of the voting securities of the Company other than as a result of (i) an acquisition of securities directly from the Company or (ii) an acquisition of securities by the Company which, by reducing the voting securities outstanding, increases the proportionate voting power represented by the voting securities owned by any such person or group of persons to 50 percent or more of the combined voting power of such voting securities; or (d) the liquidation or dissolution of the Company.

" Section 409A " means Section 409A of the Code and the regulations and other guidance promulgated thereunder.

" Stock " means the Common Stock, par value $0.01 per share, of the Company, subject to adjustments pursuant to Section 3.

" Stock Appreciation Right " means an Award entitling the recipient to receive shares of Stock having a value equal to the excess of the Fair Market Value of the Stock on the date of exercise over the exercise price of the Stock Appreciation Right multiplied by the number of shares of Stock with respect to which the Stock Appreciation Right shall have been exercised.

" Subsidiary " means any corporation or other entity (other than the Company) in which the Company has at least a 50 percent interest, either directly or indirectly.

" Ten Percent Owner " means an employee who owns or is deemed to own (by reason of the attribution rules of Section 424(d) of the Code) more than 10 percent of the combined voting power of all classes of stock of the Company or any parent of the Company or any Subsidiary.

" Unrestricted Stock Award " means an Award of shares of Stock, free of any vesting restrictions, granted pursuant to Section 8.

SECTION 2. ADMINISTRATION OF PLAN; COMMITTEE AUTHORITY TO SELECT GRANTEES AND DETERMINE AWARDS

(a) Administration of Plan . The Plan shall be administered by the Board, or at the discretion of the Board, by a committee of the Board, comprised, except as contemplated by Section 2(c), of not less than two Directors. All references herein to the "Committee" shall be deemed to refer to the group then responsible for administration of the Plan at the relevant time (i.e., either the Board of Directors or a committee or committees of the Board, as applicable).

(b) Powers of Committee . The Committee shall have the power and authority to grant Awards consistent with the terms of the Plan, including the power and authority:

(i) to select the individuals to whom Awards may from time to time be granted;

(ii) to determine the time or times of grant, and the amount, if any, of Incentive Stock Options, Non-Qualified Stock Options, Stock Appreciation Rights, Restricted Stock Awards, Unrestricted Stock Awards, Restricted Stock Units, or any combination of the foregoing, granted to any one or more grantees;

(iii) to determine the number of shares of Stock to be covered by any Award and, subject to the provisions of Section 5(a)(i) below, the price, exercise price, conversion ratio or other price relating thereto;

(iv) to determine and, subject to Section 13, to modify from time to time the terms and conditions, including restrictions, not inconsistent with the terms of the Plan, of any Award, which terms and conditions may differ among individual Awards and grantees, and to approve the form of written instruments evidencing the Awards;

(v) to accelerate at any time the exercisability or vesting of all or any portion of any Award;

(vi) to impose any limitations on Awards granted under the Plan, including limitations on transfers, repurchase provisions and the like, and to exercise repurchase rights or obligations;

(vii) subject to any restrictions applicable to Incentive Stock Options, to extend at any time the period in which Stock Options may be exercised; and

(viii) at any time to adopt, alter and repeal such rules, guidelines and practices for administration of the Plan and for its own acts and proceedings as it shall deem advisable; to interpret the terms and provisions of the Plan and any Award (including related written instruments); to make all determinations it deems advisable for the administration of the Plan; to decide all disputes arising in connection with the Plan; and to otherwise supervise the administration of the Plan.

All decisions and interpretations of the Committee shall be binding on all persons, including the Company and Plan grantees.

(c) Delegation of Authority to Grant Options . Subject to applicable law, the Committee, in its discretion, may delegate to the Chief Executive Officer of the Company the power to designate officers or employees to be recipients of Options, and to determine the number of such Options to be received by such officers or employees; provided , however , that the resolution so authorizing the Chief Executive Officer shall specify the total number of Options the Chief Executive Officer may so award and may not delegate to the Chief Executive Officer the authority to set the strike price or the vesting terms of such Options. Any such delegation by the Committee shall also provide that the Chief Executive Officer may not grant awards to himself or herself (or other members of senior management) without the approval of the Committee. The Committee may revoke or amend the terms of a delegation at any time but such action shall not invalidate any prior actions of the Committee's delegate or delegates that were consistent with the terms of the Plan.

(d) Award Agreement . Awards under the Plan shall be evidenced by Award Agreements that set forth the terms, conditions and limitations for each Award and may include, without limitation, the term of an Award, the provisions applicable in the event employment or service terminates, and the Company's authority to unilaterally or bilaterally amend, modify, suspend, cancel or rescind an Award.

(e) Indemnification . Neither the Board nor the Committee, nor any member of either or any delegate thereof, shall be liable for any act, omission, interpretation, construction or determination made in good faith in connection with the Plan, and the members of the Board and the Committee (and any delegate thereof) shall be entitled in all cases to indemnification and reimbursement by the Company in respect of any claim, loss, damage or expense (including, without limitation, reasonable attorneys' fees) arising or resulting therefrom to the fullest extent permitted by law and/or under the Company's governing documents, including its articles or bylaws, or any directors' and officers' liability insurance coverage which may be in effect from time to time and/or any indemnification agreement between such individual and the Company.

(f) Foreign Award Recipients . Notwithstanding any provision of the Plan to the contrary, in order to comply with the laws in other countries in which the Company and any Subsidiary operate or have employees or other individuals eligible for Awards, the Committee, in its sole discretion, shall have the power and authority to: (i) determine which Subsidiaries, if any, shall be covered by the Plan; (ii) determine which individuals, if any, outside the United States are eligible to participate in the Plan; (iii) modify the terms and conditions of any Award granted to individuals outside the United States to comply with applicable foreign laws; (iv) establish subplans and modify exercise procedures and other terms and procedures, to the extent the Committee determines such actions to be necessary or advisable (and such subplans and/or modifications shall be attached to the Plan as appendices); provided , however , that no such subplans and/or modifications shall increase the share limitation contained in Section 3(a) hereof; and (v) take any action, before or after an Award is made, that the Committee determines to be necessary or advisable to obtain approval or comply with any local governmental regulatory exemptions or approvals. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Committee may not take any actions hereunder, and no Awards shall be granted, that would violate the Exchange Act or any other applicable United States securities law, the Code, or any other applicable United States governing statute or law.

(g) Deferral Arrangement . The Committee may establish rules and procedures, consistent with Section 409A, setting forth the circumstances under which the distribution or the receipt of Stock and other amounts payable with respect to an Award may be deferred either automatically or at the election of the grantee and whether and to what extent the Company may pay or credit amounts constituting interest (at rates determined by the Committee) or dividends or deemed dividends on such deferrals.

SECTION 3. STOCK ISSUABLE UNDER THE PLAN; MERGERS AND OTHER TRANSACTIONS; SUBSTITUTION

(a) Stock Issuable . The maximum number of shares of Stock reserved and available for issuance under the Plan shall be 2,667.48556 shares, subject to adjustment as provided in Section 3(b). For purposes of this limitation, the shares of Stock underlying any Awards that are forfeited, canceled, withheld upon exercise of an Option or settlement of an Award to cover the exercise price or tax withholding, reacquired by the Company prior to vesting, satisfied without the issuance of Stock or otherwise terminated (other than by exercise), in each case shall be added back to the shares of Stock available for issuance under the Plan. In addition, upon exercise of Stock Appreciation Rights, the gross number of shares exercised shall be deducted from the total number of shares remaining available for issuance under the Plan. Subject to such overall limitations, shares of Stock may be issued up to such maximum number pursuant to any type or types of Award. The shares available for issuance under the Plan may be authorized but unissued shares of Stock or shares of Stock reacquired by the Company.

(b) Changes in Stock . Subject to Section 3(c) hereof, if, as a result of any reorganization, recapitalization, reclassification, stock dividend, stock split, reverse stock split or other similar change in the Company's capital stock, the outstanding shares of Stock are increased or decreased or are exchanged for a different number or kind of shares or other securities of the Company, or additional shares or new or different shares or other securities of the Company or other non-cash assets are distributed with respect to such shares of Stock or other securities, or, if, as a result of any merger or consolidation, or sale of all or substantially all of the assets of the Company, the outstanding shares of Stock are converted into or exchanged for securities of the Company or any successor entity (or a parent or subsidiary thereof), the Committee shall make an appropriate and equitable or proportionate adjustment in (i) the maximum number of shares reserved for issuance under the Plan, (ii) the number and kind of shares or other securities subject to any then outstanding Awards under the Plan, (iii) the repurchase price, if any, per share subject to each outstanding Restricted Stock Award, and (iv) the price for each share subject to any then outstanding Stock Options and Stock Appreciation Right under the Plan, without changing the aggregate exercise price (i.e., the exercise price multiplied by the number of Stock Options and Stock Appreciation Rights) as to which such Stock Options and Stock Appreciation Rights remain exercisable. The adjustment by the Committee shall be final, binding and conclusive. No fractional shares of Stock shall be issued under the Plan resulting from any such adjustment, but the Committee in its discretion may make a cash payment in lieu of fractional shares.

(c) Sale Events .

(i) Upon consummation of a Sale Event, the Plan and all outstanding Awards granted hereunder shall terminate (other than any rights in favor of the Company to repurchase any Stock underlying any Award), unless provision is made in connection with the Sale Event in the sole discretion of the parties to the Sale Event for the assumption or continuation by the successor entity of Awards theretofore granted (an "Assumed Award"), or the substitution of such Awards with new awards of the successor entity or parent thereof (a "Substituted Award"), with an equitable or proportionate adjustment as to the number and kind of shares and, if appropriate, the per share exercise prices, as such parties shall agree (after taking into account any acceleration hereunder). In connection with any Sale Event in which all of the consideration is cash, the parties to any such Sale Event may also provide that some or all outstanding Awards that would otherwise not be fully vested and exercisable in full after giving effect to the Sale Event will be converted (a "Converted Award") into the right to receive the consideration payable to holders of Stock in the Sale Event (net of the applicable exercise price), subject to any remaining vesting provisions relating to such Awards and the other terms and conditions of the Sale Event (such as indemnification obligations and purchase price adjustments) to the extent provided by the parties and the further provisions set forth in paragraph (iii) below regarding the effect on Converted Awards of termination of employment following a Sale Event and the provisions set forth in (iv) below regarding payments in respect of Converted Awards.

(ii) In the event the Plan and all outstanding Awards terminate in connection with a Sale Event, each grantee shall be permitted, within a specified period of time prior to the consummation of the Sale Event as determined by the Committee, to exercise all outstanding Options and Stock Appreciation Rights held by such grantee that are then exercisable; provided , however , that the exercise of Options and Stock Appreciation Rights not exercisable prior to the Sale Event shall be subject to the consummation of the Sale Event.

(iii) (A) In connection with any Sale Event in which the parties have provided for any Converted Awards, the parties thereto may establish an escrow account (the "Award Escrow") to satisfy the payment obligation with respect to the Converted Awards. In such event, the Company shall arrange for the acquirer in any such Sale Event to deposit into the Award Escrow an amount of consideration sufficient to pay to the holders of unexercised Converted Awards the consideration such holders would have received in the Sale Event (net of the applicable exercise price) had such Converted Awards been exercisable at the time of consummation of the Sale Event and such Award Escrow shall be used exclusively to satisfy obligations with respect to the Converted Awards. The Award Escrow shall remain in place beginning on the closing date of the applicable Sale Event and ending on the date which is the earlier of (i) the last vesting date on which any holder is subject to any remaining vesting provisions relating to a Converted Award, or (ii) the date on which the employment or service relationship of all holders of Converted Awards with the Company and its subsidiaries or successor entity is terminated (the "Award Escrow Expiration Date").

(B) If and to the extent any Converted Awards vest in accordance with the applicable vesting schedule, the consideration relating to such vested Converted Awards shall promptly be paid to the holder thereof from the Award Escrow.

(C) In the event the employment of any holder of a Converted Award is terminated upon such holder's death or disability (as such terms are defined in Section 22(e) of the Code), the consideration relating to such Converted Award shall promptly be paid to such holder from the Award Escrow.

(D) In the event the employment of any holder of a Converted Award is terminated by the Company or any Subsidiary or successor entity for any reason (other than such holder's death or disability), any remaining unvested Converted Awards held by such holder at the time of such termination shall immediately be forfeited and cancelled and the consideration relating to such unvested Converted Awards shall be retained in the Award Escrow and distributed on the Award Escrow Expiration Date as provided in paragraph (E) below.

(E) Upon the Award Escrow Expiration Date, any amount remaining in the Award Escrow shall be distributed to the selling individuals and/or entities in the Sale Event in the same manner as if it were additional consideration to be distributed in accordance with the applicable sale agreement.

(iv) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary herein, the Company shall have the right, but not the obligation in connection with a Sale Event, to make or provide for a cash payment to grantees holding Options or Stock Appreciation Rights (to the extent then exercisable, including by reason of vesting acceleration, at prices not in excess of the applicable sale price for the Stock in the Sale Event), in exchange for the cancellation thereof, in an amount equal to the difference between (A) the value as determined by the Committee of the consideration payable, or otherwise to be received by stockholders, per share of Stock pursuant to a Sale Event multiplied by the number of shares of Stock subject to outstanding Options or Stock Appreciation Rights (to the extent then exercisable, including by reason of vesting acceleration, at prices not in excess of the applicable sale price for the Stock in the Sale Event) and (B) the aggregate exercise price of all such outstanding Options or Stock Appreciation Rights (to the extent then exercisable, including by reason of vesting acceleration, at prices not in excess of the applicable sale price for the Stock in the Sale Event), subject to the other terms and conditions of the Sale Event (such as indemnification obligations and purchase price adjustments) to the extent provided by the parties.

(d) Substitute Awards . The Committee may grant Awards under the Plan in substitution for stock and similar stock-based awards held by employees, directors or other key persons of another corporation in connection with the merger or consolidation of the employing corporation with the Company or a Subsidiary or the acquisition by the Company or a Subsidiary of property or stock of the employing corporation. The Committee may direct that the substitute awards be granted on such terms and conditions as the Committee considers appropriate in the circumstances. Any substitute Awards granted under the Plan shall not count against the share limitation set forth in Section 3(a).

SECTION 4. ELIGIBILITY

Grantees under the Plan will be such full or part-time officers and other employees, directors and key persons (including prospective employees, but conditioned on their employment, and consultants) of the Company and any Subsidiary who are selected from time to time by the Committee in its sole discretion; provided , however , that an Incentive Stock Option may be granted only to a person who, at the time the Incentive Stock Option is granted, is an employee of the Company or any Subsidiary.

SECTION 5. STOCK OPTIONS

Any Stock Option granted under the Plan must be made pursuant to a Stock Option Award Agreement in such form as the Committee may from time to time approve. Option Award Agreements need not be identical.

Stock Options granted under the Plan may be either Incentive Stock Options or Non-Qualified Stock Options. Incentive Stock Options may be granted only to employees of the Company or any Subsidiary that is a “subsidiary corporation” within the meaning of Section 424(f) of the Code. To the extent that any Option does not qualify as an Incentive Stock Option, it shall be deemed a Non-Qualified Stock Option.

No Incentive Stock Option shall be granted under the Plan after the date which is ten years from the date the Plan is approved by the Board.

(a) Terms of Stock Options . The Committee in its discretion may grant Stock Options to eligible employees and key persons of the Company or any Subsidiary. Stock Options granted pursuant to this Section 5(a) shall be subject to the following terms and conditions and shall contain such additional terms and conditions, not inconsistent with the terms of the Plan, as the Committee shall deem desirable. If the Committee so determines, Stock Options may be granted in lieu of cash compensation at the optionee's election, subject to such terms and conditions as the Committee may establish.

(i) Exercise Price . The exercise price per share for the Stock covered by a Stock Option granted pursuant to Section 5(a) shall be determined by the Committee at the time of grant but shall not be less than 100 percent of the Fair Market Value on the date of grant in the case of an Incentive Stock Option. In the case of an Incentive Stock Option that is granted to a Ten Percent Owner, the option price of such Incentive Stock Option shall be not less than 110 percent of the Fair Market Value on the grant date.

(ii) Option Term . The term of each Stock Option shall be fixed by the Committee, but no Stock Option shall be exercisable more than ten years after the date the Stock Option is granted. In the case of an Incentive Stock Option that is granted to a Ten Percent Owner, the term of such Stock Option shall be no more than five years from the date of grant.

(iii) Exercisability; Rights of a Stockholder . Stock Options shall become exercisable at such time or times, whether or not in installments, as shall be determined by the Committee at or after the grant date. An optionee shall have the rights of a stockholder only as to shares acquired upon the exercise of a Stock Option and not as to unexercised Stock Options. An optionee shall not be deemed to have acquired any such shares unless and until a Stock Option shall have been exercised pursuant to the terms hereof, the Company shall have issued and delivered a certificate representing the shares to the optionee, and the optionee's name shall have been entered on the books of the Company as a stockholder.

(iv) Method of Exercise . Stock Options may be exercised by an optionee in whole or in part, by the optionee giving written notice of exercise to the Company, specifying the number of shares to be purchased. Payment of the purchase price may be made by one or more of the following methods (or any combination thereof) to the extent provided in the Option Award Agreement:

(A) In cash, by certified or bank check, by wire transfer of immediately available funds, or other instrument acceptable to the Committee;

(B) By the optionee delivering to the Company a promissory note, if the Board has expressly authorized the loan of funds to the optionee for the purpose of enabling or assisting the optionee to effect the exercise of his or her Stock Option;

provided, that at least so much of the exercise price as represents the par value of the Stock shall be paid other than with a promissory note if required by state law;

(C) If the Initial Public Offering has occurred, through the delivery (or attestation to the ownership) of shares of Stock that have been purchased by the optionee on the open market or that are beneficially owned by the optionee and are not then subject to restrictions under any Company plan. To the extent required to avoid variable accounting treatment under FAS 123R or other applicable accounting rules, such surrendered shares if originally purchased from the Company shall have been owned by the optionee for at least six months. Such surrendered shares shall be valued at Fair Market Value on the exercise date; and

(D) If permitted by the Committee, by the optionee delivering to the Company a properly executed exercise notice together with irrevocable instructions to a broker to promptly deliver to the Company cash or a check payable and acceptable to the Company for the purchase price; provided that in the event the optionee chooses to pay the purchase price as so provided, the optionee and the broker shall comply with such procedures and enter into such agreements of indemnity and other agreements as the Committee shall prescribe as a condition of such payment procedure.

Payment instruments will be received subject to collection. No certificates for shares of Stock so purchased will be issued to the optionee until the Company has completed all steps required by law to be taken in connection with the issuance and sale of the shares, including without limitation (i) receipt of a representation from the optionee at the time of exercise of the Option that the optionee is purchasing the shares for the optionee's own account and not with a view to any sale or distribution thereof, (ii) the legending of any certificate representing the shares to evidence the foregoing restrictions, and (iii) obtaining from optionee payment or provision for all withholding taxes due as a result of the exercise of the Option. The delivery of certificates representing the shares of Stock to be purchased pursuant to the exercise of a Stock Option will be contingent upon receipt from the optionee (or a purchaser acting in his or her stead in accordance with the provisions of the Stock Option) by the Company of the full purchase price for such shares and the fulfillment of any other requirements contained in the Option Award Agreement or applicable provisions of laws. In the event an optionee chooses to pay the purchase price by previously-owned shares of Stock through the attestation method, the number of shares of Stock transferred to the optionee upon the exercise of the Stock Option shall be net of the number of shares attested to.

(b) Annual Limit on Incentive Stock Options . To the extent required for "incentive stock option" treatment under Section 422 of the Code, the aggregate Fair Market Value (determined as of the time of grant) of the shares of Stock with respect to which Incentive Stock Options granted under the Plan and any other plan of the Company or its parent and any Subsidiary that become exercisable for the first time by an optionee during any calendar year shall not exceed $100,000 or such other limit as may be in effect from time to time under Section 422 of the Code. To the extent that any Stock Option exceeds this limit, it shall constitute a Non-Qualified Stock Option.

(c) Non-Transferability of Stock Options . No Stock Option shall be transferable by the optionee otherwise than by will or by the laws of descent and distribution and all Stock Options shall be exercisable, during the optionee's lifetime, only by the optionee, or by the optionee's legal representative or guardian in the event of the optionee's incapacity. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Committee, in its sole discretion, may provide in the Award Agreement regarding a given Option that the optionee may transfer, without consideration for the transfer, his or her Non-Qualified Stock Options to members of his or her immediate family, to trusts for the benefit of such family members, or to partnerships in which such family members are the only partners, provided that the transferee agrees in writing with the Company to be bound by all of the terms and conditions of the Plan and the applicable Option.

SECTION 6. STOCK APPRECIATION RIGHTS

(a) Exercise Price of Stock Appreciation Rights . The exercise price of a Stock Appreciation Right shall not be less than 100 percent of the Fair Market Value of the Stock on the date of grant.

(b) Grant and Exercise of Stock Appreciation Rights . Stock Appreciation Rights may be granted by the Committee independently of any Stock Option granted pursuant to Section 5 of the Plan.

(c) Terms and Conditions of Stock Appreciation Rights . Stock Appreciation Rights shall be subject to such terms and conditions as shall be determined from time to time by the Committee. The term of a Stock Appreciation Right may not exceed ten years.

SECTION 7. RESTRICTED STOCK AWARDS

(a) Nature of Restricted Stock Awards . The Committee shall determine the restrictions and conditions applicable to each Restricted Stock Award at the time of grant. Conditions may be based on continuing employment (or other service relationship), achievement of pre-established performance goals and objectives and/or such other criteria as the Committee may determine. The grant of a Restricted Stock Award is contingent on the grantee executing a Restricted Stock Award Agreement. The terms and conditions of each such Award Agreement shall be determined by the Committee, and such terms and conditions may differ among individual Awards and grantees, all of whom must be eligible persons under Section 4 hereof.

(b) Rights as a Stockholder . Upon execution of a Restricted Stock Award Agreement and payment of any applicable purchase price, a grantee of Restricted Stock shall be considered the record owner of and shall be entitled to vote the Shares of Restricted Stock if, and to the extent, such Shares are entitled to voting rights, subject to such conditions contained in the Restricted Stock Award Agreement. Except as otherwise provided for in any agreement or waiver letter, the grantee shall be entitled to receive all dividends and any other distributions declared on the Shares; provided , however , that the Company is under no duty to declare any such dividends or to make any such distribution. The Restricted Stock Award Agreement may require or permit the immediate payment, waiver, deferral or investment of dividends paid on the Restricted Stock. Unless the Committee shall otherwise determine, certificates evidencing the Restricted Stock shall remain in the possession of the Company until such Restricted Stock is vested as provided in subsection (d) below of this Section, and the grantee shall be required, as a condition of the grant, to deliver to the Company a stock power endorsed in blank and such other instruments of transfer as the Committee may prescribe.

(c) Restrictions . Restricted Stock may not be sold, assigned, transferred, pledged or otherwise encumbered or disposed of except as specifically provided herein or in the Restricted Stock Award Agreement. Except as may otherwise be provided by the Committee either in the Award Agreement or, subject to Section 13 below, in writing after the Award Agreement is issued, if any, if a grantee's employment (or other service relationship) with the Company and any Subsidiary terminates, the Company or its assigns shall have the right, as may be specified in the relevant instrument, to repurchase some or all of the Shares subject to the Award at such purchase price as is set forth in the Restricted Stock Award Agreement.

(d) Vesting of Restricted Stock . The Committee at the time of grant shall specify the date or dates and/or the attainment of pre-established performance goals, objectives and other conditions on which Restricted Stock shall become vested, subject to such further rights of the Company or its assigns as may be specified in the Restricted Stock Award Agreement.

SECTION 8. UNRESTRICTED STOCK AWARDS

(a) Grant or Sale of Unrestricted Stock . The Committee may, in its sole discretion, grant (or sell at par value or such higher purchase price determined by the Committee) to an eligible person under Section 4 hereof an Unrestricted Stock Award under the Plan. Unrestricted Stock Awards may be granted in respect of past services or other valid consideration, or in lieu of cash compensation due to such grantee.

(b) Elections to Receive Unrestricted Stock In Lieu of Compensation . Upon the request of an eligible person under Section 4 hereof and with the consent of the Committee, each such grantee may, pursuant to an advance written election delivered to the Company no later than the date specified by the Committee, receive a portion of any cash compensation otherwise due to such grantee in the form of shares of Unrestricted Stock either currently or on a deferred basis.

(c) Restrictions on Transfers . The right to receive shares of Unrestricted Stock on a deferred basis may not be sold, assigned, transferred, pledged or otherwise encumbered, other than by will or the laws of descent and distribution.

SECTION 9. RESTRICTED STOCK UNITS

(a) Nature of Restricted Stock Units . The Committee shall determine the restrictions and conditions applicable to each Restricted Stock Unit at the time of grant. Conditions may be based on continuing employment (or other service relationship), achievement of pre-established performance goals and objectives and/or other such criteria as the Committee may determine. The grant of Restricted Stock Unit(s) is contingent on the grantee executing a Restricted Stock Unit Award Agreement. The terms and conditions of each such Award Agreement shall be determined by the Committee, shall be consistent with Section 409A, and such terms and conditions may differ among individual Awards and grantees. At the end of the Deferral Period applicable to any Restricted Stock Unit, such Restricted Stock Unit(s), to the extent vested, shall be settled in the form of cash or shares of Stock, as specified in the Award Agreement.

(b) Election to Receive Restricted Stock Units in Lieu of Compensation . The Committee may, in its sole discretion, permit a grantee to elect to receive a portion of any future cash compensation otherwise due to such grantee in the form of a Restricted Stock Unit. Any such election shall be made in writing and shall be delivered to the Company no later than the date specified by the Committee and in accordance with Section 409A and such other rules and procedures established by the Committee. Upon any such election, any such future cash compensation shall be converted to a fixed number of Restricted Stock Unit(s) based on the Fair Market Value of Stock on the date the compensation would otherwise have been paid to the grantee if such payment had not been deferred through conversion into the Restricted Stock Unit(s). The Committee shall have the sole right to determine whether and under what circumstances to permit such elections and to impose such limitations and other terms and conditions thereon as the Committee deems appropriate.

(c) Rights as a Stockholder . A grantee shall have the rights of a stockholder only as to shares of Stock, if any, acquired upon settlement of a Restricted Stock Unit. A grantee shall not be deemed to have acquired any such shares unless and until a Restricted Stock Unit shall have been settled in Stock pursuant to the terms hereof, the Company shall have issued and delivered a certificate representing the shares to the grantee, and the grantee's name shall have been entered in the books of the Company as a stockholder.

(d) Termination . Except as may otherwise be provided by the Committee either in the Award Agreement or in writing after the Award Agreement is issued, a grantee's right in all Restricted Stock Units that have not vested shall automatically terminate upon the grantee's termination of employment (or cessation of service relationship) with the Company and any Subsidiary for any reason.

SECTION 10. TAX WITHHOLDING

(a) Payment by Grantee . Each grantee shall, no later than the date as of which the value of an Award or of any Stock or other amounts received thereunder first becomes includable in the gross income of the grantee for Federal income tax purposes, pay to the Company, or make arrangements satisfactory to the Committee regarding payment of, any Federal, state, or local taxes of any kind required by law to be withheld by the Company with respect to such income. The Company and any Subsidiary shall, to the extent permitted by law, have the right to deduct any such taxes from any payment of any kind otherwise due to the grantee. The Company's obligation to deliver stock certificates to any grantee is subject to and conditioned on any such tax withholding obligations being satisfied by the grantee.

(b) Payment in Stock . Subject to approval by the Committee, a grantee may elect to have the Company's minimum required tax withholding obligation satisfied, in whole or in part, by authorizing the Company to withhold from shares of Stock to be issued pursuant to any Award a number of shares with an aggregate Fair Market Value (as of the date the withholding is effected) that would satisfy the minimum withholding amount due.

SECTION 11. SECTION 409A AWARDS.

To the extent that any Award is determined to constitute "nonqualified deferred compensation" within the meaning of Section 409A (a "409A Award"), the Award shall be subject to such additional rules and requirements as specified by the Committee from time to time in order to comply with Section 409A. In this regard, if any amount under a 409A Award is payable upon a "separation from service" (within the meaning of Section 409A) to a grantee who is considered a "specified employee" (within the meaning of Section 409A), then no such payment shall be made prior to the date that is the earlier of (i) six months and one day after the grantee's date of separation from service, or (ii) the grantee's death, but only to the extent such delay is necessary to prevent such payment from being subject to interest, penalties and/or additional tax imposed pursuant to Section 409A.

SECTION 12. TRANSFER, LEAVE OF ABSENCE, ETC.

For purposes of the Plan, the following events shall not be deemed a termination of employment:

(a) a transfer to the employment of the Company from a Subsidiary or from the Company to a Subsidiary, or from one Subsidiary to another; or

(b) an approved leave of absence for military service, sickness or disability, or for any other purpose approved by the Company, if the employee's right to re-employment is guaranteed either by a statute or by contract or under the policy pursuant to which the leave of absence was granted or if the Committee otherwise so provides in writing.

SECTION 13. AMENDMENTS AND TERMINATION

The Board may, at any time, amend or discontinue the Plan and the Committee may, at any time, amend or cancel any outstanding Award (or provide substitute Awards at the same or a reduced exercise or purchase price or with no exercise or purchase price in a manner not inconsistent with the terms of the Plan; provided , that such price, if any, must satisfy the requirements which would apply to the substitute or amended Award if it were then initially granted under the Plan for the purpose of satisfying changes in law or for any other lawful purpose), but no such action shall adversely affect rights under any outstanding Award without the consent of the holder of the Award. The Committee may exercise its discretion to reduce the exercise price of outstanding Stock Options or Stock Appreciation Rights or effect repricing through cancellation of outstanding Awards and by granting such holders new Awards in replacement of the cancelled Awards. To the extent determined by the Committee to be required either by the Code to ensure that Incentive Stock Options granted under the Plan are qualified under Section 422 of the Code or otherwise, Plan amendments shall be subject to approval by the Company stockholders entitled to vote at a meeting of stockholders. Nothing in this Section 13 shall limit the Board's or Committee's authority to take any action permitted pursuant to Section 3(c).

SECTION 14. STATUS OF PLAN

With respect to the portion of any Award that has not been exercised and any payments in cash, Stock or other consideration not received by a grantee, a grantee shall have no rights greater than those of a general creditor of the Company unless the Committee shall otherwise expressly so determine in connection with any Award or Awards. In its sole discretion, the Committee may authorize the creation of trusts or other arrangements to meet the Company's obligations to deliver Stock or make payments with respect to Awards hereunder; provided , that the existence of such trusts or other arrangements is consistent with the foregoing sentence.

SECTION 15. GENERAL PROVISIONS

(a) No Distribution; Compliance with Legal Requirements . The Committee may require each person acquiring Stock pursuant to an Award to represent to and agree with the Company in writing that such person is acquiring the shares of Stock without a view to distribution thereof. No shares of Stock shall be issued pursuant to an Award until all applicable securities law and other legal and stock exchange or similar requirements have been satisfied. The Committee may require the placing of such stop-orders and restrictive legends on certificates for Stock and Awards as it deems appropriate.

(b) Delivery of Stock Certificates . Stock certificates to grantees under the Plan shall be deemed delivered for all purposes when the Company or a stock transfer agent of the Company shall have mailed such certificates in the United States mail, addressed to the grantee, at the grantee's last known address on file with the Company.

(c) Other Compensation Arrangements; No Employment Rights . Nothing contained in the Plan shall prevent the Board from adopting other or additional compensation arrangements, including trusts, and such arrangements may be either generally applicable or applicable only in specific cases. The adoption of the Plan and the grant of Awards do not confer upon any employee any right to continued employment or service relationship with the Company or any Subsidiary.

(d) Trading Policy Restrictions . Option and Stock Appreciation Right exercises and other Awards under the Plan shall be subject to such Company's insider trading policy-related restrictions, terms and conditions as may be established by the Committee, or in accordance with policies set by the Committee, from time to time.

(e) Loans to Award Recipients . The Company shall have the authority, to the extent permitted by law, to make loans to recipients of Awards hereunder (including to facilitate the purchase of shares) and shall further have the authority to issue shares for promissory notes hereunder.

(f) Designation of Beneficiary . Each grantee to whom an Award has been made under the Plan may designate a beneficiary or beneficiaries to exercise any Award on or after the grantee's death or receive any payment under any Award payable on or after the grantee's death. Any such designation shall be on a form provided for that purpose by the Committee and shall not be effective until received by the Committee. If no beneficiary has been designated by a deceased grantee, or if the designated beneficiaries have predeceased the grantee, the beneficiary shall be the grantee's estate.

(g) Legend . Any certificate(s) representing the Issued Shares shall carry substantially the following legend:

> The transferability of this certificate and the shares of stock represented hereby are subject to the restrictions, terms and conditions (including repurchase and restrictions against transfers) contained in the LCSI Holding, Inc. 2008 Stock Option and Grant Plan and any agreement entered into thereunder by and between the company and the holder of this certificate (a copy of which is available at the offices of the company for examination).

SECTION 16. EFFECTIVE DATE OF PLAN

The Plan shall become effective upon approval of stockholders in accordance with applicable law. Subject to such approval by the stockholders and to the requirement that no Stock Option or other Award may be issued hereunder prior to such approval, Stock Options and other Awards may be granted hereunder on and after adoption of the Plan by the Board. No grants of Stock Options and other Awards may be made hereunder after the tenth anniversary of the Effective Date and no grants of Incentive Stock Options may be made hereunder after the tenth anniversary of the date the Plan is approved by the Board.

SECTION 17. GOVERNING LAW

This Plan, all Awards and any controversy arising out of or relating to this Plan and all Awards shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware as to matters within the scope thereof, and as to all other matters shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the internal laws of Arizona, without regard to conflict of law principles that would result in the application of any law other than the law of the State of Arizona.

AMENDMENT NO. 2 TO 2008 STOCK OPTION AND GRANT PLAN

December 30, 2008

The TPI Composites, Inc. 2008 Stock Option and Grant Plan, as amended (the "Plan") is hereby amended as follows:

1. Section 3(a) is hereby deleted in its entirety and replaced with the following:

"(a) Stock Issuable . The maximum number of shares of Stock reserved and available for issuance under the Plan shall be 2,968.4904 shares, subject to adjustment as provided in Section 3(b). For purposes of this limitation, the shares of Stock underlying any Awards that are forfeited, canceled, withheld upon exercise of an Option or settlement of an Award to cover the exercise price or tax withholding, reacquired by the Company prior to vesting, satisfied without the issuance of Stock or otherwise terminated (other than by exercise), in each case shall be added back to the shares of Stock available for issuance under the Plan. In addition, upon exercise of Stock Appreciation Rights, the gross number of shares exercised shall be deducted from the total number of shares remaining available for issuance under the Plan. Subject to such overall limitations, shares of Stock may be issued up to such maximum number pursuant to any type or types of Award. The shares available for issuance under the Plan may be authorized but unissued shares of Stock or shares of Stock reacquired by the Company."

2. In all other respects the Plan is hereby affirmed and shall remain in full force and effect.

INCENTIVE STOCK OPTION AGREEMENT
UNDER THE TPI COMPOSITES, INC. (F/K/A LCSI HOLDING, INC.)
2008 STOCK OPTION AND GRANT PLAN

Name of Optionee: _____ (the "Optionee")

No. of Option Shares: _____ Shares of Common Stock

Grant Date: _____ (the "Grant Date")

Expiration Date: _____(the "Expiration Date")

Option Exercise Price/Share: $ _____ (the "Option Exercise Price")

Pursuant to the TPI Composites, Inc. (f/k/a LCSI Holding, Inc.) 2008 Stock Option and Grant Plan (the "Plan"), TPI Composites, Inc. (f/k/a LCSI Holding, Inc.), a Delaware corporation (together with all successors thereto, the "Company"), hereby grants to the Optionee, who is an employee of the Company or any of its Subsidiaries, an option (the "Stock Option") to purchase on or prior to the Expiration Date, or such earlier date as is specified herein, all or any part of the number of shares of Common Stock, par value $0.01 per share ("Common Stock"), of the Company indicated above (the "Option Shares," and such shares once issued shall be referred to as the "Issued Shares"), at the Option Exercise Price per share, subject to the terms and conditions set forth in this Incentive Stock Option Agreement (this "Agreement") and in the Plan. This Stock Option is intended to qualify as an "incentive stock option" as defined in Section 422(b) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended from time to time (the "Code"). To the extent that any portion of the Stock Option does not so qualify, it shall be deemed a non-qualified stock option.

1. Definitions . For the purposes of this Agreement, the following terms shall have the following respective meanings. All capitalized terms used herein and not otherwise defined shall have the respective meanings set forth in the Plan.

" Affiliate " shall mean any person or entity that directly or indirectly, through one or more intermediaries, controls, is controlled by or is under common control with such person or entity (or such person's or entity's successors and assigns). For purposes of this definition, a person or entity shall be deemed to be "controlled by" another person or entity if the other possesses, directly or indirectly, power either (i) to vote fifty percent (50%) or more of the securities having ordinary voting power for the election of directors of such person or entity, or (ii) to direct or cause the direction of the management and policies of such person or entity whether by contract or otherwise; provided, however, that for purposes of clarity, in addition to the foregoing, with respect to any venture capital investor, "Affiliate" shall include any partnership, limited liability company or fund sharing a common management company or similar entity.

" Bankruptcy " shall mean (i) the filing of a voluntary petition under any bankruptcy or insolvency law, or a petition for the appointment of a receiver or the making of an assignment for the benefit of creditors, with respect to the Optionee or any Permitted Transferee, as the case may be, or (ii) the Optionee or any Permitted Transferee, as the case may be, being subjected involuntarily to such a petition or assignment or to an attachment or other legal or equitable interest with respect to the Optionee's or such Permitted Transferee's assets, which involuntary petition or assignment or attachment is not discharged within 60 days after its date, and (iii) the Optionee or any Permitted Transferee being subject to a transfer of the Stock Option or the Issued Shares by operation of law (including by divorce, even if not insolvent), except by reason of death.

" Cause " means a dismissal as a result of (i) the commission of any act by the Optionee constituting financial dishonesty against the Company or its Subsidiaries (which act would be chargeable as a crime under applicable law); (ii) the Optionee's engaging in any other act of dishonesty, fraud, intentional misrepresentation, moral turpitude, illegality or harassment which, as determined in good faith by the Board, would: (A) materially adversely affect the business or the reputation of the Company or any of its Subsidiaries with their respective current or prospective customers, suppliers, lenders and/or other third parties with whom such entity does or might do business; or (B) expose the Company or any of its Subsidiaries to a risk of civil or criminal legal damages, liabilities or penalties; (iii) the repeated willful failure by the Optionee to follow the directives of the chief executive officer of the Company or any of its Subsidiaries, the Board, or the board of directors of any of the Company's Subsidiaries or (iv) any material misconduct, material violation of the Company's written policies, or willful and deliberate non-performance of duty by the Optionee in connection with the business affairs of the Company or its Subsidiaries. In the event the Optionee is a party to an employment agreement with the Company or any Subsidiary that contains a different definition of "cause," the definition set forth in such other agreement shall be applicable to the Optionee for purposes of this Agreement and not this definition.

" Charter " means the Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation of the Company, as amended.

" Fair Market Value " of the Common Stock on any given date means the fair market value of the Common Stock determined in good faith by the Committee based on the reasonable application of a reasonable valuation method not inconsistent with Section 409A of the Code. If the Common Stock is admitted to quotation on a national securities exchange, the determination shall be made by reference to market quotations. If there are no market quotations for such date, the determination shall be made by reference to the last date preceding such date for which there are market quotations; provided further, however, that if the date for which Fair Market Value is determined is the first day when trading prices for the Common Stock are reported on a national securities exchange, the Fair Market Value shall be the "Price to the Public" (or equivalent) set forth on the cover page for the final prospectus relating to the Company's Initial Public Offering.

" Permitted Transferees " shall mean any of the following Persons to whom the Optionee may transfer Issued Shares hereunder (as set forth in Section 8): the Optionee's spouse, children (natural or adopted), stepchildren or a trust for their sole benefit of which the Optionee is the settlor; provided , however , that any such trust does not require or permit distribution of any Issued Shares during the term of this Agreement unless subject to its terms. Upon the death of the Optionee (or a Permitted Transferee to whom shares have been transferred hereunder), the term Permitted Transferees shall also include such deceased Optionee's (or such deceased Permitted Transferee's) estate, executors, administrators, personal representatives, heirs, legatees and distributees, as the case may be.

" Person " shall mean any individual, corporation, partnership (limited or general), limited liability company, limited liability partnership, association, trust, joint venture, unincorporated organization or any similar entity.

" SEC " means the Securities and Exchange Commission or any other federal agency at the time administering the Act.

" Sale Event " shall mean and include the consummation of any of the following: (i) a merger or consolidation of the Company with or into any other corporation or other entity in which holders of the Company's voting securities immediately prior to such merger or consolidation will not, directly or indirectly, continue to hold at least a majority of the outstanding voting securities of the Company; (ii) a sale, lease, exchange or other transfer (in one transaction or a related series of transactions) of all or substantially all of the Company's and its Subsidiaries assets on a consolidated basis to an unrelated Person; (iii) the acquisition by any Person or any group of Persons, acting together in any transaction or related series of transactions, of such quantity of the Company's voting securities as causes such Person, or group of Persons, to own beneficially, directly or indirectly, as of the time immediately after such transaction or series of transactions, 50 percent or more of the combined voting power of the voting securities of the Company other than as a result of (A) an acquisition of securities directly from the Company or (B) an acquisition of securities by the Company which by reducing the voting securities outstanding increases the proportionate voting power represented by the voting securities owned by any such Person or group of Persons to 50 percent or more of the combined voting power of such voting securities; or (iv) the liquidation or dissolution of the Company.

" Service Relationship " shall mean any relationship as an employee, part-time employee, director or other key person (including consultants) of the Company or any Subsidiary or any successor entity such that, for example, a Service Relationship shall be deemed to continue without interruption in the event the Optionee's status changes from full-time employee to part-time employee or consultant.

" Subsidiary " means any corporation or other entity (other than the Company) in which the Company has at least a 50 percent interest, either directly or indirectly.

2. Vesting, Exercisability and Termination .

(a) No portion of this Stock Option may be exercised until such portion shall have vested.

(b) Except as set forth below, and subject to the determination of the Committee in its sole discretion to accelerate the vesting schedule hereunder, this Stock Option

shall be vested and exercisable with respect to the Option Shares on the respective dates indicated below:

Incremental (Aggregate Number) of Option Shares Exercisable	Vesting Date
20% of the Option Shares (20% of the Option Shares)	[_____ __, 20[__]
20% of the Option Shares (40% of the Option Shares)	[_____ __, 20[__]
20% of the Option Shares (60% of the Option Shares)	[_____ __, 20[__]
20% of the Option Shares (80% of the Option Shares)	[_____ __, 20[__]
20% of the Option Shares (100% of the Option Shares)	[_____ __, 20[__]

(c) Termination . Except as may otherwise be provided by the Committee, if the Optionee's Service Relationship is terminated, the period within which to exercise this Stock Option will be subject to earlier termination as set forth below (and if not exercised within such period, shall thereafter terminate):

(i) Termination Due to Death or Disability . If the Optionee's Service Relationship terminates by reason of such Optionee's death or disability (as defined in Section 422(c) of the Code), this Stock Option may be exercised, to the extent exercisable on the date of such termination, by the Optionee, the Optionee's legal representative or legatee for a period of 12 months from the date of death or disability or until the Expiration Date, if earlier.

(ii) Other Termination . If the Optionee's Service Relationship terminates for any reason other than death or disability (as defined in Section 422(c) of the Code), and unless otherwise determined by the Committee, this Stock Option may be exercised, to the extent exercisable on the date of termination, for a period of 90 days from the date of termination or until the Expiration Date or other termination date, if earlier; provided however , if the Optionee's Service Relationship is terminated for Cause or if the Optionee terminates his or her Service Relationship, this Stock Option shall terminate immediately upon the date of such termination.

For purposes hereof, the Committee's determination of the reason for termination of the Optionee's employment shall be conclusive and binding on the Optionee and his or her representatives or legatees or Permitted Transferees. Any portion of this Stock Option that is not exercisable on the date of termination of the employment shall terminate immediately and be null and void.

(d) It is understood and intended that this Stock Option is intended to qualify as an "incentive stock option" as defined in Section 422 of the Code to the extent permitted under applicable law. Accordingly, the Optionee understands that in order to obtain the benefits of an incentive stock option under Section 422 of the Code, no sale or other disposition may be made of Issued Shares for which incentive stock option treatment is desired within the one-year period beginning on the day after the day of the transfer of such Issued Shares to him or her, nor within the two-year period beginning on the day after the grant of this Stock Option and further that this Stock Option must be exercised within three months after termination of employment as an employee (or 12 months in the case of death or disability) to qualify as an incentive stock option. If the Optionee disposes (whether by sale, gift, transfer or otherwise) of any such Issued Shares within either of these periods, he or she will notify the Company within 30 days after such disposition. The Optionee also agrees to provide the Company with any information concerning any such dispositions required by the Company for tax purposes. Further, to the extent Option Shares and any other incentive stock options of the Optionee having an aggregate Fair Market Value in excess of $100,000 (determined as of the Grant Date) vest in any year, such options will not qualify as incentive stock options.

3. Exercise of Stock Option .

(a) The Optionee may exercise this Stock Option only in the following manner: Prior to the Expiration Date, the Optionee may deliver a Stock Option exercise notice (an "Exercise Notice") in the form of Appendix A hereto indicating his or her election to purchase some or all of the Option Shares with respect to which this Stock Option is exercisable at the time of such notice. Such notice shall specify the number of Option Shares to be purchased. Payment of the purchase price may be made by one or more of the methods described below (payment instruments will be received subject to collection):

(i) In cash, by certified or bank check, by wire transfer of immediately available funds, or other instrument acceptable to the Committee in U.S. funds payable to the order of the Company in an amount equal to the purchase price of such Option Shares;

(ii) By the Optionee delivering to the Company a promissory note if the Board has expressly authorized the loan of funds to the Optionee for the purpose of enabling or assisting the Optionee to effect the exercise of his or her Stock Option; provided , that at least so much of the exercise price as represents the par value of the Stock shall be paid other than with a promissory note if otherwise required by state law; or

(iii) if the Initial Public Offering has occurred, then (A) through the delivery (or attestation to ownership) of shares of Stock that have been purchased by the Optionee on the open market or that are beneficially owned by the Optionee and are not subject to restrictions under any plan of the Company, provided that, to the extent required to avoid variable accounting treatment under FAS 123R or other applicable accounting rules, such surrendered shares shall have been owned by the Optionee for at least six months, and in any event with an aggregate Fair Market Value (as of the date of such exercise) equal to the option purchase price, (B) by the Optionee delivering to the Company a properly executed Exercise Notice together with irrevocable instructions to a broker to promptly deliver to the Company cash or a check payable and acceptable to the Company to pay the option purchase price, provided that in the event the Optionee chooses to pay the option purchase price as so provided, the Optionee and the broker shall comply with such procedures and enter into such agreements of indemnity and other agreements as the Committee shall prescribe as a condition of such payment procedure, or (C) a combination of (i), (ii), (iii)(A) and (iii)(B) above.

(b) Certificates for the Option Shares so purchased will be issued and delivered to the Optionee upon compliance to the satisfaction of the Committee with all requirements under applicable laws or regulations in connection with such issuance. Until the Optionee shall have complied with the requirements hereof and of the Plan, the Company shall be under no obligation to issue the Option Shares subject to this Stock Option, and the determination of the Committee as to such compliance shall be final and binding on the Optionee. The Optionee shall not be deemed to be the holder of, or to have any of the rights of a holder with respect to, any shares of Common Stock subject to this Stock Option unless and until this Stock Option shall have been exercised pursuant to the terms hereof, the Company shall have issued and delivered the Issued Shares to the Optionee, and the Optionee's name shall have been entered as a stockholder of record on the books of the Company. Thereupon, the Optionee shall have full dividend and other ownership rights with respect to such Issued Shares, subject to the terms of this Agreement.

(c) Notwithstanding any other provision hereof or of the Plan, no portion of this Stock Option shall be exercisable after the Expiration Date.

4. Incorporation of Plan . Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, this Stock Option shall be subject to and governed by all the terms and conditions of the Plan.

5. Transferability of Stock Option . This Agreement is personal to the Optionee and is not transferable by the Optionee in any manner other than by will or by the laws of descent and distribution. The Stock Option may be exercised during the Optionee's lifetime only by the Optionee (or by the Optionee's guardian or personal representative in the event of the Optionee's incapacity). The Optionee may elect to designate a beneficiary by providing written notice of the name of such beneficiary to the Company, and may revoke or change such designation at any time by filing written notice of revocation or change with the Company; such beneficiary may exercise the Optionee's Stock Option in the event of the Optionee's death to the extent provided herein. If the Optionee does not designate a beneficiary, or if the designated beneficiary predeceases the Optionee, the legal representative of the Optionee may exercise this Stock Option to the extent provided herein in the event of the Optionee's death.

6. Effect of Certain Transactions .

(a) In the case of a Sale Event, this Stock Option shall terminate upon the effective time of such Sale Event unless provision is made in connection with such transaction, in the sole discretion of the parties thereto, for the continuation or assumption of this Stock Option heretofore granted, or the substitution of this Stock Option with a new Stock Option of the successor entity or a parent thereof, with such adjustment to the number and kind of shares and the per share exercise prices as such parties shall agree. In the event of such a termination, the Optionee shall be permitted, for a specified period of time prior to the consummation of the Sale Event as determined by the Committee, to exercise all portions of the Stock Option which are then exercisable.

(b) In the event that this Stock Option is converted into a Converted Award, then this Agreement shall thereafter entitle the holder to the rights of a holder of a Converted Award.

7. Withholding Taxes . The Optionee shall, not later than the date as of which the exercise of this Stock Option becomes a taxable event for federal income tax purposes, pay to the Company or make arrangements satisfactory to the Committee for payment of any federal, state and local taxes required by law to be withheld on account of such taxable event. Subject to approval by the Committee, the Optionee may elect to have the minimum tax withholding obligation satisfied, in whole or in part, by authorizing the Company to withhold from shares of Common Stock to be issued or transferring to the Company, a number of shares of Common Stock with an aggregate Fair Market Value that would satisfy the minimum withholding amount due. The Optionee acknowledges and agrees that the Company or any Subsidiary of the Company has the right to deduct from payments of any kind otherwise due to the Optionee, or from the Option Shares to be issued in respect of an exercise of this Stock Option, any federal, state or local taxes of any kind required by law to be withheld with respect to the issuance of Option Shares to the Optionee.

8. Restrictions on Transfer of Issued Shares . None of the Issued Shares acquired upon exercise of the Stock Option shall be sold, assigned, transferred, pledged, hypothecated, given away or in any other manner disposed of or encumbered, whether voluntarily or by operation of law, unless such transfer is in compliance with all applicable securities laws (including, without limitation, the Act, and such disposition is in accordance with the terms and conditions of Sections 8 and 9 hereof and such disposition does not cause the Company to become subject to the reporting requirements of the Exchange Act. In connection with any transfer of Issued Shares, the Company may require the transferor to provide at the Optionee's own expense an opinion of counsel to the transferor, satisfactory to the Company, that such transfer is in compliance with all foreign, federal and state securities laws (including, without limitation, the Act). Any attempted disposition of Issued Shares not in accordance with the terms and conditions of Sections 8 and 9 hereof shall be null and void, and the Company shall not reflect on its records any change in record ownership of any Issued Shares as a result of any such disposition, shall otherwise refuse to recognize any such disposition and shall not in any way give effect to any such disposition of any Issued Shares. Subject to the foregoing general provisions, Issued Shares may be transferred pursuant to the following specific terms and conditions:

(a) Transfers to Permitted Transferees . The Optionee may sell, assign, transfer or give away any or all of the Issued Shares to Permitted Transferees; provided , however , that such Permitted Transferee(s) shall, as a condition to any such transfer, agree to be subject to the provisions of this Agreement to the same extent as the Optionee (including, without limitation, the provisions of Sections 8, 9, 11, 12 and 13(l)) and shall have delivered a written acknowledgment to that effect to the Company.

(b) Transfers Upon Death . Upon the death of the Optionee, any Issued Shares then held by the Optionee at the time of such death and any Issued Shares acquired thereafter by the Optionee's legal representative pursuant to this Agreement shall be subject to the provisions of Sections 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13(l), if applicable, and the Optionee's estate, executors, administrators, personal representatives, heirs, legatees and distributees shall be obligated to convey such Issued Shares to the Company or its assigns under the terms contemplated hereby.

(c) Company's Right of First Refusal . In the event that the Optionee (or any Permitted Transferee holding Issued Shares subject to this Section 8(c)) desires to sell or otherwise transfer all or any part of the Issued Shares, the Optionee (or Permitted Transferee) first shall give written notice to the Company of the Optionee's (or Permitted Transferee's) intention to make such transfer. Such notice shall state the number of Issued Shares which the Optionee (or Permitted Transferee) proposes to sell (the "Offered Shares"), the price and the terms at which the proposed sale is to be made and the name and address of the proposed transferee. At any time within 30 days after the receipt of such notice by the Company, the Company or its assigns may elect to purchase all or any portion of the Offered Shares at the price and on the terms offered by the proposed transferee and specified in the notice. The Company or its assigns shall exercise this right by mailing or delivering written notice to the Optionee (or Permitted Transferee) within the foregoing 30-day period. If the Company or its assigns elect to exercise its purchase rights under this Section 8(c), the closing for such purchase shall, in any event, take place within 45 days after the receipt by the Company of the initial notice from the Optionee (or Permitted Transferee). In the event that the Company or its assigns do not elect to exercise such purchase right, or in the event that the Company or its assigns do not pay the full purchase price within such 45-day period, the Optionee (or Permitted Transferee) may, within 60 days thereafter, sell the Offered Shares to the proposed transferee and at the same price and on the same terms as specified in the Optionee's (or Permitted Transferee's) notice. Any Shares purchased by such proposed transferee shall be deemed held by a Permitted Transferee and accordingly shall remain subject to the terms of this Agreement, including without limitation, the provisions of Sections 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13(l) below to the same extent as if the Optionee continued to hold them. Any Shares not sold to the proposed transferee shall remain subject to this Agreement. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the restrictions under this Section 8(c) shall terminate in accordance with Section 13(a).

9. Company's Right of Repurchase .

(a) Right of Repurchase . The Company shall have the right (the "Repurchase Right") upon the occurrence of any of the events specified in Section 9(b) below (the "Repurchase Event") to repurchase from the Optionee (or any Permitted Transferee) some or all (as determined by the Company) of the Issued Shares held or subsequently acquired upon exercise of this Stock Option in accordance with the terms hereof by the Optionee (or any Permitted Transferee) at the price per share specified below. The Repurchase Right may be exercised by the Company within the later of (i) six months following the date of such event or (ii) seven months after the exercise of this Stock Option (the "Repurchase Period"). The Repurchase Right shall be exercised by the Company by giving the Optionee or any Permitted Transferee written notice on or before the last day of the Repurchase Period of its intention to exercise the Repurchase Right, and, together with such notice, tendering to the Optionee or any Permitted Transferee an amount equal to the Fair Market Value of the shares, determined as provided in Section 9(c). The Company may assign the Repurchase Right to one or more Persons. Upon such notification, the Optionee and any Permitted Transferees shall promptly surrender to the Company any certificates representing the Issued Shares being purchased, together with a duly executed stock power for the transfer of such Issued Shares to the Company or the Company's assignee or assignees. Upon the Company's or its assignee's receipt of the certificates from the Optionee or any Permitted Transferees (or at such later date as is determined necessary by the Committee to avoid any breach by the Company of any agreement to which it is a party), the Company or its assignee or assignees shall deliver to him, her or them a check for the Repurchase Price of the Issued Shares being purchased; provided , however , that the Company may pay the Repurchase Price for such shares by offsetting and canceling any indebtedness then owed by the Optionee to the Company. At such time, the Optionee and/or any holder of the Issued Shares shall deliver to the Company the certificate or certificates representing the Issued Shares so repurchased, duly endorsed for transfer, free and clear of any liens or encumbrances. The Repurchase Right shall terminate in accordance with Section 13(a).

(b) Company's Right to Exercise Repurchase Right . The Company shall have the Repurchase Right in the event that any of the following events shall occur:

(i) The termination of the Optionee's Service Relationship for any reason whatsoever, regardless of the circumstances thereof, and including without limitation upon death, disability, retirement, discharge or resignation for any reason, whether voluntarily or involuntarily; or

(ii) The Optionee's or Permitted Transferee's Bankruptcy.

(c) Determination of Fair Market Value . The Fair Market Value of the Issued Shares shall be, for purposes of this Section 9, determined by the Board as of the date the Board elects to exercise its repurchase rights in connection with a Repurchase Event.

10. Escrow Arrangement .

(a) Escrow . In order to carry out the provisions of Sections 8, 9 and 11 of this Agreement more effectively, the Company shall hold any Issued Shares in escrow together with separate stock powers executed by the Optionee in blank for transfer, and any Permitted Transferee shall, as an additional condition to any transfer of Issued Shares, execute a like stock power as to such Issued Shares. The Company shall not dispose of the Issued Shares except as otherwise provided in this Agreement. In the event of any repurchase by the Company (or any of its assigns), the Company is hereby authorized by the Optionee and any Permitted Transferee, as the Optionee's and each such Permitted Transferee's attorney-in-fact, to date and complete the stock powers necessary for the transfer of the Issued Shares being purchased and to transfer such Issued Shares in accordance with the terms hereof. At such time as any Issued Shares are no longer subject to the Company's repurchase, first refusal and drag along rights, the Company shall, at the written request of the Optionee, deliver to the Optionee (or the relevant Permitted Transferee) a certificate representing such Issued Shares with the balance of the Issued Shares to be held in escrow pursuant to this Section 10.

(b) Remedy . Without limitation of any other provision of this Agreement or other rights, in the event that the Optionee, any Permitted Transferees or any other person or entity is required to sell the Optionee's Issued Shares pursuant to the provisions of Section 8, 9 and 11 of this Agreement and in the further event that he or she refuses or for any reason fails to deliver to the Company or its designated purchaser of such Issued Shares the certificate or certificates evidencing such Issued Shares together with a related stock power, the Company or such designated purchaser may deposit the applicable purchase price for such Issued Shares with a bank designated by the Company, or with the Company's independent public accounting firm, as agent or trustee, or in escrow, for the Optionee, any Permitted Transferees or other Person, to be held by such bank or accounting firm for the benefit of and for delivery to him, her, them or it, and/or, in its discretion, pay such purchase price by offsetting any indebtedness then owed by the Optionee as provided above. Upon any such deposit and/or offset by the Company or its designated purchaser of such amount and upon notice to the Person who was required to sell the Issued Shares to be sold pursuant to the provisions of Sections 8, 9 and 11, such Issued Shares shall at such time be deemed to have been sold, assigned, transferred and conveyed to such purchaser, the holder thereof shall have no further rights thereto (other than the right to withdraw the payment thereof held in escrow, if applicable), and the Company shall record such transfer in its stock transfer book or in any appropriate manner.

11. Drag Along Right . If the Company obtains the requisite approval from (a) the Board and (b) the Company's stockholders (in accordance with Delaware law and the Charter) for a Liquidation Event or a Qualified IPO (each as defined in the Charter and each, a "Liquidity Event"), then the Optionee, including any Permitted Transferee, agrees that such Optionee, and such Permitted Transferee, shall: (i) vote any and all voting securities of the Company held by such Optionee, or such Permitted Transferee, or as to which such Optionee, or Permitted Transferee, has voting power, in favor of the consummation of the proposed Liquidity Event, at any meeting of stockholders of the Company at which such transactions are considered, by proxy or in any written consent of stockholders of the Company relating thereto, (ii) if applicable, tender all shares of capital stock held by such Optionee, or Permitted Transferee, or as to which such Optionee, or Permitted Transferee, has power of disposition, which are the subject of such proposed Liquidity Event in accordance with the terms of the proposed Liquidity Event, (iii) consent to and raise no objection against the proposed Liquidity Event, (iv) if applicable, waive any dissenters' rights, preemptive rights, appraisal rights or similar rights, as the case may be and (v) use its best efforts to take all other actions, including entering into appropriate agreements and other documents, reasonably required in order to effectuate fully the Liquidity Event.

12. Lockup Provision .

(a) If requested by the Company or an underwriter in connection with the Initial Public Offering, the Optionee, including any Permitted Transferee, hereby agrees that such Optionee, or Permitted Transferee, shall not sell, transfer, make any short sale of, grant any option for the purchase of, enter into any hedging or similar transaction with the same economic effect as a sale or otherwise transfer or dispose of any Common Stock (or any other securities of the Company) held by such Optionee, or Permitted Transferee, other than those included in the registration, for a period (the "Lock Up Period") specified by the representative of the underwriters of the Common Stock (or any other securities) of the Company not to exceed one hundred eighty (180) calendar days following the effective date of a registration statement of the Company filed under the Act in connection with such offering (the "Effective Date"); which period may be extended upon the request of the managing underwriter, to the extent required by any NASD rules, for an additional period of up to fifteen (15) days if the Company issues or proposes to issue an earnings or other public release within fifteen (15) days of the expiration of the 180-day lockup period; provided that all current and future officers and directors of the Company and all current and future holders of at least one percent (1%) of the Company's voting securities are bound by and have entered into similar agreements.

(b) The Optionee, including any Permitted Transferee, agrees to execute and deliver such other agreements as may be reasonably requested by the Company or the underwriter that are consistent with the Optionee's, or Permitted Transferee's, obligations under this Section 12 or that are necessary to give further effect thereto. The obligations described in this Section 12 shall not apply to a (i) a registration statement relating to any employee benefit plan of the Company, (ii) a registration statement of the Company relating to any corporate reorganization or other transaction under Rule 145 as promulgated by the SEC under the Act, as such rule may be amended from time to time, or any similar successor rule that may be promulgated by the SEC, including any registration statements related to the issuance or resale of securities issued in such a transaction, or (iii) a registration statement related to the offer and sale of debt securities. The Company may impose stop-transfer instructions with respect to the shares of Common Stock (or any other securities) subject to the foregoing restriction until the end of the relevant market stand-off period. The underwriters of the Company's stock are intended third party beneficiaries of this Section 12 and shall have the right, power and authority to enforce the provisions hereof as though they were a party hereto.

13. Miscellaneous Provisions .

(a) Termination . The Company's repurchase rights under Section 9, the restrictions on transfer of Issued Shares under Section 8(c) and the Drag Along obligations under Section 11 shall terminate upon the closing of the Company's Initial Public Offering or upon any Sale Event, in either case as a result of which shares of the Company (or successor entity) of the same class as the Issued Shares are registered under Section 12 of the Exchange Act and publicly traded on any national securities exchange.

(b) Equitable Relief . The parties hereto agree and declare that legal remedies may be inadequate to enforce the provisions of this Agreement and that equitable relief, including specific performance and injunctive relief, may be used to enforce the provisions of this Agreement.

(c) Adjustments for Changes in Capital Structure . If, as a result of any reorganization, recapitalization, reincorporation, reclassification, stock dividend, stock split, reverse stock split or other similar change in the Common Stock, the outstanding shares of Common Stock are increased or decreased or are exchanged for a different number or kind of shares of the Company's stock, the restrictions contained in this Agreement shall apply with equal force to additional and/or substitute securities, if any, received by the Optionee in exchange for, or by virtue of his or her ownership of, Issued Shares.

(d) Change and Modifications . This Agreement may not be orally changed, modified or terminated, nor shall any oral waiver of any of its terms be effective. This Agreement may be changed, modified or terminated only by an agreement in writing signed by the Company and the Optionee.

(e) Governing Law . This Agreement shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware as to matters within the scope hereof, and as to all other matters shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the internal laws of Arizona, without regard to conflict of law principles that would result in the application of any law other than the law of the State of Arizona.

(f) Headings . The headings are intended only for convenience in finding the subject matter and do not constitute part of the text of this Agreement and shall not be considered in the interpretation of this Agreement.

(g) Saving Clause . If any provision(s) of this Agreement shall be determined to be illegal or unenforceable, such determination shall in no manner affect the legality or enforceability of any other provision hereof.

(h) Notices . All notices, requests, consents and other communications shall be in writing and be deemed given when delivered personally, by telex or facsimile transmission or when received if mailed by first class registered or certified mail, postage prepaid. Notices to the Company or the Optionee shall be addressed as set forth underneath their signatures below, or to such other address or addresses as may have been furnished by such party in writing to the other.

(i) Benefit and Binding Effect . This Agreement shall be binding upon and shall inure to the benefit of the parties hereto, their respective successors, permitted assigns, and legal representatives. The Company has the right to assign this Agreement, and such assignee shall become entitled to all the rights of the Company hereunder to the extent of such assignment.

(j) Dispute Resolution . Except as provided below, any dispute arising out of or relating to this Agreement or the breach, termination or validity hereof shall be finally settled by binding arbitration conducted expeditiously in accordance with the J.A.M.S./Endispute Comprehensive Arbitration Rules and Procedures (the "J.A.M.S. Rules"). The arbitration shall be governed by the United States Arbitration Act, 9 U.S.C. §§1-16, and judgment upon the award rendered by the arbitrators may be entered by any court having jurisdiction thereof. The place of arbitration shall be Phoenix, Arizona.

The parties covenant and agree that the arbitration shall commence within 60 days of the date on which a written demand for arbitration is filed by any party hereto. In connection with the arbitration proceeding, the arbitrator shall have the power to order the production of documents by each party and any third-party witnesses. In addition, each party may take up to three depositions as of right, and the arbitrator may in his or her discretion allow additional depositions upon good cause shown by the moving party. However, the arbitrator shall not have the power to order the answering of interrogatories or the response to requests for admission. In connection with any arbitration, each party shall provide to the other, no later than seven business days before the date of the arbitration, the identity of all persons that may testify at the arbitration and a copy of all documents that may be introduced at the arbitration or considered or used by a party's witness or expert. The arbitrator's decision and award shall be made and delivered within six months of the selection of the arbitrator. The arbitrator's decision shall set forth a reasoned basis for any award of damages or finding of liability. The arbitrator shall not have power to award damages in excess of actual compensatory damages and shall not multiply actual damages or award punitive damages or any other damages that are specifically excluded under this Agreement, and each party hereby irrevocably waives any claim to such damages.

The parties covenant and agree that they will participate in the arbitration in good faith. This Section 13(j) applies equally to requests for temporary, preliminary or permanent injunctive relief, except that in the case of temporary or preliminary injunctive relief any party may proceed in court without prior arbitration for the limited purpose of avoiding immediate and irreparable harm.

Each of the parties hereto (i) hereby irrevocably submits to the jurisdiction of any United States District Court of competent jurisdiction for the purpose of enforcing the award or decision in any such proceeding, (ii) hereby waives, and agrees not to assert, by way of motion, as a defense, or otherwise, in any such suit, action or proceeding, any claim that it is not subject personally to the jurisdiction of the above-named courts, that its property is exempt or immune from attachment or execution (except as protected by applicable law), that the suit, action or proceeding is brought in an inconvenient forum, that the venue of the suit, action or proceeding is improper or that this Agreement or the subject matter hereof may not be enforced in or by such court, and hereby waives and agrees not to seek any review by any court of any other jurisdiction which may be called upon to grant an enforcement of the judgment of any such court. Each of the parties hereto hereby consents to service of process by registered mail at the address to which notices are to be given. Each of the parties hereto agrees that its, his or her submission to jurisdiction and its, his or her consent to service of process by mail is made for the express benefit of the other parties hereto. Final judgment against any party hereto in any such action, suit or proceeding may be enforced in other jurisdictions by suit, action or proceeding on the judgment, or in any other manner provided by or pursuant to the laws of such other jurisdiction.

(k) Counterparts . For the convenience of the parties and to facilitate execution, this Agreement may be executed in two or more counterparts, each of which shall be deemed an original, but all of which shall constitute one and the same document.

(l) Right of First Refusal and Co-Sale Agreement . The Optionee, including any Permitted Transferee, agrees that if the Optionee, or Permitted Transferee, holds at least one percent (1%) of the Company's then outstanding shares of capital stock, it shall become a party to the Right of First Refusal, Co-Sale and Voting Agreement dated as of October 9, 2007, by and among the Company and the other parties thereto, as amended from time to time, as a "Restricted Stockholder" thereunder.

TPI Composites, Inc.
Attention: [_____]

Pursuant to the terms of my stock option agreement dated _____ (the "Agreement") under the TPI Composites, Inc. (f/k/a LCSI Holding, Inc.) 2008 Stock Option and Grant Plan, I, [Insert Name] _____, hereby [Circle One] partially/fully exercise such option by including herein payment in the amount of $ _____ representing the purchase price for [Fill in number of Option Shares] _____ option shares. I have chosen the following form(s) of payment:

[ ] 1. Cash
[ ] 2. Certified or bank check payable to TPI Composites, Inc.
[ ] 3. Other (as described in the Agreement (please describe))
_____.

In connection with my exercise of the option as set forth above, I hereby represent and warrant to TPI Composites, Inc. as follows:

(i) I am purchasing the option shares for my own account for investment only, and not for resale or with a view to the distribution thereof.

(ii) I have had such an opportunity as I have deemed adequate to obtain from TPI Composites, Inc. such information as is necessary to permit me to evaluate the merits and risks of my investment in TPI Composites, Inc. and have consulted with my own advisers with respect to my investment in TPI Composites, Inc.

(iii) I have sufficient experience in business, financial and investment matters to be able to evaluate the risks involved in the purchase of the option shares and to make an informed investment decision with respect to such purchase.

(iv) I can afford a complete loss of the value of the option shares and am able to bear the economic risk of holding such option shares for an indefinite period of time.

(v) I understand that the option shares may not be registered under the Securities Act of 1933 (it being understood that the option shares are being issued and sold in reliance on the exemption provided in Rule 701 thereunder) or any applicable state securities or "blue sky" laws and may not be sold or otherwise transferred or disposed of in the absence of an effective registration statement under the Securities Act of 1933 and under any applicable state securities or "blue sky" laws (or exemptions from the registration requirement thereof). I further acknowledge that certificates representing option shares will bear restrictive legends reflecting the foregoing.

Sincerely yours,

INCENTIVE STOCK OPTION AGREEMENT
UNDER THE TPI COMPOSITES, INC. (F/K/A LCSI HOLDING, INC.)
2008 STOCK OPTION AND GRANT PLAN

Name of Optionee: _____(the "Optionee")

No. of Option Shares: _____Shares of Common Stock

Grant Date: _____(the "Grant Date")

Expiration Date: _____(the "Expiration Date")

Option Exercise Price/Share: $ _____(the "Option Exercise Price")

Pursuant to the TPI Composites, Inc. (f/k/a LCSI Holding, Inc.) 2008 Stock Option and Grant Plan (the "Plan"), TPI Composites, Inc. (f/k/a LCSI Holding, Inc.), a Delaware corporation (together with all successors thereto, the "Company"), hereby grants to the Optionee, who is an employee of the Company or any of its Subsidiaries, an option (the "Stock Option") to purchase on or prior to the Expiration Date, or such earlier date as is specified herein, all or any part of the number of shares of Common Stock, par value $0.01 per share ("Common Stock"), of the Company indicated above (the "Option Shares," and such shares once issued shall be referred to as the "Issued Shares"), at the Option Exercise Price per share, subject to the terms and conditions set forth in this Incentive Stock Option Agreement (this "Agreement") and in the Plan. This Stock Option is intended to qualify as an "incentive stock option" as defined in Section 422(b) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended from time to time (the "Code"). To the extent that any portion of the Stock Option does not so qualify, it shall be deemed a non-qualified stock option.

1. Definitions . For the purposes of this Agreement, the following terms shall have the following respective meanings. All capitalized terms used herein and not otherwise defined shall have the respective meanings set forth in the Plan.

" Affiliate " shall mean any person or entity that directly or indirectly, through one or more intermediaries, controls, is controlled by or is under common control with such person or entity (or such person's or entity's successors and assigns). For purposes of this definition, a person or entity shall be deemed to be "controlled by" another person or entity if the other possesses, directly or indirectly, power either (i) to vote fifty percent (50%) or more of the securities having ordinary voting power for the election of directors of such person or entity, or (ii) to direct or cause the direction of the management and policies of such person or entity whether by contract or otherwise; provided, however, that for purposes of clarity, in addition to the foregoing, with respect to any venture capital investor, "Affiliate" shall include any partnership, limited liability company or fund sharing a common management company or similar entity.

" Bankruptcy " shall mean (i) the filing of a voluntary petition under any bankruptcy or insolvency law, or a petition for the appointment of a receiver or the making of an assignment for the benefit of creditors, with respect to the Optionee or any Permitted Transferee, as the case may be, or (ii) the Optionee or any Permitted Transferee, as the case may be, being subjected involuntarily to such a petition or assignment or to an attachment or other legal or equitable interest with respect to the Optionee's or such Permitted Transferee's assets, which involuntary petition or assignment or attachment is not discharged within 60 days after its date, and (iii) the Optionee or any Permitted Transferee being subject to a transfer of the Stock Option or the Issued Shares by operation of law (including by divorce, even if not insolvent), except by reason of death.

" Cause " means a dismissal as a result of (i) the commission of any act by the Optionee constituting financial dishonesty against the Company or its Subsidiaries (which act would be chargeable as a crime under applicable law); (ii) the Optionee's engaging in any other act of dishonesty, fraud, intentional misrepresentation, moral turpitude, illegality or harassment which, as determined in good faith by the Board, would: (A) materially adversely affect the business or the reputation of the Company or any of its Subsidiaries with their respective current or prospective customers, suppliers, lenders and/or other third parties with whom such entity does or might do business; or (B) expose the Company or any of its Subsidiaries to a risk of civil or criminal legal damages, liabilities or penalties; (iii) the repeated willful failure by the Optionee to follow the directives of the chief executive officer of the Company or any of its Subsidiaries, the Board, or the board of directors of any of the Company's Subsidiaries or (iv) any material misconduct, material violation of the Company's written policies, or willful and deliberate non-performance of duty by the Optionee in connection with the business affairs of the Company or its Subsidiaries. In the event the Optionee is a party to an employment agreement with the Company or any Subsidiary that contains a different definition of "cause," the definition set forth in such other agreement shall be applicable to the Optionee for purposes of this Agreement and not this definition.

" Charter " means the Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation of the Company, as amended.

" Fair Market Value " of the Common Stock on any given date means the fair market value of the Common Stock determined in good faith by the Committee based on the reasonable application of a reasonable valuation method not inconsistent with Section 409A of the Code. If the Common Stock is admitted to quotation on a national securities exchange, the determination shall be made by reference to market quotations. If there are no market quotations for such date, the determination shall be made by reference to the last date preceding such date for which there are market quotations; provided further, however, that if the date for which Fair Market Value is determined is the first day when trading prices for the Common Stock are reported on a national securities exchange, the Fair Market Value shall be the "Price to the Public" (or equivalent) set forth on the cover page for the final prospectus relating to the Company's Initial Public Offering.

" Permitted Transferees " shall mean any of the following Persons to whom the Optionee may transfer Issued Shares hereunder (as set forth in Section 8): the Optionee's spouse, children (natural or adopted), stepchildren or a trust for their sole benefit of which the Optionee is the settlor; provided , however , that any such trust does not require or permit distribution of any Issued Shares during the term of this Agreement unless subject to its terms. Upon the death of the Optionee (or a Permitted Transferee to whom shares have been transferred hereunder), the term Permitted Transferees shall also include such deceased Optionee's (or such deceased Permitted Transferee's) estate, executors, administrators, personal representatives, heirs, legatees and distributees, as the case may be.

" Person " shall mean any individual, corporation, partnership (limited or general), limited liability company, limited liability partnership, association, trust, joint venture, unincorporated organization or any similar entity.

" SEC " means the Securities and Exchange Commission or any other federal agency at the time administering the Act.

" Sale Event " shall mean and include the consummation of any of the following: (i) a merger or consolidation of the Company with or into any other corporation or other entity in which holders of the Company's voting securities immediately prior to such merger or consolidation will not, directly or indirectly, continue to hold at least a majority of the outstanding voting securities of the Company; (ii) a sale, lease, exchange or other transfer (in one transaction or a related series of transactions) of all or substantially all of the Company's and its Subsidiaries assets on a consolidated basis to an unrelated Person; (iii) the acquisition by any Person or any group of Persons, acting together in any transaction or related series of transactions, of such quantity of the Company's voting securities as causes such Person, or group of Persons, to own beneficially, directly or indirectly, as of the time immediately after such transaction or series of transactions, 50 percent or more of the combined voting power of the voting securities of the Company other than as a result of (A) an acquisition of securities directly from the Company or (B) an acquisition of securities by the Company which by reducing the voting securities outstanding increases the proportionate voting power represented by the voting securities owned by any such Person or group of Persons to 50 percent or more of the combined voting power of such voting securities; or (iv) the liquidation or dissolution of the Company.

" Service Relationship " shall mean any relationship as an employee, part-time employee, director or other key person (including consultants) of the Company or any Subsidiary or any successor entity such that, for example, a Service Relationship shall be deemed to continue without interruption in the event the Optionee's status changes from full-time employee to part-time employee or consultant.

" Subsidiary " means any corporation or other entity (other than the Company) in which the Company has at least a 50 percent interest, either directly or indirectly.

2. Vesting, Exercisability and Termination .

(a) No portion of this Stock Option may be exercised until such portion shall have vested.

(b) Except as set forth below, and subject to the determination of the Committee in its sole discretion to accelerate the vesting schedule hereunder, this Stock Option

shall be vested and exercisable with respect to the Option Shares on the respective dates indicated below:

Incremental (Aggregate Number) of Option Shares Exercisable	Vesting Date
20% of the Option Shares (20% of the Option Shares)	[_____ __, 20[__]
20% of the Option Shares (40% of the Option Shares)	[_____ __, 20[__]
20% of the Option Shares (60% of the Option Shares)	[_____ __, 20[__]
20% of the Option Shares (80% of the Option Shares)	[_____ __, 20[__]
20% of the Option Shares (100% of the Option Shares)	[_____ __, 20[__]

(c) Termination . Except as may otherwise be provided by the Committee, if the Optionee's Service Relationship is terminated, the period within which to exercise this Stock Option will be subject to earlier termination as set forth below (and if not exercised within such period, shall thereafter terminate):

(i) Termination Due to Death or Disability . If the Optionee's Service Relationship terminates by reason of such Optionee's death or disability (as defined in Section 422(c) of the Code), this Stock Option may be exercised, to the extent exercisable on the date of such termination, by the Optionee, the Optionee's legal representative or legatee for a period of 12 months from the date of death or disability or until the Expiration Date, if earlier.

(ii) Other Termination . If the Optionee's Service Relationship terminates for any reason other than death or disability (as defined in Section 422(c) of the Code), and unless otherwise determined by the Committee, this Stock Option may be exercised, to the extent exercisable on the date of termination, for a period of 90 days from the date of termination or until the Expiration Date or other termination date, if earlier; provided however , if the Optionee terminates his or her Service Relationship, this Stock Option may be exercised, to the extent exercisable on the date of termination, for a period of 30 days from the date of termination or until the Expiration Date or other termination date, if earlier; provided further , if the Optionee's Service Relationship is terminated for Cause, this Stock Option shall terminate immediately upon the date of such termination.

For purposes hereof, the Committee's determination of the reason for termination of the Optionee's employment shall be conclusive and binding on the Optionee and his or her representatives or legatees or Permitted Transferees. Any portion of this Stock Option that is not exercisable on the date of termination of the employment shall terminate immediately and be null and void.

(d) It is understood and intended that this Stock Option is intended to qualify as an "incentive stock option" as defined in Section 422 of the Code to the extent permitted under applicable law. Accordingly, the Optionee understands that in order to obtain the benefits of an incentive stock option under Section 422 of the Code, no sale or other disposition may be made of Issued Shares for which incentive stock option treatment is desired within the one-year period beginning on the day after the day of the transfer of such Issued Shares to him or her, nor within the two-year period beginning on the day after the grant of this Stock Option and further that this Stock Option must be exercised within three months after termination of employment as an employee (or 12 months in the case of death or disability) to qualify as an incentive stock option. If the Optionee disposes (whether by sale, gift, transfer or otherwise) of any such Issued Shares within either of these periods, he or she will notify the Company within 30 days after such disposition. The Optionee also agrees to provide the Company with any information concerning any such dispositions required by the Company for tax purposes. Further, to the extent Option Shares and any other incentive stock options of the Optionee having an aggregate Fair Market Value in excess of $100,000 (determined as of the Grant Date) vest in any year, such options will not qualify as incentive stock options.

3. Exercise of Stock Option .

(a) The Optionee may exercise this Stock Option only in the following manner: Prior to the Expiration Date, the Optionee may deliver a Stock Option exercise notice (an "Exercise Notice") in the form of Appendix A hereto indicating his or her election to purchase some or all of the Option Shares with respect to which this Stock Option is exercisable at the time of such notice. Such notice shall specify the number of Option Shares to be purchased. Payment of the purchase price may be made by one or more of the methods described below (payment instruments will be received subject to collection):

(i) In cash, by certified or bank check, by wire transfer of immediately available funds, or other instrument acceptable to the Committee in U.S. funds payable to the order of the Company in an amount equal to the purchase price of such Option Shares;

(ii) By the Optionee delivering to the Company a promissory note if the Board has expressly authorized the loan of funds to the Optionee for the purpose of enabling or assisting the Optionee to effect the exercise of his or her Stock Option; provided , that at least so much of the exercise price as represents the par value of the Stock shall be paid other than with a promissory note if otherwise required by state law; or

(iii) if the Initial Public Offering has occurred, then (A) through the delivery (or attestation to ownership) of shares of Stock that have been purchased by the Optionee on the open market or that are beneficially owned by the Optionee and are not subject to restrictions under any plan of the Company, provided that, to the extent required to avoid variable accounting treatment under FAS 123R or other applicable accounting rules, such surrendered shares shall have been owned by the Optionee for at least six months, and in any event with an aggregate Fair Market Value (as of the date of such exercise) equal to the option purchase price, (B) by the Optionee delivering to the Company a properly executed Exercise Notice together with irrevocable instructions to a broker to promptly deliver to the Company cash or a check payable and acceptable to the Company to pay the option purchase price, provided that in the event the Optionee chooses to pay the option purchase price as so provided, the Optionee and the broker shall comply with such procedures and enter into such agreements of indemnity and other agreements as the Committee shall prescribe as a condition of such payment procedure, or (C) a combination of (i), (ii), (iii)(A) and (iii)(B) above.

(b) Certificates for the Option Shares so purchased will be issued and delivered to the Optionee upon compliance to the satisfaction of the Committee with all requirements under applicable laws or regulations in connection with such issuance. Until the Optionee shall have complied with the requirements hereof and of the Plan, the Company shall be under no obligation to issue the Option Shares subject to this Stock Option, and the determination of the Committee as to such compliance shall be final and binding on the Optionee. The Optionee shall not be deemed to be the holder of, or to have any of the rights of a holder with respect to, any shares of Common Stock subject to this Stock Option unless and until this Stock Option shall have been exercised pursuant to the terms hereof, the Company shall have issued and delivered the Issued Shares to the Optionee, and the Optionee's name shall have been entered as a stockholder of record on the books of the Company. Thereupon, the Optionee shall have full dividend and other ownership rights with respect to such Issued Shares, subject to the terms of this Agreement.

(c) Notwithstanding any other provision hereof or of the Plan, no portion of this Stock Option shall be exercisable after the Expiration Date.

4. Incorporation of Plan . Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, this Stock Option shall be subject to and governed by all the terms and conditions of the Plan.

5. Transferability of Stock Option . This Agreement is personal to the Optionee and is not transferable by the Optionee in any manner other than by will or by the laws of descent and distribution. The Stock Option may be exercised during the Optionee's lifetime only by the Optionee (or by the Optionee's guardian or personal representative in the event of the Optionee's incapacity). The Optionee may elect to designate a beneficiary by providing written notice of the name of such beneficiary to the Company, and may revoke or change such designation at any time by filing written notice of revocation or change with the Company; such beneficiary may exercise the Optionee's Stock Option in the event of the Optionee's death to the extent provided herein. If the Optionee does not designate a beneficiary, or if the designated beneficiary predeceases the Optionee, the legal representative of the Optionee may exercise this Stock Option to the extent provided herein in the event of the Optionee's death.

6. Effect of Certain Transactions .

(a) In the case of a Sale Event, this Stock Option shall terminate upon the effective time of such Sale Event unless provision is made in connection with such transaction, in the sole discretion of the parties thereto, for the continuation or assumption of this Stock Option heretofore granted, or the substitution of this Stock Option with a new Stock Option of the successor entity or a parent thereof, with such adjustment to the number and kind of shares and the per share exercise prices as such parties shall agree. In the event of such a termination, the Optionee shall be permitted, for a specified period of time prior to the consummation of the Sale Event as determined by the Committee, to exercise all portions of the Stock Option which are then exercisable.

(b) In the event that this Stock Option is converted into a Converted Award, then this Agreement shall thereafter entitle the holder to the rights of a holder of a Converted Award.

7. Withholding Taxes . The Optionee shall, not later than the date as of which the exercise of this Stock Option becomes a taxable event for federal income tax purposes, pay to the Company or make arrangements satisfactory to the Committee for payment of any federal, state and local taxes required by law to be withheld on account of such taxable event. Subject to approval by the Committee, the Optionee may elect to have the minimum tax withholding obligation satisfied, in whole or in part, by authorizing the Company to withhold from shares of Common Stock to be issued or transferring to the Company, a number of shares of Common Stock with an aggregate Fair Market Value that would satisfy the minimum withholding amount due. The Optionee acknowledges and agrees that the Company or any Subsidiary of the Company has the right to deduct from payments of any kind otherwise due to the Optionee, or from the Option Shares to be issued in respect of an exercise of this Stock Option, any federal, state or local taxes of any kind required by law to be withheld with respect to the issuance of Option Shares to the Optionee.

8. Restrictions on Transfer of Issued Shares . None of the Issued Shares acquired upon exercise of the Stock Option shall be sold, assigned, transferred, pledged, hypothecated, given away or in any other manner disposed of or encumbered, whether voluntarily or by operation of law, unless such transfer is in compliance with all applicable securities laws (including, without limitation, the Act, and such disposition is in accordance with the terms and conditions of Sections 8 and 9 hereof and such disposition does not cause the Company to become subject to the reporting requirements of the Exchange Act. In connection with any transfer of Issued Shares, the Company may require the transferor to provide at the Optionee's own expense an opinion of counsel to the transferor, satisfactory to the Company, that such transfer is in compliance with all foreign, federal and state securities laws (including, without limitation, the Act). Any attempted disposition of Issued Shares not in accordance with the terms and conditions of Sections 8 and 9 hereof shall be null and void, and the Company shall not reflect on its records any change in record ownership of any Issued Shares as a result of any such disposition, shall otherwise refuse to recognize any such disposition and shall not in any way give effect to any such disposition of any Issued Shares. Subject to the foregoing general provisions, Issued Shares may be transferred pursuant to the following specific terms and conditions:

(a) Transfers to Permitted Transferees . The Optionee may sell, assign, transfer or give away any or all of the Issued Shares to Permitted Transferees; provided , however , that such Permitted Transferee(s) shall, as a condition to any such transfer, agree to be subject to the provisions of this Agreement to the same extent as the Optionee (including, without limitation, the provisions of Sections 8, 9, 11, 12 and 13(l)) and shall have delivered a written acknowledgment to that effect to the Company.

(b) Transfers Upon Death . Upon the death of the Optionee, any Issued Shares then held by the Optionee at the time of such death and any Issued Shares acquired thereafter by the Optionee's legal representative pursuant to this Agreement shall be subject to the provisions of Sections 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13(l), if applicable, and the Optionee's estate, executors, administrators, personal representatives, heirs, legatees and distributees shall be obligated to convey such Issued Shares to the Company or its assigns under the terms contemplated hereby.

(c) Company's Right of First Refusal . In the event that the Optionee (or any Permitted Transferee holding Issued Shares subject to this Section 8(c)) desires to sell or otherwise transfer all or any part of the Issued Shares, the Optionee (or Permitted Transferee) first shall give written notice to the Company of the Optionee's (or Permitted Transferee's) intention to make such transfer. Such notice shall state the number of Issued Shares which the Optionee (or Permitted Transferee) proposes to sell (the "Offered Shares"), the price and the terms at which the proposed sale is to be made and the name and address of the proposed transferee. At any time within 30 days after the receipt of such notice by the Company, the Company or its assigns may elect to purchase all or any portion of the Offered Shares at the price and on the terms offered by the proposed transferee and specified in the notice. The Company or its assigns shall exercise this right by mailing or delivering written notice to the Optionee (or Permitted Transferee) within the foregoing 30-day period. If the Company or its assigns elect to exercise its purchase rights under this Section 8(c), the closing for such purchase shall, in any event, take place within 45 days after the receipt by the Company of the initial notice from the Optionee (or Permitted Transferee). In the event that the Company or its assigns do not elect to exercise such purchase right, or in the event that the Company or its assigns do not pay the full purchase price within such 45-day period, the Optionee (or Permitted Transferee) may, within 60 days thereafter, sell the Offered Shares to the proposed transferee and at the same price and on the same terms as specified in the Optionee's (or Permitted Transferee's) notice. Any Shares purchased by such proposed transferee shall be deemed held by a Permitted Transferee and accordingly shall remain subject to the terms of this Agreement, including without limitation, the provisions of Sections 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13(l) below to the same extent as if the Optionee continued to hold them. Any Shares not sold to the proposed transferee shall remain subject to this Agreement. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the restrictions under this Section 8(c) shall terminate in accordance with Section 13(a).

9. Company's Right of Repurchase .

(a) Right of Repurchase . The Company shall have the right (the "Repurchase Right") upon the occurrence of any of the events specified in Section 9(b) below (the "Repurchase Event") to repurchase from the Optionee (or any Permitted Transferee) some or all (as determined by the Company) of the Issued Shares held or subsequently acquired upon exercise of this Stock Option in accordance with the terms hereof by the Optionee (or any Permitted Transferee) at the price per share specified below. The Repurchase Right may be exercised by the Company within the later of (i) six months following the date of such event or (ii) seven months after the exercise of this Stock Option (the "Repurchase Period"). The Repurchase Right shall be exercised by the Company by giving the Optionee or any Permitted Transferee written notice on or before the last day of the Repurchase Period of its intention to exercise the Repurchase Right, and, together with such notice, tendering to the Optionee or any Permitted Transferee an amount equal to the Fair Market Value of the shares, determined as provided in Section 9(c). The Company may assign the Repurchase Right to one or more Persons. Upon such notification, the Optionee and any Permitted Transferees shall promptly surrender to the Company any certificates representing the Issued Shares being purchased, together with a duly executed stock power for the transfer of such Issued Shares to the Company or the Company's assignee or assignees. Upon the Company's or its assignee's receipt of the certificates from the Optionee or any Permitted Transferees (or at such later date as is determined necessary by the Committee to avoid any breach by the Company of any agreement to which it is a party), the Company or its assignee or assignees shall deliver to him, her or them a check for the Repurchase Price of the Issued Shares being purchased; provided , however , that the Company may pay the Repurchase Price for such shares by offsetting and canceling any indebtedness then owed by the Optionee to the Company. At such time, the Optionee and/or any holder of the Issued Shares shall deliver to the Company the certificate or certificates representing the Issued Shares so repurchased, duly endorsed for transfer, free and clear of any liens or encumbrances. The Repurchase Right shall terminate in accordance with Section 13(a).

(b) Company's Right to Exercise Repurchase Right . The Company shall have the Repurchase Right in the event that any of the following events shall occur:

(i) The termination of the Optionee's Service Relationship for any reason whatsoever, regardless of the circumstances thereof, and including without limitation upon death, disability, retirement, discharge or resignation for any reason, whether voluntarily or involuntarily; or

(ii) The Optionee's or Permitted Transferee's Bankruptcy.

(c) Determination of Fair Market Value . The Fair Market Value of the Issued Shares shall be, for purposes of this Section 9, determined by the Board as of the date the Board elects to exercise its repurchase rights in connection with a Repurchase Event.

10. Escrow Arrangement .

(a) Escrow . In order to carry out the provisions of Sections 8, 9 and 11 of this Agreement more effectively, the Company shall hold any Issued Shares in escrow together with separate stock powers executed by the Optionee in blank for transfer, and any Permitted Transferee shall, as an additional condition to any transfer of Issued Shares, execute a like stock power as to such Issued Shares. The Company shall not dispose of the Issued Shares except as otherwise provided in this Agreement. In the event of any repurchase by the Company (or any of its assigns), the Company is hereby authorized by the Optionee and any Permitted Transferee, as the Optionee's and each such Permitted Transferee's attorney-in-fact, to date and complete the stock powers necessary for the transfer of the Issued Shares being purchased and to transfer such Issued Shares in accordance with the terms hereof. At such time as any Issued Shares are no longer subject to the Company's repurchase, first refusal and drag along rights, the Company shall, at the written request of the Optionee, deliver to the Optionee (or the relevant Permitted Transferee) a certificate representing such Issued Shares with the balance of the Issued Shares to be held in escrow pursuant to this Section 10.

(b) Remedy . Without limitation of any other provision of this Agreement or other rights, in the event that the Optionee, any Permitted Transferees or any other person or entity is required to sell the Optionee's Issued Shares pursuant to the provisions of Section 8, 9 and 11 of this Agreement and in the further event that he or she refuses or for any reason fails to deliver to the Company or its designated purchaser of such Issued Shares the certificate or certificates evidencing such Issued Shares together with a related stock power, the Company or such designated purchaser may deposit the applicable purchase price for such Issued Shares with a bank designated by the Company, or with the Company's independent public accounting firm, as agent or trustee, or in escrow, for the Optionee, any Permitted Transferees or other Person, to be held by such bank or accounting firm for the benefit of and for delivery to him, her, them or it, and/or, in its discretion, pay such purchase price by offsetting any indebtedness then owed by the Optionee as provided above. Upon any such deposit and/or offset by the Company or its designated purchaser of such amount and upon notice to the Person who was required to sell the Issued Shares to be sold pursuant to the provisions of Sections 8, 9 and 11, such Issued Shares shall at such time be deemed to have been sold, assigned, transferred and conveyed to such purchaser, the holder thereof shall have no further rights thereto (other than the right to withdraw the payment thereof held in escrow, if applicable), and the Company shall record such transfer in its stock transfer book or in any appropriate manner.

11. Drag Along Right . If the Company obtains the requisite approval from (a) the Board and (b) the Company's stockholders (in accordance with Delaware law and the Charter) for a Liquidation Event or a Qualified IPO (each as defined in the Charter and each, a "Liquidity Event"), then the Optionee, including any Permitted Transferee, agrees that such Optionee, and such Permitted Transferee, shall: (i) vote any and all voting securities of the Company held by such Optionee, or such Permitted Transferee, or as to which such Optionee, or Permitted Transferee, has voting power, in favor of the consummation of the proposed Liquidity Event, at any meeting of stockholders of the Company at which such transactions are considered, by proxy or in any written consent of stockholders of the Company relating thereto, (ii) if applicable, tender all shares of capital stock held by such Optionee, or Permitted Transferee, or as to which such Optionee, or Permitted Transferee, has power of disposition, which are the subject of such proposed Liquidity Event in accordance with the terms of the proposed Liquidity Event, (iii) consent to and raise no objection against the proposed Liquidity Event, (iv) if applicable, waive any dissenters' rights, preemptive rights, appraisal rights or similar rights, as the case may be and (v) use its best efforts to take all other actions, including entering into appropriate agreements and other documents, reasonably required in order to effectuate fully the Liquidity Event.

12. Lockup Provision .

(a) If requested by the Company or an underwriter in connection with the Initial Public Offering, the Optionee, including any Permitted Transferee, hereby agrees that such Optionee, or Permitted Transferee, shall not sell, transfer, make any short sale of, grant any option for the purchase of, enter into any hedging or similar transaction with the same economic effect as a sale or otherwise transfer or dispose of any Common Stock (or any other securities of the Company) held by such Optionee, or Permitted Transferee, other than those included in the registration, for a period (the "Lock Up Period") specified by the representative of the underwriters of the Common Stock (or any other securities) of the Company not to exceed one hundred eighty (180) calendar days following the effective date of a registration statement of the Company filed under the Act in connection with such offering (the "Effective Date"); which period may be extended upon the request of the managing underwriter, to the extent required by any NASD rules, for an additional period of up to fifteen (15) days if the Company issues or proposes to issue an earnings or other public release within fifteen (15) days of the expiration of the 180-day lockup period; provided that all current and future officers and directors of the Company and all current and future holders of at least one percent (1%) of the Company's voting securities are bound by and have entered into similar agreements.

(b) The Optionee, including any Permitted Transferee, agrees to execute and deliver such other agreements as may be reasonably requested by the Company or the underwriter that are consistent with the Optionee's, or Permitted Transferee's, obligations under this Section 12 or that are necessary to give further effect thereto. The obligations described in this Section 12 shall not apply to a (i) a registration statement relating to any employee benefit plan of the Company, (ii) a registration statement of the Company relating to any corporate reorganization or other transaction under Rule 145 as promulgated by the SEC under the Act, as such rule may be amended from time to time, or any similar successor rule that may be promulgated by the SEC, including any registration statements related to the issuance or resale of securities issued in such a transaction, or (iii) a registration statement related to the offer and sale of debt securities. The Company may impose stop-transfer instructions with respect to the shares of Common Stock (or any other securities) subject to the foregoing restriction until the end of the relevant market stand-off period. The underwriters of the Company's stock are intended third party beneficiaries of this Section 12 and shall have the right, power and authority to enforce the provisions hereof as though they were a party hereto.

13. Miscellaneous Provisions .

(a) Termination . The Company's repurchase rights under Section 9, the restrictions on transfer of Issued Shares under Section 8(c) and the Drag Along obligations under Section 11 shall terminate upon the closing of the Company's Initial Public Offering or upon any Sale Event, in either case as a result of which shares of the Company (or successor entity) of the same class as the Issued Shares are registered under Section 12 of the Exchange Act and publicly traded on any national securities exchange.

(b) Equitable Relief . The parties hereto agree and declare that legal remedies may be inadequate to enforce the provisions of this Agreement and that equitable relief, including specific performance and injunctive relief, may be used to enforce the provisions of this Agreement.

(c) Adjustments for Changes in Capital Structure . If, as a result of any reorganization, recapitalization, reincorporation, reclassification, stock dividend, stock split, reverse stock split or other similar change in the Common Stock, the outstanding shares of Common Stock are increased or decreased or are exchanged for a different number or kind of shares of the Company's stock, the restrictions contained in this Agreement shall apply with equal force to additional and/or substitute securities, if any, received by the Optionee in exchange for, or by virtue of his or her ownership of, Issued Shares.

(d) Change and Modifications . This Agreement may not be orally changed, modified or terminated, nor shall any oral waiver of any of its terms be effective. This Agreement may be changed, modified or terminated only by an agreement in writing signed by the Company and the Optionee.

(e) Governing Law . This Agreement shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware as to matters within the scope hereof, and as to all other matters shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the internal laws of Arizona, without regard to conflict of law principles that would result in the application of any law other than the law of the State of Arizona.

(f) Headings . The headings are intended only for convenience in finding the subject matter and do not constitute part of the text of this Agreement and shall not be considered in the interpretation of this Agreement.

(g) Saving Clause . If any provision(s) of this Agreement shall be determined to be illegal or unenforceable, such determination shall in no manner affect the legality or enforceability of any other provision hereof.

(h) Notices . All notices, requests, consents and other communications shall be in writing and be deemed given when delivered personally, by telex or facsimile transmission or when received if mailed by first class registered or certified mail, postage prepaid. Notices to the Company or the Optionee shall be addressed as set forth underneath their signatures below, or to such other address or addresses as may have been furnished by such party in writing to the other.

(i) Benefit and Binding Effect . This Agreement shall be binding upon and shall inure to the benefit of the parties hereto, their respective successors, permitted assigns, and legal representatives. The Company has the right to assign this Agreement, and such assignee shall become entitled to all the rights of the Company hereunder to the extent of such assignment.

(j) Dispute Resolution . Except as provided below, any dispute arising out of or relating to this Agreement or the breach, termination or validity hereof shall be finally settled by binding arbitration conducted expeditiously in accordance with the J.A.M.S./Endispute Comprehensive Arbitration Rules and Procedures (the "J.A.M.S. Rules"). The arbitration shall be governed by the United States Arbitration Act, 9 U.S.C. §§1-16, and judgment upon the award rendered by the arbitrators may be entered by any court having jurisdiction thereof. The place of arbitration shall be Phoenix, Arizona.

The parties covenant and agree that the arbitration shall commence within 60 days of the date on which a written demand for arbitration is filed by any party hereto. In connection with the arbitration proceeding, the arbitrator shall have the power to order the production of documents by each party and any third-party witnesses. In addition, each party may take up to three depositions as of right, and the arbitrator may in his or her discretion allow additional depositions upon good cause shown by the moving party. However, the arbitrator shall not have the power to order the answering of interrogatories or the response to requests for admission. In connection with any arbitration, each party shall provide to the other, no later than seven business days before the date of the arbitration, the identity of all persons that may testify at the arbitration and a copy of all documents that may be introduced at the arbitration or considered or used by a party's witness or expert. The arbitrator's decision and award shall be made and delivered within six months of the selection of the arbitrator. The arbitrator's decision shall set forth a reasoned basis for any award of damages or finding of liability. The arbitrator shall not have power to award damages in excess of actual compensatory damages and shall not multiply actual damages or award punitive damages or any other damages that are specifically excluded under this Agreement, and each party hereby irrevocably waives any claim to such damages.

The parties covenant and agree that they will participate in the arbitration in good faith. This Section 13(j) applies equally to requests for temporary, preliminary or permanent injunctive relief, except that in the case of temporary or preliminary injunctive relief any party may proceed in court without prior arbitration for the limited purpose of avoiding immediate and irreparable harm.

Each of the parties hereto (i) hereby irrevocably submits to the jurisdiction of any United States District Court of competent jurisdiction for the purpose of enforcing the award or decision in any such proceeding, (ii) hereby waives, and agrees not to assert, by way of motion, as a defense, or otherwise, in any such suit, action or proceeding, any claim that it is not subject personally to the jurisdiction of the above-named courts, that its property is exempt or immune from attachment or execution (except as protected by applicable law), that the suit, action or proceeding is brought in an inconvenient forum, that the venue of the suit, action or proceeding is improper or that this Agreement or the subject matter hereof may not be enforced in or by such court, and hereby waives and agrees not to seek any review by any court of any other jurisdiction which may be called upon to grant an enforcement of the judgment of any such court. Each of the parties hereto hereby consents to service of process by registered mail at the address to which notices are to be given. Each of the parties hereto agrees that its, his or her submission to jurisdiction and its, his or her consent to service of process by mail is made for the express benefit of the other parties hereto. Final judgment against any party hereto in any such action, suit or proceeding may be enforced in other jurisdictions by suit, action or proceeding on the judgment, or in any other manner provided by or pursuant to the laws of such other jurisdiction.

(k) Counterparts . For the convenience of the parties and to facilitate execution, this Agreement may be executed in two or more counterparts, each of which shall be deemed an original, but all of which shall constitute one and the same document.

(l) Right of First Refusal and Co-Sale Agreement . The Optionee, including any Permitted Transferee, agrees that if the Optionee, or Permitted Transferee, holds at least one percent (1%) of the Company's then outstanding shares of capital stock, it shall become a party to the Right of First Refusal, Co-Sale and Voting Agreement dated as of October 9, 2007, by and among the Company and the other parties thereto, as amended from time to time, as a "Restricted Stockholder" thereunder.

STOCK OPTION EXERCISE NOTICE

TPI Composites, Inc.
Attention: [_____]

Pursuant to the terms of my stock option agreement dated _____ (the "Agreement") under the TPI Composites, Inc. (f/k/a LCSI Holding, Inc.) 2008 Stock Option and Grant Plan, I, [Insert Name] _____, hereby [Circle One] partially/fully exercise such option by including herein payment in the amount of $ _____ representing the purchase price for [Fill in number of Option Shares] _____ option shares. I have chosen the following form(s) of payment:

[ ] 1. Cash
[ ] 2. Certified or bank check payable to TPI Composites, Inc.
[ ] 3. Other (as described in the Agreement (please describe))
_____.

In connection with my exercise of the option as set forth above, I hereby represent and warrant to TPI Composites, Inc. as follows:

(i) I am purchasing the option shares for my own account for investment only, and not for resale or with a view to the distribution thereof.

(ii) I have had such an opportunity as I have deemed adequate to obtain from TPI Composites, Inc. such information as is necessary to permit me to evaluate the merits and risks of my investment in TPI Composites, Inc. and have consulted with my own advisers with respect to my investment in TPI Composites, Inc.

(iii) I have sufficient experience in business, financial and investment matters to be able to evaluate the risks involved in the purchase of the option shares and to make an informed investment decision with respect to such purchase.

(iv) I can afford a complete loss of the value of the option shares and am able to bear the economic risk of holding such option shares for an indefinite period of time.

(v) I understand that the option shares may not be registered under the Securities Act of 1933 (it being understood that the option shares are being issued and sold in reliance on the exemption provided in Rule 701 thereunder) or any applicable state securities or "blue sky" laws and may not be sold or otherwise transferred or disposed of in the absence of an effective registration statement under the Securities Act of 1933 and under any applicable state securities or "blue sky" laws (or exemptions from the registration requirement thereof). I further acknowledge that certificates representing option shares will bear restrictive legends reflecting the foregoing.

Sincerely yours,

NON-QUALIFIED STOCK OPTION AGREEMENT
UNDER THE TPI COMPOSITES, INC. (F/K/A LCSI HOLDING, INC.)
2008 STOCK OPTION AND GRANT PLAN

Name of Optionee: _____(the "Optionee")

No. of Option Shares: _____Shares of Common Stock

Grant Date: _____(the "Grant Date")

Expiration Date: _____(the "Expiration Date")

Option Exercise Price/Share: $ _____(the "Option Exercise Price")

Pursuant to the TPI Composites, Inc. (f/k/a LCSI Holding, Inc.) 2008 Stock Option and Grant Plan (the "Plan"), TPI Composites, Inc. (f/k/a LCSI Holding, Inc.), a Delaware corporation (together with all successors thereto, the "Company"), hereby grants to the Optionee, who is an officer, employee, director, consultant or other key person of the Company or any of its Subsidiaries, an option (the "Stock Option") to purchase on or prior to the Expiration Date, or such earlier date as is specified herein, all or any part of the number of shares of Common Stock, par value $0.01 per share ("Common Stock"), of the Company indicated above (the "Option Shares," and such shares once issued shall be referred to as the "Issued Shares"), at the Option Exercise Price per share, subject to the terms and conditions set forth in this Non-Qualified Stock Option Agreement (this "Agreement") and in the Plan. This Stock Option is not intended to qualify as an "incentive stock option" as defined in Section 422(b) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended from time to time (the "Code").

1. Definitions . For the purposes of this Agreement, the following terms shall have the following respective meanings. All capitalized terms used herein and not otherwise defined shall have the respective meanings set forth in the Plan.

" Affiliate " shall mean any person or entity that directly or indirectly, through one or more intermediaries, controls, is controlled by or is under common control with such person or entity (or such person's or entity's successors and assigns). For purposes of this definition, a person or entity shall be deemed to be "controlled by" another person or entity if the other possesses, directly or indirectly, power either (i) to vote fifty percent (50%) or more of the securities having ordinary voting power for the election of directors of such person or entity, or (ii) to direct or cause the direction of the management and policies of such person or entity whether by contract or otherwise; provided, however, that for purposes of clarity, in addition to the foregoing, with respect to any venture capital investor, "Affiliate" shall include any partnership, limited liability company or fund sharing a common management company or similar entity.

" Bankruptcy " shall mean (i) the filing of a voluntary petition under any bankruptcy or insolvency law, or a petition for the appointment of a receiver or the making of an assignment for the benefit of creditors, with respect to the Optionee or any Permitted Transferee, as the case may be, or (ii) the Optionee or any Permitted Transferee, as the case may be, being subjected involuntarily to such a petition or assignment or to an attachment or other legal or equitable interest with respect to the Optionee's or such Permitted Transferee's assets, which involuntary petition or assignment or attachment is not discharged within 60 days after its date, and (iii) the Optionee or any Permitted Transferee being subject to a transfer of the Stock Option or the Issued Shares by operation of law (including by divorce, even if not insolvent), except by reason of death.

" Cause " means a dismissal as a result of (i) the commission of any act by the Optionee constituting financial dishonesty against the Company or its Subsidiaries (which act would be chargeable as a crime under applicable law); (ii) the Optionee's engaging in any other act of dishonesty, fraud, intentional misrepresentation, moral turpitude, illegality or harassment which, as determined in good faith by the Board, would: (A) materially adversely affect the business or the reputation of the Company or any of its Subsidiaries with their respective current or prospective customers, suppliers, lenders and/or other third parties with whom such entity does or might do business; or (B) expose the Company or any of its Subsidiaries to a risk of civil or criminal legal damages, liabilities or penalties; (iii) the repeated willful failure by the Optionee to follow the directives of the chief executive officer of the Company or any of its Subsidiaries, the Board, or the board of directors of any of the Company's Subsidiaries or (iv) any material misconduct, material violation of the Company's written policies, or willful and deliberate non-performance of duty by the Optionee in connection with the business affairs of the Company or its Subsidiaries. In the event the Optionee is a party to an employment agreement with the Company or any Subsidiary that contains a different definition of "cause," the definition set forth in such other agreement shall be applicable to the Optionee for purposes of this Agreement and not this definition.

" Charter " means the Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation of the Company, as amended.

" Fair Market Value " of the Common Stock on any given date means the fair market value of the Common Stock determined in good faith by the Committee based on the reasonable application of a reasonable valuation method not inconsistent with Section 409A of the Code. If the Common Stock is admitted to quotation on a national securities exchange, the determination shall be made by reference to market quotations. If there are no market quotations for such date, the determination shall be made by reference to the last date preceding such date for which there are market quotations; provided further, however, that if the date for which Fair Market Value is determined is the first day when trading prices for the Common Stock are reported on a national securities exchange, the Fair Market Value shall be the "Price to the Public" (or equivalent) set forth on the cover page for the final prospectus relating to the Company's Initial Public Offering.

" Permitted Transferees " shall mean any of the following Persons to whom the Optionee may transfer Issued Shares hereunder (as set forth in Section 8): the Optionee's spouse, children (natural or adopted), stepchildren or a trust for their sole benefit of which the Optionee is the settlor; provided , however , that any such trust does not require or permit distribution of any Issued Shares during the term of this Agreement unless subject to its terms.

Upon the death of the Optionee (or a Permitted Transferee to whom shares have been transferred hereunder), the term Permitted Transferees shall also include such deceased Optionee's (or such deceased Permitted Transferee's) estate, executors, administrators, personal representatives, heirs, legatees and distributees, as the case may be.

" Person " shall mean any individual, corporation, partnership (limited or general), limited liability company, limited liability partnership, association, trust, joint venture, unincorporated organization or any similar entity.

" SEC " means the Securities and Exchange Commission or any other federal agency at the time administering the Act.

" Sale Event " shall mean and include the consummation of any of the following: (i) a merger or consolidation of the Company with or into any other corporation or other entity in which holders of the Company's voting securities immediately prior to such merger or consolidation will not, directly or indirectly, continue to hold at least a majority of the outstanding voting securities of the Company; (ii) a sale, lease, exchange or other transfer (in one transaction or a related series of transactions) of all or substantially all of the Company's and its Subsidiaries assets on a consolidated basis to an unrelated Person; (iii) the acquisition by any Person or any group of Persons, acting together in any transaction or related series of transactions, of such quantity of the Company's voting securities as causes such Person, or group of Persons, to own beneficially, directly or indirectly, as of the time immediately after such transaction or series of transactions, 50 percent or more of the combined voting power of the voting securities of the Company other than as a result of (A) an acquisition of securities directly from the Company or (B) an acquisition of securities by the Company which by reducing the voting securities outstanding increases the proportionate voting power represented by the voting securities owned by any such Person or group of Persons to 50 percent or more of the combined voting power of such voting securities; or (iv) the liquidation or dissolution of the Company.

" Service Relationship " shall mean any relationship as an employee, part-time employee, director or other key person (including consultants) of the Company or any Subsidiary or any successor entity such that, for example, a Service Relationship shall be deemed to continue without interruption in the event the Optionee's status changes from full-time employee to part-time employee or consultant.

" Subsidiary " means any corporation or other entity (other than the Company) in which the Company has at least a 50 percent interest, either directly or indirectly.

2. Vesting, Exercisability and Termination .

(a) No portion of this Stock Option may be exercised until such portion shall have vested.

(b) Except as set forth below, and subject to the determination of the Committee in its sole discretion to accelerate the vesting schedule hereunder, this Stock Option shall be vested and exercisable with respect to the Option Shares on the respective dates indicated below:

Incremental (Aggregate Number) of Option Shares Exercisable	Vesting Date
20% of the Option Shares
(20% of the Option Shares)	[_____ __, 20[__]
20% of the Option Shares	[_____ __, 20[__]
(40% of the Option Shares)
20% of the Option Shares	[_____ __, 20[__]
(60% of the Option Shares)
20% of the Option Shares	[_____ __, 20[__]
(80% of the Option Shares)
20% of the Option Shares	[_____ __, 20[__]
(100% of the Option Shares)

(c) Termination . Except as may otherwise be provided by the Committee, if the Optionee's Service Relationship is terminated, the period within which to exercise this Stock Option will be subject to earlier termination as set forth below (and if not exercised within such period, shall thereafter terminate):

(i) Termination Due to Death or Disability . If the Optionee's Service Relationship terminates by reason of such Optionee's death or disability (as defined in Section 422(c) of the Code), this Stock Option may be exercised, to the extent exercisable on the date of such termination, by the Optionee, the Optionee's legal representative or legatee for a period of 12 months from the date of death or disability or until the Expiration Date, if earlier.

(ii) Other Termination . If the Optionee's Service Relationship terminates for any reason other than death or disability (as defined in Section 422(c) of the Code), and unless otherwise determined by the Committee, this Stock Option may be exercised, to the extent exercisable on the date of termination, for a period of 90 days from the date of termination or until the Expiration Date or other termination date, if earlier; provided however , if the Optionee's Service Relationship is terminated for Cause or if the Optionee terminates his or her Service Relationship, this Stock Option shall terminate immediately upon the date of such termination.

For purposes hereof, the Committee's determination of the reason for termination of the Optionee's employment shall be conclusive and binding on the Optionee and his or her representatives or legatees or Permitted Transferees. Any portion of this Stock Option that is not exercisable on the date of termination of the employment shall terminate immediately and be null and void.

3. Exercise of Stock Option .

(a) The Optionee may exercise this Stock Option only in the following manner: Prior to the Expiration Date, the Optionee may deliver a Stock Option exercise notice (an "Exercise Notice") in the form of Appendix A hereto indicating his or her election to purchase some or all of the Option Shares with respect to which this Stock Option is exercisable at the time of such notice. Such notice shall specify the number of Option Shares to be purchased. Payment of the purchase price may be made by one or more of the methods described below (payment instruments will be received subject to collection):

(i) In cash, by certified or bank check, by wire transfer of immediately available funds, or other instrument acceptable to the Committee in U.S. funds payable to the order of the Company in an amount equal to the purchase price of such Option Shares;

(ii) By the Optionee delivering to the Company a promissory note if the Board has expressly authorized the loan of funds to the Optionee for the purpose of enabling or assisting the Optionee to effect the exercise of his or her Stock Option; provided , that at least so much of the exercise price as represents the par value of the Stock shall be paid other than with a promissory note if otherwise required by state law; or

(iii) if the Initial Public Offering has occurred, then (A) through the delivery (or attestation to ownership) of shares of Stock that have been purchased by the Optionee on the open market or that are beneficially owned by the Optionee and are not subject to restrictions under any plan of the Company, provided that, to the extent required to avoid variable accounting treatment under FAS 123R or other applicable accounting rules, such surrendered shares shall have been owned by the Optionee for at least six months, and in any event with an aggregate Fair Market Value (as of the date of such exercise) equal to the option purchase price, (B) by the Optionee delivering to the Company a properly executed Exercise Notice together with irrevocable instructions to a broker to promptly deliver to the Company cash or a check payable and acceptable to the Company to pay the option purchase price, provided that in the event the Optionee chooses to pay the option purchase price as so provided, the Optionee and the broker shall comply with such procedures and enter into such agreements of indemnity and other agreements as the Committee shall prescribe as a condition of such payment procedure, or (C) a combination of (i), (ii), (iii)(A) and (iii)(B) above.

(b) Certificates for the Option Shares so purchased will be issued and delivered to the Optionee upon compliance to the satisfaction of the Committee with all requirements under applicable laws or regulations in connection with such issuance. Until the Optionee shall have complied with the requirements hereof and of the Plan, the Company shall be under no obligation to issue the Option Shares subject to this Stock Option, and the determination of the Committee as to such compliance shall be final and binding on the Optionee. The Optionee shall not be deemed to be the holder of, or to have any of the rights of a holder with respect to, any shares of Common Stock subject to this Stock Option unless and until this Stock Option shall have been exercised pursuant to the terms hereof, the Company shall have issued and delivered the Issued Shares to the Optionee, and the Optionee's name shall have been entered as a stockholder of record on the books of the Company. Thereupon, the Optionee shall have full dividend and other ownership rights with respect to such Issued Shares, subject to the terms of this Agreement.

(c) Notwithstanding any other provision hereof or of the Plan, no portion of this Stock Option shall be exercisable after the Expiration Date.

4. Incorporation of Plan . Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, this Stock Option shall be subject to and governed by all the terms and conditions of the Plan.

5. Transferability of Stock Option . This Agreement is personal to the Optionee and is not transferable by the Optionee in any manner other than by will or by the laws of descent and distribution. The Stock Option may be exercised during the Optionee's lifetime only by the Optionee (or by the Optionee's guardian or personal representative in the event of the Optionee's incapacity). The Optionee may elect to designate a beneficiary by providing written notice of the name of such beneficiary to the Company, and may revoke or change such designation at any time by filing written notice of revocation or change with the Company; such beneficiary may exercise the Optionee's Stock Option in the event of the Optionee's death to the extent provided herein. If the Optionee does not designate a beneficiary, or if the designated beneficiary predeceases the Optionee, the legal representative of the Optionee may exercise this Stock Option to the extent provided herein in the event of the Optionee's death.

6. Effect of Certain Transactions .

(a) In the case of a Sale Event, this Stock Option shall terminate upon the effective time of such Sale Event unless provision is made in connection with such transaction, in the sole discretion of the parties thereto, for the continuation or assumption of this Stock Option heretofore granted, or the substitution of this Stock Option with a new Stock Option of the successor entity or a parent thereof, with such adjustment to the number and kind of shares and the per share exercise prices as such parties shall agree. In the event of such a termination, the Optionee shall be permitted, for a specified period of time prior to the consummation of the Sale Event as determined by the Committee, to exercise all portions of the Stock Option which are then exercisable.

(b) In the event that this Stock Option is converted into a Converted Award, then this Agreement shall thereafter entitle the holder to the rights of a holder of a Converted Award.

7. Withholding Taxes . The Optionee shall, not later than the date as of which the exercise of this Stock Option becomes a taxable event for federal income tax purposes, pay to the Company or make arrangements satisfactory to the Committee for payment of any federal, state and local taxes required by law to be withheld on account of such taxable event. Subject to approval by the Committee, the Optionee may elect to have the minimum tax withholding obligation satisfied, in whole or in part, by authorizing the Company to withhold from shares of Common Stock to be issued or transferring to the Company, a number of shares of Common Stock with an aggregate Fair Market Value that would satisfy the minimum withholding amount due. The Optionee acknowledges and agrees that the Company or any Subsidiary of the Company has the right to deduct from payments of any kind otherwise due to the Optionee, or from the Option Shares to be issued in respect of an exercise of this Stock Option, any federal, state or local taxes of any kind required by law to be withheld with respect to the issuance of Option Shares to the Optionee.

8. Restrictions on Transfer of Issued Shares . None of the Issued Shares acquired upon exercise of the Stock Option shall be sold, assigned, transferred, pledged, hypothecated, given away or in any other manner disposed of or encumbered, whether voluntarily or by operation of law, unless such transfer is in compliance with all applicable securities laws (including, without limitation, the Act, and such disposition is in accordance with the terms and conditions of Sections 8 and 9 hereof and such disposition does not cause the Company to become subject to the reporting requirements of the Exchange Act. In connection with any transfer of Issued Shares, the Company may require the transferor to provide at the Optionee's own expense an opinion of counsel to the transferor, satisfactory to the Company, that such transfer is in compliance with all foreign, federal and state securities laws (including, without limitation, the Act). Any attempted disposition of Issued Shares not in accordance with the terms and conditions of Sections 8 and 9 hereof shall be null and void, and the Company shall not reflect on its records any change in record ownership of any Issued Shares as a result of any such disposition, shall otherwise refuse to recognize any such disposition and shall not in any way give effect to any such disposition of any Issued Shares. Subject to the foregoing general provisions, Issued Shares may be transferred pursuant to the following specific terms and conditions:

(a) Transfers to Permitted Transferees . The Optionee may sell, assign, transfer or give away any or all of the Issued Shares to Permitted Transferees; provided , however , that such Permitted Transferee(s) shall, as a condition to any such transfer, agree to be subject to the provisions of this Agreement to the same extent as the Optionee (including, without limitation, the provisions of Sections 8, 9, 11, 12 and 13(l)) and shall have delivered a written acknowledgment to that effect to the Company.

(b) Transfers Upon Death . Upon the death of the Optionee, any Issued Shares then held by the Optionee at the time of such death and any Issued Shares acquired thereafter by the Optionee's legal representative pursuant to this Agreement shall be subject to the provisions of Sections 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13(l), if applicable, and the Optionee's estate, executors, administrators, personal representatives, heirs, legatees and distributees shall be obligated to convey such Issued Shares to the Company or its assigns under the terms contemplated hereby.

(c) Company's Right of First Refusal . In the event that the Optionee (or any Permitted Transferee holding Issued Shares subject to this Section 8(c)) desires to sell or otherwise transfer all or any part of the Issued Shares, the Optionee (or Permitted Transferee) first shall give written notice to the Company of the Optionee's (or Permitted Transferee's) intention to make such transfer. Such notice shall state the number of Issued Shares which the Optionee (or Permitted Transferee) proposes to sell (the "Offered Shares"), the price and the terms at which the proposed sale is to be made and the name and address of the proposed transferee. At any time within 30 days after the receipt of such notice by the Company, the Company or its assigns may elect to purchase all or any portion of the Offered Shares at the price and on the terms offered by the proposed transferee and specified in the notice. The Company or its assigns shall exercise this right by mailing or delivering written notice to the Optionee (or Permitted Transferee) within the foregoing 30-day period. If the Company or its assigns elect to exercise its purchase rights under this Section 8(c), the closing for such purchase shall, in any event, take place within 45 days after the receipt by the Company of the initial notice from the Optionee (or Permitted Transferee). In the event that the Company or its assigns do not elect to exercise such purchase right, or in the event that the Company or its assigns do not pay the full purchase price within such 45-day period, the Optionee (or Permitted Transferee) may, within 60 days thereafter, sell the Offered Shares to the proposed transferee and at the same price and on the same terms as specified in the Optionee's (or Permitted Transferee's) notice. Any Shares purchased by such proposed transferee shall be deemed held by a Permitted Transferee and accordingly shall remain subject to the terms of this Agreement, including without limitation, the provisions of Sections 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13(l) below to the same extent as if the Optionee continued to hold them. Any Shares not sold to the proposed transferee shall remain subject to this Agreement. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the restrictions under this Section 8(c) shall terminate in accordance with Section 13(a).

9. Company's Right of Repurchase .

(a) Right of Repurchase . The Company shall have the right (the "Repurchase Right") upon the occurrence of any of the events specified in Section 9(b) below (the "Repurchase Event") to repurchase from the Optionee (or any Permitted Transferee) some or all (as determined by the Company) of the Issued Shares held or subsequently acquired upon exercise of this Stock Option in accordance with the terms hereof by the Optionee (or any Permitted Transferee) at the price per share specified below. The Repurchase Right may be exercised by the Company within the later of (i) six months following the date of such event or (ii) seven months after the exercise of this Stock Option (the "Repurchase Period"). The Repurchase Right shall be exercised by the Company by giving the Optionee or any Permitted Transferee written notice on or before the last day of the Repurchase Period of its intention to exercise the Repurchase Right, and, together with such notice, tendering to the Optionee or any Permitted Transferee an amount equal to the Fair Market Value of the shares, determined as provided in Section 9(c). The Company may assign the Repurchase Right to one or more Persons. Upon such notification, the Optionee and any Permitted Transferees shall promptly surrender to the Company any certificates representing the Issued Shares being purchased, together with a duly executed stock power for the transfer of such Issued Shares to the Company or the Company's assignee or assignees. Upon the Company's or its assignee's receipt of the certificates from the Optionee or any Permitted Transferees (or at such later date as is determined necessary by the Committee to avoid any breach by the Company of any agreement to which it is a party), the Company or its assignee or assignees shall deliver to him, her or them a check for the Repurchase Price of the Issued Shares being purchased; provided , however , that the Company may pay the Repurchase Price for such shares by offsetting and canceling any indebtedness then owed by the Optionee to the Company. At such time, the Optionee and/or any holder of the Issued Shares shall deliver to the Company the certificate or certificates representing the Issued Shares so repurchased, duly endorsed for transfer, free and clear of any liens or encumbrances. The Repurchase Right shall terminate in accordance with Section 13(a).

(b) Company's Right to Exercise Repurchase Right . The Company shall have the Repurchase Right in the event that any of the following events shall occur:

(i) The termination of the Optionee's Service Relationship for any reason whatsoever, regardless of the circumstances thereof, and including without limitation upon death, disability, retirement, discharge or resignation for any reason, whether voluntarily or involuntarily; or

(ii) The Optionee's or Permitted Transferee's Bankruptcy.

(c) Determination of Fair Market Value . The Fair Market Value of the Issued Shares shall be, for purposes of this Section 9, determined by the Board as of the date the Board elects to exercise its repurchase rights in connection with a Repurchase Event.

10. Escrow Arrangement .

(a) Escrow . In order to carry out the provisions of Sections 8, 9 and 11 of this Agreement more effectively, the Company shall hold any Issued Shares in escrow together with separate stock powers executed by the Optionee in blank for transfer, and any Permitted Transferee shall, as an additional condition to any transfer of Issued Shares, execute a like stock power as to such Issued Shares. The Company shall not dispose of the Issued Shares except as otherwise provided in this Agreement. In the event of any repurchase by the Company (or any of its assigns), the Company is hereby authorized by the Optionee and any Permitted Transferee, as the Optionee's and each such Permitted Transferee's attorney-in-fact, to date and complete the stock powers necessary for the transfer of the Issued Shares being purchased and to transfer such Issued Shares in accordance with the terms hereof. At such time as any Issued Shares are no longer subject to the Company's repurchase, first refusal and drag along rights, the Company shall, at the written request of the Optionee, deliver to the Optionee (or the relevant Permitted Transferee) a certificate representing such Issued Shares with the balance of the Issued Shares to be held in escrow pursuant to this Section 10.

(b) Remedy . Without limitation of any other provision of this Agreement or other rights, in the event that the Optionee, any Permitted Transferees or any other person or entity is required to sell the Optionee's Issued Shares pursuant to the provisions of Section 8, 9 and 11 of this Agreement and in the further event that he or she refuses or for any reason fails to deliver to the Company or its designated purchaser of such Issued Shares the certificate or certificates evidencing such Issued Shares together with a related stock power, the Company or such designated purchaser may deposit the applicable purchase price for such Issued Shares with a bank designated by the Company, or with the Company's independent public accounting firm, as agent or trustee, or in escrow, for the Optionee, any Permitted Transferees or other Person, to be held by such bank or accounting firm for the benefit of and for delivery to him, her, them or it, and/or, in its discretion, pay such purchase price by offsetting any indebtedness then owed by the Optionee as provided above. Upon any such deposit and/or offset by the Company or its designated purchaser of such amount and upon notice to the Person who was required to sell the Issued Shares to be sold pursuant to the provisions of Sections 8, 9 and 11, such Issued Shares shall at such time be deemed to have been sold, assigned, transferred and conveyed to such purchaser, the holder thereof shall have no further rights thereto (other than the right to withdraw the payment thereof held in escrow, if applicable), and the Company shall record such transfer in its stock transfer book or in any appropriate manner.

11. Drag Along Right . If the Company obtains the requisite approval from (a) the Board and (b) the Company's stockholders (in accordance with Delaware law and the Charter) for a Liquidation Event or a Qualified IPO (each as defined in the Charter and each, a "Liquidity Event"), then the Optionee, including any Permitted Transferee, agrees that such Optionee, and such Permitted Transferee, shall: (i) vote any and all voting securities of the Company held by such Optionee, or such Permitted Transferee, or as to which such Optionee, or Permitted Transferee, has voting power, in favor of the consummation of the proposed Liquidity Event, at any meeting of stockholders of the Company at which such transactions are considered, by proxy or in any written consent of stockholders of the Company relating thereto, (ii) if applicable, tender all shares of capital stock held by such Optionee, or Permitted Transferee, or as to which such Optionee, or Permitted Transferee, has power of disposition, which are the subject of such proposed Liquidity Event in accordance with the terms of the proposed Liquidity Event, (iii) consent to and raise no objection against the proposed Liquidity Event, (iv) if applicable, waive any dissenters' rights, preemptive rights, appraisal rights or similar rights, as the case may be and (v) use its best efforts to take all other actions, including entering into appropriate agreements and other documents, reasonably required in order to effectuate fully the Liquidity Event.

12. Lockup Provision .

(a) If requested by the Company or an underwriter in connection with the Initial Public Offering, the Optionee, including any Permitted Transferee, hereby agrees that such Optionee, or Permitted Transferee, shall not sell, transfer, make any short sale of, grant any option for the purchase of, enter into any hedging or similar transaction with the same economic effect as a sale or otherwise transfer or dispose of any Common Stock (or any other securities of the Company) held by such Optionee, or Permitted Transferee, other than those included in the registration, for a period (the "Lock Up Period") specified by the representative of the underwriters of the Common Stock (or any other securities) of the Company not to exceed one hundred eighty (180) calendar days following the effective date of a registration statement of the Company filed under the Act in connection with such offering (the "Effective Date"); which period may be extended upon the request of the managing underwriter, to the extent required by any NASD rules, for an additional period of up to fifteen (15) days if the Company issues or proposes to issue an earnings or other public release within fifteen (15) days of the expiration of the 180-day lockup period; provided that all current and future officers and directors of the Company and all current and future holders of at least one percent (1%) of the Company's voting securities are bound by and have entered into similar agreements.

(b) The Optionee, including any Permitted Transferee, agrees to execute and deliver such other agreements as may be reasonably requested by the Company or the underwriter that are consistent with the Optionee's, or Permitted Transferee's, obligations under this Section 12 or that are necessary to give further effect thereto. The obligations described in this Section 12 shall not apply to a (i) a registration statement relating to any employee benefit plan of the Company, (ii) a registration statement of the Company relating to any corporate reorganization or other transaction under Rule 145 as promulgated by the SEC under the Act, as such rule may be amended from time to time, or any similar successor rule that may be promulgated by the SEC, including any registration statements related to the issuance or resale of securities issued in such a transaction, or (iii) a registration statement related to the offer and sale of debt securities. The Company may impose stop-transfer instructions with respect to the shares of Common Stock (or any other securities) subject to the foregoing restriction until the end of the relevant market stand-off period. The underwriters of the Company's stock are intended third party beneficiaries of this Section 12 and shall have the right, power and authority to enforce the provisions hereof as though they were a party hereto.

13. Miscellaneous Provisions .

(a) Termination . The Company's repurchase rights under Section 9, the restrictions on transfer of Issued Shares under Section 8(c) and the Drag Along obligations under Section 11 shall terminate upon the closing of the Company's Initial Public Offering or upon any Sale Event, in either case as a result of which shares of the Company (or successor entity) of the same class as the Issued Shares are registered under Section 12 of the Exchange Act and publicly traded on any national securities exchange.

(b) Equitable Relief . The parties hereto agree and declare that legal remedies may be inadequate to enforce the provisions of this Agreement and that equitable relief, including specific performance and injunctive relief, may be used to enforce the provisions of this Agreement.

(c) Adjustments for Changes in Capital Structure . If, as a result of any reorganization, recapitalization, reincorporation, reclassification, stock dividend, stock split, reverse stock split or other similar change in the Common Stock, the outstanding shares of Common Stock are increased or decreased or are exchanged for a different number or kind of shares of the Company's stock, the restrictions contained in this Agreement shall apply with equal force to additional and/or substitute securities, if any, received by the Optionee in exchange for, or by virtue of his or her ownership of, Issued Shares.

(d) Change and Modifications . This Agreement may not be orally changed, modified or terminated, nor shall any oral waiver of any of its terms be effective. This Agreement may be changed, modified or terminated only by an agreement in writing signed by the Company and the Optionee.

(e) Governing Law . This Agreement shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware as to matters within the scope hereof, and as to all other matters shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the internal laws of Arizona, without regard to conflict of law principles that would result in the application of any law other than the law of the State of Arizona.

(f) Headings . The headings are intended only for convenience in finding the subject matter and do not constitute part of the text of this Agreement and shall not be considered in the interpretation of this Agreement.

(g) Saving Clause . If any provision(s) of this Agreement shall be determined to be illegal or unenforceable, such determination shall in no manner affect the legality or enforceability of any other provision hereof.

(h) Notices . All notices, requests, consents and other communications shall be in writing and be deemed given when delivered personally, by telex or facsimile transmission or when received if mailed by first class registered or certified mail, postage prepaid. Notices to the Company or the Optionee shall be addressed as set forth underneath their signatures below, or to such other address or addresses as may have been furnished by such party in writing to the other.

(i) Benefit and Binding Effect . This Agreement shall be binding upon and shall inure to the benefit of the parties hereto, their respective successors, permitted assigns, and legal representatives. The Company has the right to assign this Agreement, and such assignee shall become entitled to all the rights of the Company hereunder to the extent of such assignment.

(j) Dispute Resolution . Except as provided below, any dispute arising out of or relating to this Agreement or the breach, termination or validity hereof shall be finally settled by binding arbitration conducted expeditiously in accordance with the J.A.M.S./Endispute Comprehensive Arbitration Rules and Procedures (the "J.A.M.S. Rules"). The arbitration shall be governed by the United States Arbitration Act, 9 U.S.C. §§1-16, and judgment upon the award rendered by the arbitrators may be entered by any court having jurisdiction thereof. The place of arbitration shall be Phoenix, Arizona.

The parties covenant and agree that the arbitration shall commence within 60 days of the date on which a written demand for arbitration is filed by any party hereto. In connection with the arbitration proceeding, the arbitrator shall have the power to order the production of documents by each party and any third-party witnesses. In addition, each party may take up to three depositions as of right, and the arbitrator may in his or her discretion allow additional depositions upon good cause shown by the moving party. However, the arbitrator shall not have the power to order the answering of interrogatories or the response to requests for admission. In connection with any arbitration, each party shall provide to the other, no later than seven business days before the date of the arbitration, the identity of all persons that may testify at the arbitration and a copy of all documents that may be introduced at the arbitration or considered or used by a party's witness or expert. The arbitrator's decision and award shall be made and delivered within six months of the selection of the arbitrator. The arbitrator's decision shall set forth a reasoned basis for any award of damages or finding of liability. The arbitrator shall not have power to award damages in excess of actual compensatory damages and shall not multiply actual damages or award punitive damages or any other damages that are specifically excluded under this Agreement, and each party hereby irrevocably waives any claim to such damages.

The parties covenant and agree that they will participate in the arbitration in good faith. This Section 13(j) applies equally to requests for temporary, preliminary or permanent injunctive relief, except that in the case of temporary or preliminary injunctive relief any party may proceed in court without prior arbitration for the limited purpose of avoiding immediate and irreparable harm.

Each of the parties hereto (i) hereby irrevocably submits to the jurisdiction of any United States District Court of competent jurisdiction for the purpose of enforcing the award or decision in any such proceeding, (ii) hereby waives, and agrees not to assert, by way of motion, as a defense, or otherwise, in any such suit, action or proceeding, any claim that it is not subject personally to the jurisdiction of the above-named courts, that its property is exempt or immune from attachment or execution (except as protected by applicable law), that the suit, action or proceeding is brought in an inconvenient forum, that the venue of the suit, action or proceeding is improper or that this Agreement or the subject matter hereof may not be enforced in or by such court, and hereby waives and agrees not to seek any review by any court of any other jurisdiction which may be called upon to grant an enforcement of the judgment of any such court. Each of the parties hereto hereby consents to service of process by registered mail at the address to which notices are to be given. Each of the parties hereto agrees that its, his or her submission to jurisdiction and its, his or her consent to service of process by mail is made for the express benefit of the other parties hereto. Final judgment against any party hereto in any such action, suit or proceeding may be enforced in other jurisdictions by suit, action or proceeding on the judgment, or in any other manner provided by or pursuant to the laws of such other jurisdiction.

(k) Counterparts . For the convenience of the parties and to facilitate execution, this Agreement may be executed in two or more counterparts, each of which shall be deemed an original, but all of which shall constitute one and the same document.

(l) Right of First Refusal and Co-Sale Agreement . The Optionee, including any Permitted Transferee, agrees that if the Optionee, or Permitted Transferee, holds at least one percent (1%) of the Company's then outstanding shares of capital stock, it shall become a party to the Right of First Refusal, Co-Sale and Voting Agreement dated as of October 9, 2007, by and among the Company and the other parties thereto, as amended from time to time, as a "Restricted Stockholder" thereunder.

STOCK OPTION EXERCISE NOTICE

TPI Composites, Inc.
Attention: [_____]

Pursuant to the terms of my stock option agreement dated _____ (the "Agreement") under the TPI Composites, Inc. (f/k/a LCSI Holding, Inc.) 2008 Stock Option and Grant Plan, I, [Insert Name] _____, hereby [Circle One] partially/fully exercise such option by including herein payment in the amount of $ _____ representing the purchase price for [Fill in number of Option Shares] _____ option shares. I have chosen the following form(s) of payment:

[ ] 1. Cash
[ ] 2. Certified or bank check payable to TPI Composites, Inc.
[ ] 3. Other (as described in the Agreement (please describe))
_____.

In connection with my exercise of the option as set forth above, I hereby represent and warrant to TPI Composites, Inc. as follows:

(i) I am purchasing the option shares for my own account for investment only, and not for resale or with a view to the distribution thereof.

(ii) I have had such an opportunity as I have deemed adequate to obtain from TPI Composites, Inc. such information as is necessary to permit me to evaluate the merits and risks of my investment in TPI Composites, Inc. and have consulted with my own advisers with respect to my investment in TPI Composites, Inc.

(iii) I have sufficient experience in business, financial and investment matters to be able to evaluate the risks involved in the purchase of the option shares and to make an informed investment decision with respect to such purchase.

(iv) I can afford a complete loss of the value of the option shares and am able to bear the economic risk of holding such option shares for an indefinite period of time.

(v) I understand that the option shares may not be registered under the Securities Act of 1933 (it being understood that the option shares are being issued and sold in reliance on the exemption provided in Rule 701 thereunder) or any applicable state securities or "blue sky" laws and may not be sold or otherwise transferred or disposed of in the absence of an effective registration statement under the Securities Act of 1933 and under any applicable state securities or "blue sky" laws (or exemptions from the registration requirement thereof). I further acknowledge that certificates representing option shares will bear restrictive legends reflecting the foregoing.

Sincerely yours,

STOCK APPRECIATION RIGHT AGREEMENT
UNDER THE LCSI HOLDING, INC.
2008 STOCK OPTION AND GRANT PLAN

Name of Grantee: _____(the "Grantee")

No. of SAR Shares: _____Shares of Common Stock

Grant Date: May ___, 2008 (the "Grant Date")

Expiration Date: January 1, 2012 (the "Expiration Date")

Exercise Price Per Share: $6,205.36 (the "Exercise Price")

Pursuant to the LCSI Holding, Inc. 2008 Stock Option and Grant Plan (the "Plan"), LCSI Holding, Inc., a Delaware corporation (together with all successors thereto, the "Company"), hereby grants to the Grantee, who is an employee of the Company or one of its Subsidiaries, the number of Stock Appreciation Rights specified above (the "SARs"). Each of the SARs granted herein relates to one share of Common Stock, par value $0.01 per share (the "Common Stock") of the Company indicated above (the "SARs Shares" and such shares once issued shall be referred to as the "Issued Shares"). This Agreement provides for the exercise of all or a portion of the number of SARs specified above at the Exercise Price specified above and to the issuance of shares of Common Stock to the Grantee as payment therefore in accordance with Section 3 of this Stock Appreciation Right Agreement (the "Agreement"), subject to the terms and conditions set forth in this Agreement and in the Plan.

1. Definitions . For the purposes of this Agreement, the following terms shall have the following respective meanings. All capitalized terms used herein and not otherwise defined shall have the respective meanings set forth in the Plan.

" Bankruptcy " shall mean (i) the filing of a voluntary petition under any bankruptcy or insolvency law, or a petition for the appointment of a receiver or the making of an assignment for the benefit of creditors, with respect to the Grantee or any Permitted Transferee, as the case may be, or (ii) the Grantee or any Permitted Transferee, as the case may be, being subjected involuntarily to such a petition or assignment or to an attachment or other legal or equitable interest with respect to the Grantee's or such Permitted Transferee's assets, which involuntary petition or assignment or attachment is not discharged within 60 days after its date, and (iii) the Grantee or any Permitted Transferee being subject to a transfer of the SARs or the Issued Shares by operation of law (including by divorce, even if not insolvent), except by reason of death.

" Cause " means a vote of the Committee resolving that the Grantee should be dismissed as a result of (i) the commission of any act by the Grantee constituting financial dishonesty against the Company and/or any of its Subsidiaries (which act would be chargeable as a crime under applicable law); (ii) the Grantee's engaging in any other act of dishonesty, fraud, intentional misrepresentation, moral turpitude, illegality or harassment which, as determined in good faith by the Committee, would (A) materially adversely affect the business or the reputation of the Company and/or any of its Subsidiaries with its current or prospective customers, suppliers, lenders and/or other third parties with whom it does or might do business, or (B) expose the Company and/or any of its Subsidiaries to a risk of civil or criminal legal damages, liabilities or penalties; (iii) the repeated failure by the Grantee to follow the directives of the Company's chief executive officer or Board or (iv) any material misconduct, violation of the Company's or its Subsidiaries policies, or willful and deliberate non-performance of duty by the Grantee in connection with the business affairs of the Company and/or any of its Subsidiaries.

" Charter " means the Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation of the Company, as amended.

" Company Sale " shall be deemed to have occurred upon the consummation of (i) the dissolution or liquidation of the Company, (ii) the sale of all or substantially all of the assets of the Company on a consolidated basis to an unrelated person or entity, (iii) a merger, reorganization or consolidation in which the outstanding shares of the Company's capital stock are converted into or exchanged for securities of the successor entity and the holders of the Company's outstanding voting power immediately prior to such transaction do not own a majority of the outstanding voting power of the successor entity immediately upon completion of such transaction, (iv) the sale of all or a majority of the outstanding capital stock of the Company to an unrelated person or entity or (v) any other transaction in which, the owners of the Company's outstanding voting power prior to such transaction do not own at least a majority of the outstanding voting power of the successor entity immediately upon completion of the transaction.

" Event Date " means the earlier of (a) the date of a Company Sale, (b) 180 days after the closing of the Initial Public Offering and (c) January 1, 2012.

" Fair Market Value " of the Common Stock on any given date means the fair market value of the Common Stock determined in good faith by the Committee based on the reasonable application of a reasonable valuation method not inconsistent with Section 409A of the Code. If the Common Stock is admitted to quotation on a national securities exchange, the determination shall be made by reference to market quotations. If there are no market quotations for such date, the determination shall be made by reference to market quotations.

" Initial Public Offering " means the Company's first firm commitment underwritten public offering of its Common Stock registered under the Act.

" Permitted Transferees " shall mean any of the following Persons to whom the Grantee may transfer Issued Shares hereunder (as set forth in Section 7): the Grantee's spouse, children (natural or adopted), stepchildren or a trust for their sole benefit of which the Grantee is the settlor; provided , however , that any such trust does not require or permit distribution of any Issued Shares during the term of this Agreement unless subject to its terms. Upon the death of the Grantee (or a Permitted Transferee to whom shares have been transferred hereunder), the term Permitted Transferees shall also include such deceased Grantee's (or such deceased Permitted Transferee's) estate, executors, administrators, personal representatives, heirs, legatees and distributees, as the case may be.

" Person " shall mean any individual, corporation, partnership (limited or general), limited liability company, limited liability partnership, association, trust, joint venture, unincorporated organization or any similar entity.

" SEC " means the Securities and Exchange Commission or any other federal agency at the time administering the Act.

" Service Relationship " shall mean any relationship as an employee, part-time employee, director or other key person (including consultants) of the Company or any Subsidiary or any successor entity such that, for example, a Service Relationship shall be deemed to continue without interruption in the event the Grantee's status changes from full-time employee to part-time employee or consultant.

" Subsidiary " means any corporation or other entity (other than the Company) in which the Company has at least a 50 percent interest, either directly or indirectly.

2. Vesting and Termination .

(a) No portion of this SARs may be exercised if such portion shall not have vested on the date of exercise pursuant to Section 3.

(b) Except as set forth below, and subject to the determination of the Committee in its sole discretion to accelerate the vesting schedule hereunder, the SARs shall be vested with respect to the SARs Shares on the respective dates indicated below:

Incremental (Aggregate Number) of SARs Exercisable	Vesting Date
20% of the SARs (20% of the SARs)	[_____ __, 20[__]
20% of the SARs (40% of the SARs)	[_____ __, 20[__]
20% of the SARs (60% of the SARs)	[_____ __, 20[__]
20% of the SARs (80% of the SARs)	[_____ __, 20[__]
20% of the SARs (100% of the SARs)	[_____ __, 20[__]

[INSERT FIVE YEAR ANNUAL VESTING FROM DATE OF ORIGINAL GRANT OF UARS UNDER THE LTIP.]

(c) Upon the occurrence of a Company Sale or 180 days following the closing of the Initial Public Offering, so long as the Grantee's Service Relationship has not been terminated, all outstanding unvested SARs held by the Grantee shall become immediately vested in full as of immediately prior to the Company Sale or the 180th day following the closing of the Initial Public Offering, as applicable.

(d) Termination of Service Relationship .

(i) Termination Due to Death or Disability . If the Grantee's Service Relationship terminates by reason of such Grantee's death or disability (as determined by the Committee), all outstanding unvested SARs shall terminate, be forfeited and be of no further force and effect, effective immediately upon the date of the Grantee's death or disability. The Grantee shall retain any SARs that are vested on such Grantee's death or disability.

(ii) Termination without Cause . If the Grantee's Service Relationship is terminated by the Company and/or its Subsidiaries without Cause, all outstanding unvested SARs shall terminate, be forfeited and be of no further force and effect, effective immediately upon the date of such termination. The Grantee shall retain any SARs that are vested on the termination of the Grantee's Service Relationship.

(iii) Termination for Cause . If the Grantee's Service Relationship is terminated by the Company and/or its Subsidiaries for Cause, all outstanding vested and unvested SARs shall terminate, be forfeited and be of no further force and effect, effective immediately upon the date of such termination.

(iv) Termination of Service Relationship for Any Other Reason . If the Grantee's Service Relationship is terminated by the Company and/or its Subsidiaries for any reason other than as described in Sections 2(d)(i), (ii) or (iii), all outstanding vested and unvested SARs shall terminate, be forfeited and be of no further force and effect, effective immediately upon the date of such termination.

For purposes hereof, the Committee's determination of the reason for termination of the Grantee's Service Relationship shall be conclusive and binding on the Grantee and his or her representatives or legatees or Permitted Transferees.

3. Exercise of SARs .

(a) On the earlier of a Company Sale or January 1, 2012, (i) if the Fair Market Value of a share of Common Stock is greater than the Exercise Price of the SARs, all vested SARs (taking into account the provisions of Section 2(c)) shall automatically be exercised and all unvested SARs shall automatically be terminated, forfeited and of no further force and effect and (ii) if the Fair Market Value of a share of Common Stock is less than the Exercise Price of the SARs, all vested and unvested SARs shall automatically be terminated, forfeited and of no further force and effect.

(b) If the SARs have not been automatically exercised or terminated or otherwise forfeited, starting on the date 180 days after the closing of the Initial Public Offering (the " Initial Exercise Date ") and ending on the earlier of (i) the eight (8) month anniversary of the Initial Exercise Date or (ii) the Expiration Date (such earlier date, the " Final Exercise Date "), the Grantee may exercise any vested SAR's (taking into account the provisions of Section 2(c)) only in the following manner: from time to time following the Initial Exercise Date and on or prior to the Final Exercise Date, the Grantee may give written notice to the Committee of his or her election to exercise some or all of the SAR's that are vested at the time of such notice. This notice shall specify the number of SAR's to be exercised. Any SARs that are not exercised by the Final Exercise Date shall be terminated, forfeited and of no further force and effect.

(c) With respect to each exercised portion of this SAR, the Grantee shall receive a payment in shares of Common Stock equal to the product of (i) the Fair Market Value of a share of Common Stock on the date of exercise less the Exercise Price specified in this Agreement and (ii) the number of SARs exercised. Such payment shall be in the form of shares of Common Stock. Any fractional shares shall be paid in cash.

(d) The delivery of certificates representing the Issued Shares will be contingent upon any agreement, statement or other evidence that the Committee may require to satisfy itself that the issuance of Common Stock to be delivered pursuant to the exercise of SARs under the Plan and any subsequent resale of the Issued Shares will be in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. The determination of the Committee as to such compliance shall be final and binding on the Grantee. The Grantee shall not be deemed to be the holder of, or to have any of the rights of a holder with respect to, any Issued Shares unless and until the SARs shall have been exercised pursuant to the terms hereof, the Company shall have issued and delivered the Issued Shares to the Grantee, and the Grantee's name shall have been entered as the stockholder of record on the books of the Company. Thereupon, the Grantee shall have full voting, dividend and other ownership rights with respect to such Issued Shares, subject to the terms of this Agreement.

(e) Notwithstanding any other provision hereof or of the Plan, no SAR shall be exercisable after the Expiration Date thereof.

4. Incorporation of Plan . Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, the SARs shall be subject to and governed by all the terms and conditions of the Plan.

5. Transferability of SARs . This Agreement is personal to the Grantee and is not transferable by the Grantee in any manner other than by will or by the laws of descent and distribution. The Grantee may elect to designate a beneficiary by providing written notice of the name of such beneficiary to the Company, and may revoke or change such designation at any time by filing written notice of revocation or change with the Company.

6. Withholding Taxes . The Grantee shall, not later than the date as of which the exercise of the SARs becomes a taxable event for federal income tax purposes, pay to the Company or make arrangements satisfactory to the Committee for payment of any federal, state and local taxes required by law to be withheld on account of such taxable event. Subject to approval by the Committee, the Grantee may elect to have the minimum tax withholding obligation satisfied, in whole or in part, by authorizing the Company to withhold from the SARs Shares to be issued or transferring to the Company, a number of shares of Common Stock with an aggregate Fair Market Value that would satisfy the minimum withholding amount due. The Grantee acknowledges and agrees that the Company or any Subsidiary of the Company has the right to deduct from payments of any kind otherwise due to the Grantee, or from the SARs Shares to be issued in respect of an exercise of the SARs, any federal, state or local taxes of any kind required by law to be withheld with respect to the issuance of the SARs shares to the Grantee.

7. Restrictions on Transfer of Issued Shares . None of the Issued Shares shall be sold, assigned, transferred, pledged, hypothecated, given away or in any other manner disposed of or encumbered, whether voluntarily or by operation of law, unless such transfer is in compliance with all applicable securities laws (including, without limitation, the Act, and such disposition is in accordance with the terms and conditions of Sections 7 and 8 hereof and such disposition does not cause the Company to become subject to the reporting requirements of the Exchange Act. In connection with any transfer of Issued Shares, the Company may require the transferor to provide at the Grantee's own expense an opinion of counsel to the transferor, satisfactory to the Company, that such transfer is in compliance with all foreign, federal and state securities laws (including, without limitation, the Act). Any attempted disposition of Issued Shares not in accordance with the terms and conditions of Sections 7 and 8 hereof shall be null and void, and the Company shall not reflect on its records any change in record ownership of any Issued Shares as a result of any such disposition, shall otherwise refuse to recognize any such disposition and shall not in any way give effect to any such disposition of any Issued Shares. Subject to the foregoing general provisions, Issued Shares may be transferred pursuant to the following specific terms and conditions:

(a) Transfers to Permitted Transferees . The Grantee may sell, assign, transfer or give away any or all of the Issued Shares to Permitted Transferees; provided , however , that such Permitted Transferee(s) shall, as a condition to any such transfer, agree to be subject to the provisions of this Agreement to the same extent as the Grantee (including, without limitation, the provisions of Sections 7, 8, 10, 11 and 12(l)) and shall have delivered a written acknowledgment to that effect to the Company.

(b) Transfers Upon Death . Upon the death of the Grantee, any Issued Shares then held by the Grantee at the time of such death and any Issued Shares acquired thereafter by the Grantee's legal representative pursuant to this Agreement shall be subject to the provisions of this Agreement (including, without limitation, the provisions of Sections 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12(l)) and the Grantee's estate, executors, administrators, personal representatives, heirs, legatees and distributees shall be obligated to convey such Issued Shares to the Company or its assigns under the terms contemplated hereby.

(c) Company's Right of First Refusal . In the event that the Grantee (or any Permitted Transferee holding Issued Shares subject to this Section 7(c)) desires to sell or otherwise transfer all or any part of the Issued Shares, the Grantee (or Permitted Transferee) first shall give written notice to the Company of the Grantee's (or Permitted Transferee's) intention to make such transfer. Such notice shall state the number of Issued Shares which the Grantee (or Permitted Transferee) proposes to sell (the "Offered Shares"), the price and the terms at which the proposed sale is to be made and the name and address of the proposed transferee. At any time within 30 days after the receipt of such notice by the Company, the Company or its assigns may elect to purchase all or any portion of the Offered Shares at the price and on the terms offered by the proposed transferee and specified in the notice. The Company or its assigns shall exercise this right by mailing or delivering written notice to the Grantee (or Permitted Transferee) within the foregoing 30-day period. If the Company or its assigns elect to exercise its purchase rights under this Section 7(c), the closing for such purchase shall, in any event, take place within 45 days after the receipt by the Company of the initial notice from the Grantee (or Permitted Transferee). In the event that the Company or its assigns do not elect to exercise such purchase right, or in the event that the Company or its assigns do not pay the full purchase price within such 45-day period, the Grantee (or Permitted Transferee) may, within 60 days thereafter, sell the Offered Shares to the proposed transferee and at the same price and on the same terms as specified in the Grantee's (or Permitted Transferee's) notice. Any Shares purchased by such proposed transferee shall be deemed held by a Permitted Transferee and accordingly shall remain subject to the terms of this Agreement, including without limitation, the provisions of Sections 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12(l) below to the same extent as if the Grantee continued to hold them. Any Shares not sold to the proposed transferee shall remain subject to this Agreement. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the restrictions under this Section 7(c) shall terminate in accordance with Section 12(a).

8. Company's Right of Repurchase .

(a) Right of Repurchase . The Company shall have the right (the "Repurchase Right") upon the occurrence of any of the events specified in Section 8(b) below (the "Repurchase Event") to repurchase from the Grantee (or any Permitted Transferee) some or all (as determined by the Company) of the Issued Shares held or subsequently acquired upon exercise of the SARs in accordance with the terms hereof by the Grantee (or any Permitted Transferee) at the price per share specified below. The Repurchase Right may be exercised by the Company within the later of (i) six months following the date of such event or (ii) seven months after the exercise of the SARs (the "Repurchase Period"). The Repurchase Right shall be exercised by the Company by giving the Grantee or any Permitted Transferee written notice on or before the last day of the Repurchase Period of its intention to exercise the Repurchase Right, and, together with such notice, tendering to the Grantee or any Permitted Transferee an amount equal to the Fair Market Value of the shares, determined as provided in Section 8(c). The Company may assign the Repurchase Right to one or more Persons. Upon such notification, the Grantee and any Permitted Transferees shall promptly surrender to the Company any certificates representing the Issued Shares being purchased, together with a duly executed stock power for the transfer of such Issued Shares to the Company or the Company's assignee or assignees. Upon the Company's or its assignee's receipt of the certificates from the Grantee or any Permitted Transferees (or at such later date as is determined necessary by the Committee to avoid any breach by the Company of any agreement to which it is a party), the Company or its assignee or assignees shall deliver to him, her or them a check for the Repurchase Price of the Issued Shares being purchased; provided , however , that the Company may pay the Repurchase Price for such shares by offsetting and canceling any indebtedness then owed by the Grantee to the Company. At such time, the Grantee and/or any holder of the Issued Shares shall deliver to the Company the certificate or certificates representing the Issued Shares so repurchased, duly endorsed for transfer, free and clear of any liens or encumbrances. The Repurchase Right shall terminate in accordance with Section 12(a).

(b) Company's Right to Exercise Repurchase Right . The Company shall have the Repurchase Right in the event that any of the following events shall occur:

(i) The termination of the Grantee's Service Relationship for any reason whatsoever, regardless of the circumstances thereof, and including without limitation upon death, disability, retirement, discharge or resignation for any reason, whether voluntarily or involuntarily; or

(ii) The Grantee's or Permitted Transferee's Bankruptcy.

(c) Determination of Fair Market Value . The Fair Market Value of the Issued Shares shall be, for purposes of this Section 8, determined as of the date the Board elects to exercise its repurchase rights in connection with a Repurchase Event.

9. Escrow Arrangement .

(a) Escrow . In order to carry out the provisions of Sections 7, 8 and 10 of this Agreement more effectively, the Company shall hold any Issued Shares in escrow together with separate stock powers executed by the Grantee in blank for transfer, and any Permitted Transferee shall, as an additional condition to any transfer of Issued Shares, execute a like stock power as to such Issued Shares. The Company shall not dispose of the Issued Shares except as otherwise provided in this Agreement. In the event of any repurchase by the Company (or any of its assigns), the Company is hereby authorized by the Grantee and any Permitted Transferee, as the Grantee's and each such Permitted Transferee's attorney-in-fact, to date and complete the stock powers necessary for the transfer of the Issued Shares being purchased and to transfer such Issued Shares in accordance with the terms hereof. At such time as any Issued Shares are no longer subject to the Company's repurchase, first refusal and drag along rights, the Company shall, at the written request of the Grantee, deliver to the Grantee (or the relevant Permitted Transferee) a certificate representing such Issued Shares with the balance of the Issued Shares to be held in escrow pursuant to this Section 9.

(b) Remedy . Without limitation of any other provision of this Agreement or other rights, in the event that the Grantee, any Permitted Transferees or any other Person is required to sell the Grantee's Issued Shares pursuant to the provisions of Section 7, 8 and 10 of this Agreement and in the further event that he or she refuses or for any reason fails to deliver to the Company or its designated purchaser of such Issued Shares the certificate or certificates evidencing such Issued Shares together with a related stock power, the Company or such designated purchaser may deposit the applicable purchase price for such Issued Shares with a bank designated by the Company, or with the Company's independent public accounting firm, as agent or trustee, or in escrow, for the Grantee, any Permitted Transferees or other Person, to be held by such bank or accounting firm for the benefit of and for delivery to him, her, them or it, and/or, in its discretion, pay such purchase price by offsetting any indebtedness then owed by the Grantee as provided above. Upon any such deposit and/or offset by the Company or its designated purchaser of such amount and upon notice to the Person who was required to sell the Issued Shares to be sold pursuant to the provisions of Sections 7, 8 and 10, such Issued Shares shall at such time be deemed to have been sold, assigned, transferred and conveyed to such purchaser, the holder thereof shall have no further rights thereto (other than the right to withdraw the payment thereof held in escrow, if applicable), and the Company shall record such transfer in its stock transfer book or in any appropriate manner.

10. Drag Along Right . If the Company obtains the requisite approval from (x) the Board and (y) the Company's stockholders (in accordance with Delaware law and the Charter) for a Liquidation Event or a Qualified IPO (each as defined in the Charter and each, a " Liquidity Event "), then Grantee, including any Permitted Transferee, agrees that Grantee and such Permitted Transferee shall: (i) vote any and all voting securities held by the Grantee or such Permitted Transferee, or as to which the Grantee or such Permitted Transferee has voting power, in favor of the consummation of the proposed Liquidity Event, at any meeting of stockholders of the Company at which such transactions are considered, by proxy or in any written consent of stockholders of the Company relating thereto, (ii) if applicable, tender all shares of capital stock of the Company held by the Grantee or the Permitted Transferee, or as to which the Grantee or such Permitted Transferee has power of disposition, which are the subject of such proposed Liquidity Event in accordance with the terms of the proposed Liquidity Event, (iii) consent to and raise no objection against the proposed Liquidity Event, (iv) if applicable, waive any dissenters' rights, preemptive rights, appraisal rights or similar rights, as the case may be, and (v) use its best efforts to take all other actions, including entering into appropriate agreements and other documents, reasonably required in order to effectuate fully the Liquidity Event.

11. Lockup Provision .

(a) If requested by the Company or an underwriter in connection with the Initial Public Offering, the Grantee, including any Permitted Transferee, hereby agrees that the Grantee or such Permitted Transferee shall not sell, transfer, make any short sale of, grant any option for the purchase of, enter into any hedging or similar transaction with the same economic effect as a sale or otherwise transfer or dispose of any Common Stock (or any other securities of the Company) held by the Grantee or such Permitted Transferee (other than those included in the registration) for a period (the " Lock Up Period ") specified by the representative of the underwriters of the Common Stock (or any other securities) of the Company not to exceed one hundred eighty (180) calendar days following the effective date of a registration statement of the Company filed under the Act in connection with such offering (the " Effective Date "); which period may be extended upon the request of the managing underwriter, to the extent required by any NASD rules, for an additional period of up to fifteen (15) days if the Company issues or proposes to issue an earnings or other public release within fifteen (15) days of the expiration of the 180-day lockup period; provided that all current and future officers and directors of the Company and all current and future holders of at least one percent (1%) of the Company's voting securities are bound by and have entered into similar agreements.

(b) The Grantee, including any Permitted Transferee, agrees to execute and deliver such other agreements as may be reasonably requested by the Company or the underwriter that are consistent with the Grantee's or such Permitted Transferee's obligations under this Section 11 or that are necessary to give further effect thereto. The obligations described in this Section 11 shall not apply to (i) a registration statement relating to any employee benefit plan of the Company, (ii) a registration statement of the Company relating to any corporate reorganization or other transaction under Rule 145 as promulgated by the SEC under the Act, as such rule may be amended from time to time or any similar successor rule may be promulgated by the SEC, including any registration statements related to the issuance or resale of securities issued in such a transaction, or (iii) a registration statement related to the offer and sale of debt securities. The Company may impose stop-transfer instructions with respect to the shares of Common Stock (or any other securities) subject to the foregoing restriction until the end of the relevant market stand-off period. The underwriters of the Company's stock are intended third party beneficiaries of this Section 11 and shall have the right, power and authority to enforce the provisions hereof as though they were a party hereto.

12. Miscellaneous Provisions .

(a) Termination . The restrictions on transfer of Issued Shares under Section 7(c), the Company's repurchase rights under Section 8 and the Drag Along obligations under Section 10 shall terminate upon the closing of the Company's Initial Public Offering or upon any Company Sale, in either case as a result of which shares of the Company (or successor entity) of the same class as the Issued Shares are registered under Section 12 of the Exchange Act and publicly traded on any national securities exchange.

(b) Equitable Relief . The parties hereto agree and declare that legal remedies may be inadequate to enforce the provisions of this Agreement and that equitable relief, including specific performance and injunctive relief, may be used to enforce the provisions of this Agreement.

(c) Adjustments for Changes in Capital Structure . If, as a result of any reorganization, recapitalization, reincorporation, reclassification, stock dividend, stock split, reverse stock split or other similar change in the Common Stock, the outstanding shares of Common Stock are increased or decreased or are exchanged for a different number or kind of shares of the Company's stock, the restrictions contained in this Agreement shall apply with equal force to additional and/or substitute securities, if any, received by the Grantee in exchange for, or by virtue of his or her ownership of, Issued Shares.

(d) Change and Modifications . This Agreement may not be orally changed, modified or terminated, nor shall any oral waiver of any of its terms be effective. This Agreement may be changed, modified or terminated only by an agreement in writing signed by the Company and the Grantee.

(e) Governing Law . This Agreement shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware as to matters within the scope hereof, and as to all other matters shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the internal laws of Rhode Island, without regard to conflict of law principles that would result in the application of any law other than the law of the State of Rhode Island.

(f) Headings . The headings are intended only for convenience in finding the subject matter and do not constitute part of the text of this Agreement and shall not be considered in the interpretation of this Agreement.

(g) Saving Clause . If any provision(s) of this Agreement shall be determined to be illegal or unenforceable, such determination shall in no manner affect the legality or enforceability of any other provision hereof.

(h) Notices . All notices, requests, consents and other communications shall be in writing and be deemed given (i) when delivered personally or sent by telex, facsimile transmission, digital imaging or electronic mail or (ii) when received if mailed by first class registered or certified mail, postage prepaid or sent by overnight courier (providing proof of delivery). Notices to the Company or the Grantee shall be addressed as set forth underneath their signatures below, or to such other address or addresses as may have been furnished by such party in writing to the other.

(i) Benefit and Binding Effect . This Agreement shall be binding upon and shall inure to the benefit of the parties hereto, their respective successors, permitted assigns, and legal representatives. The Company has the right to assign this Agreement, and such assignee shall become entitled to all the rights of the Company hereunder to the extent of such assignment.

(j) Arbitration . In the event of any dispute or controversy arising under or in connection with this Plan, the parties shall first promptly try in good faith to settle such dispute or controversy by mediation under the applicable rules of the American Arbitration Association before resorting to arbitration. In the event such dispute or controversy remains unresolved in whole or in part for a period of 30 days after it arises, the parties will settle any remaining dispute or controversy exclusively by arbitration in Boston, Massachusetts, in accordance with the rules of the American Arbitration Association then in effect. Judgment may be entered on the arbitrator's award in any court having jurisdiction.

(k) Counterparts . For the convenience of the parties and to facilitate execution, this Agreement may be executed in two or more counterparts, each of which shall be deemed an original, but all of which shall constitute one and the same document.

(l) Right of First Refusal and Co-Sale Agreement . The Grantee, including any Permitted Transferee, agrees that if the Grantee, or Permitted Transferee, holds at least one percent (1%) of the Company's then outstanding shares of capital stock, it shall become a party to the Right of First Refusal, Co-Sale and Voting Agreement dated as of October 9, 2007, by and among the Company and the other parties thereto (the " ROFR Agreement "), as a "Restricted Stockholder" thereunder. If a conflict arises between the provisions of the ROFR Agreement and the provisions of this Agreement, the provisions of the ROFR Agreement shall govern.

TPI COMPOSITES, INC.

AMENDED AND RESTATED 2015 STOCK OPTION AND INCENTIVE PLAN

SECTION 1. GENERAL PURPOSE OF THE PLAN; DEFINITIONS

The name of the plan is the TPI Composites, Inc. Amended and Restated 2015 Stock Option and Incentive Plan (the "Plan"). The purpose of the Plan is to encourage and enable the officers, employees, Non-Employee Directors and Consultants of TPI Composites, Inc., a Delaware corporation (the "Company"), and its Subsidiaries, upon whose judgment, initiative and efforts the Company largely depends for the successful conduct of its business, to acquire a proprietary interest in the Company. It is anticipated that providing such persons with a direct stake in the Company's welfare will assure a closer identification of their interests with those of the Company and its stockholders, thereby stimulating their efforts on the Company's behalf and strengthening their desire to remain with the Company.

The following terms shall be defined as set forth below:

"Act" means the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and the rules and regulations thereunder.

"Administrator" means either the Board or the compensation committee of the Board or a similar committee performing the functions of the compensation committee and which is comprised of not less than two Non-Employee Directors who are independent.

"Award" or "Awards," except where referring to a particular category of grant under the Plan, shall include Incentive Stock Options, Non-Qualified Stock Options, Stock Appreciation Rights, Restricted Stock Units, Restricted Stock Awards, Unrestricted Stock Awards, Cash-Based Awards, Performance Share Awards and Dividend Equivalent Rights.

"Award Certificate" means a written or electronic document setting forth the terms and provisions applicable to an Award granted under the Plan. Each Award Certificate is subject to the terms and conditions of the Plan.

"Board" means the Board of Directors of the Company.

"Cash-Based Award" means an Award entitling the recipient to receive a cash-denominated payment.

"Code" means the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, and any successor Code, and related rules, regulations and interpretations.

"Consultant" means any natural person that provides bona fide services to the Company, and such services are not in connection with the offer or sale of securities in a capital-raising transaction and do not directly or indirectly promote or maintain a market for the Company's securities.

"Covered Employee" means an employee who is a "Covered Employee" within the meaning of Section 162(m) of the Code.

"Dividend Equivalent Right" means an Award entitling the grantee to receive credits based on cash dividends that would have been paid on the shares of Stock specified in the Dividend Equivalent Right (or other award to which it relates) if such shares had been issued to and held by the grantee.

"Effective Date" means the date on which the Plan is approved by stockholders as set forth in Section 21.

"Exchange Act" means the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, and the rules and regulations thereunder.

"Fair Market Value" of the Stock on any given date means the fair market value of the Stock determined in good faith by the Administrator; provided, however, that if the Stock is admitted to quotation on the National Association of Securities Dealers Automated Quotation System ("NASDAQ"), NASDAQ Global Market or another national securities exchange, the determination shall be made by reference to market quotations. If there are no market quotations for such date, the determination shall be made by reference to the last date preceding such date for which there are market quotations; provided further, however, that if the date for which Fair Market Value is determined is the first day when trading prices for the Stock are reported on a national securities exchange, the Fair Market Value shall be the "Price to the Public" (or equivalent) set forth on the cover page for the final prospectus relating to the Company's Initial Public Offering.

"Incentive Stock Option" means any Stock Option designated and qualified as an "incentive stock option" as defined in Section 422 of the Code.

"Initial Public Offering" means the first underwritten, firm commitment public offering pursuant to an effective registration statement under the Act covering the offer and sale by the Company of its equity securities, or such other event as a result of or following which the Stock shall be publicly held.

"Non-Employee Director" means a member of the Board who is not also an employee of the Company or any Subsidiary.

"Non-Qualified Stock Option" means any Stock Option that is not an Incentive Stock Option.

"Option" or "Stock Option" means any option to purchase shares of Stock granted pursuant to Section 5.

"Performance-Based Award" means any Restricted Stock Award, Restricted Stock Units, Performance Share Award or Cash-Based Award granted to a Covered Employee that is intended to qualify as "performance-based compensation" under Section 162(m) of the Code and the regulations promulgated thereunder.

"Performance Criteria" means the criteria that the Administrator selects for purposes of establishing the Performance Goal or Performance Goals for an individual for a Performance Cycle. The Performance Criteria (which shall be applicable to the organizational level specified by the Administrator, including, but not limited to, the Company or a unit, division, group, or Subsidiary of the Company) that will be used to establish Performance Goals are limited to the following: total shareholder return, earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization, net income (loss) (either before or after interest, taxes, depreciation and/or amortization), changes in the market price of the Stock, economic value-added, funds from operations or similar measure, sales or revenue, corporate revenue, net annual recurring revenue, acquisitions or strategic transactions, operating income (loss), cash flow (including, but not limited to, operating cash flow and free cash flow), return on capital, assets, equity, or investment, shareholder returns, return on sales, gross or net profit levels, productivity, expense, margins, operating efficiency, customer satisfaction, working capital, earnings (loss) per share of Stock, sales or market shares, bookings, new bookings or renewals, number of customers, number of new customers or customer references, manufacturing plant metrics commonly used by senior management of the Company to monitor the performance of its manufacturing plants such as number of sets produced, cycle times, quality criteria and indicators, reportable safety incidents, and material cost out activities, and any of the foregoing criteria may be measured either in absolute terms or as compared to any incremental increase or as compared to results of a peer group. The Committee may appropriately adjust any evaluation performance under a Performance Criterion to exclude any of the following events that occurs during a Performance Cycle: (i) asset write-downs or impairments, (ii) litigation or claim judgments or settlements, (iii) the effect of changes in tax law, accounting principles or other such laws or provisions affecting reporting results, (iv) accruals for reorganizations and restructuring programs, and (v) any item of an unusual nature or of a type that indicates infrequency of occurrence, or both, including those described in the Financial Accounting Standards Board's authoritative guidance and/or in management's discussion and analysis of financial condition of operations appearing the Company's annual report to stockholders for the applicable year.

"Performance Cycle" means one or more periods of time, which may be of varying and overlapping durations, as the Administrator may select, over which the attainment of one or more Performance Criteria will be measured for the purpose of determining a grantee's right to and the payment of a Restricted Stock Award, Restricted Stock Units, Performance Share Award or Cash-Based Award, the vesting and/or payment of which is subject to the attainment of one or more Performance Goals. Each such period shall not be less than 12 months.

"Performance Goals" means, for a Performance Cycle, the specific goals established in writing by the Administrator for a Performance Cycle based upon the Performance Criteria.

"Performance Share Award" means an Award entitling the recipient to acquire shares of Stock upon the attainment of specified performance goals.

"Restricted Shares" or " Restricted Stock" means the shares of Stock underlying a Restricted Stock Award that remain subject to a risk of forfeiture or the Company's right of repurchase.

"Restricted Stock Award" means an Award of Restricted Shares subject to such restrictions and conditions as the Administrator may determine at the time of grant.

"Restricted Stock Units" means an Award of stock units subject to such restrictions and conditions as the Administrator may determine at the time of grant.

"Sale Event" shall mean (i) the sale of all or substantially all of the assets of the Company on a consolidated basis to an unrelated person or entity, (ii) a merger, reorganization or consolidation pursuant to which the holders of the Company's outstanding voting power and outstanding stock immediately prior to such transaction do not own a majority of the outstanding voting power and outstanding stock or other equity interests of the resulting or successor entity (or its ultimate parent, if applicable) immediately upon completion of such transaction, (iii) the sale of all of the Stock of the Company to an unrelated person, entity or group thereof acting in concert, or (iv) any other transaction in which the owners of the Company's outstanding voting power immediately prior to such transaction do not own at least a majority of the outstanding voting power of the Company or any successor entity immediately upon completion of the transaction other than as a result of the acquisition of securities directly from the Company.

"Sale Price" means the value as determined by the Administrator of the consideration payable, or otherwise to be received by stockholders, per share of Stock pursuant to a Sale Event.

"Section 409A" means Section 409A of the Code and the regulations and other guidance promulgated thereunder.

"Stock" means the Common Stock, par value $0.01 per share, of the Company, subject to adjustments pursuant to Section 3.

"Stock Appreciation Right" means an Award entitling the recipient to receive shares of Stock having a value equal to the excess of the Fair Market Value of the Stock on the date of exercise over the exercise price of the Stock Appreciation Right multiplied by the number of shares of Stock with respect to which the Stock Appreciation Right shall have been exercised.

"Subsidiary" means any corporation or other entity (other than the Company) in which the Company has at least a 50 percent interest, either directly or indirectly.

"Ten Percent Owner" means an employee who owns or is deemed to own (by reason of the attribution rules of Section 424(d) of the Code) more than 10 percent of the combined voting power of all classes of stock of the Company or any parent or subsidiary corporation.

"Unrestricted Stock Award" means an Award of shares of Stock free of any restrictions.

SECTION 2. ADMINISTRATION OF PLAN; ADMINISTRATOR AUTHORITY TO SELECT GRANTEES AND DETERMINE AWARDS

(a) Administration of Plan . The Plan shall be administered by the Administrator.

(b) Powers of Administrator . The Administrator shall have the power and authority to grant Awards consistent with the terms of the Plan, including the power and authority:

(i) to select the individuals to whom Awards may from time to time be granted;

(ii) to determine the time or times of grant, and the extent, if any, of Incentive Stock Options, Non-Qualified Stock Options, Stock Appreciation Rights, Restricted Stock Awards, Restricted Stock Units, Unrestricted Stock Awards, Cash-Based Awards, Performance Share Awards and Dividend Equivalent Rights, or any combination of the foregoing, granted to any one or more grantees;

(iii) to determine the number of shares of Stock to be covered by any Award;

(iv) to determine and modify from time to time the terms and conditions, including restrictions, not inconsistent with the terms of the Plan, of any Award, which terms and conditions may differ among individual Awards and grantees, and to approve the forms of Award Certificates;

(v) to accelerate at any time the exercisability or vesting of all or any portion of any Award in circumstances involving the grantee's death, disability, retirement or termination of employment, or a change in control (including a Sale Event);

(vi) subject to the provisions of Section 5(c), to extend at any time the period in which Stock Options may be exercised; and

(vii) at any time to adopt, alter and repeal such rules, guidelines and practices for administration of the Plan and for its own acts and proceedings as it shall deem advisable; to interpret the terms and provisions of the Plan and any Award (including related written instruments); to make all determinations it deems advisable for the administration of the Plan; to decide all disputes arising in connection with the Plan; and to otherwise supervise the administration of the Plan.

All decisions and interpretations of the Administrator shall be binding on all persons, including the Company and Plan grantees.

(c) Delegation of Authority to Grant Awards . Subject to applicable law, the Administrator, in its discretion, may delegate to the Chief Executive Officer of the Company all or part of the Administrator's authority and duties with respect to the granting of Awards to individuals who are (i) not subject to the reporting and other provisions of Section 16 of the Exchange Act and (ii) not Covered Employees. Any such delegation by the Administrator shall include a limitation as to the amount of Stock underlying Awards that may be granted during the period of the delegation and shall contain guidelines as to the determination of the exercise price and the vesting criteria. The Administrator may revoke or amend the terms of a delegation at any time but such action shall not invalidate any prior actions of the Administrator's delegate or delegates that were consistent with the terms of the Plan.

(d) Award Certificate . Awards under the Plan shall be evidenced by Award Certificates that set forth the terms, conditions and limitations for each Award which may include, without limitation, the term of an Award and the provisions applicable in the event employment or service terminates.

(e) Indemnification . Neither the Board nor the Administrator, nor any member of either or any delegate thereof, shall be liable for any act, omission, interpretation, construction or determination made in good faith in connection with the Plan, and the members of the Board and the Administrator (and any delegate thereof) shall be entitled in all cases to indemnification and reimbursement by the Company in respect of any claim, loss, damage or expense (including, without limitation, reasonable attorneys' fees) arising or resulting therefrom to the fullest extent permitted by law and/or under the Company's articles or bylaws or any directors' and officers' liability insurance coverage which may be in effect from time to time and/or any indemnification agreement between such individual and the Company.

(f) Foreign Award Recipients . Notwithstanding any provision of the Plan to the contrary, in order to comply with the laws in other countries in which the Company and its Subsidiaries operate or have employees or other individuals eligible for Awards, the Administrator, in its sole discretion, shall have the power and authority to: (i) determine which Subsidiaries shall be covered by the Plan; (ii) determine which individuals outside the United States are eligible to participate in the Plan; (iii) modify the terms and conditions of any Award granted to individuals outside the United States to comply with applicable foreign laws; (iv) establish subplans and modify exercise procedures and other terms and procedures, to the extent the Administrator determines such actions to be necessary or advisable (and such subplans and/or modifications shall be attached to this Plan as appendices); provided, however, that no such subplans and/or modifications shall increase the share limitations contained in Section 3(a) hereof; and (v) take any action, before or after an Award is made, that the Administrator determines to be necessary or advisable to obtain approval or comply with any local governmental regulatory exemptions or approvals. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Administrator may not take any actions hereunder, and no Awards shall be granted, that would violate the Exchange Act or any other applicable United States securities law, the Code, or any other applicable United States governing statute or law.

SECTION 3. STOCK ISSUABLE UNDER THE PLAN; MERGERS; SUBSTITUTION

(a) Stock Issuable . The maximum number of shares of Stock reserved and available for issuance under the Plan shall be the sum of (i) 17,547.31 shares (the "Initial Limit"), subject to adjustment as provided in Section 3(c), (ii) the number of shares of Stock that remain available for grants under the Company's 2008 Stock Option and Grant Plan, as amended (the "2008 Plan") immediately prior to the Effective Date and (iii) on January 1, 2016 and each January 1 thereafter, the number of shares of Stock reserved and available for issuance under the Plan shall be cumulatively increased by four percent of the number of shares of Stock issued and outstanding on the immediately preceding December 31 or such lesser number of shares as determined by the Administrator in its sole discretion (the "Annual Increase"), subject, in each case, to adjustment as provided in Section 3(c). Subject to such overall limitation, the maximum aggregate number of shares of Stock that may be issued in the form of Incentive Stock Options shall not exceed the Initial Limit cumulatively increased on January 1, 2016 and on each January 1 thereafter by the lesser of the Annual Increase for such year or 10,000 shares of Stock, subject in all cases to adjustment as provided in Section 3(c). For purposes of this limitation, the shares of Stock underlying any Awards that are forfeited, canceled, held back upon exercise of an Option or settlement of an Award to cover the exercise price or tax withholding, reacquired by the Company prior to vesting, satisfied without the issuance of Stock or otherwise terminated (other than by exercise) shall be added back to the shares of Stock available for issuance under the Plan. In the event the Company repurchases shares of Stock on the open market, such shares shall not be added to the shares of Stock available for issuance under the Plan. Subject to such overall limitations, shares of Stock may be issued up to such maximum number pursuant to any type or types of Award; provided, however, that Stock Options or Stock Appreciation Rights with respect to no more than 5,000 shares of Stock may be granted to any one individual grantee during any one calendar year period (subject to adjustment as provided in Section 3(c)). The shares available for issuance under the Plan may be authorized but unissued shares of Stock or shares of Stock reacquired by the Company.

(b) Maximum Awards to Non-Employee Directors . Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Plan, the value of all Awards awarded under this Plan and all other cash compensation paid by the Company to any Non-Employee Director in any calendar year shall not exceed $750,000. For the purpose of this limitation, the value of any Award shall be its grant date fair value, as determined in accordance with ASC 718 or successor provision but excluding the impact of estimated forfeitures related to service-based vesting provisions.

(c) Changes in Stock . Subject to Section 3(d) hereof, if, as a result of any reorganization, recapitalization, reclassification, stock dividend, stock split, reverse stock split or other similar change in the Company's capital stock, the outstanding shares of Stock are increased or decreased or are exchanged for a different number or kind of shares or other securities of the Company, or additional shares or new or different shares or other securities of the Company or other non-cash assets are distributed with respect to such shares of Stock or other securities, or, if, as a result of any merger or consolidation, sale of all or substantially all of the assets of the Company, the outstanding shares of Stock are converted into or exchanged for securities of the Company or any successor entity (or a parent or subsidiary thereof), the Administrator shall make an appropriate or proportionate adjustment in (i) the maximum number of shares reserved for issuance under the Plan, including the amount of the Annual Increase and the maximum number of shares that may be issued in the form of Incentive Stock Options, (ii) the number of Stock Options or Stock Appreciation Rights that can be granted to any one individual grantee and the maximum number of shares that may be granted under a Performance-Based Award, (iii) the number and kind of shares or other securities subject to any then outstanding Awards under the Plan, (iv) the repurchase price, if any, per share subject to each outstanding Restricted Stock Award, and (v) the exercise price for each share subject to any then outstanding Stock Options and Stock Appreciation Rights under the Plan, without changing the aggregate exercise price (i.e., the exercise price multiplied by the number of Stock Options and Stock Appreciation Rights) as to which such Stock Options and Stock Appreciation Rights remain exercisable. The Administrator shall also make equitable or proportionate adjustments in the number of shares subject to outstanding Awards and the exercise price and the terms of outstanding Awards to take into consideration cash dividends paid other than in the ordinary course or any other extraordinary corporate event. The adjustment by the Administrator shall be final, binding and conclusive. No fractional shares of Stock shall be issued under the Plan resulting from any such adjustment, but the Administrator in its discretion may make a cash payment in lieu of fractional shares.

(d) Mergers and Other Transactions . Except as the Administrator may otherwise specify with respect to particular Awards in the relevant Award Certificate, in the case of and subject to the consummation of a Sale Event, the parties thereto may cause the assumption or continuation of Awards theretofore granted by the successor entity, or the substitution of such Awards with new Awards of the successor entity or parent thereof, with appropriate adjustment as to the number and kind of shares and, if appropriate, the per share exercise prices, as such parties shall agree. To the extent the parties to such Sale Event do not provide for the assumption, continuation or substitution of Awards, upon the effective time of the Sale Event, the Plan and all outstanding Awards granted hereunder shall terminate. In the event of such termination, (i) the Company shall have the option (in its sole discretion) to make or provide for a cash payment to the grantees holding Options and Stock Appreciation Rights, in exchange for the cancellation thereof, in an amount equal to the difference between (A) the Sale Price multiplied by the number of shares of Stock subject to outstanding Options and Stock Appreciation Rights (to the extent then exercisable at prices not in excess of the Sale Price) and (B) the aggregate exercise price of all such outstanding Options and Stock Appreciation Rights; or (ii) each grantee shall be permitted, within a specified period of time prior to the consummation of the Sale Event as determined by the Administrator, to exercise all outstanding Options and Stock Appreciation Rights (to the extent then exercisable) held by such grantee. The Company shall also have the option (in its sole discretion) to make or provide for a payment, in cash or in kind, to the grantees holding other Awards in an amount equal to the Sale Price multiplied by the number of vested shares of Stock under such Awards.

SECTION 4. ELIGIBILITY

Grantees under the Plan will be such full or part-time officers and other employees, Non-Employee Directors and Consultants of the Company and its Subsidiaries as are selected from time to time by the Administrator in its sole discretion.

SECTION 5. STOCK OPTIONS

(a) Award of Stock Options . The Administrator may grant Stock Options under the Plan. Any Stock Option granted under the Plan shall be in such form as the Administrator may from time to time approve.

Stock Options granted under the Plan may be either Incentive Stock Options or Non-Qualified Stock Options. Incentive Stock Options may be granted only to employees of the Company or any Subsidiary that is a "subsidiary corporation" within the meaning of Section 424(f) of the Code. To the extent that any Option does not qualify as an Incentive Stock Option, it shall be deemed a Non-Qualified Stock Option.

Stock Options granted pursuant to this Section 5 shall be subject to the following terms and conditions and shall contain such additional terms and conditions, not inconsistent with the terms of the Plan, as the Administrator shall deem desirable. If the Administrator so determines, Stock Options may be granted in lieu of cash compensation at the optionee's election, subject to such terms and conditions as the Administrator may establish.

(b) Exercise Price . The exercise price per share for the Stock covered by a Stock Option granted pursuant to this Section 5 shall be determined by the Administrator at the time of grant but shall not be less than 100 percent of the Fair Market Value on the date of grant. In the case of an Incentive Stock Option that is granted to a Ten Percent Owner, the option price of such Incentive Stock Option shall be not less than 110 percent of the Fair Market Value on the grant date.

(c) Option Term . The term of each Stock Option shall be fixed by the Administrator, but no Stock Option shall be exercisable more than ten years after the date the Stock Option is granted. In the case of an Incentive Stock Option that is granted to a Ten Percent Owner, the term of such Stock Option shall be no more than five years from the date of grant.

(d) Exercisability; Rights of a Stockholder . Stock Options shall become exercisable at such time or times, whether or not in installments, as shall be determined by the Administrator at or after the grant date. The Administrator may at any time accelerate the exercisability of all or any portion of any Stock Option. An optionee shall have the rights of a stockholder only as to shares acquired upon the exercise of a Stock Option and not as to unexercised Stock Options.

(e) Method of Exercise . Stock Options may be exercised in whole or in part, by giving written or electronic notice of exercise to the Company, specifying the number of shares to be purchased. Payment of the purchase price may be made by one or more of the following methods except to the extent otherwise provided in the Option Award Certificate:

(i) In cash, by certified or bank check or other instrument acceptable to the Administrator;

(ii) Through the delivery (or attestation to the ownership following such procedures as the Company may prescribe) of shares of Stock that are not then subject to restrictions under any Company plan. Such surrendered shares shall be valued at Fair Market Value on the exercise date;

(iii) By the optionee delivering to the Company a properly executed exercise notice together with irrevocable instructions to a broker to promptly deliver to the Company cash or a check payable and acceptable to the Company for the purchase price; provided that in the event the optionee chooses to pay the purchase price as so provided, the optionee and the broker shall comply with such procedures and enter into such agreements of indemnity and other agreements as the Company shall prescribe as a condition of such payment procedure; or

(iv) With respect to Stock Options that are not Incentive Stock Options, by a “net exercise” arrangement pursuant to which the Company will reduce the number of shares of Stock issuable upon exercise by the largest whole number of shares with a Fair Market Value that does not exceed the aggregate exercise price.

Payment instruments will be received subject to collection. The transfer to the optionee on the records of the Company or of the transfer agent of the shares of Stock to be purchased pursuant to the exercise of a Stock Option will be contingent upon receipt from the optionee (or a purchaser acting in his stead in accordance with the provisions of the Stock Option) by the Company of the full purchase price for such shares and the fulfillment of any other requirements contained in the Option Award Certificate or applicable provisions of laws (including the satisfaction of any withholding taxes that the Company is obligated to withhold with respect to the optionee). In the event an optionee chooses to pay the purchase price by previously-owned shares of Stock through the attestation method, the number of shares of Stock transferred to the optionee upon the exercise of the Stock Option shall be net of the number of attested shares. In the event that the Company establishes, for itself or using the services of a third party, an automated system for the exercise of Stock Options, such as a system using an internet website or interactive voice response, then the paperless exercise of Stock Options may be permitted through the use of such an automated system.

(f) Annual Limit on Incentive Stock Options . To the extent required for “incentive stock option” treatment under Section 422 of the Code, the aggregate Fair Market Value (determined as of the time of grant) of the shares of Stock with respect to which Incentive Stock Options granted under this Plan and any other plan of the Company or its parent and subsidiary corporations become exercisable for the first time by an optionee during any calendar year shall not exceed $100,000. To the extent that any Stock Option exceeds this limit, it shall constitute a Non-Qualified Stock Option.

SECTION 6. STOCK APPRECIATION RIGHTS

(a) Award of Stock Appreciation Rights . The Administrator may grant Stock Appreciation Rights under the Plan. A Stock Appreciation Right is an Award entitling the recipient to receive shares of Stock having a value equal to the excess of the Fair Market Value of a share of Stock on the date of exercise over the exercise price of the Stock Appreciation Right multiplied by the number of shares of Stock with respect to which the Stock Appreciation Right shall have been exercised.

(b) Exercise Price of Stock Appreciation Rights . The exercise price of a Stock Appreciation Right shall not be less than 100 percent of the Fair Market Value of the Stock on the date of grant.

(c) Grant and Exercise of Stock Appreciation Rights . Stock Appreciation Rights may be granted by the Administrator independently of any Stock Option granted pursuant to Section 5 of the Plan.

(d) Terms and Conditions of Stock Appreciation Rights . Stock Appreciation Rights shall be subject to such terms and conditions as shall be determined from time to time by the Administrator. The term of a Stock Appreciation Right may not exceed ten years.

SECTION 7. RESTRICTED STOCK AWARDS

(a) Nature of Restricted Stock Awards . The Administrator may grant Restricted Stock Awards under the Plan. A Restricted Stock Award is any Award of Restricted Shares subject to such restrictions and conditions as the Administrator may determine at the time of grant. Conditions may be based on continuing employment (or other service relationship) and/or achievement of pre-established performance goals and objectives. The terms and conditions of each such Award Certificate shall be determined by the Administrator, and such terms and conditions may differ among individual Awards and grantees.

(b) Rights as a Stockholder . Upon the grant of the Restricted Stock Award and payment of any applicable purchase price, a grantee shall have the rights of a stockholder with respect to the voting of the Restricted Shares and receipt of dividends; provided that if the lapse of restrictions with respect to the Restricted Stock Award is tied to the attainment of performance goals, any dividends paid by the Company during the performance period shall accrue and shall not be paid to the grantee until and to the extent the performance goals are met with respect to the Restricted Stock Award. Unless the Administrator shall otherwise determine, (i) uncertificated Restricted Shares shall be accompanied by a notation on the records of the Company or the transfer agent to the effect that they are subject to forfeiture until such Restricted Shares are vested as provided in Section 7(d) below, and (ii) certificated Restricted Shares shall remain in the possession of the Company until such Restricted Shares are vested as provided in Section 7(d) below, and the grantee shall be required, as a condition of the grant, to deliver to the Company such instruments of transfer as the Administrator may prescribe.

(c) Restrictions . Restricted Shares may not be sold, assigned, transferred, pledged or otherwise encumbered or disposed of except as specifically provided herein or in the Restricted Stock Award Certificate. Except as may otherwise be provided by the Administrator either in the Award Certificate or, subject to Section 18 below, in writing after the Award is issued, if a grantee's employment (or other service relationship) with the Company and its Subsidiaries terminates for any reason, any Restricted Shares that have not vested at the time of termination shall automatically and without any requirement of notice to such grantee from or other action by or on behalf of, the Company be deemed to have been reacquired by the Company at its original purchase price (if any) from such grantee or such grantee's legal representative simultaneously with such termination of employment (or other service relationship), and thereafter shall cease to represent any ownership of the Company by the grantee or rights of the grantee as a stockholder. Following such deemed reacquisition of Restricted Shares that are represented by physical certificates, a grantee shall surrender such certificates to the Company upon request without consideration.

(d) Vesting of Restricted Shares . The Administrator at the time of grant shall specify the date or dates and/or the attainment of pre-established performance goals, objectives and other conditions on which the non-transferability of the Restricted Shares and the Company's right of repurchase or forfeiture shall lapse. Subsequent to such date or dates and/or the attainment of such pre-established performance goals, objectives and other conditions, the shares on which all restrictions have lapsed shall no longer be Restricted Shares and shall be deemed "vested."

SECTION 8. RESTRICTED STOCK UNITS

(a) Nature of Restricted Stock Units . The Administrator may grant Restricted Stock Units under the Plan. A Restricted Stock Unit is an Award of stock units that may be settled in shares of Stock upon the satisfaction of such restrictions and conditions at the time of grant. Conditions may be based on continuing employment (or other service relationship) and/or achievement of pre-established performance goals and objectives. The terms and conditions of each such Award Certificate shall be determined by the Administrator, and such terms and conditions may differ among individual Awards and grantees. Except in the case of Restricted Stock Units with a deferred settlement date that complies with Section 409A, at the end of the vesting period, the Restricted Stock Units, to the extent vested, shall be settled in the form of shares of Stock. Restricted Stock Units with deferred settlement dates are subject to Section 409A and shall contain such additional terms and conditions as the Administrator shall determine in its sole discretion in order to comply with the requirements of Section 409A.

(b) Election to Receive Restricted Stock Units in Lieu of Compensation . The Administrator may, in its sole discretion, permit a grantee to elect to receive a portion of future cash compensation otherwise due to such grantee in the form of an award of Restricted Stock Units. Any such election shall be made in writing and shall be delivered to the Company no later than the date specified by the Administrator and in accordance with Section 409A and such other rules and procedures established by the Administrator. Any such future cash compensation that the grantee elects to defer shall be converted to a fixed number of Restricted Stock Units based on the Fair Market Value of Stock on the date the compensation would otherwise have been paid to the grantee if such payment had not been deferred as provided herein. The Administrator shall have the sole right to determine whether and under what circumstances to permit such elections and to impose such limitations and other terms and conditions thereon as the Administrator deems appropriate. Any Restricted Stock Units that are elected to be received in lieu of cash compensation shall be fully vested, unless otherwise provided in the Award Certificate.

(c) Rights as a Stockholder . A grantee shall have the rights as a stockholder only as to shares of Stock acquired by the grantee upon settlement of Restricted Stock Units; provided, however, that the grantee may be credited with Dividend Equivalent Rights with respect to the stock units underlying his Restricted Stock Units, subject to the provisions of Section 11 and such terms and conditions as the Administrator may determine.

(d) Termination . Except as may otherwise be provided by the Administrator either in the Award Certificate or, subject to Section 18 below, in writing after the Award is issued, a grantee's right in all Restricted Stock Units that have not vested shall automatically terminate upon the grantee's termination of employment (or cessation of service relationship) with the Company and its Subsidiaries for any reason.

SECTION 9. UNRESTRICTED STOCK AWARDS

Grant or Sale of Unrestricted Stock . The Administrator may grant (or sell at par value or such higher purchase price determined by the Administrator) an Unrestricted Stock Award under the Plan. An Unrestricted Stock Award is an Award pursuant to which the grantee may receive shares of Stock free of any restrictions under the Plan. Unrestricted Stock Awards may be granted in respect of past services or other valid consideration, or in lieu of cash compensation due to such grantee.

SECTION 10. CASH-BASED AWARDS

Grant of Cash-Based Awards . The Administrator may grant Cash-Based Awards under the Plan. A Cash-Based Award is an Award that entitles the grantee to a payment in cash upon the attainment of specified Performance Goals. The Administrator shall determine the maximum duration of the Cash-Based Award, the amount of cash to which the Cash-Based Award pertains, the conditions upon which the Cash-Based Award shall become vested or payable, and such other provisions as the Administrator shall determine. Each Cash-Based Award shall specify a cash-denominated payment amount, formula or payment ranges as determined by the Administrator. Payment, if any, with respect to a Cash-Based Award shall be made in accordance with the terms of the Award and may be made in cash.

SECTION 11. PERFORMANCE SHARE AWARDS

(a) Nature of Performance Share Awards . The Administrator may grant Performance Share Awards under the Plan. A Performance Share Award is an Award entitling the grantee to receive shares of Stock upon the attainment of performance goals. The Administrator shall determine whether and to whom Performance Share Awards shall be granted, the performance goals, the periods during which performance is to be measured, which may not be less than one year except in the case of a Sale Event, and such other limitations and conditions as the Administrator shall determine.

(b) Rights as a Stockholder . A grantee receiving a Performance Share Award shall have the rights of a stockholder only as to shares of Stock actually received by the grantee under the Plan and not with respect to shares subject to the Award but not actually received by the grantee. A grantee shall be entitled to receive shares of Stock under a Performance Share Award only upon satisfaction of all conditions specified in the Performance Share Award Certificate (or in a performance plan adopted by the Administrator).

(c) Termination . Except as may otherwise be provided by the Administrator either in the Award agreement or, subject to Section 18 below, in writing after the Award is issued, a grantee's rights in all Performance Share Awards shall automatically terminate upon the grantee's termination of employment (or cessation of service relationship) with the Company and its Subsidiaries for any reason.

SECTION 12. PERFORMANCE-BASED AWARDS TO COVERED EMPLOYEES

(a) Performance-Based Awards . The Administrator may grant one or more Performance-Based Awards in the form of a Restricted Stock Award, Restricted Stock Units, Performance Share Awards or Cash-Based Award payable upon the attainment of Performance Goals that are established by the Administrator and relate to one or more of the Performance Criteria, in each case on a specified date or dates or over any period or periods determined by the Administrator. The Administrator shall define in an objective fashion the manner of calculating the Performance Criteria it selects to use for any Performance Cycle. Depending on the Performance Criteria used to establish such Performance Goals, the Performance Goals may be expressed in terms of overall Company performance or the performance of a division, business unit, or an individual. Each Performance-Based Award shall comply with the provisions set forth below.

(b) Grant of Performance-Based Awards . With respect to each Performance-Based Award granted to a Covered Employee, the Administrator shall select, within the first 90 days of a Performance Cycle (or, if shorter, within the maximum period allowed under Section 162(m) of the Code) the Performance Criteria for such grant, and the Performance Goals with respect to each Performance Criterion (including a threshold level of performance below which no amount will become payable with respect to such Award). Each Performance-Based Award will specify the amount payable, or the formula for determining the amount payable, upon achievement of the various applicable performance targets. The Performance Criteria established by the Administrator may be (but need not be) different for each Performance Cycle and different Performance Goals may be applicable to Performance-Based Awards to different Covered Employees.

(c) Payment of Performance-Based Awards . Following the completion of a Performance Cycle, the Administrator shall meet to review and certify in writing whether, and to what extent, the Performance Goals for the Performance Cycle have been achieved and, if so, to also calculate and certify in writing the amount of the Performance-Based Awards earned for the Performance Cycle. The Administrator shall then determine the actual size of each Covered Employee's Performance-Based Award.

(d) Maximum Award Payable . The maximum Performance-Based Award payable to any one Covered Employee under the Plan for a Performance Cycle is 5,000 shares of Stock (subject to adjustment as provided in Section 3(c) hereof) or $10,000,000 in the case of a Performance-Based Award that is a Cash-Based Award.

SECTION 13. DIVIDEND EQUIVALENT RIGHTS

(a) Dividend Equivalent Rights . The Administrator may grant Dividend Equivalent Rights under the Plan. A Dividend Equivalent Right is an Award entitling the grantee to receive credits based on cash dividends that would have been paid on the shares of Stock specified in the Dividend Equivalent Right (or other Award to which it relates) if such shares had been issued to the grantee. A Dividend Equivalent Right may be granted hereunder to any grantee as a component of an award of Restricted Stock Units, or Performance Share Award or as a freestanding award. The terms and conditions of Dividend Equivalent Rights shall be specified in the Award Certificate. Dividend equivalents credited to the holder of a Dividend Equivalent Right may be paid currently or may be deemed to be reinvested in additional shares of Stock, which may thereafter accrue additional equivalents. Any such reinvestment shall be at Fair Market Value on the date of reinvestment or such other price as may then apply under a dividend reinvestment plan sponsored by the Company, if any. Dividend Equivalent Rights may be settled in cash or shares of Stock or a combination thereof, in a single installment or installments. A Dividend Equivalent Right granted as a component of an Award of Restricted Stock Units or Performance Share Award shall provide that such Dividend Equivalent Right shall be settled only upon settlement or payment of, or lapse of restrictions on, such other Award, and that such Dividend Equivalent Right shall expire or be forfeited or annulled under the same conditions as such other Award.

(b) Termination . Except as may otherwise be provided by the Administrator either in the Award Certificate or, subject to Section 18 below, in writing after the Award is issued, a grantee's rights in all Dividend Equivalent Rights shall automatically terminate upon the grantee's termination of employment (or cessation of service relationship) with the Company and its Subsidiaries for any reason.

SECTION 14. TRANSFERABILITY OF AWARDS

(a) Transferability . Except as provided in Section 14(b) below, during a grantee's lifetime, his or her Awards shall be exercisable only by the grantee, or by the grantee's legal representative or guardian in the event of the grantee's incapacity. No Awards shall be sold, assigned, transferred or otherwise encumbered or disposed of by a grantee other than by will or by the laws of descent and distribution or pursuant to a domestic relations order. No Awards shall be subject, in whole or in part, to attachment, execution, or levy of any kind, and any purported transfer in violation hereof shall be null and void.

(b) Administrator Action . Notwithstanding Section 14(a), the Administrator, in its discretion, may provide either in the Award Certificate regarding a given Award or by subsequent written approval that the grantee (who is an employee or director) may transfer his or her Non-Qualified Options to his or her immediate family members, to trusts for the benefit of such family members, or to partnerships in which such family members are the only partners, provided that the transferee agrees in writing with the Company to be bound by all of the terms and conditions of this Plan and the applicable Award. In no event may an Award be transferred by a grantee for value.

(c) Family Member . For purposes of Section 14(b), "family member" shall mean a grantee's child, stepchild, grandchild, parent, stepparent, grandparent, spouse, former spouse, sibling, niece, nephew, mother-in-law, father-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, brother-in-law, or sister-in-law, including adoptive relationships, any person sharing the grantee's household (other than a tenant of the grantee), a trust in which these persons (or the grantee) have more than 50 percent of the beneficial interest, a foundation in which these persons (or the grantee) control the management of assets, and any other entity in which these persons (or the grantee) own more than 50 percent of the voting interests.

(d) Designation of Beneficiary . To the extent permitted by the Company, each grantee to whom an Award has been made under the Plan may designate a beneficiary or beneficiaries to exercise any Award or receive any payment under any Award payable on or after the grantee's death. Any such designation shall be on a form provided for that purpose by the Administrator and shall not be effective until received by the Administrator. If no beneficiary has been designated by a deceased grantee, or if the designated beneficiaries have predeceased the grantee, the beneficiary shall be the grantee's estate.

SECTION 15. TAX WITHHOLDING

(a) Payment by Grantee . Each grantee shall, no later than the date as of which the value of an Award or of any Stock or other amounts received thereunder first becomes includable in the gross income of the grantee for Federal income tax purposes, pay to the Company, or make arrangements satisfactory to the Administrator regarding payment of, any Federal, state, or local taxes of any kind required by law to be withheld by the Company with respect to such income. The Company and its Subsidiaries shall, to the extent permitted by law, have the right to deduct any such taxes from any payment of any kind otherwise due to the grantee. The Company's obligation to deliver evidence of book entry (or stock certificates) to any grantee is subject to and conditioned on tax withholding obligations being satisfied by the grantee.

(b) Payment in Stock . Subject to approval by the Administrator, a grantee may elect to have the Company's minimum required tax withholding obligation satisfied, in whole or in part, by authorizing the Company to withhold from shares of Stock to be issued pursuant to any Award a number of shares with an aggregate Fair Market Value (as of the date the withholding is effected) that would satisfy the withholding amount due. The Administrator may also require Awards to be subject to mandatory share withholding up to the required withholding amount. For purposes of share withholding, the Fair Market Value of withheld shares shall be determined in the same manner as the value of Stock includible in income of the Participants.

To the extent that any Award is determined to constitute "nonqualified deferred compensation" within the meaning of Section 409A (a "409A Award"), the Award shall be subject to such additional rules and requirements as specified by the Administrator from time to time in order to comply with Section 409A. In this regard, if any amount under a 409A Award is payable upon a "separation from service" (within the meaning of Section 409A) to a grantee who is then considered a "specified employee" (within the meaning of Section 409A), then no such payment shall be made prior to the date that is the earlier of (i) six months and one day after the grantee's separation from service, or (ii) the grantee's death, but only to the extent such delay is necessary to prevent such payment from being subject to interest, penalties and/or additional tax imposed pursuant to Section 409A. Further, the settlement of any such Award may not be accelerated except to the extent permitted by Section 409A.

SECTION 17. TERMINATION OF EMPLOYMENT, TRANSFER, LEAVE OF ABSENCE, ETC.

(a) Termination of Employment . If the grantee's employer ceases to be a Subsidiary, the grantee shall be deemed to have terminated employment for purposes of the Plan.

(b) For purposes of the Plan, the following events shall not be deemed a termination of employment:

(i) a transfer to the employment of the Company from a Subsidiary or from the Company to a Subsidiary, or from one Subsidiary to another; or

(ii) an approved leave of absence for military service or sickness, or for any other purpose approved by the Company, if the employee's right to re-employment is guaranteed either by a statute or by contract or under the policy pursuant to which the leave of absence was granted or if the Administrator otherwise so provides in writing.

SECTION 18. AMENDMENTS AND TERMINATION

The Board may, at any time, amend or discontinue the Plan and the Administrator may, at any time, amend or cancel any outstanding Award for the purpose of satisfying changes in law or for any other lawful purpose, but no such action shall adversely affect rights under any outstanding Award without the holder's consent. The Administrator is specifically authorized to exercise its discretion to reduce the exercise price of outstanding Stock Options or Stock Appreciation Rights or effect the repricing of such Awards through cancellation and re-grants. To the extent required under the rules of any securities exchange or market system on which the Stock is listed, to the extent determined by the Administrator to be required by the Code to ensure that Incentive Stock Options granted under the Plan are qualified under Section 422 of the Code, or to ensure that compensation earned under Awards qualifies as performance-based compensation under Section 162(m) of the Code, Plan amendments shall be subject to approval by the Company stockholders entitled to vote at a meeting of stockholders. Nothing in this Section 18 shall limit the Administrator's authority to take any action permitted pursuant to Section 3(c) or 3(d).

SECTION 19. STATUS OF PLAN

With respect to the portion of any Award that has not been exercised and any payments in cash, Stock or other consideration not received by a grantee, a grantee shall have no rights greater than those of a general creditor of the Company unless the Administrator shall otherwise expressly determine in connection with any Award or Awards. In its sole discretion, the Administrator may authorize the creation of trusts or other arrangements to meet the Company's obligations to deliver Stock or make payments with respect to Awards hereunder, provided that the existence of such trusts or other arrangements is consistent with the foregoing sentence.

SECTION 20. GENERAL PROVISIONS

(a) No Distribution . The Administrator may require each person acquiring Stock pursuant to an Award to represent to and agree with the Company in writing that such person is acquiring the shares without a view to distribution thereof.

(b) Delivery of Stock Certificates . Stock certificates to grantees under this Plan shall be deemed delivered for all purposes when the Company or a stock transfer agent of the Company shall have mailed such certificates in the United States mail, addressed to the grantee, at the grantee's last known address on file with the Company. Uncertificated Stock shall be deemed delivered for all purposes when the Company or a Stock transfer agent of the Company shall have given to the grantee by electronic mail (with proof of receipt) or by United States mail, addressed to the grantee, at the grantee's last known address on file with the Company, notice of issuance and recorded the issuance in its records (which may include electronic "book entry" records). Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, the Company shall not be required to issue or deliver any certificates evidencing shares of Stock pursuant to the exercise of any Award, unless and until the Administrator has determined, with advice of counsel (to the extent the Administrator deems such advice necessary or advisable), that the issuance and delivery of such certificates is in compliance with all applicable laws, regulations of governmental authorities and, if applicable, the requirements of any exchange on which the shares of Stock are listed, quoted or traded. All Stock certificates delivered pursuant to the Plan shall be subject to any stop-transfer orders and other restrictions as the Administrator deems necessary or advisable to comply with federal, state or foreign jurisdiction, securities or other laws, rules and quotation system on which the Stock is listed, quoted or traded. The Administrator may place legends on any Stock certificate to reference restrictions applicable to the Stock. In addition to the terms and conditions provided herein, the Administrator may require that an individual make such reasonable covenants, agreements, and representations as the Administrator, in its discretion, deems necessary or advisable in order to comply with any such laws, regulations, or requirements. The Administrator shall have the right to require any individual to comply with any timing or other restrictions with respect to the settlement or exercise of any Award, including a window-period limitation, as may be imposed in the discretion of the Administrator.

(c) Stockholder Rights . Until Stock is deemed delivered in accordance with Section 20(b), no right to vote or receive dividends or any other rights of a stockholder will exist with respect to shares of Stock to be issued in connection with an Award, notwithstanding the exercise of a Stock Option or any other action by the grantee with respect to an Award.

(d) Other Compensation Arrangements; No Employment Rights . Nothing contained in this Plan shall prevent the Board from adopting other or additional compensation arrangements, including trusts, and such arrangements may be either generally applicable or applicable only in specific cases. The adoption of this Plan and the grant of Awards do not confer upon any employee any right to continued employment with the Company or any Subsidiary.

(e) Trading Policy Restrictions . Option exercises and other Awards under the Plan shall be subject to the Company's insider trading policies and procedures, as in effect from time to time.

(f) Clawback Policy . Awards under the Plan shall be subject to the Company's clawback policy, as in effect from time to time.

SECTION 21. EFFECTIVE DATE OF PLAN

This Plan shall become effective upon stockholder approval in accordance with applicable state law, the Company's bylaws and articles of incorporation, and applicable stock exchange rules or pursuant to written consent. No grants of Stock Options and other Awards may be made hereunder after the tenth anniversary of the Effective Date and no grants of Incentive Stock Options may be made hereunder after the tenth anniversary of the date the Plan is approved by the Board.

SECTION 22. GOVERNING LAW

This Plan and all Awards and actions taken thereunder shall be governed by, and construed in accordance with, the laws of the State of Delaware, applied without regard to conflict of law principles.

2015 STOCK OPTION AND INCENTIVE PLAN

Name of Optionee:

No. of Option Shares:

Option Exercise Price per Share:

Grant Date: May 29, 2015

Expiration Date: May 29, 2025

Pursuant to the TPI Composites, Inc. 2015 Stock Option and Incentive Plan as amended through the date hereof (the "Plan"), TPI Composites, Inc. (the "Company") hereby grants to the Optionee named above an option (the "Stock Option") to purchase on or prior to the Expiration Date specified above all or part of the number of shares of Common Stock, par value $0.01 per share (the "Stock"), of the Company specified above at the Option Exercise Price per Share specified above subject to the terms and conditions set forth herein and in the Plan.

1. Exercisability Schedule . No portion of this Stock Option may be exercised until such portion shall have become exercisable. Except as set forth below, and subject to the discretion of the Administrator (as set forth in Section 2 of the Plan) to accelerate the exercisability schedule hereunder, this Stock Option shall be exercisable with respect to the following number of Option Shares (stated as a percentage of the total Option Shares) on the dates indicated so long as the Optionee remains an employee of the Company or a Subsidiary on such dates:

* Max. of $100,000 per yr.

 25% of the Option Shares shall vest on the first anniversary of the effective date of the Company's initial public offering of its common stock, and thereafter 6.25% of the Option Shares shall vest per quarter on each quarterly anniversary date for the ensuing 12 quarters until the 12th ensuing quarter whereby all remaining shares shall vest.

Once exercisable, this Stock Option shall continue to be exercisable at any time or times prior to the close of business on the Expiration Date, subject to the provisions hereof and of the Plan.

2. Manner of Exercise .

(a) The Optionee may exercise this Stock Option only in the following manner: from time to time on or prior to the Expiration Date of this Stock Option, the Optionee may give written notice to the Administrator of his or her election to purchase some or all of the Option Shares purchasable at the time of such notice. This notice shall specify the number of Option Shares to be purchased.

Payment of the purchase price for the Option Shares may be made by one or more of the following methods: (i) in cash, by certified or bank check or other instrument acceptable to the Administrator; (ii) through the delivery (or attestation to the ownership) of shares of Stock that have been purchased by the Optionee on the open market or that are beneficially owned by the Optionee and are not then subject to any restrictions under any Company plan and that otherwise satisfy any holding periods as may be required by the Administrator; or (iii) by the Optionee delivering to the Company a properly executed exercise notice together with irrevocable instructions to a broker to promptly deliver to the Company cash or a check payable and acceptable to the Company to pay the option purchase price, provided that in the event the Optionee chooses to pay the option purchase price as so provided, the Optionee and the broker shall comply with such procedures and enter into such agreements of indemnity and other agreements as the Administrator shall prescribe as a condition of such payment procedure; or (iv) a combination of (i), (ii) and (iii) above. Payment instruments will be received subject to collection.

The transfer to the Optionee on the records of the Company or of the transfer agent of the Option Shares will be contingent upon (i) the Company's receipt from the Optionee of the full purchase price for the Option Shares, as set forth above, (ii) the fulfillment of any other requirements contained herein or in the Plan or in any other agreement or provision of laws, and (iii) the receipt by the Company of any agreement, statement or other evidence that the Company may require to satisfy itself that the issuance of Stock to be purchased pursuant to the exercise of Stock Options under the Plan and any subsequent resale of the shares of Stock will be in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. In the event the Optionee chooses to pay the purchase price by previously-owned shares of Stock through the attestation method, the number of shares of Stock transferred to the Optionee upon the exercise of the Stock Option shall be net of the Shares attested to.

(b) The shares of Stock purchased upon exercise of this Stock Option shall be transferred to the Optionee on the records of the Company or of the transfer agent upon compliance to the satisfaction of the Administrator with all requirements under applicable laws or regulations in connection with such transfer and with the requirements hereof and of the Plan. The determination of the Administrator as to such compliance shall be final and binding on the Optionee. The Optionee shall not be deemed to be the holder of, or to have any of the rights of a holder with respect to, any shares of Stock subject to this Stock Option unless and until this Stock Option shall have been exercised pursuant to the terms hereof, the Company or the transfer agent shall have transferred the shares to the Optionee, and the Optionee's name shall have been entered as the stockholder of record on the books of the Company. Thereupon, the Optionee shall have full voting, dividend and other ownership rights with respect to such shares of Stock.

(c) Notwithstanding any other provision hereof or of the Plan, no portion of this Stock Option shall be exercisable after the Expiration Date hereof.

3. Termination of Employment . If the Optionee's employment by the Company or a Subsidiary (as defined in the Plan) is terminated, the period within which to exercise the Stock Option may be subject to earlier termination as set forth below.

(a) Termination Due to Death . If the Optionee's employment terminates by reason of the Optionee's death, any portion of this Stock Option outstanding on such date, to the extent exercisable on the date of death, may thereafter be exercised by the Optionee's legal representative or legatee for a period of 12 months from the date of death or until the Expiration Date, if earlier. Any portion of this Stock Option that is not exercisable on the date of death shall terminate immediately and be of no further force or effect.

(b) Termination Due to Disability . If the Optionee's employment terminates by reason of the Optionee's disability (as determined by the Administrator), any portion of this Stock Option outstanding on such date, to the extent exercisable on the date of such termination of employment, may thereafter be exercised by the Optionee for a period of 12 months from the date of disability or until the Expiration Date, if earlier. Any portion of this Stock Option that is not exercisable on the date of disability shall terminate immediately and be of no further force or effect.

(c) Termination for Cause . If the Optionee's employment terminates for Cause, any portion of this Stock Option outstanding on such date shall terminate immediately and be of no further force and effect. For purposes hereof, "Cause" shall mean, unless otherwise provided in an employment agreement between the Company and the Optionee, a determination by the Administrator that the Optionee shall be dismissed as a result of (i) conduct by the Optionee constituting a material act of misconduct in connection with the performance of Optionee's duties, including, without limitation, misappropriation of funds or property of the Company or any of its subsidiaries or affiliates other than the occasional, customary and de minimis use of Company property for personal purposes; (ii) the commission by the Optionee of any felony or a misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, deceit, dishonesty or fraud, or any conduct by the Optionee that would reasonably be expected to result in material injury or reputational harm to the Company or any of its subsidiaries and affiliates if Optionee was retained in Optionee's position; (iii) continued non-performance by the Optionee of Optionee's duties (other than by reason of the Optionee's disability) which has continued for more than 30 days following written notice of such non-performance from the Company; (iv) a material breach by the Optionee of any agreement between Optionee and the Company; (v) a material violation by the Optionee of the Company's written policies; or (vi) failure to cooperate with a bona fide internal investigation or an investigation by regulatory or law enforcement authorities, after being instructed by the Company to cooperate, or the willful destruction or failure to preserve documents or other materials known to be relevant to such investigation or the inducement of others to fail to cooperate or to produce documents or other materials in connection with such investigation.

(d) Other Termination . If the Optionee's employment terminates for any reason other than the Optionee's death, the Optionee's disability, or Cause, and unless otherwise determined by the Administrator, any portion of this Stock Option outstanding on such date may be exercised, to the extent exercisable on the date of termination, for a period of three months from the date of termination or until the Expiration Date, if earlier. Any portion of this Stock Option that is not exercisable on the date of termination shall terminate immediately and be of no further force or effect.

The Administrator's determination of the reason for termination of the Optionee's employment shall be conclusive and binding on the Optionee and his or her representatives or legatees.

4. Incorporation of Plan . Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, this Stock Option shall be subject to and governed by all the terms and conditions of the Plan, including the powers of the Administrator set forth in Section 2(b) of the Plan. Capitalized terms in this Agreement shall have the meaning specified in the Plan, unless a different meaning is specified herein.

5. Transferability . This Agreement is personal to the Optionee, is non-assignable and is not transferable in any manner, by operation of law or otherwise, other than by will or the laws of descent and distribution. This Stock Option is exercisable, during the Optionee's lifetime, only by the Optionee, and thereafter, only by the Optionee's legal representative or legatee.

6. Status of the Stock Option . This Stock Option is intended to qualify as an "incentive stock option" under Section 422 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"), but the Company does not represent or warrant that this Stock Option qualifies as such. The Optionee should consult with his or her own tax advisors regarding the tax effects of this Stock Option and the requirements necessary to obtain favorable income tax treatment under Section 422 of the Code, including, but not limited to, holding period requirements. To the extent any portion of this Stock Option does not so qualify as an "incentive stock option," such portion shall be deemed to be a non-qualified stock option. If the Optionee intends to dispose or does dispose (whether by sale, gift, transfer or otherwise) of any Option Shares within the one-year period beginning on the date after the transfer of such shares to him or her, or within the two-year period beginning on the day after the grant of this Stock Option, he or she will so notify the Company within 30 days after such disposition.

7. Tax Withholding . The Optionee shall, not later than the date as of which the exercise of this Stock Option becomes a taxable event for Federal income tax purposes, pay to the Company or make arrangements satisfactory to the Administrator for payment of any Federal, state, and local taxes required by law to be withheld on account of such taxable event. The Company shall have the authority to cause the minimum required tax withholding obligation to be satisfied, in whole or in part, by withholding from shares of Stock to be issued to the Optionee a number of shares of Stock with an aggregate Fair Market Value that would satisfy the minimum withholding amount due.

8. No Obligation to Continue Employment . Neither the Company nor any Subsidiary is obligated by or as a result of the Plan or this Agreement to continue the Optionee in employment and neither the Plan nor this Agreement shall interfere in any way with the right of the Company or any Subsidiary to terminate the employment of the Optionee at any time.

9. Integration . This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement between the parties with respect to this Stock Option and supersedes all prior agreements and discussions between the parties concerning such subject matter.

10. Data Privacy Consent . In order to administer the Plan and this Agreement and to implement or structure future equity grants, the Company, its subsidiaries and affiliates and certain agents thereof (together, the "Relevant Companies") may process any and all personal or professional data, including but not limited to Social Security or other identification number, home address and telephone number, date of birth and other information that is necessary or desirable for the administration of the Plan and/or this Agreement (the "Relevant Information"). By entering into this Agreement, the Optionee (i) authorizes the Company to collect, process, register and transfer to the Relevant Companies all Relevant Information; (ii) waives any privacy rights the Optionee may have with respect to the Relevant Information; (iii) authorizes the Relevant Companies to store and transmit such information in electronic form; and (iv) authorizes the transfer of the Relevant Information to any jurisdiction in which the Relevant Companies consider appropriate. The Optionee shall have access to, and the right to change, the Relevant Information. Relevant Information will only be used in accordance with applicable law

11. Notices . Notices hereunder shall be mailed or delivered to the Company at its principal place of business and shall be mailed or delivered to the Optionee at the address on file with the Company or, in either case, at such other address as one party may subsequently furnish to the other party in writing.

TPI COMPOSITES, INC.
2015 STOCK OPTION AND INCENTIVE PLAN

Name of Optionee:

No. of Option Shares:

Option Exercise Price per Share:

Grant Date: May 29, 2015

Expiration Date: May 29, 2025

Pursuant to the TPI Composites, Inc. 2015 Stock Option and Incentive Plan as amended through the date hereof (the "Plan"), TPI Composites, Inc. (the "Company") hereby grants to the Optionee named above an option (the "Stock Option") to purchase on or prior to the Expiration Date specified above all or part of the number of shares of Common Stock, par value $0.01 per share (the "Stock") of the Company specified above at the Option Exercise Price per Share specified above subject to the terms and conditions set forth herein and in the Plan. This Stock Option is not intended to be an "incentive stock option" under Section 422 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended.

1. Exercisability Schedule . No portion of this Stock Option may be exercised until such portion shall have become exercisable. Except as set forth below, and subject to the discretion of the Administrator (as set forth in Section 2 of the Plan) to accelerate the exercisability schedule hereunder, this Stock Option shall be exercisable with respect to the following number of Option Shares (stated as a percentage of the total Option Shares) on the dates indicated so long as Optionee remains an employee of the Company or a Subsidiary on such dates:

 25% of the Option Shares shall vest on the first anniversary of the effective date of the Company's initial public offering of its common stock, and thereafter 6.25% of the Option Shares shall vest per quarter on each quarterly anniversary date for the ensuing 12 quarters until the 12th ensuing quarter whereby all remaining shares shall vest.

Once exercisable, this Stock Option shall continue to be exercisable at any time or times prior to the close of business on the Expiration Date, subject to the provisions hereof and of the Plan.

2. Manner of Exercise .

(a) The Optionee may exercise this Stock Option only in the following manner: from time to time on or prior to the Expiration Date of this Stock Option, the Optionee may give written notice to the Administrator of his or her election to purchase some or all of the Option Shares purchasable at the time of such notice. This notice shall specify the number of Option Shares to be purchased.

Payment of the purchase price for the Option Shares may be made by one or more of the following methods: (i) in cash, by certified or bank check or other instrument acceptable to the Administrator; (ii) through the delivery (or attestation to the ownership) of shares of Stock that have been purchased by the Optionee on the open market or that are beneficially owned by the Optionee and are not then subject to any restrictions under any Company plan and that otherwise satisfy any holding periods as may be required by the Administrator; (iii) by the Optionee delivering to the Company a properly executed exercise notice together with irrevocable instructions to a broker to promptly deliver to the Company cash or a check payable and acceptable to the Company to pay the option purchase price, provided that in the event the Optionee chooses to pay the option purchase price as so provided, the Optionee and the broker shall comply with such procedures and enter into such agreements of indemnity and other agreements as the Administrator shall prescribe as a condition of such payment procedure; (iv) by a "net exercise" arrangement pursuant to which the Company will reduce the number of shares of Stock issuable upon exercise by the largest whole number of shares with a Fair Market Value that does not exceed the aggregate exercise price; or (v) a combination of (i), (ii), (iii) and (iv) above. Payment instruments will be received subject to collection.

The transfer to the Optionee on the records of the Company or of the transfer agent of the Option Shares will be contingent upon (i) the Company's receipt from the Optionee of the full purchase price for the Option Shares, as set forth above, (ii) the fulfillment of any other requirements contained herein or in the Plan or in any other agreement or provision of laws, and (iii) the receipt by the Company of any agreement, statement or other evidence that the Company may require to satisfy itself that the issuance of Stock to be purchased pursuant to the exercise of Stock Options under the Plan and any subsequent resale of the shares of Stock will be in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. In the event the Optionee chooses to pay the purchase price by previously-owned shares of Stock through the attestation method, the number of shares of Stock transferred to the Optionee upon the exercise of the Stock Option shall be net of the Shares attested to.

(b) The shares of Stock purchased upon exercise of this Stock Option shall be transferred to the Optionee on the records of the Company or of the transfer agent upon compliance to the satisfaction of the Administrator with all requirements under applicable laws or regulations in connection with such transfer and with the requirements hereof and of the Plan. The determination of the Administrator as to such compliance shall be final and binding on the Optionee. The Optionee shall not be deemed to be the holder of, or to have any of the rights of a holder with respect to, any shares of Stock subject to this Stock Option unless and until this Stock Option shall have been exercised pursuant to the terms hereof, the Company or the transfer agent shall have transferred the shares to the Optionee, and the Optionee's name shall have been entered as the stockholder of record on the books of the Company. Thereupon, the Optionee shall have full voting, dividend and other ownership rights with respect to such shares of Stock.

(c) Notwithstanding any other provision hereof or of the Plan, no portion of this Stock Option shall be exercisable after the Expiration Date hereof.

3. Termination of Employment . If the Optionee's employment by the Company or a Subsidiary (as defined in the Plan) is terminated, the period within which to exercise the Stock Option may be subject to earlier termination as set forth below.

(a) Termination Due to Death . If the Optionee's employment terminates by reason of the Optionee's death, any portion of this Stock Option outstanding on such date, to the extent exercisable on the date of death, may thereafter be exercised by the Optionee's legal representative or legatee for a period of 12 months from the date of death or until the Expiration Date, if earlier. Any portion of this Stock Option that is not exercisable on the date of death shall terminate immediately and be of no further force or effect.

(b) Termination Due to Disability . If the Optionee's employment terminates by reason of the Optionee's disability (as determined by the Administrator), any portion of this Stock Option outstanding on such date, to the extent exercisable on the date of such termination of employment, may thereafter be exercised by the Optionee for a period of 12 months from the date of disability or until the Expiration Date, if earlier. Any portion of this Stock Option that is not exercisable on the date of disability shall terminate immediately and be of no further force or effect.

(c) Termination for Cause . If the Optionee's employment terminates for Cause, any portion of this Stock Option outstanding on such date shall terminate immediately and be of no further force and effect. For purposes hereof, "Cause" shall mean, unless otherwise provided in an employment agreement between the Company and the Optionee, a determination by the Administrator that the Optionee shall be dismissed as a result of (i) conduct by the Optionee constituting a material act of misconduct in connection with the performance of Optionee's duties, including, without limitation, misappropriation of funds or property of the Company or any of its subsidiaries or affiliates other than the occasional, customary and de minimis use of Company property for personal purposes; (ii) the commission by the Optionee of any felony or a misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, deceit, dishonesty or fraud, or any conduct by the Optionee that would reasonably be expected to result in material injury or reputational harm to the Company or any of its subsidiaries and affiliates if Optionee was retained in Optionee's position; (iii) continued non-performance by the Optionee of Optionee's duties (other than by reason of the Optionee's disability) which has continued for more than 30 days following written notice of such non-performance from the Company; (iv) a material breach by the Optionee of any agreement between Optionee and the Company; (v) a material violation by the Optionee of the Company's written policies; or (vi) failure to cooperate with a bona fide internal investigation or an investigation by regulatory or law enforcement authorities, after being instructed by the Company to cooperate, or the willful destruction or failure to preserve documents or other materials known to be relevant to such investigation or the inducement of others to fail to cooperate or to produce documents or other materials in connection with such investigation.

(d) Other Termination . If the Optionee's employment terminates for any reason other than the Optionee's death, the Optionee's disability or Cause, and unless otherwise determined by the Administrator, any portion of this Stock Option outstanding on such date may be exercised, to the extent exercisable on the date of termination, for a period of three months from the date of termination or until the Expiration Date, if earlier. Any portion of this Stock Option that is not exercisable on the date of termination shall terminate immediately and be of no further force or effect.

The Administrator's determination of the reason for termination of the Optionee's employment shall be conclusive and binding on the Optionee and his or her representatives or legatees.

4. Incorporation of Plan . Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, this Stock Option shall be subject to and governed by all the terms and conditions of the Plan, including the powers of the Administrator set forth in Section 2(b) of the Plan. Capitalized terms in this Agreement shall have the meaning specified in the Plan, unless a different meaning is specified herein.

5. Transferability . This Agreement is personal to the Optionee, is non-assignable and is not transferable in any manner, by operation of law or otherwise, other than by will or the laws of descent and distribution. This Stock Option is exercisable, during the Optionee's lifetime, only by the Optionee, and thereafter, only by the Optionee's legal representative or legatee.

6. Tax Withholding . The Optionee shall, not later than the date as of which the exercise of this Stock Option becomes a taxable event for Federal income tax purposes, pay to the Company or make arrangements satisfactory to the Administrator for payment of any Federal, state, and local taxes required by law to be withheld on account of such taxable event. The Company shall have the authority to cause the minimum required tax withholding obligation to be satisfied, in whole or in part, by withholding from shares of Stock to be issued to the Optionee a number of shares of Stock with an aggregate Fair Market Value that would satisfy the minimum withholding amount due.

7. No Obligation to Continue Employment . Neither the Company nor any Subsidiary is obligated by or as a result of the Plan or this Agreement to continue the Optionee in employment and neither the Plan nor this Agreement shall interfere in any way with the right of the Company or any Subsidiary to terminate the employment of the Optionee at any time.

8. Integration . This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement between the parties with respect to this Stock Option and supersedes all prior agreements and discussions between the parties concerning such subject matter.

9. Data Privacy Consent . In order to administer the Plan and this Agreement and to implement or structure future equity grants, the Company, its subsidiaries and affiliates and certain agents thereof (together, the "Relevant Companies") may process any and all personal or professional data, including but not limited to Social Security or other identification number, home address and telephone number, date of birth and other information that is necessary or desirable for the administration of the Plan and/or this Agreement (the "Relevant Information"). By entering into this Agreement, the Optionee (i) authorizes the Company to collect, process, register and transfer to the Relevant Companies all Relevant Information; (ii) waives any privacy rights the Optionee may have with respect to the Relevant Information; (iii) authorizes the Relevant Companies to store and transmit such information in electronic form; and (iv) authorizes the transfer of the Relevant Information to any jurisdiction in which the Relevant Companies consider appropriate. The Optionee shall have access to, and the right to change, the Relevant Information. Relevant Information will only be used in accordance with applicable law.

10. Notices . Notices hereunder shall be mailed or delivered to the Company at its principal place of business and shall be mailed or delivered to the Optionee at the address on file with the Company or, in either case, at such other address as one party may subsequently furnish to the other party in writing.

Pursuant to the TPI Composites, Inc. 2015 Stock Option and Incentive Plan as amended through the date hereof (the "Plan"), TPI Composites, Inc. (the "Company") hereby grants to the Optionee named above, who is a Director of the Company but is not an employee of the Company, an option (the "Stock Option") to purchase on or prior to the Expiration Date specified above all or part of the number of shares of Common Stock, par value $0.01 per share (the "Stock"), of the Company specified above at the Option Exercise Price per Share specified above subject to the terms and conditions set forth herein and in the Plan. This Stock Option is not intended to be an "incentive stock option" under Section 422 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended.

1. Exercisability Schedule . No portion of this Stock Option may be exercised until such portion shall have become exercisable. Except as set forth below, and subject to the discretion of the Administrator (as set forth in Section 2 of the Plan) to accelerate the exercisability schedule hereunder, this Stock Option shall be exercisable with respect to the following number of Option Shares on the dates indicated so long as the Optionee remains in service as a member of the Board on such dates:

 25% of the Option Shares shall vest on the first anniversary of the effective date of the Company's initial public offering of its common stock, and thereafter 6.25% of the Option Shares shall vest per quarter on each quarterly anniversary date for the ensuing 12 quarters.

Once exercisable, this Stock Option shall continue to be exercisable at any time or times prior to the close of business on the Expiration Date, subject to the provisions hereof and of the Plan.

2. Manner of Exercise .

(a) The Optionee may exercise this Stock Option only in the following manner: from time to time on or prior to the Expiration Date of this Stock Option, the Optionee may give written notice to the Administrator of his or her election to purchase some or all of the Option Shares purchasable at the time of such notice. This notice shall specify the number of Option Shares to be purchased.

Payment of the purchase price for the Option Shares may be made by one or more of the following methods: (i) in cash, by certified or bank check or other instrument acceptable to the Administrator; (ii) through the delivery (or attestation to the ownership) of shares of Stock that have been purchased by the Optionee on the open market or that are beneficially owned by the Optionee and are not then subject to any restrictions under any Company plan and that otherwise satisfy any holding periods as may be required by the Administrator; (iii) by the Optionee delivering to the Company a properly executed exercise notice together with irrevocable instructions to a broker to promptly deliver to the Company cash or a check payable and acceptable to the Company to pay the option purchase price, provided that in the event the Optionee chooses to pay the option purchase price as so provided, the Optionee and the broker shall comply with such procedures and enter into such agreements of indemnity and other agreements as the Administrator shall prescribe as a condition of such payment procedure; (iv) by a "net exercise" arrangement pursuant to which the Company will reduce the number of shares of Stock issuable upon exercise by the largest whole number of shares with a Fair Market Value that does not exceed the aggregate exercise price; or (v) a combination of (i), (ii), (iii) and (iv) above. Payment instruments will be received subject to collection.

The transfer to the Optionee on the records of the Company or of the transfer agent of the Option Shares will be contingent upon (i) the Company's receipt from the Optionee of the full purchase price for the Option Shares, as set forth above, (ii) the fulfillment of any other requirements contained herein or in the Plan or in any other agreement or provision of laws, and (iii) the receipt by the Company of any agreement, statement or other evidence that the Company may require to satisfy itself that the issuance of Stock to be purchased pursuant to the exercise of Stock Options under the Plan and any subsequent resale of the shares of Stock will be in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. In the event the Optionee chooses to pay the purchase price by previously-owned shares of Stock through the attestation method, the number of shares of Stock transferred to the Optionee upon the exercise of the Stock Option shall be net of the Shares attested to.

(b) The shares of Stock purchased upon exercise of this Stock Option shall be transferred to the Optionee on the records of the Company or of the transfer agent upon compliance to the satisfaction of the Administrator with all requirements under applicable laws or regulations in connection with such transfer and with the requirements hereof and of the Plan. The determination of the Administrator as to such compliance shall be final and binding on the Optionee. The Optionee shall not be deemed to be the holder of, or to have any of the rights of a holder with respect to, any shares of Stock subject to this Stock Option unless and until this Stock Option shall have been exercised pursuant to the terms hereof, the Company or the transfer agent shall have transferred the shares to the Optionee, and the Optionee's name shall have been entered as the stockholder of record on the books of the Company. Thereupon, the Optionee shall have full voting, dividend and other ownership rights with respect to such shares of Stock.

(c) Notwithstanding any other provision hereof or of the Plan, no portion of this Stock Option shall be exercisable after the Expiration Date hereof.

3. Termination as Director . If the Optionee ceases to be a Director of the Company, the period within which to exercise the Stock Option may be subject to earlier termination as set forth below.

(a) Termination Due to Death . If the Optionee's service as a Director terminates by reason of the Optionee's death, any portion of this Stock Option outstanding on such date, to the extent exercisable on the date of death, may thereafter be exercised by the Optionee's legal representative or legatee for a period of 12 months from the date of death or until the Expiration Date, if earlier. Any portion of this Stock Option that is not exercisable on the date of death shall terminate immediately and be of no further force or effect.

(b) Other Termination . If the Optionee ceases to be a Director for any reason other than the Optionee's death, any portion of this Stock Option outstanding on such date may be exercised, to the extent exercisable on the date the Optionee ceased to be a Director, for a period of six months from the date the Optionee ceased to be a Director or until the Expiration Date, if earlier. Any portion of this Stock Option that is not exercisable on the date the Optionee ceases to be a Director shall terminate immediately and be of no further force or effect.

4. Incorporation of Plan . Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, this Stock Option shall be subject to and governed by all the terms and conditions of the Plan, including the powers of the Administrator set forth in Section 2(b) of the Plan. Capitalized terms in this Agreement shall have the meaning specified in the Plan, unless a different meaning is specified herein.

5. Transferability . This Agreement is personal to the Optionee, is non-assignable and is not transferable in any manner, by operation of law or otherwise, other than by will or the laws of descent and distribution. This Stock Option is exercisable, during the Optionee's lifetime, only by the Optionee, and thereafter, only by the Optionee's legal representative or legatee.

6. No Obligation to Continue as a Director . Neither the Plan nor this Stock Option confers upon the Optionee any rights with respect to continuance as a Director.

7. Integration . This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement between the parties with respect to this Stock Option and supersedes all prior agreements and discussions between the parties concerning such subject matter.

8. Data Privacy Consent . In order to administer the Plan and this Agreement and to implement or structure future equity grants, the Company, its subsidiaries and affiliates and certain agents thereof (together, the "Relevant Companies") may process any and all personal or professional data, including but not limited to Social Security or other identification number, home address and telephone number, date of birth and other information that is necessary or desirable for the administration of the Plan and/or this Agreement (the "Relevant Information"). By entering into this Agreement, the Grantee (i) authorizes the Company to collect, process, register and transfer to the Relevant Companies all Relevant Information; (ii) waives any privacy rights the Grantee may have with respect to the Relevant Information; (iii) authorizes the Relevant Companies to store and transmit such information in electronic form; and (iv) authorizes the transfer of the Relevant Information to any jurisdiction in which the Relevant Companies consider appropriate. The Grantee shall have access to, and the right to change, the Relevant Information. Relevant Information will only be used in accordance with applicable law.

9. Notices . Notices hereunder shall be mailed or delivered to the Company at its principal place of business and shall be mailed or delivered to the Optionee at the address on file with the Company or, in either case, at such other address as one party may subsequently furnish to the other party in writing.

RESTRICTED STOCK UNIT AWARD AGREEMENT FOR COMPANY EMPLOYEES
UNDER THE
TPI COMPOSITES, INC.
2015 STOCK OPTION AND INCENTIVE PLAN

Name of Grantee:

No. of Restricted Stock Units:

Grant Date: May 29, 2015

Pursuant to the TPI Composites, Inc. 2015 Stock Option and Incentive Plan as amended through the date hereof (the "Plan"), TPI Composites, Inc. (the "Company") hereby grants an award of the number of Restricted Stock Units listed above (an "Award") to the Grantee named above. Each Restricted Stock Unit shall relate to one share of Common Stock, par value $0.01 per share (the "Stock") of the Company.

1. Restrictions on Transfer of Award . This Award may not be sold, transferred, pledged, assigned or otherwise encumbered or disposed of by the Grantee, and any shares of Stock issuable with respect to the Award may not be sold, transferred, pledged, assigned or otherwise encumbered or disposed of until (i) the Restricted Stock Units have vested as provided in Paragraph 2 of this Agreement and (ii) shares of Stock have been issued to the Grantee in accordance with the terms of the Plan and this Agreement.

2. Vesting of Restricted Stock Units . The restrictions and conditions of Paragraph 1 of this Agreement shall lapse on the Vesting Date or Dates specified in the following schedule so long as the Grantee remains an employee of the Company or a Subsidiary on such Dates. If a series of Vesting Dates is specified, then the restrictions and conditions in Paragraph 1 shall lapse only with respect to the number of Restricted Stock Units specified as vested on such date.

Percentage of Restricted Stock Units Vested	Vesting Date
1/3	**
1/3	**

 The Restricted Stock Units shall vest annually in three equal installments on the first, second, and third anniversary of the effective date of the Company's initial public offering of its common stock until the third year anniversary whereby all remaining Restricted Stock Units shall vest.

The Administrator may at any time accelerate the vesting schedule specified in this Paragraph 2.

3. Termination of Employment . If the Grantee's employment with the Company and its Subsidiaries terminates for any reason (including death or disability) prior to the satisfaction of the vesting conditions set forth in Paragraph 2 above, any Restricted Stock Units that have not vested as of such date shall automatically and without notice terminate and be forfeited, and neither the Grantee nor any of his or her successors, heirs, assigns, or personal representatives will thereafter have any further rights or interests in such unvested Restricted Stock Units.

4. Issuance of Shares of Stock . As soon as practicable following the earlier of each Vesting Date (but in no event later than two and one-half months after the end of the year in which the Vesting Date occurs), the Company shall issue to the Grantee the number of shares of Stock equal to the aggregate number of Restricted Stock Units that have vested pursuant to Paragraph 2 of this Agreement on such date and the Grantee shall thereafter have all the rights of a stockholder of the Company with respect to such shares.

5. Incorporation of Plan . Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, this Agreement shall be subject to and governed by all the terms and conditions of the Plan, including the powers of the Administrator set forth in Section 2(b) of the Plan. Capitalized terms in this Agreement shall have the meaning specified in the Plan, unless a different meaning is specified herein.

6. Tax Withholding . The Grantee shall, not later than the date as of which the receipt of this Award becomes a taxable event for Federal income tax purposes, pay to the Company or make arrangements satisfactory to the Administrator for payment of any Federal, state, and local taxes required by law to be withheld on account of such taxable event. The Company shall have the authority to cause the required minimum tax withholding obligation to be satisfied, in whole or in part, by withholding from shares of Stock to be issued to the Grantee a number of shares of Stock with an aggregate Fair Market Value that would satisfy the withholding amount due.

7. Section 409A of the Code . This Agreement shall be interpreted in such a manner that all provisions relating to the settlement of the Award are exempt from the requirements of Section 409A of the Code as "short-term deferrals" as described in Section 409A of the Code.

8. No Obligation to Continue Employment . Neither the Company nor any Subsidiary is obligated by or as a result of the Plan or this Agreement to continue the Grantee in employment and neither the Plan nor this Agreement shall interfere in any way with the right of the Company or any Subsidiary to terminate the employment of the Grantee at any time.

9. Integration . This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement between the parties with respect to this Award and supersedes all prior agreements and discussions between the parties concerning such subject matter.

10. Data Privacy Consent . In order to administer the Plan and this Agreement and to implement or structure future equity grants, the Company, its subsidiaries and affiliates and certain agents thereof (together, the "Relevant Companies") may process any and all personal or professional data, including but not limited to Social Security or other identification number, home address and telephone number, date of birth and other information that is necessary or desirable for the administration of the Plan and/or this Agreement (the "Relevant Information"). By entering into this Agreement, the Grantee (i) authorizes the Company to collect, process, register and transfer to the Relevant Companies all Relevant Information; (ii) waives any privacy rights the Grantee may have with respect to the Relevant Information; (iii) authorizes the Relevant Companies to store and transmit such information in electronic form; and (iv) authorizes the transfer of the Relevant Information to any jurisdiction in which the Relevant Companies consider appropriate. The Grantee shall have access to, and the right to change, the Relevant Information. Relevant Information will only be used in accordance with applicable law.

11. Notices . Notices hereunder shall be mailed or delivered to the Company at its principal place of business and shall be mailed or delivered to the Grantee at the address on file with the Company or, in either case, at such other address as one party may subsequently furnish to the other party in writing.

RECITALS

The Borrowers have asked the Lenders to extend credit to the Borrowers consisting of (a) a term loan to be made on the Effective Date (as hereinafter defined) in the aggregate principal amount of $50,000,000 and (b) a delayed draw term loan in an aggregate principal amount not to exceed $25,000,000. The proceeds of the initial term loan shall be used to refinance existing indebtedness of the Borrowers, to fund capital expenditures, for general working capital purposes of the Borrowers and Guarantors and to pay fees and expenses related to this Agreement. The proceeds of the delayed draw term loan shall be used to finance Permitted Projects (as defined below) and for other purposes to be agreed by the Required Lenders at the time of the making of such delayed draw term loan. The Lenders are severally, and not jointly, willing to extend such credit to the Borrowers subject to the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth.

In consideration of the premises and the covenants and agreements contained herein, the parties hereto agree as follows:

ARTICLE I

May 31, 2014	$ 566,000
June 30, 2014	$ 1,783,000

" Consolidated Net Income " means, with respect to any Person, for any period, the consolidated net income (or loss) of such Person and its Subsidiaries for such period; provided , however , that the following shall be excluded: (a) the net income of any other Person in which such Person or one of its Subsidiaries has a joint interest with a third-party (which interest does not cause the net income of such other Person to be consolidated into the net income of such Person), except to the extent of the amount of dividends or distributions paid to such Person or Subsidiary, (b) the net income of any Subsidiary of such Person that is, on the last day of such period, subject to any restriction or limitation on the payment of dividends or the making of other distributions, to the extent of such restriction or limitation; provided , that the net income of TPI Composites (Taicang) Company Limited and TPI Wind Blade Dafeng Ltd. shall not be excluded to the extent such net income is eligible for repatriation (without any restriction other than applicable withholdings taxes) to the Parent or one of its Domestic Subsidiaries that is a Loan Party at least once during every Fiscal Year, and (c) the net income of any other Person arising prior to such other Person becoming a Subsidiary of such Person or merging or consolidating into such Person or its Subsidiaries; provided , that if Consolidated Net Income is the basis of a calculation of the North America Leverage Ratio or North America Consolidated EBITDA of the North America Subsidiaries, then all references to "Subsidiary" or "Subsidiaries" in this definition shall refer to "North America Subsidiary" or "North America Subsidiaries", as applicable.

" Consolidated Net Interest Expense " means, with respect to any Person for any period, (a) gross interest expense of such Person and its Subsidiaries (or, if Consolidated Net Interest Expense is the basis of a calculation of the North America Leverage Ratio or North America Consolidated EBITDA of the North America Subsidiaries, its North America Subsidiaries) for such period determined on a consolidated basis and in accordance with GAAP (including, without limitation, interest expense paid to Affiliates of such Person), less (b) the sum of (i) interest income for such period and (ii) gains for such period on Hedging Agreements (to the extent not included in interest income above and to the extent not deducted in the calculation of gross interest expense), plus (c) the sum of (i) losses for such period on Hedging Agreements (to the extent not included in gross interest expense) and (ii) the upfront costs or fees for such period associated with Hedging Agreements (to the extent not included in gross interest expense), in each case, determined on a consolidated basis and in accordance with GAAP.

" Contingent Indemnity Obligations " means any Obligation constituting a contingent, unliquidated indemnification obligation of any Loan Party, in each case, to the extent (a) such obligation has not accrued and is not yet due and payable and (b) no claim has been made or is reasonably anticipated to be made with respect thereto.

" Contingent Obligation " means, with respect to any Person, any obligation of such Person guaranteeing or intending to guarantee any Indebtedness, leases, dividends or other obligations ("primary obligations") of any other Person (the "primary obligor") in any manner, whether directly or indirectly, including, without limitation, (a) the direct or indirect guaranty, endorsement (other than for collection or deposit in the ordinary course of business), co-making, discounting with recourse or sale with recourse by such Person of the obligation of a primary obligor, (b) the obligation to make take-or-pay or similar payments, if required, regardless of nonperformance by any other party or parties to an agreement, (c) any obligation of such Person, whether or not contingent, (i) to purchase any such primary obligation or any property constituting direct or indirect security therefor, (ii) to advance or supply funds (A) for the purchase or payment of any such primary obligation or (B) to maintain working capital or equity capital of the primary obligor or otherwise to maintain the net worth or solvency of the primary obligor, (iii) to purchase property, assets, securities or services primarily for the purpose of assuring the owner of any such primary obligation of the ability of the primary obligor to make payment of such primary obligation or (iv) otherwise to assure or hold harmless the holder of such primary obligation against loss in respect thereof; provided , however , that the term "Contingent Obligation" shall not include any product warranties extended in the ordinary course of business. The amount of any Contingent Obligation shall be deemed to be an amount equal to the stated or determinable amount of the primary obligation with respect to which such Contingent Obligation is made (or, if less, the maximum amount of such primary obligation for which such Person may be liable pursuant to the terms of the instrument evidencing such Contingent Obligation) or, if not stated or determinable, the maximum reasonably anticipated liability with respect thereto (assuming such Person is required to perform thereunder), as determined by such Person in good faith.

" Contractual Obligation " means, as to any Person, any provision of any security issued by such Person or of any agreement, instrument or other undertaking to which such Person is a party or by which it or any of its property is bound.

" Control Agreement " means, with respect to any deposit account, any securities account, commodity account, securities entitlement or commodity contract, an agreement, in form and substance satisfactory to the Collateral Agent, among the Collateral Agent, the financial institution or other Person at which such account is maintained or with which such entitlement or contract is carried and the Loan Party maintaining such account, effective to grant "control" (as defined under the applicable UCC) over such account to the Collateral Agent.

" Controlled Investment Affiliate " means, as to any Person, any other Person that (a) directly or indirectly, is in control of, is controlled by, or is under common control with, such Person and (b) is organized by such Person or any other Person controlling such Person primarily for the purpose of making equity or debt investments in one or more companies. The words "include", "includes" and "including" shall be deemed to be followed by the phrase "without limitation". The word "will" shall be construed to have the same meaning and effect as the word "shall". Unless the context requires otherwise, (a) any definition of or reference to any agreement, instrument or other document herein shall be construed as referring to such agreement, instrument or other document as from time to time amended, supplemented or otherwise modified (subject to any restrictions on such amendments, supplements or modifications set forth herein), (b) any reference herein to any Person shall be construed to include such Person's successors and assigns, (c) the words "herein", "hereof" and "hereunder", and words of similar import, shall be construed to refer to this Agreement in its entirety and not to any particular provision hereof, (d) all references herein to Articles, Sections, Exhibits and Schedules shall be construed to refer to Articles and Sections of, and Exhibits and Schedules to, this Agreement and (e) the words "asset" and "property" shall be construed to have the same meaning and effect and to refer to any right or interest in or to assets and properties of any kind whatsoever, whether real, personal or mixed and whether tangible or intangible.

Section 1.03 Certain Matters of Construction . References in this Agreement to "determination" by any Agent include good faith estimates by such Agent (in the case of quantitative determinations) and good faith beliefs by such Agent (in the case of qualitative determinations). A Default or Event of Default shall be deemed to exist at all times during the period commencing on the date that such Default or Event of Default occurs to the date on which such Default or Event of Default is waived in writing pursuant to this Agreement or, in the case of a Default, is cured within any period of cure expressly provided for in this Agreement; and an Event of Default shall "continue" or be "continuing" until such Event of Default has been waived in writing by the Required Lenders. Any Lien referred to in this Agreement or any other Loan Document as having been created in favor of any Agent, any agreement entered into by any Agent pursuant to this Agreement or any other Loan Document, any payment made by or to or funds received by any Agent pursuant to or as contemplated by this Agreement or any other Loan Document, or any act taken or omitted to be taken by any Agent, shall, unless otherwise expressly provided, be created, entered into, made or received, or taken or omitted, for the benefit or account of the Agents and the Lenders. Wherever the phrase "to the knowledge of any Loan Party" or words of similar import relating to the knowledge or the awareness of any Loan Party are used in this Agreement or any other Loan Document, such phrase shall mean and refer to (i) the actual knowledge of a senior officer of any Loan Party or (ii) the knowledge that a senior officer would have obtained if such officer had engaged in good faith and diligent performance of such officer's duties, including the making of such reasonably specific inquiries as may be necessary of the employees or agents of such Loan Party and a good faith attempt to ascertain the existence or accuracy of the matter to which such phrase relates. All covenants hereunder shall be given independent effect so that if a particular action or condition is not permitted by any of such covenants, the fact that it would be permitted by an exception to, or otherwise within the limitations of, another covenant shall not avoid the occurrence of a default if such action is taken or condition exists. In addition, all representations and warranties hereunder shall be given independent effect so that if a particular representation or warranty proves to be incorrect or is breached, the fact that another representation or warranty concerning the same or similar subject matter is correct or is not breached will not affect the incorrectness of a breach of a representation or warranty hereunder.

Section 1.04 Accounting and Other Terms .

(a) Unless otherwise expressly provided herein, each accounting term used herein shall have the meaning given it under GAAP. For purposes of determining compliance with any incurrence or expenditure tests set forth in Section 7.01, Section 7.02 and Section 7.03, any amounts so incurred or expended (to the extent incurred or expended in a currency other than Dollars) shall be converted into Dollars on the basis of the exchange rates (as shown on the Bloomberg currency page for such currency or, if the same does not provide such exchange rate, by reference to such other publicly available service for displaying exchange rates as may be reasonably selected by the Agents or, in the event no such service is selected, on such other basis as is reasonably satisfactory to the Agents) as in effect on the date of such incurrence or expenditure under any provision of any such Section that has an aggregate Dollar limitation provided for therein (and to the extent the respective incurrence or expenditure test regulates the aggregate amount outstanding at any time and it is expressed in terms of Dollars, all outstanding amounts originally incurred or spent in currencies other than Dollars shall be converted into Dollars on the basis of the exchange rates (as shown on the Bloomberg currency page for such currency or, if the same does not provide such exchange rate, by reference to such other publicly available service for displaying exchange rates as may be reasonably selected by the Agents or, in the event no such service is selected, on such other basis as is reasonably satisfactory to the Agents) as in effect on the date of any new incurrence or expenditures made under any provision of any such Section that regulates the Dollar amount outstanding at any time). Notwithstanding the foregoing, (i) with respect to the accounting for leases as either operating leases or capital leases and the impact of such accounting in accordance with FASB ASC 840 on the definitions and covenants herein, GAAP as in effect on the Effective Date shall be applied and (ii) for purposes of determining compliance with any covenant (including the computation of any financial covenant) contained herein, Indebtedness of the Parent and its Subsidiaries shall be deemed to be carried at 100% of the outstanding principal amount thereof, and the effects of FASB ASC 825 and FASB ASC 470-20 on financial liabilities shall be disregarded.

(b) All terms used in this Agreement which are defined in Article 8 or Article 9 of the Uniform Commercial Code as in effect from time to time in the State of New York (the " Uniform Commercial Code " or the " UCC ") and which are not otherwise defined herein shall have the same meanings herein as set forth therein, provided that terms used herein which are defined in the Uniform Commercial Code as in effect in the State of New York on the date hereof shall continue to have the same meaning notwithstanding any replacement or amendment of such statute except as any Agent may otherwise determine.

Section 1.05 Time References . Unless otherwise indicated herein, all references to time of day refer to Eastern Standard Time or Eastern daylight saving time, as in effect in New York City on such day. For purposes of the computation of a period of time from a specified date to a later specified date, the word "from" means "from and including" and the words "to" and "until" each means "to but excluding"; provided , however , that with respect to a computation of fees or interest payable to any Secured Party, such period shall in any event consist of at least one full day.

ARTICLE II

THE LOANS

Section 2.01 Commitments . (a) Subject to the terms and conditions and relying upon the representations and warranties herein set forth:

(i) each Term Loan Lender severally agrees to make the Term Loan to the Borrowers on the Effective Date, in an aggregate principal amount not to exceed the amount of such Lender's Term Loan Commitment; and

(ii) each Delayed Draw Term Loan Lender severally agrees to make term loans (collectively, the " Delayed Draw Term Loans ") to the Borrower at any time after the Effective Date and prior to the Delayed Draw Term Loan Commitment Expiry Date, or until the earlier reduction of its Delayed Draw Term Loan Commitment to zero in accordance with the terms hereof, in an amount requested by the Borrower not to exceed the amount of such Lender's Delayed Draw Term Loan Commitment.

(b) Notwithstanding the foregoing:

(i) The aggregate principal amount of the Term Loan made on the Effective Date shall not exceed the Total Term Loan Commitment. Any principal amount of the Term Loan which is repaid or prepaid may not be reborrowed.

(ii) The Total Delayed Draw Term Loan Commitment shall automatically and permanently be reduced to zero on the Delayed Draw Term Loan Commitment Expiry Date. The Borrower may borrow Delayed Draw Term Loans on and after the Effective Date and prior to the Delayed Draw Term Loan Commitment Expiry Date in an aggregate amount (inclusive of all Delayed Draw Term Loans, whenever made) not to exceed the Total Delayed Draw Term Loan Commitment, subject to the terms, provisions and limitations set forth herein. The aggregate principal amount of the Delayed Draw Term Loans made pursuant to Section 2.01(a)(ii) shall not exceed the Total Delayed Draw Term Loan Commitment and there shall not be more than four (4) Delayed Draw Term Loans in the aggregate. Any Delayed Draw Term Loan that is repaid or prepaid may not be reborrowed.

Section 2.02 Making the Loans. (a) The Administrative Borrower shall give the Administrative Agent prior written notice in substantially the form of Exhibit C hereto (a " Notice of Borrowing "), not later than 12:00 noon (New York City time) on the date which is (i) 3 Business Days prior to the date of the proposed Term Loan and (ii) 15 Business Days prior to the date of each proposed Delayed Draw Term Loan (or, in each case, such shorter period as the Administrative Agent is willing to accommodate from time to time, but in no event later than 12:00 noon (New York City time) on the borrowing date of the proposed Loan). Such Notice of Borrowing shall be irrevocable and shall specify (i) the principal amount of the proposed Loan, (ii) in the case of Loans requested on the Effective Date, that such Loan is requested to be the Term Loan, (iii) whether the Loan is requested to be a Reference Rate Loan or a LIBOR Rate Loan and, in the case of a LIBOR Rate Loan, the initial Interest Period with respect thereto, (iv) the use of the proceeds of such proposed Loan, and (v) the proposed borrowing date, which must be a Business Day, and, with respect to the Term Loan, must be the Effective Date. The Administrative Agent and the Lenders may act without liability upon the basis of written, telecopied or telephonic notice believed by the Administrative Agent in good faith to be from the Administrative Borrower (or from any Authorized Officer thereof designated in writing purportedly from the Administrative Borrower to the Administrative Agent). Each Borrower hereby waives the right to dispute the Administrative Agent's record of the terms of any such telephonic Notice of Borrowing. The Administrative Agent and each Lender shall be entitled to rely conclusively on any Authorized Officer's authority to request a Loan on behalf of the Borrowers until the Administrative Agent receives written notice to the contrary. The Administrative Agent and the Lenders shall have no duty to verify the authenticity of the signature appearing on any written Notice of Borrowing.

(b) Each Notice of Borrowing pursuant to this Section 2.02 shall be irrevocable and the Borrowers shall be bound to make a borrowing in accordance therewith. The aggregate principal amount of each Delayed Draw Term Loan shall be in a minimum amount of $5,000,000 and in integral multiples of $1,000,000 in excess thereof.

(c) All Loans under this Agreement shall be made by the Lenders simultaneously and proportionately to their Pro Rata Shares of the Total Delayed Draw Term Loan Commitment or the Total Term Loan Commitment, as the case may be, it being understood that no Lender shall be responsible for any default by any other Lender in that other Lender's obligations to make a Loan requested hereunder, nor shall the Commitment of any Lender be increased or decreased as a result of the default by any other Lender in that other Lender's obligation to make a Loan requested hereunder, and each Lender shall be obligated to make the Loans required to be made by it by the terms of this Agreement regardless of the failure by any other Lender.

Section 2.03 Repayment of Loans; Evidence of Debt . (a) The outstanding principal of the Term Loan shall be repayable in consecutive quarterly installments, in the amount equal to 1.25% times the principal amount of the Term Loan outstanding on the last Business Day of each March, June, September, and December, due and payable commencing on September 30, 2015 and on the last Business Day of each September, December, March and June thereafter, ending on the Final Maturity Date; provided , however , that the last such installment shall be in the amount necessary to repay in full the unpaid principal amount of the Term Loan. The outstanding unpaid principal amount of the Term Loan, and all accrued and unpaid interest thereon, shall be due and payable on the earliest of (i) the Final Maturity Date and (ii) the date on which the Term Loan is declared due and payable pursuant to the terms of this Agreement.

(b) Each Lender shall maintain in accordance with its usual practice an account or accounts evidencing the Indebtedness of the Borrowers to such Lender resulting from each Loan made by such Lender, including the amounts of principal and interest payable and paid to such Lender from time to time hereunder.

(c) The Administrative Agent shall maintain accounts in which it shall record (i) the amount of each Loan made hereunder, (ii) the amount of any principal or interest due and payable or to become due and payable from the Borrowers to each Lender hereunder and (iii) the amount of any sum received by the Administrative Agent hereunder for the account of the Lenders and each Lender's share thereof.

(d) The entries made in the accounts maintained pursuant to Section 2.03(b) or Section 2.03(c) shall be prima facie evidence of the existence and amounts of the obligations recorded therein; provided that (i) the failure of any Lender or the Administrative Agent to maintain such accounts or any error therein shall not in any manner affect the obligation of the Borrowers to repay the Loans in accordance with the terms of this Agreement and (ii) in the event of any conflict between the entries made in the accounts maintained pursuant to Section 2.03(b) and the accounts maintained pursuant to Section 2.03(c), the accounts maintained pursuant to Section 2.03(c) shall govern and control.

(e) Any Lender may request that Loans made by it be evidenced by a promissory note. In such event, the Borrowers shall execute and deliver to such Lender a promissory note payable to such Lender (or, if requested by such Lender, to such Lender and its registered assigns) in the form of Exhibit E hereto. Thereafter, the Loans evidenced by such promissory note and interest thereon shall at all times (including after assignment pursuant to Section 12.07) be represented by one or more promissory notes in such form payable to the payee named therein (or, if such promissory note is a registered note, to such payee and its registered assigns).

Section 2.04 Interest .

(a) Term Loan . Subject to the terms of this Agreement, at the option of the Administrative Borrower, the Term Loan or any portion thereof shall be either a Reference Rate Loan or a LIBOR Rate Loan. Each portion of the Term Loan that is a Reference Rate Loan shall bear interest on the principal amount thereof from time to time outstanding, from the date of the Term Loan until repaid, at a rate per annum equal to the Reference Rate plus the Applicable Margin. Each portion of the Term Loan that is a LIBOR Rate Loan shall bear interest on the principal amount thereof from time to time outstanding, from the date of the Term Loan until repaid, at a rate per annum equal to the LIBOR Rate for the Interest Period in effect for the Term Loan (or such portion thereof) plus the Applicable Margin.

(b) Default Interest . To the extent permitted by law and notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Section, upon the occurrence and during the continuance of an Event of Default, the principal of, and all accrued and unpaid interest on, all Loans, fees, indemnities or any other Obligations of the Loan Parties under this Agreement and the other Loan Documents, shall bear interest, from the date such Event of Default occurred until the date such Event of Default is cured or waived in writing in accordance herewith, at a rate per annum equal at all times to the Post-Default Rate.

(c) Interest Payment . Interest on each Loan shall be payable (i) in the case of a Reference Rate Loan, quarterly, in arrears, on the last Business Day of each calendar quarter, commencing on the last Business Day of the quarter in which such Loan is made, (ii) in the case of a LIBOR Rate Loan, on the last day of each Interest Period applicable to such Loan, and (iii) in the case of each Loan, at maturity (whether upon demand, by acceleration or otherwise. Interest at the Post-Default Rate shall be payable on demand. Each Borrower hereby authorizes the Administrative Agent to, and the Administrative Agent may, from time to time, charge the Loan Account pursuant to Section 4.01 with the amount of any interest payment due hereunder.

(d) General . All interest shall be computed on the basis of a year of 360 days for the actual number of days, including the first day but excluding the last day, elapsed.

Section 2.05 Reduction of Commitment; Prepayment of Loans .

(a) Reduction of Commitments .

(i) Delayed Draw Term Loan Commitments . The Total Delayed Draw Term Loan Commitment shall terminate on the earlier of (A) the Delayed Draw Term Loan Commitment Expiry Date (after giving effect to any funding (which funding shall, for the avoidance of doubt, be subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement) of the Delayed Draw Term Loan on such date) and (B) the date on which the aggregate amount of Delayed Draw Term Loans advanced pursuant to Section 2.01(a)(ii) is equal to the Total Delayed Draw Term Loan Commitment. The Borrower may, without premium or penalty, reduce the Total Delayed Draw Term Loan Commitment to an amount (which may be zero) not less than the aggregate principal amount of all Delayed Draw Term Loans not yet made as to which a Notice of Borrowing has been given by the Borrower under Section 2.02. Each such partial reduction shall be in multiples of $5,000,000 (unless the Total Delayed Draw Term Loan Commitment in effect immediately prior to such reduction is less than such amount) and shall be made by providing not less than 5 Business Days prior written notice for any such reduction. Once reduced, the Total Delayed Draw Term Loan Commitment may not be increased. Each such reduction of the Total Delayed Draw Term Loan Commitment shall reduce the Delayed Draw Term Loan Commitment of each Lender proportionately in accordance with its Pro Rata Share thereof.

(ii) Term Loan . The Total Term Loan Commitment shall terminate at 5:00 p.m. (New York City time) on the Effective Date.

(b) Optional Prepayment .

(i) Term Loan . The Borrowers may, at any time and from time to time, upon at least 5 Business Days' prior written notice to the Administrative Agent, prepay the principal of the Term Loan, in whole or in part. Each prepayment made pursuant to this Section 2.05(b)(i) shall be accompanied by the payment of (A) accrued interest to the date of such payment on the amount prepaid and (B) the Applicable Prepayment Premium, if any, payable in connection with such prepayment of the Term Loan. Each such prepayment shall be applied on a pro rata basis against the remaining installments of principal due on the Term Loan (for the avoidance of doubt, any amount that is due and payable on the Final Maturity Date shall constitute an installment).

(ii) Termination of Agreement . The Borrowers may, upon at least 10 Business Days prior written notice to the Administrative Agent, terminate this Agreement by paying to the Administrative Agent, in cash, the Obligations (other than Contingent Indemnity Obligations), in full, plus the Applicable Prepayment Premium, if any, payable in connection with such termination of this Agreement. If the Administrative Borrower has sent a notice of termination pursuant to this Section 2.05(b)(ii), then the Lenders' obligations to extend credit hereunder shall terminate and the Borrowers shall be obligated to repay the Obligations (other than Contingent Indemnity Obligations), in full, plus the Applicable Prepayment Premium, if any, payable in connection with such termination of this Agreement on the date set forth as the date of termination of this Agreement in such notice.

(c) Mandatory Prepayment .

(i) Within 10 Business Days after the delivery to the Agents and the Lenders of audited annual financial statements pursuant to Section 7.01(a)(iii), commencing with the delivery to the Agents and the Lenders of the financial statements for the Fiscal Year ended December 31, 2014 or, if such financial statements are not delivered to the Agents and the Lenders on the date such statements are required to be delivered pursuant to Section 7.01(a)(iii), within 10 Business Days after the date such statements are required to be delivered to the Agents and the Lenders pursuant to Section 7.01(a)(iii), the Borrowers shall prepay the outstanding principal amount of the Loans in accordance with Section 2.05(d) in an amount equal to the applicable ECF Percentage times the Excess Cash Flow of the Parent and its Subsidiaries for such Fiscal Year; provided , that, with respect to the Fiscal Year ending December 31, 2014, the prepayment required under this Section 2.05(c)(i) shall be measured based on the period beginning on the Effective Date through the end of such Fiscal Year.

(ii) Immediately upon any Disposition (excluding Dispositions which qualify as Permitted Dispositions under clauses (a), (b), (c), (d), (e), (f), (g) or (h) of the definition of Permitted Disposition) by any Loan Party or its Subsidiaries, the Borrowers shall prepay the outstanding principal amount of the Loans in accordance with Section 2.05(d) in an amount equal to 100% of the Net Cash Proceeds received by such Person in connection with such Disposition to the extent that the aggregate amount of Net Cash Proceeds received by all

Loan Parties and their Subsidiaries (and not paid to the Administrative Agent as a prepayment of the Loans) shall exceed for all such Dispositions (other than Dispositions under clause (i) of the definition of Permitted Disposition) $2,000,000 in any Fiscal Year, provided, that, for all Dispositions under clause (i) of the definition of Permitted Disposition, all Net Cash Proceeds of such Dispositions shall be deposited into and maintained in a blocked account subject to a Control Agreement until the earlier of (x) such time as the Borrowers and the Agent agree in writing on the application of such Net Cash Proceeds, and upon such agreement such Net Cash Proceeds shall be applied in accordance with such agreement, and (y) 60 days after the receipt of any such Net Cash Proceeds, at which time such Net Cash Proceeds shall be applied in accordance with Section 2.05(d). Nothing contained in this Section 2.05(c)(ii) shall permit any Loan Party or any of its Subsidiaries to make a Disposition of any property other than in accordance with Section 7.02(c)(ii).

(iii) Upon the issuance or incurrence by any Loan Party or any of its Subsidiaries of any Indebtedness (other than Permitted Indebtedness), or upon an Equity Issuance or series of related Equity Issuances that results in a Change of Control, the Borrowers shall prepay the outstanding amount of the Loans in accordance with Section 2.05(d) in an amount equal to 100% of the Net Cash Proceeds received by such Person in connection therewith. The provisions of this Section 2.05(c)(iii) shall not be deemed to be implied consent to any such issuance, incurrence or sale otherwise prohibited by the terms and conditions of this Agreement.

(iv) Upon the receipt by any Loan Party or any of its Subsidiaries of any Extraordinary Receipts, the Borrowers shall prepay the outstanding principal of the Loans in accordance with Section 2.05(d) in an amount equal to 100% of the Net Cash Proceeds received by such Person in connection therewith.

(v) Notwithstanding the foregoing, with respect to Net Cash Proceeds received by any Loan Party or any of its Subsidiaries in connection with a Disposition or the receipt of Extraordinary Receipts consisting of insurance proceeds or condemnation awards that are required to be used to prepay the Obligations pursuant to Section 2.05(c)(ii) or Section 2.05(c)(iv), as the case may be, up to $250,000 in the aggregate in any Fiscal Year of the Net Cash Proceeds from all such Dispositions and Extraordinary Receipts shall not be required to be so used to prepay the Obligations to the extent that such Net Cash Proceeds are used to replace, repair or restore properties or assets (other than current assets) used in such Person's business, provided that, (A) no Default or Event of Default has occurred and is continuing on the date such Person receives such Net Cash Proceeds, (B) the Administrative Borrower delivers a certificate to the Administrative Agent within 60 days after the date of receipt of such Net Cash Proceeds, stating that such Net Cash Proceeds shall be used to replace, repair or restore properties or assets used in such Person's business within a period specified in such certificate not to exceed 360 days after the date of receipt of such Net Cash Proceeds (which certificate shall set forth estimates of the Net Cash Proceeds to be so expended), (C) such Net Cash Proceeds are deposited in an account subject to a Control Agreement, and (D) upon the earlier of (1) the expiration of the period specified in the relevant certificate furnished to the Administrative Agent pursuant to clause (B) above or (2) the occurrence of a Default or an Event of Default, such Net Cash Proceeds, if not theretofore so used, shall be used to prepay the Obligations in accordance with Section 2.05(c)(ii) or Section 2.05(c)(iv) as applicable.

(vi) The Administrative Borrower shall notify the Administrative Agent by telephone (confirmed by facsimile or other electronic transmission) of any prepayment pursuant to Section 2.05(c)(i), (ii), (iii) and (iv) hereunder (A) in the case of any prepayment of a Reference Rate Loan, not later than 12:00 noon, New York City time, one Business Day before the date of prepayment and (B) in the case of any prepayment of a LIBOR Rate Loan, not later than 12:00 noon, New York City time, three Business Days before the date of prepayment.

(d) Application of Payments . Each prepayment pursuant to subsections (c)(i), (c)(ii), (c)(iii) and (c)(iv) above shall be applied on a pro rata basis to the Term Loan and the Delayed Draw Term Loans against the remaining installments of principal of the Term Loan and the Delayed Draw Term Loans (for the avoidance of doubt, any amount that is due and payable on the Final Maturity Date shall constitute an installment). Notwithstanding the foregoing, after the occurrence and during the continuance of an Event of Default, if the Administrative Agent has elected, or has been directed by the Collateral Agent or the Required Lenders, to apply payments in respect of any Obligations in accordance with Section 4.03(b), prepayments required under Section 2.05(c) shall be applied in the manner set forth in Section 4.03(b).

(e) Interest and Fees . Any prepayment made pursuant to this Section 2.05 shall be accompanied by (i) accrued interest on the principal amount being prepaid to the date of prepayment, (ii) any Funding Losses payable pursuant to Section 2.08, (iii) the Applicable Prepayment Premium, if any, payable in connection with such prepayment of the Loans to the extent required under Section 2.06(b) and (iv) if such prepayment would reduce the amount of the outstanding Loans to zero, such prepayment shall be accompanied by the payment of all fees accrued to such date pursuant to Section 2.06.

(f) Cumulative Prepayments . Except as otherwise expressly provided in this Section 2.05, payments with respect to any subsection of this Section 2.05 are in addition to payments made or required to be made under any other subsection of this Section 2.05.

Section 2.06 Fees .

(a) Fee Letter . As and when due and payable under the terms of the Fee Letter, the Borrowers shall pay the fees set forth in the Fee Letter.

(b) Applicable Prepayment Premium . In the event of (i) an optional prepayment of the Loans pursuant to Section 2.05(b)(i), (ii) a mandatory prepayment of the Loans pursuant to Section 2.05(c)(iii) or (iii) the termination of this Agreement at any time on or prior to the third anniversary of the Effective Date, for any reason, including (A) termination of this Agreement upon the election of the Required Lenders after the occurrence and during the continuation of an Event of Default (or, in the case of the occurrence of any Event of Default described in Section 9.01(f) or Section 9.01(g), automatically upon the occurrence thereof), (B) foreclosure and sale of Collateral, (C) sale of Collateral in any Insolvency Proceeding, or (D) restructure, reorganization, or compromise of the Obligations by the confirmation of a plan of reorganization or any other plan of compromise, restructure, or arrangement in any Insolvency Proceeding, then, in view of the impracticability and extreme difficulty of ascertaining the actual amount of damages to the Agents and the Lenders or profits lost by the Agents and the Lenders as a result of such early termination, and by mutual agreement of the parties as to a reasonable estimation and calculation of the lost profits or damages of the Agents and the Lenders, the Borrowers shall pay to the Administrative Agent, for the account of the Lenders in accordance with their Pro Rata Shares, the Applicable Prepayment Premium, measured as of the date of such termination. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, it is understood and agreed that if the Obligations are accelerated for any reason, including because of default, sale, disposition or encumbrance (including that by operation of law or otherwise), the Applicable Prepayment Premium will also be due and payable as though said indebtedness was voluntarily prepaid and shall constitute part of the Obligations. Any Applicable Prepayment Premium payable above shall be presumed to be the liquidated damages sustained by each Lender as the result of the early termination and the Loan Parties agree that it is reasonable under the circumstances currently existing. The Applicable Prepayment Premium shall also be payable in the event the Obligations (and/or this Agreement) are satisfied or released by foreclosure (whether by power of judicial proceeding), deed in lieu of foreclosure or by any other means. EACH OF THE LOAN PARTIES EXPRESSLY WAIVES THE PROVISIONS OF ANY PRESENT OR FUTURE STATUTE OR LAW THAT PROHIBITS OR MAY PROHIBIT THE COLLECTION OF THE FOREGOING APPLICABLE PREPAYMENT PREMIUM IN CONNECTION WITH ANY SUCH ACCELERATION. Each Loan Party expressly agrees that: (1) the Applicable Prepayment Premium is reasonable and is the product of an arm's length transaction between sophisticated business people, ably represented by counsel; (2) the Applicable Prepayment Premium shall be payable notwithstanding the then prevailing market rates at the time payment is made; (3) there has been a course of conduct between Lenders and the Loan Parties giving specific consideration in this transaction for such agreement to pay the Applicable Prepayment Premium; and (4) the Loan Parties shall be estopped hereafter from claiming differently than as agreed to in this paragraph. Each Loan Party expressly acknowledges that its agreement to pay the Applicable Prepayment Premium to Lenders as herein described is a material inducement to Lenders to provide the Commitments and make the Loans.

(c) Audit and Collateral Monitoring Fees . The Borrowers acknowledge that pursuant to Section 7.01(f), representatives of the Agents may visit any or all of the Loan Parties and/or conduct inspections, audits, physical counts, valuations, appraisals, environmental site assessments and/or examinations of any or all of the Loan Parties at any time and from time to time. The Borrowers agree to pay (i) $1,500 per day per examiner plus the examiner's out-of-pocket costs and reasonable expenses incurred in connection with all such visits, inspections, audits, physical counts, valuations, appraisals, environmental site assessments and/or examinations and (ii) the cost of all visits, inspections, audits, physical counts, valuations, appraisals, environmental site assessments and/or examinations conducted by a third party on behalf of the Agents; provided, that so long as no Event of Default shall have occurred and be continuing, the Borrowers shall not be obligated to reimburse the Agents for more than two (2) such visits, inspections, audits, physical counts, valuations, appraisals, environmental site assessments and/or examinations during any calendar year.

Section 2.07 LIBOR Option .

(a) The Borrowers may, at any time and from time to time, so long as no Default or Event of Default has occurred and is continuing, elect to have interest on all or a portion of the Loans be charged at a rate of interest based upon the LIBOR Rate (the " LIBOR Option ") by notifying the Administrative Agent prior to 11:00 a.m. (New York City time) at least

3 Business Days prior to (i) the proposed borrowing date of a Loan (as provided in Section 2.02), (ii) in the case of the conversion of a Reference Rate Loan to a LIBOR Rate Loan, the commencement of the proposed Interest Period or (iii) in the case of the continuation of a LIBOR Rate Loan as a LIBOR Rate Loan, the last day of the then current Interest Period (the " LIBOR Deadline "). Notice of the Borrowers' election of the LIBOR Option for a permitted portion of the Loans and an Interest Period pursuant to this Section 2.07(a) shall be made by delivery to the Administrative Agent of (A) a Notice of Borrowing (in the case of the initial making of a Loan) in accordance with Section 2.02 or (B) a LIBOR Notice prior to the LIBOR Deadline. Promptly upon its receipt of each such LIBOR Notice, the Administrative Agent shall provide a copy thereof to each of the Lenders. Each LIBOR Notice shall be irrevocable and binding on the Borrowers.

(b) Interest on LIBOR Rate Loans shall be payable in accordance with Section 2.04(c). On the last day of each applicable Interest Period, unless the Borrowers properly have exercised the LIBOR Option with respect thereto, the interest rate applicable to such LIBOR Rate Loans automatically shall convert to the rate of interest then applicable to Reference Rate Loans of the same type hereunder. At any time that a Default or an Event of Default has occurred and is continuing, the Borrowers no longer shall have the option to request that any portion of the Loans bear interest at the LIBOR Rate and the Administrative Agent shall have the right to convert the interest rate on all outstanding LIBOR Rate Loans to the rate of interest then applicable to Reference Rate Loans of the same type hereunder on the last day of the then current Interest Period.

(c) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this Agreement, the Borrowers (i) shall have not more than three (3) LIBOR Rate Loans in effect at any given time, and (ii) only may exercise the LIBOR Option for LIBOR Rate Loans of at least $5,000,000 and integral multiples of $1,000,000 in excess thereof.

(d) The Borrowers may prepay LIBOR Rate Loans at any time; provided , however , that in the event that LIBOR Rate Loans are prepaid on any date that is not the last day of the Interest Period applicable thereto, including as a result of any mandatory prepayment pursuant to Section 2.05(c) or any application of payments or proceeds of Collateral in accordance with Section 4.03 or Section 4.04 or for any other reason, including early termination of the term of this Agreement or acceleration of all or any portion of the Obligations pursuant to the terms hereof, the Borrowers shall indemnify, defend, and hold the Agents and the Lenders and their participants harmless against any and all Funding Losses in accordance with Section 2.08.

(e) Anything to the contrary contained herein notwithstanding, neither any Agent nor any Lender, nor any of their participants, is required actually to acquire eurodollar deposits to fund or otherwise match fund any Obligation as to which interest accrues at the LIBOR Rate. The provisions of this Article II shall apply as if each Lender or its participants had match funded any Obligation as to which interest is accruing at the LIBOR Rate by acquiring eurodollar deposits for each Interest Period in the amount of the LIBOR Rate Loans.

Section 2.08 Funding Losses . In connection with each LIBOR Rate Loan, the Borrowers shall indemnify, defend, and hold the Agents and the Lenders harmless against any loss, cost, or expense incurred by any Agent or any Lender as a result of (a) the payment of any principal of any LIBOR Rate Loan other than on the last day of an Interest Period applicable thereto (including as a result of a Default or an Event of Default or any mandatory prepayment required pursuant to Section 2.05(c)), (b) the conversion of any LIBOR Rate Loan other than on the last day of the Interest Period applicable thereto (including as a result of a Default or an Event of Default), or (c) the failure to borrow, convert, continue or prepay any LIBOR Rate Loan on the date specified in any Notice of Borrowing or LIBOR Notice delivered pursuant hereto (such losses, costs, and expenses, collectively, " Funding Losses "). Funding Losses shall, with respect to any Agent or any Lender, be deemed to equal the amount reasonably determined by such Agent or such Lender to be the excess, if any, of (i) the amount of interest that would have accrued on the principal amount of such LIBOR Rate Loan had such event not occurred, at the LIBOR Rate that would have been applicable thereto, for the period from the date of such event to the last day of the then current Interest Period therefor (or, in the case of a failure to borrow, convert or continue, for the period that would have been the Interest Period therefor), minus (ii) the amount of interest that would accrue on such principal amount for such period at the interest rate which such Agent or such Lender would be offered were it to be offered, at the commencement of such period, Dollar deposits of a comparable amount and period in the London interbank market. A certificate of an Agent or a Lender delivered to the Administrative Borrower setting forth any amount or amounts that such Agent or such Lender is entitled to receive pursuant to this Section 2.08 shall be conclusive absent manifest error.

Section 2.09 Taxes . (a) Any and all payments by or on account of any Loan Party hereunder or under any other Loan Document shall be made free and clear of and without deduction for any and all Taxes, except as required by applicable law. If any Loan Party shall be required to deduct any Taxes from or in respect of any sum payable hereunder to any Secured Party (or any transferee or assignee thereof, including a participation holder (any such entity, a " Transferee ")), (i) the applicable Withholding Agent shall make such deductions and (ii) the applicable Withholding Agent shall pay the full amount deducted to the relevant Governmental Authority in accordance with applicable law and (iii) if such Tax is an Indemnified Tax, then the sum payable by the applicable Loan Party shall be increased by the amount (an " Additional Amount ") necessary such that after making all required deductions (including deductions applicable to additions sums payable under this Section 2.09) such Secured Party (or such Transferee receives the amount equal to the sum it would have received had no such deductions been made.

(b) In addition, each Loan Party agrees to pay to the relevant Governmental Authority in accordance with applicable law any Other Taxes. Each Loan Party shall deliver to each Secured Party official receipts in respect of any Taxes or Other Taxes payable hereunder promptly after payment of such Taxes or Other Taxes.

(c) The Loan Parties hereby jointly and severally indemnify and agree to hold each Secured Party harmless from and against Indemnified Taxes and Other Taxes (including, without limitation, Indemnified Taxes and Other Taxes imposed on any amounts payable under this Section 2.09) paid by such Person, whether or not such Taxes or Other Taxes were correctly or legally asserted. Such indemnification shall be paid within 10 days from the date on which any such Person makes written demand therefore specifying in reasonable detail the nature and amount of such Indemnified Taxes or Other Taxes.

(d) Each Lender (or Transferee) that is not a U.S. Person (a " Non-U.S. Lender ") agrees that it shall, no later than the Effective Date (or, in the case of a Lender which becomes a party hereto pursuant to Section 12.07 hereof after the Effective Date, promptly after the date upon which such Lender becomes a party hereto) deliver to the Administrative Borrower and Agents one properly completed and duly executed copy of either U.S. Internal Revenue Service Form W-8BEN-E, W-8ECI or W-8IMY or any subsequent versions thereof or successors thereto, in each case claiming complete exemption from, or reduced rate of, U.S. Federal withholding tax on payments of interest hereunder. In addition, in the case of a Non-U.S. Lender claiming exemption from U.S. Federal withholding tax under Section 871(h) or 881(c) of the Internal Revenue Code, such Non-U.S. Lender hereby represents to the Agents and the Borrowers that such Non-U.S. Lender is not a bank for purposes of Section 881(c) of the Internal Revenue Code, is not a 10-percent shareholder (within the meaning of Section 871(h)(3)(B) of the Internal Revenue Code) of the Parent and is not a controlled foreign corporation related to the Parent (within the meaning of Section 864(d)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code), and such Non-U.S. Lender agrees that it shall promptly notify the Agents in the event any such representation is no longer accurate. Such forms shall be delivered by each Non-U.S. Lender on or before the date it becomes a party to this Agreement (or, in the case of a Transferee that is a participation holder, on or before the date such participation holder becomes a Transferee hereunder) and on or before the date, if any, such Non-U.S. Lender changes its applicable lending office by designating a different lending office (a " New Lending Office "). In addition, such Lender (or Transferee) shall deliver such forms within 20 days after receipt of a written request therefor from the Administrative Borrower or any Agent, the assigning Lender or the Lender granting a participation, as applicable. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Section 2.09, a Non-U.S. Lender shall not be required to deliver any form pursuant to this Section 2.09(d) that such Non-U.S. Lender is not legally able to deliver. Each Lender that is a U.S. Person shall provide the Administrative Borrower and Agents one properly completed and duly executed copy of U.S. Internal Revenue Service Form W-9 on or before such Lender becomes a party to this Agreement, and promptly upon request from the Administrative Borrower or Agents at any time in the future.

(e) Any Secured Party (or Transferee) claiming any indemnity payment or additional payment amounts payable pursuant to this Section 2.09 shall use reasonable efforts (consistent with legal and regulatory restrictions) to file any certificate or document reasonably requested in writing by the Administrative Borrower or to change the jurisdiction of its applicable lending office if the making of such a filing or change would avoid the need for or reduce the amount of any such indemnity payment or additional amount that may thereafter accrue, would not require such Secured Party (or Transferee) to disclose any information such Secured Party (or Transferee) deems confidential and would not, in the sole determination of such Secured Party (or Transferee), be otherwise disadvantageous to such Secured Party (or Transferee).

(f) If any Secured Party (or a Transferee) shall become aware that it is entitled to claim a refund from a Governmental Authority in respect of Taxes or Other Taxes with respect to which any Loan Party has made an indemnity payment or paid additional amounts, pursuant to this Section 2.09, it shall promptly notify the Administrative Borrower of the availability of such refund claim and shall, within 30 days after receipt of a request by the Administrative Borrower, make a claim to such Governmental Authority for such refund at the Loan Parties' expense. If any Secured Party (or a Transferee) receives a refund (including pursuant to a claim for refund made pursuant to the preceding sentence) in respect of any Taxes or Other Taxes with respect to which any Loan Party has made an Indemnity payment or paid additional amounts pursuant to this Section 2.09, it shall within 30 days from the date of such receipt pay over such refund to the Administrative Borrower, net of all out-of-pocket expenses of such Secured Party (or Transferee).

(g) If a payment made to a Lender (or Transferee) or any Agent under any Loan Document would be subject to U.S. Federal withholding tax imposed by FATCA if such Lender (or Transferee) or Agent were to fail to comply with the applicable reporting requirements of FATCA (including those contained in Section 1471(b) or 1472(b) of the Internal Revenue Code, as applicable), such Lender (or Transferee) or Agent shall deliver to the Administrative Borrower and the Agents at the time or times prescribed by law and at such time or times reasonably requested by the Administrative Borrower or the Agents such documentation prescribed by applicable law (including as prescribed by Section 1471(b)(3)(C)(i) of the Internal Revenue Code) and such additional documentation reasonably requested by the Administrative Borrower or the Agents as may be necessary for the Administrative Borrower and the Agents to comply with their obligations under FATCA and to determine that such Lender (or Transferee) or Agent has complied with its obligations under FATCA or to determine the amount to deduct and withhold from such payment. Solely for purposes of this clause (g), "FATCA" shall include any amendments made to FATCA after the date of this Agreement. Any forms, certifications or other documentation under this clause (g) shall be delivered by each Lender (or Transferee) and each Agent.

(h) The obligations of the Loan Parties under this Section 2.09 shall survive the termination of this Agreement and the payment of the Loans and all other amounts payable hereunder.

Section 2.10 Increased Costs and Reduced Return . (a) If any Secured Party shall have determined that any Change in Law shall (i) subject such Secured Party, or any Person controlling such Secured Party to any tax, duty or other charge with respect to this Agreement or any Loan made by such Agent or such Lender, or change the basis of taxation of payments to such Secured Party or any Person controlling such Secured Party of any amounts payable hereunder (except for Excluded Taxes), (ii) impose, modify or deem applicable any reserve, special deposit or similar requirement against any Loan or against assets of or held by, or deposits with or for the account of, or credit extended by, such Secured Party or any Person controlling such Secured Party or (iii) impose on such Secured Party or any Person controlling such Secured Party any other condition regarding this Agreement or any Loan, and the result of any event referred to in clauses (i), (ii) or (iii) above shall be to increase the cost to such Secured Party of making any Loan, or agreeing to make any Loan, or to reduce any amount received or receivable by such Secured Party hereunder, then, upon demand by such Secured Party, the Borrowers shall pay to such Secured Party such additional amounts as will compensate such Secured Party for such increased costs or reductions in amount.

(b) If any Secured Party shall have determined that any Change in Law either (i) affects or would affect the amount of capital required or expected to be maintained by such Secured Party or any Person controlling such Secured Party, and such Secured Party determines that the amount of such capital is increased as a direct or indirect consequence of any Loans made or maintained, such Secured Party's or such other controlling Person's other obligations hereunder, or (ii) has or would have the effect of reducing the rate of return on such Secured Party's such other controlling Person's capital to a level below that which such Secured Party or such controlling Person could have achieved but for such circumstances as a consequence of any Loans made or maintained, or any agreement to make Loans, or such Secured Party's or such other controlling Person's other obligations hereunder (in each case, taking into consideration, such Secured Party's or such other controlling Person's policies with respect to capital adequacy), then, upon demand by such Secured Party, the Borrowers shall pay to such Secured Party from time to time such additional amounts as will compensate such Secured Party for such cost of maintaining such increased capital or such reduction in the rate of return on such Secured Party's or such other controlling Person's capital.

(c) All amounts payable under this Section 2.10 shall bear interest from the date that is 10 days after the date of demand by any Secured Party until payment in full to such Secured Party at the Reference Rate. A certificate of such Secured Party claiming compensation under this Section 2.10, specifying the event herein above described and the nature of such event shall be submitted by such Secured Party to the Administrative Borrower, setting forth the additional amount due and an explanation of the calculation thereof, and such Secured Party's reasons for invoking the provisions of this Section 2.10, and shall be final and conclusive absent manifest error.

(d) Failure or delay on the part of any Lender to demand compensation pursuant to the foregoing provisions of this Section 2.10 shall not constitute a waiver of such Lender's right to demand such compensation; provided that the Borrowers shall not be required to compensate a Lender pursuant to the foregoing provisions of this Section 2.10 for any increased costs incurred or reductions suffered more than six months prior to the date that such Lender notifies the Administrative Borrower of the Change in Law giving rise to such increased costs or reductions and of such Lender's intention to claim compensation therefor (except that, if the Change in Law giving rise to such increased costs or reductions is retroactive, then the six-month period referred to above shall be extended to include the period of retroactive effect thereof).

(e) The obligations of the Loan Parties under this Section 2.10 shall survive the termination of this Agreement and the payment of the Loans and all other amounts payable hereunder.

Section 2.11 Changes in Law; Impracticability or Illegality .

(a) The LIBOR Rate may be adjusted by the Administrative Agent with respect to any Lender on a prospective basis to take into account any additional or increased costs to such Lender of maintaining or obtaining any eurodollar deposits or increased costs due to changes in applicable law occurring subsequent to the commencement of the then applicable Interest Period, including changes in tax laws (except changes of general applicability in corporate income tax laws or changes relating to Excluded Taxes) and changes in the reserve requirements imposed by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System (or any successor), excluding the Reserve Percentage, which additional or increased costs would increase the cost of funding loans bearing interest at the LIBOR Rate. In any such event, the affected Lender shall give the Administrative Borrower and the Administrative Agent notice of such a determination and adjustment and the Administrative Agent promptly shall transmit the notice to each other Lender and, upon its receipt of the notice from the affected Lender, the Administrative Borrower may, by notice to such affected Lender (i) require such Lender to furnish to the Administrative Borrower a statement setting forth the basis for adjusting such LIBOR Rate and the method for determining the amount of such adjustment, or (ii) repay the LIBOR Rate Loans with respect to which such adjustment is made (together with any amounts due under Section 2.09).

(b) In the event that any change in market conditions or any law, regulation, treaty, or directive, or any change therein or in the interpretation of application thereof, shall at any time after the date hereof, in the reasonable opinion of any Lender, make it unlawful or impractical for such Lender to fund or maintain LIBOR Rate Loans or to continue such funding or maintaining, or to determine or charge interest rates at the LIBOR Rate, such Lender shall give notice of such changed circumstances to the Administrative Borrower and the Administrative Agent, and the Administrative Agent promptly shall transmit the notice to each other Lender and (i) in the case of any LIBOR Rate Loans of such Lender that are outstanding, the date specified in such Lender's notice shall be deemed to be the last day of the Interest Period of such LIBOR Rate Loans, and interest upon the LIBOR Rate Loans of such Lender thereafter shall accrue interest at the rate then applicable to Reference Rate Loans of the same type hereunder, and (ii) the Borrowers shall not be entitled to elect the LIBOR Option (including in any borrowing, conversion or continuation then being requested) until such Lender determines that it would no longer be unlawful or impractical to do so.

(c) The obligations of the Loan Parties under this Section 2.11 shall survive the termination of this Agreement and the payment of the Loans and all other amounts payable hereunder.

ARTICLE III

[INTENTIONALLY OMITTED]

ARTICLE IV

APPLICATION OF PAYMENTS; DEFAULTING LENDERS; JOINT AND SEVERAL LIABILITY OF BORROWERS

Section 4.01 Payments; Computations and Statements . (a) The Borrowers will make each payment under this Agreement not later than 12:00 noon (New York City time) on the day when due, in lawful money of the United States of America and in immediately available funds, to the Administrative Agent's Account. All payments received by the Administrative Agent after 12:00 noon (New York City time) on any Business Day will be credited to the Loan Account on the next succeeding Business Day. All payments shall be made by the Borrowers without set-off, counterclaim, recoupment, deduction or other defense to the Agents and the Lenders. Except as provided in Section 2.02, after receipt, the Administrative Agent will promptly thereafter cause to be distributed like funds relating to the payment of principal ratably to the Lenders in accordance with their Pro Rata Shares and like funds relating to the payment of any other amount payable to any Lender to such Lender, in each case to be applied in accordance with the terms of this Agreement, provided that the Administrative Agent will cause to be distributed all interest and fees received from or for the account of the Borrowers not less than once each month and in any event promptly after receipt thereof. The Lenders and the Borrowers hereby authorize the Administrative Agent to, and the Administrative Agent may, from time to time, charge the Loan Account of the Borrowers with any amount due and payable by the Borrowers under any Loan Document. Each of the Lenders and the Borrowers agrees that the Administrative Agent shall have the right to make such charges whether or not any Default or Event of Default shall have occurred and be continuing or whether any of the conditions precedent in Section 5.03 have been satisfied. Any amount charged to the Loan Account of the Borrowers shall be deemed Obligations. Whenever any payment to be made under any such Loan Document shall be stated to be due on a day other than a Business Day, such payment shall be made on the next succeeding Business Day and such extension of time shall in such case be included in the computation of interest or fees, as the case may be. All computations of fees shall be made by the Administrative Agent on the basis of a year of 360 days for the actual number of days. Each determination by the Administrative Agent of an interest rate or fees hereunder shall be conclusive and binding for all purposes in the absence of manifest error.

(b) The Administrative Agent shall provide the Administrative Borrower, promptly after the end of each calendar quarter, a summary statement (in the form from time to time used by the Administrative Agent) of the opening and closing daily balances in the Loan Account of the Borrowers during such quarter, the amounts and dates of all Loans made to the Borrowers during such quarter, the amounts and dates of all payments on account of the Loans to the Borrowers during such quarter and the Loans to which such payments were applied, the amount of interest accrued on the Loans to the Borrowers during such quarter, and the amount and nature of any charges to the Loan Account made during such quarter on account of fees, commissions, expenses and other Obligations. All entries on any such statement shall be presumed to be correct and, 30 days after the same is sent, shall be final and conclusive absent manifest error.

Section 4.02 Sharing of Payments . Except as provided in Section 2.02 hereof, if any Lender shall obtain any payment (whether voluntary, involuntary, through the exercise of any right of set-off, or otherwise) on account of any Obligation in excess of its ratable share of payments on account of similar obligations obtained by all the Lenders, such Lender shall forthwith purchase from the other Lenders such participations in such similar obligations held by them as shall be necessary to cause such purchasing Lender to share the excess payment ratably with each of them; provided , however , that (a) if all or any portion of such excess payment is thereafter recovered from such purchasing Lender, such purchase from each Lender shall be rescinded and each Lender shall repay to the purchasing Lender the purchase price to the extent of such recovery together with an amount equal to such Lender's ratable share (according to the proportion of (i) the amount of such Lender's required repayment to (ii) the total amount so recovered from the purchasing Lender) of any interest or other amount paid by the purchasing Lender in respect of the total amount so recovered and (b) the provisions of this Section shall not be construed to apply to (i) any payment made by the Borrowers pursuant to and in accordance with the express terms of this Agreement (including the application of funds arising from the existence of a Defaulting Lender), or (ii) any payment obtained by a Lender as consideration for the assignment of or sale of a participation in any of its Loans, other than to any Loan Party or any Subsidiary thereof (as to which the provisions of this Section shall apply). The Borrowers agree that any Lender so purchasing a participation from another Lender pursuant to this Section may, to the fullest extent permitted by law, exercise all of its rights (including the Lender's right of set-off) with respect to such participation as fully as if such Lender were the direct creditor of the Borrowers in the amount of such participation.

Section 4.03 Apportionment of Payments . Subject to Section 2.02 hereof:

(a) All payments of principal and interest in respect of outstanding Loans, all payments of fees (other than the fees set forth in Section 2.06 hereof) and all other payments in respect of any other Obligations, shall be allocated by the Administrative Agent among such of the Lenders as are entitled thereto, in proportion to their respective Pro Rata Shares or otherwise as provided herein or, in respect of payments not made on account of Loans, as designated by the Person making payment when the payment is made.

(b) After the occurrence and during the continuance of an Event of Default, the Administrative Agent may, and upon the direction of the Collateral Agent or the Required Lenders shall, apply all proceeds of the Collateral, subject to the provisions of this Agreement, (i) first , ratably to pay the Obligations in respect of any fees, expense reimbursements, indemnities and other amounts then due and payable to the Agents until paid in full; (ii) second , to pay interest then due and payable in respect of the Collateral Agent Advances until paid in full; (iii) third , to pay principal of the Collateral Agent Advances until paid in full; (iv) fourth , ratably to pay the Obligations in respect of any fees, expense reimbursements, indemnities and other amounts then due and payable to the Lenders until paid in full; (v) fifth , ratably to pay interest then due and payable in respect of the Loans until paid in full; (vi) sixth , ratably to pay principal of the Loans until paid in full; and (vii) seventh , to the ratable payment of all other Obligations then due and payable.

(c) For purposes of Section 4.03(b), "paid in full" means payment in cash of all amounts owing under the Loan Documents according to the terms thereof, including loan fees, service fees, reasonable out-of-pocket professional fees for which an invoice has been presented, interest (and specifically including interest accrued after the commencement of any Insolvency Proceeding), default interest, interest on interest, and reasonable out-of-pocket expense reimbursements for which an invoice has been presented, whether or not same would be or is allowed or disallowed in whole or in part in any Insolvency Proceeding.

(d) In the event of a direct conflict between the priority provisions of this Section 4.03 and other provisions contained in any other Loan Document, it is the intention of the parties hereto that both such priority provisions in such documents shall be read together and construed, to the fullest extent possible, to be in concert with each other. In the event of any actual, irreconcilable conflict that cannot be resolved as aforesaid, the terms and provisions of this Section 4.03 shall control and govern.

Section 4.04 Defaulting Lenders . Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this Agreement, if any Lender becomes a Defaulting Lender, then, until such time as such Lender is no longer a Defaulting Lender, to the extent permitted by applicable law:

(a) Such Defaulting Lender's right to approve or disapprove any amendment, waiver or consent with respect to this Agreement shall be restricted as set forth in the definition of Required Lenders.

(b) The Administrative Agent shall not be obligated to transfer to such Defaulting Lender any payments made by any Borrower to the Administrative Agent for such Defaulting Lender's benefit, and, in the absence of such transfer to such Defaulting Lender, the Administrative Agent shall transfer any such payments to each other non-Defaulting Lender ratably in accordance with their Pro Rata Shares (without giving effect to the Pro Rata Shares of such Defaulting Lender) (but only to the extent that such Defaulting Lender's Loans were funded by the other Lenders) or, if so directed by the Administrative Borrower and if no Default or Event of Default has occurred and is continuing (and to the extent such Defaulting Lender's Loans were not funded by the other Lenders), retain the same to be re-advanced to the Borrowers as if such Defaulting Lender had made such Loans to the Borrowers. Subject to the foregoing, the Administrative Agent may hold and, in its discretion, re-lend to the Borrowers for the account of such Defaulting Lender the amount of all such payments received and retained by the Administrative Agent for the account of such Defaulting Lender.

(c) [Intentionally omitted].

(d) The operation of this Section shall not be construed to increase or otherwise affect the Commitments of any Lender, to relieve or excuse the performance by such Defaulting Lender or any other Lender of its duties and obligations hereunder, or to relieve or excuse the performance by any Borrower of its duties and obligations hereunder to the Administrative Agent or to the Lenders other than such Defaulting Lender.

(e) This Section shall remain effective with respect to such Lender until either (i) the Obligations under this Agreement shall have been declared or shall have become immediately due and payable or (ii) the non-Defaulting Lenders, the Agents, and the Borrowers shall have waived such Defaulting Lender's default in writing, and the Defaulting Lender makes its Pro Rata Share of the applicable defaulted Loans and pays to the Agents all amounts owing by such Defaulting Lender in respect thereof; provided that no adjustments will be made retroactively with respect to fees accrued or payments made by or on behalf of the Borrowers while such Lender was a Defaulting Lender; provided, further, that except to the extent otherwise expressly agreed by the affected parties, no change hereunder from Defaulting Lender to Lender will constitute a waiver or release of any claim of any party hereunder arising from such Lender's having been a Defaulting Lender.

Section 4.05 Administrative Borrower; Joint and Several Liability of the Borrowers .

(a) Each Borrower hereby irrevocably appoints TPI Composites, Inc. as the borrowing agent and attorney-in-fact for the Borrowers (the " Administrative Borrower ") which appointment shall remain in full force and effect unless and until the Agents shall have received prior written notice signed by all of the Borrowers that such appointment has been revoked and that another Borrower has been appointed Administrative Borrower. Each Borrower hereby irrevocably appoints and authorizes the Administrative Borrower (i) to provide to the Agents and receive from the Agents all notices with respect to Loans obtained for the benefit of any Borrower and all other notices and instructions under this Agreement and (ii) to take such action as the Administrative Borrower deems appropriate on its behalf to obtain Loans and to exercise such other powers as are reasonably incidental thereto to carry out the purposes of this Agreement. It is understood that the handling of the Loan Account and Collateral of the Borrowers in a combined fashion, as more fully set forth herein, is done solely as an accommodation to the Borrowers in order to utilize the collective borrowing powers of the Borrowers in the most efficient and economical manner and at their request, and that neither the Agents nor the Lenders shall incur liability to the Borrowers as a result hereof. Each Borrower expects to derive benefit, directly or indirectly, from the handling of the Loan Account and the Collateral in a combined fashion since the successful operation of each Borrower is dependent on the continued successful performance of the integrated group.

(b) Each Borrower hereby accepts joint and several liability hereunder and under the other Loan Documents in consideration of the financial accommodations to be provided by the Agents and the Lenders under this Agreement and the other Loan Documents, for the mutual benefit, directly and indirectly, of each of the Borrowers and in consideration of the undertakings of the other Borrowers to accept joint and several liability for the Obligations. Each of the Borrowers, jointly and severally, hereby irrevocably and unconditionally accepts, not merely as a surety but also as a co-debtor, joint and several liability with the other Borrowers, with respect to the payment and performance of all of the Obligations (including, without limitation, any Obligations arising under this Section 4.05), it being the intention of the parties hereto that all of the Obligations shall be the joint and several obligations of each of the Borrowers without preferences or distinction among them. If and to the extent that any of the Borrowers shall fail to make any payment with respect to any of the Obligations as and when due or to perform any of the Obligations in accordance with the terms thereof, then in each such event, the other Borrowers will make such payment with respect to, or perform, such Obligation. Subject to the terms and conditions hereof, the Obligations of each of the Borrowers under the provisions of this Section 4.05 constitute the absolute and unconditional, full recourse Obligations of each of the Borrowers, enforceable against each such Person to the full extent of its properties and assets, irrespective of the validity, regularity or enforceability of this Agreement, the other Loan Documents or any other circumstances whatsoever.

(c) The provisions of this Section 4.05 are made for the benefit of the Agents (including any sub-agent thereof), the Lenders and their successors and assigns, and may be enforced by them from time to time against any or all of the Borrowers as often as occasion therefor may arise and without requirement on the part of the Agents, the Lenders or such successors or assigns first to marshal any of its or their claims or to exercise any of its or their rights against any of the other Borrowers or to exhaust any remedies available to it or them against any of the other Borrowers or to resort to any other source or means of obtaining payment of any of the Obligations hereunder or to elect any other remedy. The provisions of this Section 4.05 shall remain in effect until all of the Obligations (other than Contingent Indemnity Obligations) shall have been paid in full or otherwise fully satisfied.

(d) Each of the Borrowers hereby agrees that it will not enforce any of its rights of contribution or subrogation against the other Borrowers with respect to any liability incurred by it hereunder or under any of the other Loan Documents, any payments made by it to the Agents or the Lenders with respect to any of the Obligations or any Collateral, until such time as all of the Obligations (other than Contingent Indemnity Obligations) have been paid in full in cash. Any claim which any Borrower may have against any other Borrower with respect to any payments to the Agents or the Lenders hereunder or under any other Loan Documents are hereby expressly made subordinate and junior in right of payment, without limitation as to any increases in the Obligations arising hereunder or thereunder, to the prior payment in full in cash of the Obligations (other than Contingent Indemnity Obligations).

ARTICLE V

CONDITIONS TO LOANS

Section 5.01 Conditions Precedent to Effectiveness . This Agreement shall become effective as of the Business Day (the " Effective Date ") when each of the following conditions precedent shall have been satisfied in a manner satisfactory to the Agents:

(a) Payment of Fees, Etc . The Borrowers shall have paid on or before the Effective Date all fees, costs, expenses and taxes then payable pursuant to Section 2.06 and Section 12.04.

(b) Representations and Warranties; No Event of Default . The following statements shall be true and correct: (i) the representations and warranties contained in Article VI and in each other Loan Document, certificate or other writing delivered to any Secured Party pursuant hereto or thereto on or prior to the Effective Date are true and correct on and as of the Effective Date as though made on and as of such date, except to the extent that any such representation or warranty expressly relates solely to an earlier date (in which case such representation or warranty shall be true and correct on and as of such earlier date) and (ii) no Default or Event of Default shall have occurred and be continuing on the Effective Date or would result from this Agreement or the other Loan Documents becoming effective in accordance with its or their respective terms.

(c) Legality . The making of the initial Loans shall not contravene any law, rule or regulation applicable to any Secured Party.

(d) Delivery of Documents . The Collateral Agent shall have received on or before the Effective Date the following, each in form and substance satisfactory to the Collateral Agent and, unless indicated otherwise, dated the Effective Date and, if applicable, duly executed by the Persons party thereto:

(i) a Security Agreement, together with the original stock certificates representing all of the Equity Interests and all promissory notes required to be pledged thereunder, accompanied by undated stock powers executed in blank and other proper instruments of transfer;

(ii) a UCC Filing Authorization Letter, together with evidence satisfactory to the Collateral Agent of the filing of appropriate financing statements on Form UCC-1 in such office or offices as may be necessary or, in the opinion of the Collateral Agent, desirable to perfect the security interests purported to be created by the Security Agreement;

(iii) the results of searches for any effective UCC financing statements, tax Liens or judgment Liens filed against any Loan Party or its property, which results shall not show any such Liens (other than Permitted Liens acceptable to the Collateral Agent);

(iv) a Perfection Certificate;

(v) the Disbursement Letter;

(vi) the Fee Letter;

(vii) the Intercompany Subordination Agreement;

(viii) a Management Rights Agreement between the Parent and each Lender that is intended to qualify as a venture capital operating company under the United States Department of Labor Regulation published at 29 C.F.R. Section 2510.3-101 (each a " VCOC Management Rights Agreement ");

(ix) a certificate of an Authorized Officer of each Loan Party, certifying (A) as to copies of the Governing Documents of such Loan Party, together with all amendments thereto (including, without limitation, a true and complete copy of the charter, certificate of formation, certificate of limited partnership or other publicly filed organizational document of each Loan Party certified as of a recent date not more than 30 days prior to the Effective Date by an appropriate official of the jurisdiction of organization of such Loan Party which shall set forth the same complete name of such Loan Party as is set forth herein and the organizational number of such Loan Party, if an organizational number is issued in such jurisdiction), (B) as to a copy of the resolutions or written consents of such Loan Party authorizing (1) the borrowings hereunder and the transactions contemplated by the Loan Documents to which such Loan Party is or will be a party, and (2) the execution, delivery and performance by such Loan Party of each Loan Document to which such Loan Party is or will be a party and the execution and delivery of the other documents to be delivered by such Person in connection herewith and therewith, (C) the names and true signatures of the representatives of such Loan Party authorized to sign each Loan Document (in the case of a Borrower, including, without limitation, Notices of Borrowing, LIBOR Notices and all other notices under this Agreement and the other Loan Documents) to which such Loan Party is or will be a party and the other documents to be executed and delivered by such Loan Party in connection herewith and therewith, together with evidence of the incumbency of such authorized officers and (D) as to the matters set forth in Section 5.01(b);

(x) a certificate of the chief financial officer of the Parent attaching a copy of the Financial Statements and the Projections described in Section 6.01(g)(ii) hereof and certifying as to the compliance with the representations and warranties set forth in Section 6.01(g)(i) and Section 6.01(bb)(ii);

(xi) a certificate of the chief financial officer of the Parent, certifying that the Loan Parties on a consolidated basis are Solvent (after giving effect to the Loans made on the Effective Date);

(xii) a certificate of an Authorized Officer of the Administrative Borrower certifying that (A) the attached copies of the Material Contracts as in effect on the Effective Date are true, complete and correct copies thereof and (B) such agreements remain in full force and effect and that none of the Loan Parties is in breach or default of any of its obligations under such agreements;

(xiii) a certificate of the appropriate official(s) of the jurisdiction of organization and, except to the extent such failure to be so qualified could not reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect, each jurisdiction of foreign qualification of each Loan Party certifying as of a recent date not more than 30 days prior to the Effective Date as to the subsistence in good standing of such Loan Party in such jurisdictions;

(xiv) an opinion of Goodwin Procter LLP, counsel to the Loan Parties, as to such matters as the Collateral Agent may reasonably request;

(xv) evidence of the insurance coverage required by Section 7.01 and the terms of the Security Agreement;

(xvi) [intentionally omitted];

(xvii) [intentionally omitted];

(xviii) evidence of the payment in full of all Indebtedness under the Existing Credit Facilities, together with (A) a termination and release agreement with respect to each Existing Credit Facility (in the case of the GE China Loan and the GE Iowa Loan, only with respect to the relevant sections of the applicable supply agreements with GE) and all related documents, duly executed by the Loan Parties and the Existing Lenders, (B) a termination of security interest in Intellectual Property for each assignment for security recorded by the Existing Lenders at the United States Patent and Trademark Office or the United States Copyright Office and covering any intellectual property of the Loan Parties, and (C) UCC-3 termination statements for all UCC-1 financing statements filed by the Existing Lenders and covering any portion of the Collateral;

(xix) [intentionally omitted];

(xx) evidence satisfactory to the Agents that a Process Agent has been properly appointed by each Loan Party in accordance with Section 12.10(b);

(xxi) evidence satisfactory to the Agents that the existing equity holders of the Parent have waived or deferred in writing, on terms acceptable to the Agents, any applicable redemption rights under the Eighth Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation of the Parent until the Obligations have been paid in full and all Commitments hereunder have been terminated; and (xxii) such other agreements, instruments, approvals, opinions and other documents, each satisfactory to the Agents in form and substance, as any Agent may reasonably request.

(e) Material Adverse Effect . The Collateral Agent shall have reasonably determined that no event or development shall have occurred since December 31, 2013 which could reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect.

(f) Approvals . All consents, authorizations and approvals of, and filings and registrations with, and all other actions in respect of, any Governmental Authority or other Person required in connection with the making of the Loans or the conduct of the Loan Parties' business shall have been obtained and shall be in full force and effect.

(g) Proceedings; Receipt of Documents . All proceedings in connection with the making of the initial Loans and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement and the other Loan Documents, and all documents incidental hereto and thereto, shall be satisfactory to the Collateral Agent and its counsel, and the Collateral Agent and such counsel shall have received all such information and such counterpart originals or certified or other copies of such documents as the Collateral Agent or such counsel may reasonably request.

(h) Management Reference Checks . The Collateral Agent shall have received satisfactory reference checks for, and shall have had an opportunity to meet with, key management of each Loan Party.

(i) Waiver under Turkey Supply Agreement . The Agents shall have received a copy of a letter or other agreement, in form and substance satisfactory to the Agents, executed by General Electric International, Inc. and waiving all defaults existing as of the Effective Date under the Supply Agreement dated as of December 21, 2011, by and among General Electric International, Inc. and TPI Kompozit Kanat Sanayi ve Ticaret A.S., as such agreement has been amended or otherwise modified from time to time.

(j) Pro Forma Balance Sheet . The Agents shall have received consolidated and consolidating balance sheets of the Parent and its Subsidiaries giving pro forma effect to the transactions contemplated hereby to occur on the Effective Date and in form and substance satisfactory to the Agents.

Section 5.02 Conditions Precedent to Delayed Draw Term Loans . The obligation of any Agent or any Lender to make any Delayed Draw Term Loan hereunder is subject to:

(a) the receipt by the Agents of a certificate delivered by an Authorized Officer of the Borrower certifying to the Agents and the Lenders that the proceeds of the Delayed Draw Term Loans are being used for a Permitted Project and are in compliance with the budget for such Permitted Project set forth on Schedule 1.01(C) (as such schedule may be updated from time to time in accordance with the terms of this Agreement) and attaching thereto a detailed sources and uses statement in form and substance reasonably satisfactory to the Required Lenders;

(b) a certificate of the chief financial officer of the Parent, certifying that the Loan Parties on a consolidated basis are Solvent (after giving effect to the Delayed Draw Term Loans to be made on such date);

(c) a certificate of the chief financial officer of the Parent setting forth in reasonable detail the calculations required to establish, on a pro forma basis after giving effect to the Delayed Draw Term Loans to be made on such date, compliance with each of the financial covenants contained in Section 7.03 for the next four fiscal quarters;

(d) the Required Lenders shall be reasonably satisfied that there are committed take or pay contracts that will provide sufficient revenue to support the Permitted Project being financed with such Delayed Draw Term Loan; and

(e) the Borrowers shall have Qualified Cash in an amount equal to or greater than $3,000,000 immediately prior to giving effect to the making of the proposed Delayed Draw Term Loan.

Section 5.03 Conditions Precedent to All Loans . The obligation of any Agent or any Lender to make any Loan after the Effective Date is subject to the fulfillment, in a manner satisfactory to the Administrative Agent, of each of the following conditions precedent:

(a) Payment of Fees, Etc. The Borrowers shall have paid all fees, costs, expenses and taxes then payable by the Borrowers pursuant to this Agreement and the other Loan Documents, including, without limitation, Section 2.06 and Section 12.04 hereof.

(b) Representations and Warranties; No Event of Default . The following statements shall be true and correct, and the submission by the Administrative Borrower to the Administrative Agent of a Notice of Borrowing with respect to each such Loan, and the Borrowers' acceptance of the proceeds of such Loan, that: (i) the representations and warranties contained in Article VI and in each other Loan Document, certificate or other writing delivered to any Agent or any Lender pursuant hereto or thereto on or prior to the date of such Loan are true and correct on and as of such date as though made on and as of such date, except to the extent that any such representation or warranty expressly relates solely to an earlier date (in which case such representation or warranty shall be true and correct on and as of such earlier date), (ii) at the time of and after giving effect to the making of such Loan and the application of the proceeds thereof, no Default or Event of Default has occurred and is continuing or would result from the making of the Loan to be made, on such date and (iii) the conditions set forth in this Section 5.03 have been satisfied as of the date of such request.

(c) Legality . The making of such Loan shall not contravene any law, rule or regulation applicable to any Secured Party.

(d) Notices . The Administrative Agent shall have received a Notice of Borrowing pursuant to Section 2.02 hereof.

(e) Proceedings; Receipt of Documents . All proceedings in connection with the making of such Loan and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement and the other Loan Documents, and all documents incidental hereto and thereto, shall be satisfactory to the Agents and their counsel, and the Agents and such counsel shall have received such other agreements, instruments, approvals, opinions and other documents, each in form and substance satisfactory to the Agents, as any Agent may reasonably request.

Section 5.04 Conditions Subsequent to Effectiveness . The Loan Parties agree that, in addition to all other terms, conditions and provisions set forth in this Agreement and the other Loan Documents, including, without limitation, those conditions set forth in Section 5.01, the Loan Parties shall satisfy each of the conditions subsequent set forth below on or before the date applicable thereto (it being understood that (i) the failure by the Loan Parties to perform or cause to be performed any such condition subsequent on or before the date applicable thereto shall constitute an Event of Default and (ii) to the extent that the existence of any such condition subsequent would otherwise cause any representation, warranty or covenant in this Agreement or any other Loan Document to be breached, the Required Lenders hereby waive such breach for the period from the Effective Date until the date on which such condition subsequent is required to be fulfilled pursuant to this Section 5.04):

(a) within 60 days after the Effective Date (or such later date as agreed by the Collateral Agent), the Collateral Agent shall have received Cash Management Agreements, each in form and substance satisfactory to the Collateral Agent, with respect to the Cash Management Accounts;

(b) within 45 days after the Effective Date (or such later date as agreed by the Collateral Agent), the Collateral Agent shall have received an executed and legally valid and binding pledge agreement governed by the laws of Mexico with respect to 65% of the voting Equity Interests of any Foreign Subsidiary that is domiciled in Mexico and owned by a Loan Party and 100% of all other Equity Interests of such Foreign Subsidiary;

(c) within 45 days after the Effective Date (or such later date as agreed by the Collateral Agent), the Collateral Agent shall have received an executed and legally valid and binding pledge agreement governed by the laws of Turkey with respect to 65% of the voting Equity Interests of any Foreign Subsidiary that is domiciled in Turkey and owned by a Loan Party and 100% of all other Equity Interests of such Foreign Subsidiary;

(d) within 45 days after the Effective Date (or such later date as agreed by the Collateral Agent), the Collateral Agent shall have received a landlord waiver, in form and substance satisfactory to the Collateral Agent, executed by each landlord with respect to the properties located at (i) at 8501 N. Scottsdale Road, Suite 280, Scottsdale, Arizona, (ii) 2300 North 33rd Avenue East, Newton, Iowa, (iii) 373 Market Street, Warren, Rhode Island, (iv) 4800 Avenida Creel, Santa Teresa, New Mexico, (v) Lot 1A, Block 2, Verde Logistics Industrial Park Phase I, Santa Teresa, New Mexico and (vi) Lots 1A, 9, 10, and 11, Block 3, Santa Teresa Intermodal Park Phase 1, Dona Ana County, New Mexico; and

(e) within 30 days after the Effective Date (or such later date as agreed by the Collateral Agent), the Collateral Agent shall have received insurance endorsements as to the named insureds or loss payees under the Loan Parties' insurance policies as the Collateral Agent may request and providing that such policy may be terminated or canceled (by the insurer or the insured thereunder) only upon 30 days' prior written notice (or 10 days in the case of non-payment) to the Collateral Agent.

ARTICLE VI

REPRESENTATIONS AND WARRANTIES

Section 6.01 Representations and Warranties . Each Loan Party hereby represents and warrants to the Secured Parties as follows:

(a) Organization, Good Standing, Etc . Each Loan Party (i) is a corporation, limited liability company or limited partnership duly organized, validly existing and in good standing under the laws of the state or jurisdiction of its organization, (ii) has all requisite power and authority to conduct its business as now conducted and as presently contemplated and, in the case of the Borrowers, to make the borrowings hereunder, and to execute and deliver each Loan Document to which it is a party, and to consummate the transactions contemplated thereby, and (iii) is duly qualified to do business and is in good standing in each jurisdiction in which the character of the properties owned or leased by it or in which the transaction of its business makes such qualification necessary, except (solely for the purposes of this subclause (iii)) where the failure to be so qualified and in good standing could reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect.

(b) Authorization, Etc . The execution, delivery and performance by each Loan Party of each Loan Document to which it is or will be a party, (i) have been duly authorized by all necessary action, (ii) do not and will not contravene (A) any of its Governing Documents, (B) any applicable material Requirement of Law or (C) any material Contractual Obligation binding on or otherwise affecting it or any of its properties, (iii) do not and will not result in or require the creation of any Lien (other than pursuant to any Loan Document) upon or with respect to any of its properties, and (iv) do not and will not result in any default, noncompliance, suspension, revocation, impairment, forfeiture or nonrenewal of any permit, license, authorization or approval applicable to its operations or any of its properties, except, in the case of clause (iv), to the extent where such contravention, default, noncompliance, suspension, revocation, impairment, forfeiture or nonrenewal could not reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect.

(c) Governmental Approvals . No authorization or approval or other action by, and no notice to or filing with, any Governmental Authority is required in connection with the due execution, delivery and performance by any Loan Party of any Loan Document to which it is or will be a party other than filings and recordings with respect to Collateral to be made, or otherwise delivered to the Collateral Agent for filing or recordation, on the Effective Date.

(d) Enforceability of Loan Documents . This Agreement is, and each other Loan Document to which any Loan Party is or will be a party, when delivered hereunder, will be, a legal, valid and binding obligation of such Person, enforceable against such Person in accordance with its terms, except as enforceability may be limited by applicable bankruptcy, insolvency, reorganization, moratorium or other similar laws affecting the enforcement of creditors' rights generally and by general principles of equity.

(e) Capitalization . On the Effective Date, after giving effect to the transactions contemplated hereby to occur on the Effective Date, (i) the authorized Equity Interests of the Parent and each of its Subsidiaries and the issued and outstanding Equity Interests of the Parent and each of its Subsidiaries are as set forth on Schedule 6.01(e), (ii) all of the issued and outstanding shares of Equity Interests of the Parent and each of its Subsidiaries have been validly issued and are fully paid and nonassessable, and, except with respect to the Equity Interests of the Parent as described in further detail on Schedule 6.01(e), the holders thereof are not entitled to any preemptive, first refusal or other similar rights, (iii) all Equity Interests of such Subsidiaries of the Parent are owned by the Parent free and clear of all Liens (other than Permitted Specified Liens), and (iv) except as described on Schedule 6.01(e), there are no outstanding debt or equity securities of the Parent or any of its Subsidiaries and no outstanding obligations of the Parent or any of its Subsidiaries convertible into or exchangeable for, or warrants, options or other rights for the purchase or acquisition from the Parent or any of its Subsidiaries, or other obligations of the Parent or any of its Subsidiaries to issue, directly or indirectly, any shares of Equity Interests of the Parent or any of its Subsidiaries.

(f) Litigation . Except as set forth in Schedule 6.01(f), there is no pending or, to the best knowledge of any Loan Party, threatened action, suit or proceeding affecting any Loan Party or any of its properties before any court or other Governmental Authority or any arbitrator that (i) if adversely determined, could reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect or (ii) relates to this Agreement or any other Loan Document or any transaction contemplated hereby or thereby.

(g) Financial Statements .

(i) The Financial Statements, copies of which have been delivered to each Agent and each Lender, fairly present the consolidated financial condition of the Parent and its Subsidiaries as at the respective dates thereof and the consolidated results of operations of the Parent and its Subsidiaries for the fiscal periods ended on such respective dates, all in accordance with GAAP (adjusted as applicable in accordance with Schedule 1.01(B)). All material indebtedness and other liabilities (including, without limitation, Indebtedness, liabilities for taxes, long-term leases and other unusual forward or long-term commitments), direct or contingent, of the Parent and its Subsidiaries are set forth in the Financial Statements. Since December 31, 2013, no event or development has occurred that has had or could reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect.

(ii) The Parent has heretofore furnished to each Agent and each Lender (A) projected quarterly balance sheets, income statements and statements of cash flows of the Parent and its Subsidiaries for the period from January 1, 2014 through December 31, 2014, and (B) projected annual balance sheets, income statements and statements of cash flows of the Parent and its Subsidiaries for the Fiscal Years ending in 2015 through 2018, which projected financial statements shall be updated from time to time pursuant to Section 7.01(a)(vi).

(h) Compliance with Law, Etc . No Loan Party or any of its Subsidiaries is in violation of (i) any of its Governing Documents, (ii) any material Requirement of Law, or (iii) any material term of any material Contractual Obligation (including, without limitation, any Material Contract) binding on or otherwise affecting it or any of its properties, and no default or event of default has occurred and is continuing thereunder.

(i) ERISA . Except as set forth on Schedule 6.01(i), (i) each Employee Plan is in substantial compliance with ERISA and the Internal Revenue Code, (ii) no Termination Event has occurred nor is reasonably expected to occur with respect to any Employee Plan, (iii) the most recent annual report (Form 5500 Series) with respect to each Employee Plan, including any required Schedule B (Actuarial Information) thereto, copies of which have been filed with the Internal Revenue Service and delivered to the Agents, is complete and correct and fairly presents the funding status of such Employee Plan, and since the date of such report there has been no material adverse change in such funding status, (iv) copies of each agreement entered into with the PBGC, the U.S. Department of Labor or the Internal Revenue Service with respect to any Employee Plan have been delivered to the Agents, (v) no Employee Plan had an accumulated or waived funding deficiency or permitted decrease which would create a deficiency in its funding standard account or has applied for an extension of any amortization period within the meaning of Section 412 of the Internal Revenue Code at any time during the previous 60 months, and (vi) no Lien imposed under the Internal Revenue Code or ERISA exists or is likely to arise on account of any Employee Plan within the meaning of Section 412 of the Internal Revenue Code. Except as set forth on Schedule 6.01(i), no Loan Party or any of its ERISA Affiliates has incurred any withdrawal liability under ERISA with respect to any Multiemployer Plan, or is aware of any facts indicating that it or any of its ERISA Affiliates may in the future incur any such withdrawal liability. No Loan Party or any of its ERISA Affiliates nor any fiduciary of any Employee Plan has (i) engaged in a nonexempt prohibited transaction described in Sections 406 of ERISA or 4975 of the Internal Revenue Code, (ii) failed to pay any required installment or other payment required under Section 412 of the Internal Revenue Code on or before the due date for such required installment or payment, (iii) engaged in a transaction within the meaning of Section 4069 of ERISA or (iv) incurred any liability to the PBGC which remains outstanding other than the payment of premiums, and there are no premium payments which have become due which are unpaid. There are no pending or, to the best knowledge of any Loan Party, threatened claims, actions, proceedings or lawsuits (other than claims for benefits in the normal course) asserted or instituted against (i) any Employee Plan or its assets, (ii) any fiduciary with respect to any Employee Plan, or (iii) any Loan Party or any of its ERISA Affiliates with respect to any Employee Plan. Except as required by Section 4980B of the Internal Revenue Code, no Loan Party or any of its ERISA Affiliates maintains an employee welfare benefit plan (as defined in Section 3(1) of ERISA) which provides health or welfare benefits (through the purchase of insurance or otherwise) for any retired or former employee of any Loan Party or any of its ERISA Affiliates or coverage after a participant's termination of employment.

(j) Taxes, Etc . (i) All foreign, Federal and material provincial, state and local tax returns and other reports required by applicable Requirements of Law to be filed by any Loan Party have been filed, or extensions have been obtained, and (ii) all taxes, assessments and other governmental charges imposed upon any Loan Party or any property of any Loan Party in an aggregate amount for all such taxes, assessments and other governmental charges exceeding $500,000 and which have become due and payable on or prior to the date hereof have been paid, except to the extent contested in good faith by proper proceedings which stay the imposition of any penalty, fine or Lien resulting from the non-payment thereof and with respect to which adequate reserves have been set aside for the payment thereof on the Financial Statements in accordance with GAAP.

(k) Regulations T, U and X . No Loan Party is or will be engaged in the business of extending credit for the purpose of purchasing or carrying margin stock (within the meaning of Regulation T, U or X), and no proceeds of any Loan will be used to purchase or carry any margin stock or to extend credit to others for the purpose of purchasing or carrying any margin stock or for any purpose that violates, or is inconsistent with, the provisions of Regulation T, U and X.

(l) Nature of Business . No Loan Party is engaged in any business other than the business of owning and operating all existing business operations of Parent and its Subsidiaries conducted as of the Effective Date, and all business operations reasonably related thereto.

(m) Adverse Agreements, Etc . No Loan Party or any of its Subsidiaries is a party to any Contractual Obligation or subject to any restriction or limitation in any Governing Document or any judgment, order, regulation, ruling or other requirement of a court or other Governmental Authority, which (either individually or in the aggregate) has, or in the future could reasonably be expected (either individually or in the aggregate) to have, a Material Adverse Effect.

(n) Permits, Etc . Each Loan Party has, and is in compliance with, all permits, licenses, authorizations, approvals, entitlements and accreditations required for such Person lawfully to own, lease, manage or operate, or to acquire, each business and Facility currently owned, leased, managed or operated, or to be acquired, by such Person, except to the extent the failure to have or be in compliance therewith could not reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect. No condition exists or event has occurred which, in itself or with the giving of notice or lapse of time or both, would result in the suspension, revocation, impairment, forfeiture or non-renewal of any such permit, license, authorization, approval, entitlement or accreditation, and there is no claim that any thereof is not in full force and effect.

(o) Properties . Each Loan Party has good and marketable title to, valid leasehold interests in, or valid licenses to use, all property and assets material to its business, free and clear of all Liens, except Permitted Liens. All such properties and assets are in good working order and condition, ordinary wear and tear excepted.

(p) Employee and Labor Matters . There is (i) no unfair labor practice complaint pending or, to the best knowledge of any Loan Party, threatened against any Loan Party before any Governmental Authority and no grievance or arbitration proceeding pending or threatened against any Loan Party which arises out of or under any collective bargaining agreement, (ii) no strike, labor dispute, slowdown, stoppage or similar action or grievance pending or threatened against any Loan Party or (iii) to the best knowledge of each Loan Party, no union representation question existing with respect to the employees of any Loan Party and no union organizing activity taking place with respect to any of the employees of any Loan Party. No Loan Party or any of its ERISA Affiliates has incurred any liability or obligation under the Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act (" WARN ") or similar state law, which remains unpaid or unsatisfied. The hours worked and payments made to employees of any Loan Party have not been in violation of the Fair Labor Standards Act or any other applicable legal requirements. All material payments due from any Loan Party on account of wages and employee health and welfare insurance and other benefits have been paid or accrued as a liability on the books of such Loan Party.

(q) Environmental Matters . Except as set forth on Schedule 6.01(q), (i) the operations of each Loan Party are in compliance with all Environmental Laws; (ii) there has been no Release at any of the properties owned or operated by any Loan Party or a predecessor in interest, or at any disposal or treatment facility which received Hazardous Materials generated by any Loan Party or any predecessor in interest which could reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect; (iii) no Environmental Action has been asserted against any Loan Party or any predecessor in interest nor does any Loan Party have knowledge or notice of any threatened or pending Environmental Action against any Loan Party or any predecessor in interest which could reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect; (iv) no Environmental Actions have been asserted against any facilities that may have received Hazardous Materials generated by any Loan Party or any predecessor in interest which could reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect; (v) no property now or formerly owned or operated by a Loan Party has been used as a treatment or disposal site for any Hazardous Material; (vi) no Loan Party has failed to report to the proper Governmental Authority any Release which is required to be so reported by any Environmental Laws which could reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect; (vii) each Loan Party holds all licenses, permits and approvals required under any Environmental Laws in connection with the operation of the business carried on by it, except for such licenses, permits and approvals as to which a Loan Party's failure to maintain or comply with could not reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect; and (viii) no Loan Party has received any notification pursuant to any Environmental Laws that (A) any work, repairs, construction or Capital Expenditures are required to be made in respect as a condition of continued compliance with any Environmental Laws, or any license, permit or approval issued pursuant thereto or (B) any license, permit or approval referred to above is about to be reviewed, made, subject to limitations or conditions, revoked, withdrawn or terminated, in each case, except as could not reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect.

(r) Insurance . Each Loan Party maintains the insurance and required services and financial assurance as required by law and as required by Section 7.01(h). Schedule 6.01(r) sets forth a list of all insurance maintained by each Loan Party on the Effective Date.

(s) Use of Proceeds .

(i) The proceeds of the Term Loan shall be used to (a) refinance the Existing Credit Facilities and other existing indebtedness of the Borrowers in the amounts set forth in the annex to the Disbursement Letter, (b) pay fees and expenses in connection with the transactions contemplated hereby, (c) fund capital expenditures and (d) fund working capital of the Borrowers.

(ii) The proceeds of the Delayed Draw Term Loans shall be used to finance Permitted Projects and for other purposes to be agreed by the Required Lenders at the time of the making of such Delayed Draw Term Loans.

(t) Solvency . After giving effect to the transactions contemplated by this Agreement and before and after giving effect to each Loan, the Loan Parties on a consolidated basis are Solvent. No transfer of property is being made by any Loan Party and no obligation is being incurred by any Loan Party in connection with the transactions contemplated by this Agreement or the other Loan Documents with the intent to hinder, delay, or defraud either present or future creditors of such Loan Party.

(u) Intellectual Property . Except as set forth on Schedule 6.01(u), each Loan Party owns or licenses or otherwise has the right to use all Intellectual Property rights that are necessary for the operation of its business, without infringement upon or conflict with the rights of any other Person with respect thereto, except for such infringements and conflicts which, individually or in the aggregate, could not reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect. Set forth on Schedule 6.01(u) is a complete and accurate list as of the Effective Date of (i) each item of Registered Intellectual Property owned by each Loan Party; (ii) each material work of authorship owned by each Loan party and which is not Registered Intellectual Property, and (iii) each material Intellectual Property Contract to which each Loan Party is bound. No trademark or other advertising device, product, process, method, substance, part or other material now employed, or now contemplated to be employed, by any Loan Party infringes upon or conflicts with any rights owned by any other Person, and no claim or litigation regarding any of the foregoing is pending or, to the knowledge of such Loan Party, threatened, except for such infringements and conflicts which could not reasonably be expected to have, individually or in the aggregate, a Material Adverse Effect. To the knowledge of each Loan Party, no patent, invention, device, application, principle or any statute, law, rule, regulation, standard or code pertaining to Intellectual Property is pending or proposed, which, individually or in the aggregate, could reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect.

(v) Material Contracts . Set forth on Schedule 6.01(v) is a complete and accurate list as of the Effective Date of all Material Contracts of each Loan Party, showing the parties and subject matter thereof and amendments and modifications thereto. Each such Material Contract (i) is in full force and effect and is binding upon and enforceable against each Loan Party that is a party thereto and, to the best knowledge of such Loan Party, all other parties thereto in accordance with its terms and (ii) is not in default due to the action of any Loan Party or, to the best knowledge of any Loan Party, any other party thereto, in each case that would give rise to the right to terminate such Material Contract.

(w) Investment Company Act . None of the Loan Parties is (i) an "investment company" or an "affiliated person" or "promoter" of, or "principal underwriter" of or for, an "investment company", as such terms are defined in the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, or (ii) subject to regulation under any Requirement of Law that limits in any respect its ability to incur Indebtedness or which may otherwise render all or a portion of the Obligations unenforceable.

(x) Customers and Suppliers . There exists no actual or threatened termination, cancellation or limitation of, or modification to or change in, the business relationship between (i) any Loan Party, on the one hand, and any customer or any group thereof, on the other hand, or (ii) any Loan Party, on the one hand, and any supplier or any group thereof, on the other hand, in each case which could reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect; and there exists no present state of facts or circumstances that could give rise to or result in any such termination, cancellation, limitation, modification or change.

(y) Anti-Money Laundering and Anti-Terrorism Laws .

(i) None of the Loan Parties, nor any Affiliate of any of the Loan Parties, has violated or is in violation of any of the Anti-Money Laundering and Anti-Terrorism Laws or has engaged in or conspired to engage in any transaction that evades or avoids, or has the purpose of evading or avoiding, or attempts to violate, any of the Anti-Money Laundering and Anti-Terrorism Laws.

(ii) None of the Loan Parties, nor any Affiliate of any of the Loan Parties, nor, to the knowledge of any Loan Party, any officer, director or principal shareholder or owner of any of the Loan Parties, nor any of the Loan Parties' respective agents acting or benefiting in any capacity in connection with the Loans or other transactions hereunder, is a Blocked Person.

(iii) None of the Loan Parties, nor, to the knowledge of any Loan Party, any of their agents acting in any capacity in connection with the Loans or other transactions hereunder, (A) conducts any business with or for the benefit of any Blocked Person or engages in making or receiving any contribution of funds, goods or services to, from or for the benefit of any Blocked Person, or (B) deals in, or otherwise engages in any transaction relating to, any property or interests in property blocked or subject to blocking pursuant to any OFAC Sanctions Programs.

(z) Anti-Bribery and Anti-Corruption Laws .

(i) The Loan Parties are in compliance with the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act of 1977, as amended (the " FCPA "), and the anti-bribery and anti-corruption laws of those jurisdictions in which they do business (collectively, the " Anti-Corruption Laws ").

(ii) None of the Loan Parties has at any time:

(A) offered, promised, paid, given, or authorized the payment or giving of any money, gift or other thing of value, directly or indirectly, to or for the benefit of any employee, official, representative, or other person acting on behalf of any foreign (i.e., non-U.S.) Governmental Authority thereof, or of any public international organization, or any foreign political party or official thereof, or candidate for foreign political office (collectively, " Foreign Official "), for the purpose of: (1) influencing any act or decision of such Foreign Official in his, her, or its official capacity; or (2) inducing such Foreign Official to do, or omit to do, an act in violation of the lawful duty of such Foreign Official, or (3) securing any improper advantage, in order to obtain or retain business for, or with, or to direct business to, any Person; or

(B) acted or attempted to act in any manner which would subject any of the Loan Parties to liability under any Anti-Corruption Law.

(iii) To the knowledge of the Loan Parties, there are, and have been, no allegations, investigations or inquiries with regard to a potential violation of any Anti-Corruption Law by any of the Loan Parties or any of their respective current or former directors, officers, employees, stockholders or agents, or other persons acting or purporting to act on their behalf.

(iv) The Loan Parties have adopted, implemented and maintain anti-bribery and anti-corruption policies and procedures that are reasonably designed to ensure compliance with the Anti-Corruption Laws.

(bb) Full Disclosure .

(i) Each Loan Party has disclosed to the Agents all agreements, instruments and corporate or other restrictions to which it is subject, and all other matters known to it, that, individually or in the aggregate, could reasonably be expected to result in a Material Adverse Effect. None of the reports, financial statements, certificates or other information furnished by or on behalf of any Loan Party to the Agents (other than forward-looking information and projections and information of a general economic nature and general information about Borrowers' industry) in connection with the negotiation of this Agreement or delivered hereunder (as modified or supplemented by other information so furnished) contains any material misstatement of fact or omits to state any material fact necessary to make the statements therein, in the light of the circumstances under which it was made, not misleading.

(ii) Projections have been prepared on a reasonable basis and in good faith based on assumptions, estimates, methods and tests that are believed by the Loan Parties to be reasonable at the time such Projections were prepared and information believed by the Loan Parties to have been accurate based upon the information available to the Loan Parties at the time such Projections were furnished to the Lenders, and Parent is not aware of any facts or information that would lead it to believe that such Projections are incorrect or misleading in any material respect.

(cc) Permitted Projects . Set forth on Schedule 1.01(C) (as such schedule may be updated from time to time pursuant to the terms of this Agreement) is a detailed description of the budget of the funding requirements and timing of such funding requirements of the Permitted Projects, and such schedule has been prepared on a reasonable basis and in good faith based on assumptions, estimates, methods and tests that are believed by the Loan Parties to be reasonable at the time such schedule was prepared and information believed by the Loan Parties to have been accurate based upon the information available to the Loan Parties at the time such schedule was furnished to the Lenders, and Parent is not aware of any facts or information that would lead it to believe that such schedule is incorrect or misleading in any material respect.

ARTICLE VII

COVENANTS OF THE LOAN PARTIES

Section 7.01 Affirmative Covenants . So long as any principal of or interest on any Loan or any other Obligation (whether or not due) shall remain unpaid (other than Contingent Indemnity Obligations) or any Lender shall have any Commitment hereunder, each Loan Party will, unless the Required Lenders shall otherwise consent in writing:

(a) Reporting Requirements . Furnish to each Agent and each Lender:

(ii) as soon as available and in any event within 45 days after the end of each fiscal quarter of the Parent and its Subsidiaries commencing with the first fiscal quarter of the Parent and its Subsidiaries ending after the Effective Date, consolidated and consolidating balance sheets, statements of operations and retained earnings and statements of cash flows of the Parent and its Subsidiaries as at the end of such quarter, and for the period commencing at the end of the immediately preceding Fiscal Year and ending with the end of such quarter, setting forth in each case in comparative form the figures for the corresponding date or period set forth in (A) the financial statements for the immediately preceding Fiscal Year and (B) the Projections, all in reasonable detail and certified by an Authorized Officer of the Parent as fairly presenting, in all material respects, the financial position of the Parent and its Subsidiaries as of the end of such quarter and the results of operations and cash flows of the Parent and its Subsidiaries for such quarter and for such year-to-date period, in accordance with GAAP applied in a manner consistent with that of the most recent audited financial statements of the Parent and its Subsidiaries furnished to the Agents and the Lenders, subject to the absence of footnotes and normal year-end adjustments and together with a Narrative Report with respect thereto;

(iii) as soon as available, and in any event within 120 days after the end of each Fiscal Year of the Parent and its Subsidiaries, consolidated and consolidating balance sheets, statements of operations and retained earnings and statements of cash flows of the Parent and its Subsidiaries as at the end of such Fiscal Year, setting forth in each case in comparative form the figures for the corresponding date or period set forth in (A) the financial statements for the immediately preceding Fiscal Year, and (B) the Projections, all in reasonable detail and prepared in accordance with GAAP, and accompanied by a report and an opinion, prepared in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, of independent certified public accountants of recognized standing selected by the Parent and satisfactory to the Agents (it being understood and that KPMG is satisfactory to the Agents as of the Effective Date) (which opinion shall be without (1) a "going concern" or like qualification or exception, (2) any qualification or exception as to the scope of such audit, or (3) any qualification which relates to the treatment or classification of any item and which, as a condition to the removal of such qualification, would require an adjustment to such item, the effect of which would be to cause any noncompliance with the provisions of Section 7.03), together with a written statement of such accountants (x) to the effect that, in making the examination necessary for their certification of such financial statements, they have not obtained any knowledge of the existence of an Event of Default as a result of a breach of Section 7.03 and (y) if such accountants shall have obtained any knowledge of the existence of such an Event of Default, describing the nature thereof and together with a Narrative Report with respect thereto;

(iv) simultaneously with the delivery of the financial statements of the Parent and its Subsidiaries required by clauses (i), (ii) and (iii) of this Section 7.01(a), a certificate of an Authorized Officer of the Parent (a " Compliance Certificate "):

(A) stating that such Authorized Officer has reviewed the provisions of this Agreement and the other Loan Documents and has made or caused to be made under his or her supervision a review of the condition and operations of the Parent and its Subsidiaries during the period covered by such financial statements with a view to determining whether the Parent and its Subsidiaries were in compliance with all of the provisions of this Agreement and such Loan Documents at the times such compliance is required hereby and thereby, and that such review has not disclosed, and such Authorized Officer has no knowledge of, the occurrence and continuance during such period of an Event of Default or Default or, if an Event of Default or Default had occurred and continued or is continuing, describing the nature and period of existence thereof and the action which the Parent and its Subsidiaries propose to take or have taken with respect thereto,

(B) in the case of the delivery of the financial statements of the Parent and its Subsidiaries required by clauses (ii) and (iii) of this Section 7.01(a), (1) attaching a schedule showing the calculation of the financial covenants specified in Section 7.03 and (2) including a discussion and analysis of the financial condition and results of operations of the Parent and its Subsidiaries for the portion of the Fiscal Year then elapsed and discussing the reasons for any significant variations from the Projections for such period and the figures for the corresponding period in the previous Fiscal Year, and

(C) in the case of the delivery of the financial statements of the Parent and its Subsidiaries required by clause (iii) of this Section 7.01(a), attaching (1) a summary of all material insurance coverage maintained as of the date thereof by any Loan Party and all material insurance coverage planned to be maintained by any Loan Party, together with such other related documents and information as the Administrative Agent may reasonably require, (2) the calculation of the Excess Cash Flow in accordance with the terms of Section 2.05(c)(i) and (3) confirmation that there have been no changes to the information contained in each of the Perfection Certificates delivered on the Effective Date or the date of the most recently updated Perfection Certificate delivered pursuant to this clause (iv) and/or attaching an updated Perfection Certificate identifying any such changes to the information contained therein;

(v) as soon as available and in any event within 30 days after the end of each fiscal month of the Parent and its Subsidiaries commencing with the first fiscal month of the Parent and its Subsidiaries ending after the Effective Date, reports in form and detail satisfactory to the Agents and certified by an Authorized Officer of the Administrative Borrower as being accurate and complete (A) listing all Accounts of the Loan Parties as of such day, which shall include the amount and age of each such Account, showing separately those which are more than 30, 60, 90 and 120 days old and a description of all Liens, set-offs, defenses and counterclaims with respect thereto, together with a reconciliation of such schedule with the schedule delivered to the Agents pursuant to this clause (v)(A) for the immediately preceding fiscal month, and such other information as any Agent may request, (B) listing all accounts payable of the Loan Parties as of each such day which shall include the amount and age of each such account payable, and such other information as any Agent may request and (C) listing all Inventory of the Loan Parties as of each such day, and containing a breakdown of such Inventory by value thereof (by location), and such other information as any Agent may request, all in detail and in form satisfactory to the Agents;

(vi) (A) as soon as available and in any event not later than the end of each Fiscal Year, a certificate of an Authorized Officer of the Parent (1) attaching Projections for the Parent and its Subsidiaries, supplementing and superseding the Projections previously required to be delivered pursuant to this Agreement, prepared on a monthly basis and otherwise in form and substance satisfactory to the Agents, for the immediately succeeding Fiscal Year for the Parent and its Subsidiaries, (2) attaching the annual business and financial plan of the Parent and its Subsidiaries, in form and substance reasonably satisfactory to the Agents, and (3) certifying that the representations and warranties set forth in Section 6.01(bb)(ii) are true and correct with respect to the Projections, and (B) from time to time an updated budget of the funding requirements and timing of such funding requirements for any Permitted Project, which updated budget (if accepted by the Required Lenders in their sole discretion and in writing) shall supplement and supersede Schedule 1.01(C) previously delivered to the Agents;

(vii) reasonably promptly after submission to any Governmental Authority, all documents and information furnished to such Governmental Authority in connection with any investigation of any Loan Party other than routine inquiries by such Governmental Authority;

(viii) as soon as possible, and in any event within 3 Business Days after the occurrence of an Event of Default or Default or the occurrence of any event or development that could reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect, the written statement of an Authorized Officer of the Administrative Borrower setting forth the details of such Event of Default or Default or other event or development having a Material Adverse Effect and the action which the affected Loan Party proposes to take with respect thereto;

(ix) (A) reasonably promptly and in any event within 10 Business Days after any Loan Party or any ERISA Affiliate thereof knows or has reason to know that (1) any Reportable Event with respect to any Employee Plan has occurred, (2) any other Termination Event with respect to any Employee Plan has occurred, or (3) an accumulated funding deficiency has been incurred or an application has been made to the Secretary of the Treasury for a waiver or modification of the minimum funding standard (including installment payments) or an extension of any amortization period under Section 412 of the Internal Revenue Code with respect to an Employee Plan, a statement of an Authorized Officer of the Administrative Borrower setting forth the details of such occurrence and the action, if any, which such Loan Party or such ERISA Affiliate proposes to take with respect thereto, (B) reasonably promptly and in any event within 5 Business Days after receipt thereof by any Loan Party or any ERISA Affiliate thereof from the PBGC, copies of each notice received by any Loan Party or any ERISA Affiliate thereof of the PBGC's intention to terminate any Plan or to have a trustee appointed to administer any Plan, (C) reasonably promptly and in any event within 10 Business Days after the filing thereof with the Internal Revenue Service if requested by any Agent, copies of each Schedule B (Actuarial Information) to the annual report (Form 5500 Series) with respect to each Employee Plan and Multiemployer Plan, (D) reasonably promptly and in any event within 10 Business Days after any Loan Party or any ERISA Affiliate thereof knows or has reason to know that a required installment within the meaning of Section 412 of the Internal Revenue Code has not been made when due with respect to an Employee Plan, (E) reasonably promptly and in any event within 10 Business Days after receipt thereof by any Loan Party or any ERISA Affiliate thereof from a sponsor of a Multiemployer Plan or from the PBGC, a copy of each notice received by any Loan Party or any ERISA Affiliate thereof concerning the imposition or amount of withdrawal liability under Section 4202 of ERISA or indicating that such Multiemployer Plan may enter reorganization status under Section 4241 of ERISA, and (F) reasonably promptly and in any event within 10 Business Days after any Loan Party or any ERISA Affiliate thereof sends notice of a plant closing or mass layoff (as defined in WARN) to employees, copies of each such notice sent by such Loan Party or such ERISA Affiliate thereof;

(x) reasonably promptly after the commencement thereof but in any event not later than 5 Business Days after service of process with respect thereto on, or the obtaining of knowledge thereof by, any Loan Party, notice of each action, suit or proceeding before any court or other Governmental Authority or other regulatory body or any arbitrator which, if adversely determined, could reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect;

(xi) as soon as possible and in any event within 5 Business Days after execution, receipt or delivery thereof, copies of any material notices that any Loan Party executes or receives in connection with any Material Contract;

(xii) as soon as possible and in any event within 5 Business Days after execution, receipt or delivery thereof, copies of any material notices that any Loan Party executes or receives in connection with the sale or other Disposition of the Equity Interests of, or all or substantially all of the assets of, any Loan Party;

(xiii) reasonably promptly after (A) the sending or filing thereof, copies of all statements, reports and other information any Loan Party sends to any holders of its Indebtedness or its securities or files with the SEC or any national (domestic or foreign) securities exchange and (B) the receipt thereof, a copy of any material notice received from any holder of its Indebtedness;

(xiv) reasonably promptly upon receipt thereof, copies of all financial reports (including, without limitation, management letters), if any, submitted to any Loan Party by its auditors in connection with any annual or interim audit of the books thereof;

(xv) reasonably promptly upon request, any certification or other evidence requested from time to time by any Lender in its sole discretion, confirming the Borrowers' compliance with Section 7.02(q);

(xvi) no later than 5 Business Days after the end of each month, a monthly metrics report for the preceding month with respect to each Permitted Project; and (xvii) reasonably promptly upon request, such other information concerning the condition or operations, financial or otherwise, of any Loan Party as any Agent may from time to time may reasonably request.

(b) Additional Borrowers, Guarantors and Collateral Security . Cause:

(i) each Subsidiary of any Loan Party not in existence on the Effective Date, and each Subsidiary of any Loan Party which is a non-borrowing Subsidiary on the Effective Date or upon formation or acquisition but later ceases to be a non-borrowing Subsidiary, to execute and deliver to the Collateral Agent promptly and in any event within 10 Business Days after the formation, acquisition or change in status thereof, (A) a Joinder Agreement, pursuant to which such Subsidiary shall be made a party to this Agreement as a Borrower or a Guarantor, (B) a supplement to the Security Agreement, together with (1) certificates evidencing all of the Equity Interests of any Person owned by such Subsidiary required to be pledged under the terms of the Security Agreement, (2) undated stock powers for such Equity Interests executed in blank with signature guaranteed, and (3) such opinions of counsel as the Collateral Agent may reasonably request, (C) to the extent required under the terms of this Agreement, one or more Mortgages creating on the real property of such Subsidiary a perfected, first priority Lien (in terms of priority, subject only to Permitted Specified Liens) on such real property and such other Real Property Deliverables as may be required by the Collateral Agent with respect to each such real property, and (D) such other agreements, instruments, approvals or other documents reasonably requested by the Collateral Agent in order to create, perfect, establish the first priority of or otherwise protect any Lien purported to be covered by any such Security Agreement or Mortgage or otherwise to effect the intent that such Subsidiary shall become bound by all of the terms, covenants and agreements contained in the Loan Documents and that all property and assets of such Subsidiary shall become Collateral for the Obligations; and

(ii) each owner of the Equity Interests of any such Subsidiary to execute and deliver promptly and in any event within 10 Business Days after the formation or acquisition of such Subsidiary a Pledge Amendment (as defined in the Security Agreement), together with (A) certificates evidencing all of the Equity Interests of such Subsidiary required to be pledged under the terms of the Security Agreement, (B) undated stock powers or other appropriate instruments of assignment for such Equity Interests executed in blank with signature guaranteed, (C) such opinions of counsel as the Collateral Agent may reasonably request and (D) such other agreements, instruments, approvals or other documents requested by the Collateral Agent.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, no Foreign Subsidiary shall be required to become a Guarantor hereunder (and, as such, shall not be required to deliver the documents required by clause (i) above; provided , however , that if the Equity Interests of a Foreign Subsidiary are owned by a Loan Party, such Loan Party shall deliver all such documents, instruments, agreements and certificates described in clause (ii) above to the Collateral Agent, and take all commercially reasonable actions reasonably requested by the Collateral Agent (including, without limitation, an execution and delivery of a pledge agreement governed by the laws of the jurisdiction of the organization of such Foreign Subsidiary if (x) such Foreign Subsidiary is domiciled in Mexico, such pledge to be delivered within 45 days after the Effective Date or formation or acquisition, as applicable, of such Subsidiary, or (y) upon the request of the Collateral Agent, if (1) such Foreign Subsidiary (on a consolidated basis with its Subsidiaries) is a Significant Subsidiary or (2) an Event of Default has occurred and is continuing, such pledge to be delivered within 45 days of the end of the first fiscal quarter such Foreign Subsidiary became a Significant Subsidiary or upon the occurrence of an Event of Default) or otherwise necessary to grant and to perfect a first-priority Lien (subject to Permitted Specified Liens) in favor of the Collateral Agent, for the benefit of the Agents and the Lenders, in 65% of the voting Equity Interests of such Foreign Subsidiary and 100% of all other Equity Interests of such Foreign Subsidiary owned by such Loan Party.

(c) Compliance with Laws; Payment of Taxes.

(i) Comply, and cause each of its Subsidiaries to comply, in all material respects, with all Requirements of Law (including, without limitation, all Environmental Laws), judgments and awards (including any settlement of any claim that, if breached, could give rise to any of the foregoing).

(ii) Pay, and cause each of its Subsidiaries to pay, in full before delinquency or before the expiration of any extension period, all taxes, assessments and other governmental charges imposed upon any Loan Party or any of its Subsidiaries or any property of any Loan Party or any of its Subsidiaries in an aggregate amount for all such taxes, assessments and other governmental charges exceeding $250,000, except to the extent contested in good faith by proper proceedings which stay the imposition of any penalty, fine or Lien resulting from the non-payment thereof and with respect to which adequate reserves have been set aside for the payment thereof in accordance with GAAP.

(d) Preservation of Existence, Etc. Maintain and preserve, and cause each of its Subsidiaries to maintain and preserve, its existence, rights and privileges, and become or remain, and cause each of its Subsidiaries to become or remain, duly qualified and in good standing in each jurisdiction in which the character of the properties owned or leased by it or in which the transaction of its business makes such qualification necessary, except to the extent that the failure to be so qualified could not reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect.

(e) Keeping of Records and Books of Account . Keep, and cause each of its Subsidiaries to keep, adequate records and books of account, with complete entries made to permit the preparation of financial statements in accordance with GAAP.

(f) Inspection Rights . Permit, and cause each of its Subsidiaries to permit, the agents and representatives of any Agent at any time and from time to time during normal business hours, at the expense of the Borrowers, to examine and make copies of and abstracts from its records and books of account, to visit and inspect its properties, to verify materials, leases, notes, accounts receivable, deposit accounts and its other assets, to conduct audits, physical counts, valuations, appraisals, Phase I Environmental Site Assessments (and, if requested by the Collateral Agent based upon the results of any such Phase I Environmental Site Assessment, a Phase II Environmental Site Assessment) or examinations and to discuss its affairs, finances and accounts with any of its directors, officers, managerial employees, independent accountants or any of its other representatives. In furtherance of the foregoing, each Loan Party hereby authorizes its independent accountants, and the independent accountants of each of its Subsidiaries, to discuss the affairs, finances and accounts of such Person (independently or together with representatives of such Person) with the agents and representatives of any Agent in accordance with this Section 7.01(f); provided that, in the absence of a continuing Event of Default, such Person is given a reasonable opportunity to be present at any such discussion.

(g) Maintenance of Properties, Etc. Maintain and preserve, and cause each of its Subsidiaries to maintain and preserve, all of its properties which are necessary or useful in the proper conduct of its business in good working order and condition, ordinary wear and tear and casualty excepted, and comply, and cause each of its Subsidiaries to comply, at all times with the provisions of all leases to which it is a party as lessee or under which it occupies property, so as to prevent any loss or forfeiture thereof or thereunder, except to the extent the failure to so maintain and preserve or so comply could not reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect.

(h) Maintenance of Insurance . Maintain, and cause each of its Subsidiaries to maintain, insurance with responsible and reputable insurance companies or associations (including, without limitation, comprehensive general liability, hazard, rent, worker's compensation and business interruption insurance) with respect to its properties (including all real properties leased or owned by it) and business, in such amounts and covering such risks as is required by any Governmental Authority having jurisdiction with respect thereto or as is carried generally in accordance with sound business practice by companies in similar businesses similarly situated and in any event in amount, adequacy and scope reasonably satisfactory to the Collateral Agent and the Collateral Agent acknowledges that the insurance existing on the Effective Date as described on Schedule 6.01(r) is satisfactory to the Collateral Agent. All policies covering the Collateral are to be made payable to the Collateral Agent for the benefit of the Agents and the Lenders, as its interests may appear, in case of loss, under a standard non-contributory "lender" or "secured party" clause and are to contain such other provisions as the Collateral Agent may require to fully protect the Lenders' interest in the Collateral and to any payments to be made under such policies. All certificates of insurance are to be delivered to the Collateral Agent and the policies are to be premium prepaid, with the loss payable and additional insured endorsement in favor of the Collateral Agent and such other Persons as the Collateral Agent may designate from time to time, and shall provide for not less than 30 days' (10 days' in the case of non-payment) prior written notice to the Collateral Agent of the exercise of any right of cancellation. If any Loan Party or any of its Subsidiaries fails to maintain such insurance, the Collateral Agent may arrange for such insurance, but at the Borrowers' expense and without any responsibility on the Collateral Agent's part for obtaining the insurance, the solvency of the insurance companies, the adequacy of the coverage, or the collection of claims. Upon the occurrence and during the continuance of an Event of Default, the Collateral Agent shall have the sole right, in the name of the Lenders, any Loan Party and its Subsidiaries, to file claims under any insurance policies, to receive, receipt and give acquittance for any payments that may be payable thereunder, and to execute any and all endorsements, receipts, releases, assignments, reassignments or other documents that may be necessary to effect the collection, compromise or settlement of any claims under any such insurance policies.

(i) Obtaining of Permits, Etc. Obtain, maintain and preserve, and cause each of its Subsidiaries to obtain, maintain and preserve, and take all necessary action to timely renew, all permits, licenses, authorizations, approvals, entitlements and accreditations that are necessary or useful in the proper conduct of its business, in each case, except to the extent the failure to obtain, maintain, preserve or take such action could not reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect.

(j) Environmental . (i) Keep any property either owned or operated by it or any of its Subsidiaries free of any Environmental Liens; (ii) comply, and cause each of its Subsidiaries to comply, with all Environmental Laws and provide to the Collateral Agent any documentation of such compliance which the Collateral Agent may reasonably request; (iii) provide the Agents written notice within 5 days of any Release of a Hazardous Material in excess of any reportable quantity from or onto property at any time owned or operated by it or any of its Subsidiaries and take any Remedial Actions required to abate said Release; and (iv) provide the Agents with written notice within 10 days of the receipt of any of the following: (A) notice that an Environmental Lien has been filed against any property of any Loan Party or any of its Subsidiaries; (B) commencement of any Environmental Action or notice that an Environmental Action will be filed against any Loan Party or any of its Subsidiaries; and (C) notice of a violation, citation or other administrative order which could reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect.

(k) Fiscal Year . Cause the Fiscal Year of the Parent and its Subsidiaries to end on December 31 of each calendar year unless the Agents consent to a change in such Fiscal Year (and appropriate related changes to this Agreement).

(l) Landlord Waivers; Collateral Access Agreements .

(i) Within 45 days after the Effective Date, deliver a collateral access agreement, in form and substance satisfactory to the Collateral Agent, executed by each Person who on the Effective Date possesses Inventory of any Loan Party having a value in excess of $1,000,000.

(ii) At any time after the Effective Date, any Collateral with a book value in excess of $1,000,000 (when aggregated with all other Collateral at the same location) is located on any real property of a Loan Party (whether such real property is now existing or acquired after the Effective Date) which is not owned by a Loan Party, or is stored on the premises of a bailee, warehouseman, or similar party, use commercially reasonable efforts to obtain written subordinations or waivers or collateral access agreements, as the case may be, in form and substance satisfactory to the Collateral Agent.

(m) After Acquired Real Property . Upon the acquisition by it or any of its Subsidiaries after the date hereof of any fee interest in any real property (wherever located) (each such interest being a " New Facility ") with a Current Value (as defined below) in excess of $500,000, immediately so notify the Collateral Agent, setting forth with specificity a description of the interest acquired, the location of the real property, any structures or improvements thereon and either an appraisal or such Loan Party's good-faith estimate of the current value of such real property (for purposes of this Section, the " Current Value "). The Collateral Agent shall notify such Loan Party whether it intends to require a Mortgage (and any other Real Property Deliverables) with respect to such New Facility. Upon receipt of such notice requesting a Mortgage (and any other Real Property Deliverables), the Person that has acquired such New Facility shall promptly furnish the same to the Collateral Agent. The Borrowers shall pay all fees and expenses, including, without limitation, reasonable attorneys' fees and expenses, and all title insurance charges and premiums, in connection with each Loan Party's obligations under this Section 7.01(m).

(n) Anti-Bribery and Anti-Corruption Laws . Maintain, and cause each of its Subsidiaries to maintain, anti-bribery and anti-corruption policies and procedures that are reasonably designed to ensure compliance with the Anti-Corruption Laws.

(o) Lender Meetings . Upon the request of any Agent or the Required Lenders (which request, so long as no Event of Default shall have occurred and be continuing, shall not be made more than once during each Fiscal Year), participate in a meeting with the Agents and the Lenders at the Borrowers' corporate offices (or at such other location as may be agreed to by the Administrative Borrower and such Agent or the Required Lenders) at such time as may be agreed to by the Administrative Borrower and such Agent or the Required Lenders. In addition, senior management of the Parent shall participate in quarterly telephonic meetings with the Agents and the Lenders at such time as may be agreed to by the Administrative Borrower and the Agents or the Required Lenders.

(p) Further Assurances . Take such action and execute, acknowledge and deliver, and cause each of its Subsidiaries to take such action and execute, acknowledge and deliver, at its sole cost and expense, such agreements, instruments or other documents as any Agent may reasonably require from time to time in order (i) to carry out more effectively the purposes of this Agreement and the other Loan Documents, (ii) to subject to valid and perfected first priority Liens any of the Collateral or any other property of any Loan Party and its Subsidiaries, (iii) to establish and maintain the validity and effectiveness of any of the Loan Documents and the validity, perfection and priority of the Liens intended to be created thereby, and (iv) to better assure, convey, grant, assign, transfer and confirm unto each Secured Party the rights now or hereafter intended to be granted to it under this Agreement or any other Loan Document. In furtherance of the foregoing, to the maximum extent permitted by applicable law, each Loan Party (i) authorizes each Agent to execute any such agreements, instruments or other documents in such Loan Party's name and to file such agreements, instruments or other documents in any appropriate filing office, (ii) authorizes each Agent to file any financing statement required hereunder or under any other Loan Document, and any continuation statement or amendment with respect thereto, in any appropriate filing office without the signature of such Loan Party, and (iii) ratifies the filing of any financing statement, and any continuation statement or amendment with respect thereto, filed without the signature of such Loan Party prior to the date hereof.

Section 7.02 Negative Covenants . So long as any principal of or interest on any Loan or any other Obligation (whether or not due) shall remain unpaid (other than Contingent Indemnity Obligations) or any Lender shall have any Commitment hereunder, each Loan Party shall not, unless the Required Lenders shall otherwise consent in writing:

(a) Liens, Etc. Create, incur, assume or suffer to exist, or permit any of its Subsidiaries to create, incur, assume or suffer to exist, any Lien upon or with respect to any of its properties, whether now owned or hereafter acquired; file or suffer to exist under the Uniform Commercial Code or any Requirement of Law of any jurisdiction, a financing statement (or the equivalent thereof) that names it or any of its Subsidiaries as debtor; sign or suffer to exist any security agreement authorizing any secured party thereunder to file such financing statement (or the equivalent thereof) other than, as to all of the above, Permitted Liens.

(b) Indebtedness . Create, incur, assume, guarantee or suffer to exist, or otherwise become or remain liable with respect to, or permit any of its Subsidiaries to create, incur, assume, guarantee or suffer to exist or otherwise become or remain liable with respect to, any Indebtedness other than Permitted Indebtedness.

(c) Fundamental Changes; Dispositions .

(i) Wind-up, liquidate or dissolve, or merge, consolidate or amalgamate with any Person, or permit any of its Subsidiaries to do (or agree to do) any of the foregoing; provided , however , that (A) any Loan Party may be merged, consolidated or amalgamated with any Borrower so long as a Borrower is the surviving entity, (B) any Loan Party that is not a Borrower may be merged, consolidated or amalgamated with another Loan Party that is not a Borrower, (C) any wholly-owned Subsidiary of any Loan Party that is not a Loan Party may be merged, consolidated or amalgamated with any Loan Party so long as a Loan Party is the surviving entity and (D) any wholly-owned Subsidiary of a Loan Party that is not a Loan Party may merge, consolidate or amalgamate with another wholly-owned Subsidiary of a Loan Party that is not a Loan Party, in each case so long as (I) no other provision of this Agreement would be violated thereby, (II) the Administrative Borrower gives the Agents at least 30 days' prior written notice of such merger, consolidation or amalgamation accompanied by true, correct and complete copies of all material agreements, documents and instruments relating to such merger, consolidation or amalgamation, including, but not limited to, the certificate or certificates of merger or amalgamation to be filed with each appropriate Secretary of State (with a copy as filed promptly after such filing), (III) no Default or Event of Default shall have occurred and be continuing either before or after giving effect to such transaction, and (IV) the Lenders' rights in any Collateral, including, without limitation, the existence, perfection and priority of any Lien thereon, are not adversely affected by such merger, consolidation or amalgamation; and

(ii) make any Disposition, whether in one transaction or a series of related transactions, all or any part of its business, property or assets, whether now owned or hereafter acquired (or agree to do any of the foregoing), or permit any of its Subsidiaries to do any of the foregoing; provided , however , that any Loan Party and its Subsidiaries may make Permitted Dispositions.

(d) Change in Nature of Business . Make, or permit any of its Subsidiaries to make, any change in the nature of its business as described in Section 6.01(l).

(e) Loans, Advances, Investments, Etc. Make or commit or agree to make, or permit any of its Subsidiaries make or commit or agree to make, any Investment in any other Person except for Permitted Investments.

(f) Sale and Leaseback Transactions . Enter into, or permit any of its Subsidiaries to enter into, any Sale and Leaseback Transaction.

(g) Capital Expenditures .

(i) Except with respect to any Permitted Project, make or commit or agree to make, or permit any of its Subsidiaries to make or commit or agree to make, any Capital Expenditure (by purchase or Capitalized Lease) that would cause the aggregate amount of all Capital Expenditures made by the Loan Parties and their Subsidiaries in any fiscal period set forth in the table below to exceed the amount set forth opposite such fiscal period:

Period	Capital Expenditure
The 12 months ended December 31, 2014	$ 10,300,000
The 12 months ended December 31, 2015	$ 1,500,000
The 12 months ended December 31, 2016	$ 2,400,000
The 12 months ended December 31, 2017	$ 2,100,000
The 6 months ended June 30, 2018	$ 1,100,000

(ii) With respect to any Permitted Project, make or commit or agree to make, or permit any of its Subsidiaries to make or commit or agree to make, any Capital Expenditure (by purchase or Capitalized Lease) in respect of such Permitted Project that would cause the aggregate amount of all Capital Expenditures made by the Loan Parties and their Subsidiaries with respect to such Permitted Project to exceed the amount set forth in Schedule

1.01(C); provided , however , that the amount of Capital Expenditures permitted to be made in any fiscal period under this Section 7.02(g)(ii) with respect to any Permitted Project may be increased as follows: if the amount of the Capital Expenditures permitted to be made in any fiscal period as set forth in Schedule 1.01(C) for a Permitted Project is greater than the actual amount of the Capital Expenditures actually made in such fiscal period for such Permitted Project (the amount by which such permitted Capital Expenditures for such fiscal period exceeds the actual amount of Capital Expenditures for such fiscal period, the " Excess Amount "), then such Excess Amount (such amount, the " Carry-Over Amount ") may be carried forward to the next succeeding fiscal period (the " Succeeding Fiscal Period ") solely with respect to such Permitted Project; provided that the Carry-Over Amount applicable to a particular Succeeding Fiscal Period may not be carried forward to another fiscal period. Capital Expenditures made by the Loan Parties and their Subsidiaries in any fiscal period with respect to any Permitted Project shall be deemed to reduce first , the amount set forth in Schedule 1.01(C) with respect to such Permitted Project for such fiscal period, and then, the Carry-Over Amount for such Permitted Project.

(h) Restricted Payments . Make or permit any of its Subsidiaries to make any Restricted Payment other than Permitted Restricted Payments.

(i) Federal Reserve Regulations . Permit any Loan or the proceeds of any Loan under this Agreement to be used for any purpose that would cause such Loan to be a margin loan under the provisions of Regulation T, U or X of the Board.

(j) Transactions with Affiliates . Enter into, renew, extend or be a party to, or permit any of its Subsidiaries to enter into, renew, extend or be a party to, any transaction or series of related transactions (including, without limitation, the purchase, sale, lease, transfer or exchange of property or assets of any kind or the rendering of services of any kind) with any Affiliate, except (i) transactions consummated in the ordinary course of business in a manner and to an extent consistent with past practice and necessary or desirable for the prudent operation of its business, for fair consideration and on terms no less favorable to it or its Subsidiaries than would be obtainable in a comparable arm's length transaction with a Person that is not an Affiliate thereof, and that are fully disclosed to the Agents prior to the consummation thereof, if they involve one or more payments by the Parent or any of its Subsidiaries in excess of $250,000 for any single transaction or series of related transactions, (ii) transactions with another Loan Party, (iii) transactions permitted by Section 7.02(e) and Section 7.02(h), (iv) sales of Qualified Equity Interests of the Parent to Affiliates of the Parent not otherwise prohibited by the Loan Documents and the granting of registration and other customary rights in connection therewith, and (v) reasonable and customary director and officer compensation (including bonuses and stock option programs), benefits and indemnification arrangements, in each case approved by the Board of Directors (or a committee thereof) of such Loan Party or such Subsidiary.

(k) Limitations on Dividends and Other Payment Restrictions Affecting Subsidiaries . Create or otherwise cause, incur, assume, suffer or permit to exist or become effective any consensual encumbrance or restriction of any kind on the ability of any Subsidiary of any Loan Party (i) to pay dividends or to make any other distribution on any shares of Equity Interests of such Subsidiary owned by any Loan Party or any of its Subsidiaries, (ii) to pay or prepay or to subordinate any Indebtedness owed to any Loan Party or any of its Subsidiaries,

(iii) to make loans or advances to any Loan Party or any of its Subsidiaries or (iv) to transfer any of its property or assets to any Loan Party or any of its Subsidiaries, or permit any of its Subsidiaries to do any of the foregoing; provided , however , that nothing in any of clauses (i) through (iv) of this Section 7.02(k) shall prohibit or restrict compliance with:

(A) this Agreement and the other Loan Documents;

(B) any agreement in effect on the date of this Agreement and described on Schedule 7.02(k), or any extension, replacement or continuation of any such agreement; provided , that, any such encumbrance or restriction contained in such extended, replaced or continued agreement is no less favorable to the Agents and the Lenders than the encumbrance or restriction under or pursuant to the agreement so extended, replaced or continued;

(C) any applicable law, rule or regulation (including, without limitation, applicable currency control laws and applicable state corporate statutes restricting the payment of dividends in certain circumstances);

(D) in the case of clause (iv), (1) customary restrictions on the subletting, assignment or transfer of any specified property or asset set forth in a lease, license, asset sale agreement or similar contract for the conveyance of such property or asset and (2) instrument or other document evidencing a Permitted Lien (or the Indebtedness secured thereby) from restricting on customary terms the transfer of any property or assets subject thereto;

(E) customary restrictions on dispositions of real property interests in reciprocal easement agreements;

(F) customary restrictions in agreements for the sale of assets on the transfer or encumbrance of such assets during an interim period prior to the closing of the sale of such assets; or

(G) customary restrictions in contracts that prohibit the assignment of such contract.

(l) Limitations on Negative Pledges . Enter into, incur or permit to exist, or permit any Subsidiary to enter into, incur or permit to exist, directly or indirectly, any agreement, instrument, deed, lease or other arrangement that prohibits, restricts or imposes any condition upon the ability of any Loan Party or any Subsidiary of any Loan Party to create, incur or permit to exist any Lien upon any of its property or revenues, whether now owned or hereafter acquired, or that requires the grant of any security for an obligation if security is granted for another obligation, except the following: (i) this Agreement and the other Loan Documents, (ii) restrictions or conditions imposed by any agreement relating to secured Indebtedness permitted by Section 7.02(b) of this Agreement if such restrictions or conditions apply only to the property or assets securing such Indebtedness, (iii) any customary restrictions and conditions contained in agreements relating to the sale or other disposition of assets or of a Subsidiary pending such sale or other disposition; provided that such restrictions and conditions apply only to the assets or Subsidiary to be sold or disposed of and such sale or disposition is permitted hereunder, (iv) customary provisions in leases restricting the assignment or sublet thereof and (v) any restrictions on any Subsidiary under any agreement in effect at the time such Subsidiary becomes a Subsidiary, so long as such agreement was not entered into in contemplation of such Person becoming a Subsidiary.

(m) Modifications of Indebtedness, Organizational Documents and Certain Other Agreements; Etc.

(i) Amend, modify or otherwise change (or permit the amendment, modification or other change in any manner of) any of the provisions of any of its or its Subsidiaries' Indebtedness with an outstanding aggregate principal amount in excess of $100,000 or of any instrument or agreement (including, without limitation, any purchase agreement, indenture, loan agreement or security agreement) relating to any such Indebtedness if such amendment, modification or change would shorten the final maturity or average life to maturity of, or require any payment to be made earlier than the date originally scheduled on, such Indebtedness, would increase the interest rate applicable to such Indebtedness, would add any covenant or event of default, would change the subordination provision, if any, of such Indebtedness, or would otherwise be adverse in any material respect to the Lenders or the issuer of such Indebtedness in any respect;

(ii) except for the Obligations, (A) make any voluntary or optional payment (including, without limitation, any payment of interest in cash that, at the option of the issuer, may be paid in cash or in kind), prepayment, redemption, defeasance, sinking fund payment or other acquisition for value of any of its or its Subsidiaries' Indebtedness (including, without limitation, by way of depositing money or securities with the trustee therefor before the date required for the purpose of paying any portion of such Indebtedness when due), (B) refund, refinance, replace or exchange any other Indebtedness for any such Indebtedness (other than with respect to Permitted Refinancing Indebtedness), (C) make any payment, prepayment, redemption, defeasance, sinking fund payment or repurchase of any Indebtedness in violation of the subordination provisions thereof or any subordination agreement with respect thereto, or (D) make any payment, prepayment, redemption, defeasance, sinking fund payment or repurchase of any Indebtedness as a result of any asset sale, change of control, issuance and sale of debt or equity securities or similar event, or give any notice with respect to any of the foregoing;

(iii) amend, modify or otherwise change any of its Governing Documents (including, without limitation, by the filing or modification of any certificate of designation, or any agreement or arrangement entered into by it) with respect to any of its Equity Interests (including any shareholders' agreement), or enter into any new agreement with respect to any of its Equity Interests, except any such amendments, modifications or changes or any such new agreements or arrangements pursuant to this clause (iii) that either individually or in the aggregate could not reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect; or

(iv) agree to any amendment, modification or other change to or waiver of any of its rights under any Material Contract if such amendment, modification, change or waiver would be adverse in any material respect to any Loan Party or any of its Subsidiaries or the Agents and the Lenders.

(n) Investment Company Act of 1940 . Engage in any business, enter into any transaction, use any securities or take any other action or permit any of its Subsidiaries to do any of the foregoing, that would cause it or any of its Subsidiaries to become subject to the registration requirements of the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, by virtue of being an "investment company" or a company "controlled" by an "investment company" not entitled to an exemption within the meaning of such Act.

(o) ERISA . (i) Engage, or permit any ERISA Affiliate to engage, in any transaction described in Section 4069 of ERISA; (ii) engage, or permit any ERISA Affiliate to engage, in any prohibited transaction described in Section 406 of ERISA or 4975 of the Internal Revenue Code for which a statutory or class exemption is not available or a private exemption has not previously been obtained from the U.S. Department of Labor; (iii) adopt or permit any ERISA Affiliate to adopt any employee welfare benefit plan within the meaning of Section 3(1) of ERISA which provides benefits to employees after termination of employment other than as required by Section 601 of ERISA or applicable law; (iv) fail to make any contribution or payment to any Multiemployer Plan which it or any ERISA Affiliate may be required to make under any agreement relating to such Multiemployer Plan, or any law pertaining thereto; or (v) fail, or permit any ERISA Affiliate to fail, to pay any required installment or any other payment required under Section 412 of the Internal Revenue Code on or before the due date for such installment or other payment.

(p) Environmental . Permit the use, handling, generation, storage, treatment, Release or disposal of Hazardous Materials at any property owned or leased by it or any of its Subsidiaries, except in compliance in all material respects with Environmental Laws.

(q) Anti-Money Laundering and Anti-Terrorism Laws .

(i) None of the Loan Parties, nor any of their Affiliates or agents, shall:

(A) conduct any business or engage in any transaction or dealing with or for the benefit of any Blocked Person, including the making or receiving of any contribution of funds, goods or services to, from or for the benefit of any Blocked Person;

(B) deal in, or otherwise engage in any transaction relating to, any property or interests in property blocked or subject to blocking pursuant to the OFAC Sanctions Programs;

(C) use any of the proceeds of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement to finance, promote or otherwise support in any manner any illegal activity, including, without limitation, any violation of the Anti-Money Laundering and Anti-Terrorism Laws or any specified unlawful activity as that term is defined in the Money Laundering Control Act of 1986, 18 U.S.C. §§ 1956 and 1957; or

(D) violate, attempt to violate, or engage in or conspire to engage in any transaction that evades or avoids, or has the purpose of evading or avoiding, any of the Anti-Money Laundering and Anti-Terrorism Laws.

(ii) None of the Loan Parties, nor any Affiliate of any of the Loan Parties, nor any officer, director or principal shareholder or owner of any of the Loan Parties, nor any of the Loan Parties' respective agents acting or benefiting in any capacity in connection with the Loans or other transactions hereunder, shall be or shall become a Blocked Person.

(r) Anti-Bribery and Anti-Corruption Laws. None of the Loan Parties shall:

(i) offer, promise, pay, give, or authorize the payment or giving of any money, gift or other thing of value, directly or indirectly, to or for the benefit of any Foreign Official for the purpose of: (1) influencing any act or decision of such Foreign Official in his, her, or its official capacity; or (2) inducing such Foreign Official to do, or omit to do, an act in violation of the lawful duty of such Foreign Official, or (3) securing any improper advantage, in order to obtain or retain business for, or with, or to direct business to, any Person; or

(ii) act or attempt to act in any manner which would subject any of the Loan Parties to liability under any Anti-Corruption Law.

(s) Overhead Allocations . Change their methodology of allocating corporate overhead to the Parent from the methodology in effect on the Effective Date without the prior written consent of the Administrative Agent.

Section 7.03 Financial Covenants . So long as any principal of or interest on any Loan or any other Obligation (whether or not due) shall remain unpaid (other than Contingent Indemnity Obligations) or any Lender shall have any Commitment hereunder, each Loan Party shall not, unless the Required Lenders shall otherwise consent in writing:

ARTICLE VIII

CASH MANAGEMENT ARRANGEMENTS AND OTHER COLLATERAL MATTERS

Section 8.01 Cash Management Arrangements . (a) The Loan Parties shall (i) establish and maintain cash management services of a type and on terms reasonably satisfactory to the Agents at one or more of the banks set forth on Schedule 8.01 (each a " Cash Management Bank ") and (ii) except as otherwise provided under Section 8.01(b), deposit or cause to be deposited promptly, and in any event no later than the next Business Day after the date of receipt thereof, all proceeds in respect of any Collateral, all Collections (of a nature susceptible to a deposit in a bank account) and all other amounts received by any Loan Party (including payments made by Account Debtors directly to any Loan Party) into a Cash Management Account.

(b) Within 60 days after the Effective Date (or such later date as agreed by the Collateral Agent), the Loan Parties shall, with respect to each Cash Management Account (other than Excluded Accounts), deliver to the Collateral Agent a Control Agreement with respect to such Cash Management Account and the Loan Parties shall not thereafter maintain, and shall not permit any of their Domestic Subsidiaries to maintain, cash, Cash Equivalents or other amounts in any deposit account or securities account, unless the Collateral Agent shall have received a Control Agreement in respect of each such Cash Management Account (other than Excluded Accounts).

(c) Upon the terms and subject to the conditions set forth in a Control Agreement with respect to a Cash Management Account, all amounts received in such Cash Management Account shall at the Collateral Agent's direction be wired each Business Day into the Administrative Agent's Account, except that, so long as no Event of Default has occurred and is continuing, the Collateral Agent will not direct a Cash Management Bank to transfer funds in such Cash Management Account to the Administrative Agent's Account.

(d) So long as no Default or Event of Default has occurred and is continuing, the Borrowers may amend Schedule 8.01 to add or replace a Cash Management Bank or Cash Management Account; provided , however , that (i) such prospective Cash Management Bank shall be reasonably satisfactory to the Collateral Agent and the Collateral Agent shall have consented in writing in advance to the opening of such Cash Management Account with the prospective Cash Management Bank, and (ii) prior to the time of the opening of such Cash Management Account, each Loan Party and such prospective Cash Management Bank shall have executed and delivered to the Collateral Agent a Control Agreement. Each Loan Party shall close any of its Cash Management Accounts (and establish replacement cash management accounts in accordance with the foregoing sentence) promptly and in any event within 60 days of notice from the Collateral Agent that the creditworthiness of any Cash Management Bank is no longer acceptable in the Collateral Agent's reasonable judgment, or that the operating performance, funds transfer, or availability procedures or performance of such Cash Management Bank with respect to Cash Management Accounts or the Collateral Agent's liability under any Control Agreement with such Cash Management Bank is no longer acceptable in the Collateral Agent's reasonable judgment.

ARTICLE IX

EVENTS OF DEFAULT

Section 9.01 Events of Default . Each of the following events shall constitute an event of default (each, an " Event of Default "):

(a) any Borrower shall fail to pay, (i) any principal of or interest on any Loan when due (whether by scheduled maturity, required prepayment, acceleration, demand or otherwise), or (ii) any fee, indemnity or other amount payable under this Agreement or any other Loan Document when due (whether by scheduled maturity, required prepayment, acceleration, demand or otherwise), and in the case of this clause (ii), such non-payment continues for a period of three (3) Business Days after the due date therefor;

(b) any representation or warranty made or deemed made by or on behalf of any Loan Party or by any officer of the foregoing under or in connection with any Loan Document or under or in connection with any certificate or other writing delivered to any Secured Party pursuant to any Loan Document shall have been incorrect in any material respect

(or in any respect if such representation or warranty is qualified or modified as to materiality or "Material Adverse Effect" in the text thereof) when made or deemed made;

(c) any Loan Party shall fail to perform or comply with any covenant or agreement contained in Section 5.04, Section 7.01(a), Section 7.01(c), Section 7.01(d), Section 7.01(f), Section 7.01(h), Section 7.01(k), Section 7.01(m), Section 7.01(o), Section 7.02 or Section 7.03 or Article VIII, or any Loan Party shall fail to perform or comply with any covenant or agreement contained in any Security Agreement to which it is a party or any Mortgage to which it is a party;

(d) any Loan Party shall fail to perform or comply with any other term, covenant or agreement contained in any Loan Document to be performed or observed by it and, except as set forth in subsections (a), (b) and (c) of this Section 9.01, such failure, if capable of being remedied, shall remain unremedied for 20 days after the earlier of the date a senior officer of any Loan Party has actual knowledge of such failure and the date written notice of such default shall have been given by any Agent to such Loan Party;

(e) the Parent or any of its Subsidiaries shall fail to pay when due (whether by scheduled maturity, required prepayment, acceleration, demand or otherwise) any principal, interest or other amount payable in respect of Indebtedness (excluding Indebtedness evidenced by this Agreement) having an aggregate amount outstanding in excess of $1,000,000, and such failure shall continue after the applicable grace period, if any, specified in the agreement or instrument relating to such Indebtedness, or any other default under any agreement or instrument relating to any such Indebtedness, or any other event, shall occur and shall continue after the applicable grace period, if any, specified in such agreement or instrument, if the effect of such default or event is to accelerate, or to permit the acceleration of, the maturity of such Indebtedness; or any such Indebtedness shall be declared to be due and payable, or required to be prepaid (other than by a regularly scheduled required prepayment), redeemed, purchased or defeased or an offer to prepay, redeem, purchase or defease such Indebtedness shall be required to be made, in each case, prior to the stated maturity thereof;

(f) the Parent or any of its Subsidiaries (i) shall institute any proceeding or voluntary case seeking to adjudicate it a bankrupt or insolvent, or seeking dissolution, liquidation, winding up, reorganization, arrangement, adjustment, protection, relief or composition of it or its debts under any law relating to bankruptcy, insolvency, reorganization or relief of debtors, or seeking the entry of an order for relief or the appointment of a receiver, trustee, custodian or other similar official for any such Person or for any substantial part of its property, (ii) shall be generally not paying its debts as such debts become due or shall admit in writing its inability to pay its debts generally, (iii) shall make a general assignment for the benefit of creditors, or (iv) shall take any action to authorize or effect any of the actions set forth above in this subsection (f);

(g) any proceeding shall be instituted against the Parent or any of its Subsidiaries seeking to adjudicate it a bankrupt or insolvent, or seeking dissolution, liquidation, winding up, reorganization, arrangement, adjustment, protection, relief of debtors, or seeking the entry of an order for relief or the appointment of a receiver, trustee, custodian or other similar official for any such Person or for any substantial part of its property, and either such proceeding shall remain undismissed or unstayed for a period of 30 days or any of the actions sought in such proceeding (including, without limitation, the entry of an order for relief against any such Person or the appointment of a receiver, trustee, custodian or other similar official for it or for any substantial part of its property) shall occur;

(h) any material provision of any Loan Document shall at any time for any reason (other than pursuant to the express terms thereof) cease to be valid and binding on or enforceable against any Loan Party intended to be a party thereto, or the validity or enforceability thereof shall be contested by any party thereto, or a proceeding shall be commenced by any Loan Party or any Governmental Authority having jurisdiction over any of them, seeking to establish the invalidity or unenforceability thereof, or any Loan Party shall deny in writing that it has any liability or obligation purported to be created under any Loan Document;

(i) any Security Agreement, any Mortgage or any other security document, after delivery thereof pursuant hereto, shall for any reason (other than as a result of any action or inaction of the Collateral Agent based upon timely receipt of information regarding the Loan Parties as required by the Loan Documents) fail or cease to create a valid and perfected and, except to the extent permitted by the terms hereof or thereof, first priority Lien in favor of the Collateral Agent for the benefit of the Agents and the Lenders on any Collateral purported to be covered thereby;

(j) one or more judgments, orders or awards (or any settlement of any litigation or other proceeding that, if breached, could result in a judgment, order or award) for the payment of money exceeding $1,000,000 in the aggregate (except to the extent fully covered (other than to the extent of customary deductibles) by insurance pursuant to which the insurer has been notified and has not denied coverage) shall be rendered against the Parent or any of its Subsidiaries and remain unsatisfied and (i) enforcement proceedings shall have been commenced by any creditor upon any such judgment, order, award or settlement or (ii) there shall be a period of 10 consecutive days after entry thereof during which (A) a stay of enforcement thereof is not be in effect or (B) the same is not vacated, discharged, stayed or bonded pending appeal;

(k) the Parent or any of its Subsidiaries is enjoined, restrained or in any way prevented by the order of any court or any Governmental Authority from conducting, or otherwise ceases to conduct for any reason whatsoever, all or any material part of its business for more than 15 consecutive Business Days and such cessation results in cessation of such Person's revenues (which is not otherwise covered by insurance);

(l) any material damage to, or loss, theft or destruction of, any Collateral, whether or not insured, or any strike, lockout, labor dispute, embargo, condemnation, act of God or public enemy, or other casualty which causes, for more than 15 consecutive days, the cessation or substantial curtailment of revenue producing activities at any facility of any Loan Party, if any such event or circumstance could reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect (after giving effect to any applicable insurance policies for which coverage has not been denied);

(m) the loss, suspension or revocation of, or failure to renew, any license or permit now held or hereafter acquired by the Parent or any of its Subsidiaries, if such loss, suspension, revocation or failure to renew could reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect;

(n) the indictment of the Parent or any of its Subsidiaries or any Authorized Officer thereof under any criminal statute, or commencement of criminal or civil proceedings against the Parent or any of its Subsidiaries or any Authorized Officer thereof, pursuant to which statute or proceedings the penalties or remedies sought or available include forfeiture to any Governmental Authority of any material portion of the property of such Person;

(o) any Loan Party or any of its ERISA Affiliates shall have made a complete or partial withdrawal from a Multiemployer Plan, and, as a result of such complete or partial withdrawal, any Loan Party or any of its ERISA Affiliates incurs a withdrawal liability in an annual amount exceeding $1,000,000; or a Multiemployer Plan enters reorganization status under Section 4241 of ERISA, and, as a result thereof any Loan Party's or any of its ERISA Affiliates' annual contribution requirements with respect to such Multiemployer Plan increases in an annual amount exceeding $1,000,000;

(p) any Termination Event with respect to any Employee Plan shall have occurred, and, 30 days after notice thereof shall have been given to any Loan Party by any Agent, (i) such Termination Event (if correctable) shall not have been corrected, and (ii) the then current value of such Employee Plan's vested benefits exceeds the then current value of assets allocable to such benefits in such Employee Plan by more than $1,000,000 (or, in the case of a Termination Event involving liability under Section 409, 502(i), 502(l), 515, 4062, 4063, 4064, 4069, 4201, 4204 or 4212 of ERISA or Section 4971 or 4975 of the Internal Revenue Code, the liability is in excess of such amount);

(q) a Change of Control shall have occurred; or

(r) a Material Adverse Effect shall have occurred;

then, and in any such event, the Collateral Agent may, and shall at the request of the Required Lenders, by notice to the Administrative Borrower, (i) terminate or reduce all Commitments, whereupon all Commitments shall immediately be so terminated or reduced, (ii) declare all or any portion of the Loans then outstanding to be due and payable, whereupon all or such portion of the aggregate principal of all Loans, all accrued and unpaid interest thereon, all fees and all other amounts payable under this Agreement and the other Loan Documents shall become due and payable immediately, together with the payment of the Applicable Prepayment Premium (if any) with respect to the Loans so repaid, without presentment, demand, protest or further notice of any kind, all of which are hereby expressly waived by each Loan Party and (iii) exercise any and all of its other rights and remedies under applicable law, hereunder and under the other Loan Documents; provided , however , that upon the occurrence of any Event of Default described in subsection (f) or (g) of this Section 9.01 with respect to any Loan Party, without any notice to any Loan Party or any other Person or any act by any Agent or any Lender, all Commitments shall automatically terminate and all Loans then outstanding, together with all accrued and unpaid interest thereon, all fees and all other amounts due under this Agreement and the other

Loan Documents, including, without limitation, the Applicable Prepayment Premium (if any), shall become due and payable automatically and immediately, without presentment, demand, protest or notice of any kind, all of which are expressly waived by each Loan Party.

Section 9.02 Cure Right . In the event that the Loan Parties fail to comply with the requirements of the financial covenants set forth in Section 7.03(a) and/or Section 7.03(c) for any fiscal month or fiscal quarter, as applicable, until the date on which financial statements are required to be delivered with respect to the applicable fiscal month or quarter hereunder, the Parent shall have the right to use an amount of the Consolidated EBITDA of the Parent and its Subsidiaries and allocate such amount to the North America Consolidated EBITDA for the purpose of Section 7.03(a) and/or Section 7.03(c), and such amount of allocated Consolidated EBITDA shall (i) increase North America Consolidated EBITDA with respect to such applicable fiscal month or quarter, as applicable, and (ii) decrease Consolidated EBITDA with respect to such applicable fiscal month or quarter, as applicable (the " Cure Right "); provided that (a) after giving effect to any such decrease in Consolidated EBITDA as described in clause (ii) above, the Loan Parties shall still be in compliance with the financial covenants set forth in Section 7.03(b) and Section 7.03(d) for such fiscal month or quarter, as applicable, and the Loan Parties shall provide a Compliance Certificate to the Agents and the Lenders demonstrating such compliance, (b) any such allocation of Consolidated EBITDA to North America Consolidated EBITDA does not exceed the aggregate amount necessary to cure such Event of Default under Section 7.03(a) and/or Section 7.03(c) for such period, (c) the Cure Right may only be exercised for up to three fiscal months (consecutive or non-consecutive) during the term of the Loans, and (d) the Cure Right may not be exercised with respect to any period ending after December 31, 2015. If, after giving effect to the foregoing pro forma adjustment, the Loan Parties are in compliance with the financial covenants set forth in Section 7.03, the Loan Parties shall be deemed to have satisfied the requirements of such Section as of the relevant date of determination with the same effect as though there had been no failure to comply on such date, and the applicable breach or default of such Section 7.03 that had occurred shall be deemed cured for purposes of this Agreement. The parties hereby acknowledge that this Section may not be relied on for purposes of calculating any financial ratios other than as applicable to Section 7.03 and shall not result in any adjustment to any amounts other than the amount of the Consolidated EBITDA and North America Consolidated EBITDA referred to in the immediately preceding sentence.

ARTICLE X

AGENTS

Section 10.01 Appointment . Each Lender (and each subsequent maker of any Loan by its making thereof) hereby irrevocably appoints, authorizes and empowers the Administrative Agent and the Collateral Agent to perform the duties of each such Agent as set forth in this Agreement and the other Loan Documents, together with such actions and powers as are reasonably incidental thereto, including: (i) to receive on behalf of each Lender any payment of principal of or interest on the Loans outstanding hereunder and all other amounts accrued hereunder for the account of the Lenders and paid to such Agent, and, subject to Section 2.02 of this Agreement, to distribute promptly to each Lender its Pro Rata Share of all payments so received; (ii) to distribute to each Lender copies of all material notices and agreements received by such Agent and not required to be delivered to each Lender pursuant to the terms of this Agreement, provided that the Agents shall not have any liability to the Lenders for any Agent's inadvertent failure to distribute any such notices or agreements to the Lenders; (iii) to maintain, in accordance with its customary business practices, ledgers and records reflecting the status of the Obligations, the Loans, and related matters and to maintain, in accordance with its customary business practices, ledgers and records reflecting the status of the Collateral and related matters; (iv) to execute or file any and all financing or similar statements or notices, amendments, renewals, supplements, documents, instruments, proofs of claim, notices and other written agreements with respect to this Agreement or any other Loan Document; (v) to make the Loans and Collateral Agent Advances, for such Agent or on behalf of the applicable Lenders as provided in this Agreement or any other Loan Document; (vi) to perform, exercise, and enforce any and all other rights and remedies of the Lenders with respect to the Loan Parties, the Obligations, or otherwise related to any of same to the extent reasonably incidental to the exercise by such Agent of the rights and remedies specifically authorized to be exercised by such Agent by the terms of this Agreement or any other Loan Document; (vii) to incur and pay such fees necessary or appropriate for the performance and fulfillment of its functions and powers pursuant to this Agreement or any other Loan Document; (viii) subject to Section 10.03, to take such action as such Agent deems appropriate on its behalf to administer the Loans and the Loan Documents and to exercise such other powers delegated to such Agent by the terms hereof or the other Loan Documents (including, without limitation, the power to give or to refuse to give notices, waivers, consents, approvals and instructions and the power to make or to refuse to make determinations and calculations); and (ix) to act with respect to all Collateral under the Loan Documents, including for purposes of acquiring, holding and enforcing any and all Liens on Collateral granted by any of the Loan Parties to secure any of the Obligations. As to any matters not expressly provided for by this Agreement and the other Loan Documents (including, without limitation, enforcement or collection of the Loans), the Agents shall not be required to exercise any discretion or take any action, but shall be required to act or to refrain from acting (and shall be fully protected in so acting or refraining from acting) upon the instructions of the Required Lenders (or such other number or percentage of the Lenders as shall be expressly provided for herein or in the other Loan Documents), and such instructions of the Required Lenders (or such other number or percentage of the Lenders as shall be expressly provided for herein or in the other Loan Documents) shall be binding upon all Lenders and all makers of Loans; provided , however , the Agents shall not be required to take any action which, in the reasonable opinion of any Agent, exposes such Agent to liability or which is contrary to this Agreement or any other Loan Document or applicable law.

Section 10.02 Nature of Duties; Delegation . (a) The Agents shall have no duties or responsibilities except those expressly set forth in this Agreement or in the other Loan Documents. The duties of the Agents shall be mechanical and administrative in nature. The Agents shall not have by reason of this Agreement or any other Loan Document a fiduciary relationship in respect of any Lender. Nothing in this Agreement or any other Loan Document, express or implied, is intended to or shall be construed to impose upon the Agents any obligations in respect of this Agreement or any other Loan Document except as expressly set forth herein or therein. Each Lender shall make its own independent investigation of the financial condition and affairs of the Loan Parties in connection with the making and the continuance of the Loans hereunder and shall make its own appraisal of the creditworthiness of the Loan Parties and the value of the Collateral, and the Agents shall have no duty or responsibility, either initially or on a continuing basis, to provide any Lender with any credit or other information with respect thereto, whether coming into their possession before the initial Loan hereunder or at any time or times thereafter, provided that, upon the reasonable request of a Lender, each Agent shall provide to such Lender any documents or reports delivered to such Agent by the Loan Parties pursuant to the terms of this Agreement or any other Loan Document. If any Agent seeks the consent or approval of the Required Lenders (or such other number or percentage of the Lenders as shall be expressly provided for herein or in the other Loan Documents) to the taking or refraining from taking any action hereunder, such Agent shall send notice thereof to each Lender. Each Agent shall promptly notify each Lender any time that the Required Lenders (or such other number or percentage of the Lenders as shall be expressly provided for herein or in the other Loan Documents) have instructed such Agent to act or refrain from acting pursuant hereto.

(b) Each Agent may, upon any term or condition it specifies, delegate or exercise any of its rights, powers and remedies under, and delegate or perform any of its duties or any other action with respect to, any Loan Document by or through any trustee, co-agent, sub-agent, employee, attorney-in-fact and any other Person (including any Lender). Any such Person shall benefit from this Article X.

Section 10.03 Rights, Exculpation, Etc. The Agents and their directors, officers, agents or employees shall not be liable for any action taken or omitted to be taken by them under or in connection with this Agreement or the other Loan Documents, except for their own gross negligence or willful misconduct as determined by a final non-appealable judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the Agents (i) may treat the payee of any Loan as the owner thereof until the Collateral Agent receives written notice of the assignment or transfer thereof, pursuant to Section 12.07 hereof, signed by such payee and in form satisfactory to the Collateral Agent; (ii) may consult with legal counsel (including, without limitation, counsel to any Agent or counsel to the Loan Parties), independent public accountants, and other experts selected by any of them and shall not be liable for any action taken or omitted to be taken in good faith by any of them in accordance with the advice of such counsel or experts; (iii) make no warranty or representation to any Lender and shall not be responsible to any Lender for any statements, certificates, warranties or representations made in or in connection with this Agreement or the other Loan Documents; (iv) shall not have any duty to ascertain or to inquire as to the performance or observance of any of the terms, covenants or conditions of this Agreement or the other Loan Documents on the part of any Person, the existence or possible existence of any Default or Event of Default, or to inspect the Collateral or other property (including, without limitation, the books and records) of any Person; (v) shall not be responsible to any Lender for the due execution, legality, validity, enforceability, genuineness, sufficiency or value of this Agreement or the other Loan Documents or any other instrument or document furnished pursuant hereto or thereto; and (vi) shall not be deemed to have made any representation or warranty regarding the existence, value or collectibility of the Collateral, the existence, priority or perfection of the Collateral Agent's Lien thereon, or any certificate prepared by any Loan Party in connection therewith, nor shall the Agents be responsible or liable to the Lenders for any failure to monitor or maintain any portion of the Collateral or the perfection or priority of any Lien thereon. The Agents shall not be liable for any apportionment or distribution of payments made in good faith pursuant to Section 4.03, and if any such apportionment or distribution is subsequently determined to have been made in error, and the sole recourse of any Lender to whom payment was due but not made shall be to recover from other Lenders any payment in excess of the amount which they are determined to be entitled. The Agents may at any time request instructions from the Lenders with respect to any actions or approvals which by the terms of this Agreement or of any of the other Loan Documents the Agents are permitted or required to take or to grant, and if such instructions are promptly requested, the Agents shall be absolutely entitled to refrain from taking any action or to withhold any approval under any of the Loan Documents until they shall have received such instructions from the Required Lenders. Without limiting the foregoing, no Lender shall have any right of action whatsoever against any Agent as a result of such Agent acting or refraining from acting under this Agreement or any of the other Loan Documents in accordance with the instructions of the Required Lenders (or such other number or percentage of the Lenders as shall be expressly provided for herein or in the other Loan Documents). No Agent shall in any event be responsible or liable for any failure or delay in the performance of its obligations hereunder arising out of or caused by, directly or indirectly, forces beyond its control, including, without limitation strikes, work stoppages, accidents, acts of war or terrorism, civil or military disturbances, nuclear or natural catastrophes or acts of God, and interruptions, loss or malfunctions of utilities, communications or computer (software and hardware) services. Except for any action expressly required of an Agent hereunder or other Loan Document to which it is a party, it shall in all cases be fully justified in failing or refusing to act unless it shall receive further assurances to its reasonable satisfaction from the Lenders of their indemnification obligations under Section 10.05 against any and all liability and expense that may be incurred by it by reason of taking or continuing to take any such action. No provision of this Agreement or any Loan Document shall require an Agent to take any action that it reasonably believes to be contrary to applicable law or to expend or risk its own funds or otherwise incur financial liability in the performance of any of its duties thereunder or in the exercise of any of its rights or powers if it shall have reasonable grounds to believe that repayment of such funds or adequate indemnity against such risk or liability is not reasonably assured to it.

Section 10.04 Reliance . Each Agent shall be entitled to rely upon any written notices, statements, certificates, orders or other documents or any telephone message believed by it in good faith to be genuine and correct and to have been signed, sent or made by the proper Person, and with respect to all matters pertaining to this Agreement or any of the other Loan Documents and its duties hereunder or thereunder, upon advice of counsel selected by it.

Section 10.05 Indemnification . To the extent that any Agent is not reimbursed and indemnified by any Loan Party, and whether or not such Agent has made demand on any Loan Party for the same, the Lenders will, within five days of written demand by such Agent, reimburse such Agent for and indemnify such Agent from and against any and all liabilities, obligations, losses, damages, penalties, actions, judgments, suits, costs, expenses (including, without limitation, client charges and expenses of counsel or any other advisor to such Agent), advances or disbursements of any kind or nature whatsoever which may be imposed on, incurred by, or asserted against such Agent in any way relating to or arising out of this Agreement or any of the other Loan Documents or any action taken or omitted by such Agent under this Agreement or any of the other Loan Documents, in proportion to each Lender's Pro Rata Share, including, without limitation, advances and disbursements made pursuant to Section 10.08; provided , however , that no Lender shall be liable for any portion of such liabilities, obligations, losses, damages, penalties, actions, judgments, suits, costs, expenses, advances or disbursements for which there has been a final non-appealable judicial determination that such liability resulted from such Agent's gross negligence or willful misconduct. The obligations of the Lenders under this Section 10.05 shall survive the payment in full of the Loans and the termination of this Agreement and shall be applicable to sub-agents of the Agents as if they were party hereto.

Section 10.06 Agents Individually . With respect to its Pro Rata Share of the Total Commitment hereunder and the Loans made by it, each Agent shall have and may exercise the same rights and powers hereunder and is subject to the same obligations and liabilities as and to the extent set forth herein for any other Lender or maker of a Loan. The terms "Lenders" or "Required Lenders" or any similar terms shall, unless the context clearly otherwise indicates, include each Agent in its individual capacity as a Lender or one of the Required Lenders. Each Agent and its Affiliates may accept deposits from, lend money to, and generally engage in any kind of banking, trust or other business with any Borrower as if it were not acting as an Agent pursuant hereto without any duty to account to the other Lenders.

Section 10.07 Successor Agent . (a) Any Agent may at any time give at least 30 days prior written notice of its resignation to the Lenders and the Administrative Borrower. Upon receipt of any such notice of resignation, the Required Lenders shall have the right to appoint a successor Agent. If no such successor Agent shall have been so appointed by the Required Lenders and shall have accepted such appointment within 30 days after the retiring Agent gives notice of its resignation (or such earlier day as shall be agreed by the Required Lenders) (the " Resignation Effective Date "), then the retiring Agent may (but shall not be obligated to), on behalf of the Lenders, appoint a successor Agent. Whether or not a successor Agent has been appointed, such resignation shall become effective in accordance with such notice on the Resignation Effective Date.

(b) With effect from the Resignation Effective Date, (i) the retiring Agent shall be discharged from its duties and obligations hereunder and under the other Loan Documents (except that in the case of any Collateral held by such Agent on behalf of the Lenders under any of the Loan Documents, the retiring Agent shall continue to hold such collateral security until such time as a successor Agent is appointed) and (ii) all payments, communications and determinations provided to be made by, to or through such retiring Agent shall instead be made by or to each Lender directly, until such time, if any, as a successor Agent shall have been appointed as provided for above. Upon the acceptance of a successor's Agent's appointment as Agent hereunder, such successor shall succeed to and become vested with all of the rights, powers, privileges and duties of the retiring Agent, and the retiring Agent shall be discharged from all of its duties and obligations hereunder or under the other Loan Documents. After the retiring Agent's resignation hereunder and under the other Loan Documents, the provisions of this Article, Section 12.04 and Section 12.15 shall continue in effect for the benefit of such retiring Agent in respect of any actions taken or omitted to be taken by it while the retiring Agent was acting as Agent.

Section 10.08 Collateral Matters .

(a) The Collateral Agent may from time to time make such disbursements and advances (" Collateral Agent Advances ") which the Collateral Agent, in its sole discretion, deems necessary or desirable to preserve, protect, prepare for sale or lease or dispose of the Collateral or any portion thereof, to enhance the likelihood or maximize the amount of repayment by the Borrowers of the Loans and other Obligations or to pay any other amount chargeable to the Borrowers pursuant to the terms of this Agreement, including, without limitation, costs, fees and expenses as described in Section 12.04. The Collateral Agent Advances shall be repayable on demand and be secured by the Collateral and shall bear interest at a rate per annum equal to the rate then applicable to Loans that are Reference Rate Loans. The Collateral Agent Advances shall constitute Obligations hereunder which may be charged to the Loan Account in accordance with Section 4.01. The Collateral Agent shall notify each Lender and the Administrative Borrower in writing of each such Collateral Agent Advance, which notice shall include a description of the purpose of such Collateral Agent Advance. Without limitation to its obligations pursuant to Section 10.05, each Lender agrees that it shall make available to the Collateral Agent, upon the Collateral Agent's demand, in Dollars in immediately available funds, the amount equal to such Lender's Pro Rata Share of each such Collateral Agent Advance. If such funds are not made available to the Collateral Agent by such Lender, the Collateral Agent shall be entitled to recover such funds on demand from such Lender, together with interest thereon for each day from the date such payment was due until the date such amount is paid to the Collateral Agent, at the Federal Funds Rate for three Business Days and thereafter at the Reference Rate.

(b) The Lenders hereby irrevocably authorize the Collateral Agent, at its option and in its discretion, to release any Lien granted to or held by the Collateral Agent upon any Collateral upon termination of the Total Commitment and payment and satisfaction of all Loans and all other Obligations (other than Contingent Indemnification Obligations) in accordance with the terms hereof; or constituting property being sold or disposed of in the ordinary course of any Loan Party's business or otherwise in compliance with the terms of this Agreement and the other Loan Documents; or constituting property in which the Loan Parties owned no interest at the time the Lien was granted or at any time thereafter; or if approved, authorized or ratified in writing by the Lenders in accordance with Section 12.02. Upon request by the Collateral Agent at any time, the Lenders will confirm in writing the Collateral Agent's authority to release particular types or items of Collateral pursuant to this Section 10.08(b).

(c) Without in any manner limiting the Collateral Agent's authority to act without any specific or further authorization or consent by the Lenders (as set forth in Section 10.08(b)), each Lender agrees to confirm in writing, upon request by the Collateral Agent, the authority to release Collateral conferred upon the Collateral Agent under Section 10.08(b). Upon receipt by the Collateral Agent of confirmation from the Lenders of its authority to release any particular item or types of Collateral, and upon prior written request by any Loan Party, the Collateral Agent shall (and is hereby irrevocably authorized by the Lenders to) execute such documents as may be necessary to evidence the release of the Liens granted to the Collateral Agent for the benefit of the Agents and the Lenders upon such Collateral; provided , however , that (i) the Collateral Agent shall not be required to execute any such document on terms which, in the Collateral Agent's opinion, would expose the Collateral Agent to liability or create any obligations or entail any consequence other than the release of such Liens without recourse or warranty, and (ii) such release shall not in any manner discharge, affect or impair the Obligations or any Lien upon (or obligations of any Loan Party in respect of) all interests in the Collateral retained by any Loan Party.

(d) Anything contained in any of the Loan Documents to the contrary notwithstanding, the Loan Parties, each Agent and each Lender hereby agree that (i) no Lender shall have any right individually to realize upon any of the Collateral under any Loan Document or to enforce any Guaranty, it being understood and agreed that all powers, rights and remedies under the Loan Documents may be exercised solely by the Collateral Agent for the benefit of the Lenders in accordance with the terms thereof, (ii) in the event of a foreclosure by the Collateral Agent on any of the Collateral pursuant to a public or private sale, the Administrative Agent, the Collateral Agent or any Lender may be the purchaser of any or all of such Collateral at any such sale and (iii) the Collateral Agent, as agent for and representative of the Agents and the Lenders (but not any other Agent or any Lender or Lenders in its or their respective individual capacities unless the Required Lenders shall otherwise agree in writing) shall be entitled (either directly or through one or more acquisition vehicles) for the purpose of bidding and making settlement or payment of the purchase price for all or any portion of the Collateral to be sold (A) at any public or private sale, (B) at any sale conducted by the Collateral Agent under the provisions of the Uniform Commercial Code (including pursuant to Sections 9-610 or 9-620 of the Uniform Commercial Code), (C) at any sale or foreclosure conducted by the Collateral Agent (whether by judicial action or otherwise) in accordance with applicable law or (D) any sale conducted pursuant to the provisions of any Debtor Relief Law (including Section 363 of the Bankruptcy Code), to use and apply all or any of the Obligations as a credit on account of the purchase price for any Collateral payable by the Collateral Agent at such sale.

(e) The Collateral Agent shall have no obligation whatsoever to any Lender to assure that the Collateral exists or is owned by the Loan Parties or is cared for, protected or insured or has been encumbered or that the Lien granted to the Collateral Agent pursuant to this Agreement or any other Loan Document has been properly or sufficiently or lawfully created, perfected, protected or enforced or is entitled to any particular priority, or to exercise at all or in any particular manner or under any duty of care, disclosure or fidelity, or to continue exercising, any of the rights, authorities and powers granted or available to the Collateral Agent in this Section 10.08 or in any other Loan Document, it being understood and agreed that in respect of the Collateral, or any act, omission or event related thereto, the Collateral Agent may act in any manner it may deem appropriate, in its sole discretion, given the Collateral Agent's own interest in the Collateral as one of the Lenders and that the Collateral Agent shall have no duty or liability whatsoever to any other Lender, except as otherwise provided herein.

(f) The Collateral Agent shall not be responsible or liable for the environmental condition or any contamination of any property secured by any mortgage or deed of trust or for any diminution in value of any such property as a result of any contamination of the property by any hazardous substance, hazardous material, pollutant or contaminant. The Collateral Agent shall not be liable for any claims by or on behalf of the Lenders or any other person or entity arising from contamination of the property by any hazardous substance, hazardous material, pollutant or contaminant, and shall have no duty or obligation to assess the environmental condition of any such property or with respect to compliance of any such property under state or federal laws pertaining to the transport, storage, treatment or disposal of, hazardous substances, hazardous materials, pollutants, or contaminants or regulations, permits or licenses issued under such laws.

(g) The Collateral Agent shall be under no obligation to effect or maintain insurance or to renew any policies of insurance or to inquire as to the sufficiency of any policies of insurance carried by the Loan Parties, or to report, or make or file claims or proof of loss for, any loss or damage insured against or that may occur, or to keep itself informed or advised as to the payment of any taxes or assessments, or to require any such payment to be made.

(h) The Collateral Agent shall not be obligated to acquire possession of or take any action with respect to any property secured by a mortgage or deed of trust, if as a result of such action, the Collateral Agent would be considered to hold title to, to be a "mortgagee in possession of", or to be an "owner" or "operator" of such property within the meaning of the Comprehensive Environmental Responsibility Cleanup and Liability Act of 1980, as amended from time to time, unless the Collateral Agent has previously determined, based upon a report prepared by a person who regularly conducts environmental audits, that (i) the such property is in compliance with applicable environmental laws or, if not, that it would be in the interest of the Lenders to take such actions as are necessary for such property to comply therewith and (ii) there are not circumstances present at such property relating to the use, management or disposal of any hazardous wastes for which investigation, testing, monitoring, containment, clean-up or remediation could be required under any federal, state or local law or regulation or that if any such materials are present for which such action could be required, that it would be in the economic interest of the Lenders to take such actions with respect to such property. Notwithstanding the foregoing, before taking any such action, the Collateral Agent may require that a satisfactory indemnity bond or environmental impairment insurance be furnished to it for the payment or reimbursement of all expenses to which it may be put and to protect it against all liability resulting from any claims, judgments, damages, losses, fees, penalties or expenses which may result from such action.

Section 10.09 Agency for Perfection . Each Agent and each Lender hereby appoints each other Agent and each other Lender as agent and bailee for the purpose of perfecting the security interests in and liens upon the Collateral in assets which, in accordance with Article 9 of the Uniform Commercial Code, can be perfected only by possession or control (or where the security interest of a secured party with possession or control has priority over the security interest of another secured party) and each Agent and each Lender hereby acknowledges that it holds possession of or otherwise controls any such Collateral for the benefit of the Agents and the Lenders as secured party. Should the Administrative Agent or any Lender obtain possession or control of any such Collateral, the Administrative Agent or such Lender shall notify the Collateral Agent thereof, and, promptly upon the Collateral Agent's request therefor shall deliver such Collateral to the Collateral Agent or in accordance with the Collateral Agent's instructions. In addition, the Collateral Agent shall also have the power and authority hereunder to appoint such other sub-agents as may be necessary or required under applicable state law or otherwise to perform its duties and enforce its rights with respect to the Collateral and under the Loan Documents. Each Loan Party by its execution and delivery of this Agreement hereby consents to the foregoing.

Section 10.10 No Reliance on any Agent's Customer Identification Program . Each Lender acknowledges and agrees that neither such Lender, nor any of its Affiliates, participants or assignees, may rely on any Agent to carry out such Lender's, Affiliate's, participant's or assignee's customer identification program, or other requirements imposed by the USA PATRIOT Act or the regulations issued thereunder, including the regulations set forth in 31 C.F.R. §§ 1010.100(yy), (iii), 1020.100, and 1020.220 (formerly 31 C.F.R. § 103.121), as hereafter amended or replaced ("CIP Regulations"), or any other Anti-Terrorism Laws, including any programs involving any of the following items relating to or in connection with any of the Loan Parties, their Affiliates or their agents, the Loan Documents or the transactions hereunder or contemplated hereby: (1) any identity verification procedures, (2) any recordkeeping, (3) comparisons with government lists, (4) customer notices or (5) other procedures required under the CIP Regulations or other regulations issued under the USA PATRIOT Act. Each Lender, Affiliate, participant or assignee subject to Section 326 of the USA PATRIOT Act will perform the measures necessary to satisfy its own responsibilities under the CIP Regulations.

Section 10.11 No Third Party Beneficiaries . The provisions of this Article are solely for the benefit of the Secured Parties, and no Loan Party shall have rights as a third-party beneficiary of any of such provisions.

Section 10.12 No Fiduciary Relationship . It is understood and agreed that the use of the term "agent" herein or in any other Loan Document (or any other similar term) with reference to any Agent is not intended to connote any fiduciary or other implied (or express) obligations arising under agency doctrine of any applicable law. Instead such term is used as a matter of market custom, and is intended to create or reflect only an administrative relationship between contracting parties.

Section 10.13 Reports; Confidentiality; Disclaimers . By becoming a party to this Agreement, each Lender:

(a) is deemed to have requested that each Agent furnish such Lender, promptly after it becomes available, a copy of each field audit or examination report with respect to the Parent or any of its Subsidiaries (each, a " Report ") prepared by or at the request of such Agent, and each Agent shall so furnish each Lender with each such Report,

(b) expressly agrees and acknowledges that the Agents (i) do not make any representation or warranty as to the accuracy of any Reports, and (ii) shall not be liable for any information contained in any Reports,

(c) expressly agrees and acknowledges that the Reports are not comprehensive audits or examinations, that any Agent or other party performing any audit or examination will inspect only specific information regarding the Parent and its Subsidiaries and will rely significantly upon the Parent's and its Subsidiaries' books and records, as well as on representations of their personnel,

(d) agrees to keep all Reports and other material, non-public information regarding the Parent and its Subsidiaries and their operations, assets, and existing and contemplated business plans in a confidential manner in accordance with Section 12.19, and

(e) without limiting the generality of any other indemnification provision contained in this Agreement, agrees: (i) to hold any Agent and any other Lender preparing a Report harmless from any action the indemnifying Lender may take or fail to take or any conclusion the indemnifying Lender may reach or draw from any Report in connection with any loans or other credit accommodations that the indemnifying Lender has made or may make to the Borrowers, or the indemnifying Lender's participation in, or the indemnifying Lender's purchase of, a loan or loans of the Borrowers, and (ii) to pay and protect, and indemnify, defend and hold any Agent and any other Lender preparing a Report harmless from and against, the claims, actions, proceedings, damages, costs, expenses, and other amounts (including, attorneys fees and costs) incurred by any such Agent and any such other Lender preparing a Report as the direct or indirect result of any third parties who might obtain all or part of any Report through the indemnifying Lender.
